SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Children can sense when there are problems in the family. Without any information at all about these events, they will often think that they are the cause. Talk to them, giving them only as much information as is necessary and in words that they can understand about family events.

Custom Training holds workshop on health program

"Setting Up An Effective Safety and Health Program" is the title of a workshop to be presented Monday, September 15 from 8 a.m. to noon in room 131 at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls, and on Tuesday, September 16, from 8 a.m. to noon at the Ramada Inn in Grand Forks, ND. These workshops are provided through Custom Training and Continuing Education, a division of Northland Community and Technical College.

On January 1, 1991, Minnesota adopted an amendment to Minnesota statutes that requires many employers to develop and use a formal workplace accident and injury reduction program. Topics will include: Developing a safety and health program, training employees, documenting training, communication, establishing a safety and health committee, encouraging employee participation in the safety and health program, assessing the workplace for hazards, types of inspections, controlling hazards, investigating accidents, setting goals and measuring performance of the safety and health program.

The instructor will be Tom Vosberg with Minnesota OSHA's Workplace Safety Consultation Division. He has worked with Minnesota OSHA for a number of years and has witnessed the positive effect of safety and health programs in business and industry. He will share strategies to develop and maintain an effective safety and health program.

The workshop is $30 per person.

The Thief River Falls Convention and Visitor Bureau is also partnering with Arctic Cat and Westside Motors for the project as they will be donating the usage of Bear Cat All Terrain Vehicles and Dodge pickups for the shoot. Volunteers from the area will also assist with scouting and guide service to the shooting crew during the five-day shoot.

Ag study measures management issues

To gather reliable, objective information about agriculture in the state and nation, the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service will conduct the Agricultural Resource Management Study this fall.

Information on chemical applications, production practices, pest management and selected production costs are inputs to be measured in a variety of reports. Fewer than 12,000 of the nation's two million farm operations are being asked to participate in the study, so every response is considered critical. In Minnesota some 570 producers will be included.

Among questions expected to be answered by the study results will be: How are changes in farm programs affecting agricultural productivity? What changes will consumers face? What kind conservation practices are agricultural producers using?

A spokesman for the Agricultural Statistics Service said that producers elected to participate in the study will be making an important contribution to the overall welfare of the U.S. agricultural community. All study information will be analyzed and used by commodity analysts, producer organizations and others to benefit Minnesota farmers, he said, adding that:

- Study participants have an opportunity to set the record straight about issues that affect them—such as use of chemicals and pesticides.
- Respondents are helping in the research for improved production, marketing and profitability of U.S. agricultural commodities.
- Agricultural production practices can be developed to improve productivity of farm operators and ensure a safer, cleaner working environment for producers, their families and communities.

Minnesota farm operators selected to participate in this year's study have been notified by letter, and interviewers will visit them personally to collect their reports at the operators' convenience. The United States Department of Agriculture will publish national information on agricultural chemical usage and analysis of commodity production costs and returns in a series of reports in 1998.

Cpl. Thomas Gagner returns from six month deployment

Marine Lance Cpl. Thomas J. Gagner, a 1993 graduate of Oklee Public School of Oklee, recently returned to Twentynine Palms, CA, after a six-month deployment to Okinawa, Japan, with Alpha Company, 3rd Light Armored Reconnaissance Battalion (3rd LAR).

While on deployment, Gagner participated in numerous training exercises, including a month-long, live-fire exercise on mainland Japan. The training was conducted to enhance patrolling and small arms marksmanship skills.

In addition, Gagner's unit participated in Exercise Tandem Thrust, a combined military exercise between Australia and the United States that included more than 28,000 U.S. and Australian sailors, soldiers, airmen and marines. Scheduled routinely at 18-month intervals, the exercise is designed to train the military staffs of both countries in the planning and execution of contingency operations. Specifically, the exercise includes carrier battle group and amphibious ready group operations, amphibious landings, live gunfire exercises and parachute landings.

He joined the Marine Corps in June 1993.

Ag study measures management issues

To gather reliable, objective information about agriculture in the state and nation, the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service will conduct the Agricultural Resource Management Study this fall.

Information on chemical applications, production practices, pest management and selected production costs are topics to be measured in a variety of reports. Fewer than 12,000 of the nation's two million farm operators are being asked to participate in the study, so every response is considered critical. In Minnesota some 570 producers will be included.

Among questions expected to be answered by the study results will be: How are changes in farm programs affecting agricultural productivity? What changes will consumers face? What land conservation practices are agricultural producers using?

A spokesman for the Agricultural Statistics Service said that producers elected to participate in the study will be making an important contribution to the overall welfare of the U.S. agricultural community. All study information will be merged and used by commodity analysts, producer organizations and others to benefit Minnesota farmers, he said, adding that:

- Study participants have an opportunity to set the record straight about issues that affect them—such as use of chemicals and pesticides;
- Respondents are helping in the research for improved production, marketing and profitability of U.S. agricultural commodities;
- Agricultural production practices can be developed to improve productivity of farm operators and ensure a safer, cleaner working environment for producers, their families and communities.

Minnesota farm operators selected to participate in this year's study have been notified by letter, and interviewers will visit them personally to collect their reports at the operators' convenience. The United States Department of Agriculture will publish national information on agricultural chemical usage and analysis of commodity production costs and returns in a series of reports in 1998.

Erickson, recently employed by Kiewel Products company, was appointed by the city council at an adjourned session last night to serve as manager of the municipal liquor dispensary to be opened shortly in the former Palm Garden cafe building. His salary was set at $250 per month. Mr. Erickson, who has had previous liquor store experience, stated this morning that he expects to have the new store in readiness for opening on or about September 15."

Dr. M. D. Starekow Buys Lynde Clinic

"Dr. Milton D. Starekow, for the past six years associated with the Lynde Clinic, announced this week that he has purchased the clinic from Dr. O. G. Lynde and that Dr. Frank Fraser, surgeon, recently of the staff of St. Vincent's hospital in New York, will be associated with him starting this week."

Summer Temperatures Prevail Here This Week

"Midsummer weather has prevailed in this locality during the past week, the mercury reaching a high for the week of 85 Wednesday afternoon, according to the KTRF thermometer. The high Monday was 78 and Tuesday 80."

Old Newell Drug Store Building Being Razed

"Work is now nearing completion on the razing of the old H. B. Newell drug store building, a LaBree avenue landmark, on the site of which Cliff Bjorkman, owner of the property, is making plans for the construction of a new building as quarters for Bjorkman's Toggery."

Art Forsberg Raises New Variety Of Sweet Corn

"Arthur Forsberg of this city brought to the Times office this week a novelty in the form of a ten-foot tall stalk of South American yellow popcorn grown on his farm in Smiley township. It was taken from a small patch, which is supplying many meals of delicious corn. Mr. Forsberg also brought in a well-developed ear of Northwestern Dent corn from a twenty-acre field which he figures will mature if given ten days more of frost-free weather."

THE NEWS, HENRY W. LEE, EDITOR SEPTEMBER 9, 1897
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

Work on the River Completed for this Year

"Superintendent Davenport of the United States River and Harbor Force arrived in the city last Friday and discharged the crew employed on the Red Lake river government improvement boat. The boat commenced work July 1 this year at the Red lake and during the summer has worked between there and Thief River Falls removing all obstacles in the river. The boat has done a great deal of effective work during the summer and the river is very materially improved. The amount of the last appropriation was $5,000 and this has all been expended. An effort will be made to secure a larger appropriation from this session of Congress and it is hoped that the boat can be put to work early next spring and continue until late in the fall. A dredging boat will probably be put to work on the river in a few years.

"Mr. Davenport is a strong advocate of the feasibility of constructing a dam and lock across the river near Red lake for the purpose of holding water in the lake, thereby creating an immense reservoir. The lands about the lake are so flat that an additional rise in the lake of two or three feet would not materially damage that region by the slight overflow, consequently the volume could be let out gradually, insuring a good stage of water during the entire season. He estimates that the improvements could be made for about $75,000, and that it would be advisable for the people of Minnesota to urge their congressmen to make the much needed appropriation through Congress."

Audit report details need for changes at NCTC

31-page report has seven chapters with 18 findings which president agrees to correct

on tuition and fees, purchasing, bookstore operations, and financial aid. The lack of controls over tuition receipts resulted in the college undertaking an investigation into alleged financial and academic improprieties in its Management Division. In general, the college needs to implement procedures in all of these areas.

The college had good controls over payroll expenditures, but financial aid controls provided reasonable assurance it complied with program eligibility requirements. The college did not, however, comply with federal cash management and reporting requirements, and we noted control weaknesses over financial aid disbursements. The college had an appropriate relationship with the Northland Community and Technical College Foundation and the Joint Powers Board.

In its written response, Northland Community and Technical College agreed with the audit report findings and specified a correct action plan to address the issues contained in the report."

Following is a summarized version by chapter of the audit findings. The full audit report was released as a public document last Friday and is available for review in its entirety.

Chapter 1
Background Information

Following a review of the college's history since July 1, 1995, the report states how the college receives its funding, including being responsible for the collection of tuition and fees from students.

A chart shows a June 30, 1996 beginning fund balance of $149,207 and income of $6,769,475 in state appropriation, $2,332,412 in tuition and fees and $384,430 in other revenue for a total from all sources of $9,635,551.

Expenditures included $6,566,736 in payroll, $221,487 in supplies and materials, $100,180 in equipment and $1,648,073 in other expense for a total of $8,536,476. Balance at the end of the 1996 fiscal year was [illegible].

Other material financial activities of NCTC during fiscal year 1996 included about $2 million in federal financial aid payments and bookstore sales of approximately $353,000.

Chapter 2
Financial Management

NCTC had a poor system of internal control over its financial management practices during the audit period, the chapter conclusions state. "The college did not provide basic controls such as reconciling bank accounts timely, ensuring the proper recording of financial activity in the accounting records, and limiting access to information systems. The business office was understaffed and business office employees did not receive adequate training.

"We also are concerned that the college had an environment that permitted the potential existence of some employee conflicts of interest and other potentially inappropriate conduct by certain employees. In particular, we found that the vice president's child had received favorable treatment."

The auditors acknowledged that NCTC experienced a significant amount of change in the past two years, including the system merger of the state universities, community colleges and technical colleges, the introduction of several new accounting and personnel information systems and especially the consolidation of Northland Community College and the Thief River Falls campus of Northwest Technical College and personnel turnover associated with the consolidation.

Finding 1 was that NCTC did not provide fundamental controls over financial management. This resulted in delinquent transfers to the state bank account and inability to prepare bank account reconciliations on a timely basis.

Finding 2 was that NCTC did not adequately staff financial management functions or ensure that employees received adequate training to fulfill their job duties.

Auditors note that the president told them he reduced personnel in certain departments, including Finance and Operations, during fiscal year 1996 and again at the start of fiscal year 1997 because he did not have adequate financial information on the consolidated college, including beginning fund balances, and wanted to ensure that NCTC did not experience a budget deficit.

The downsizing occurred during a time when the college's financial position was uncertain, in part because the financial information for the Thief River Falls campus was included with the other five campuses that had comprised the Northwest Technical College. The Thief River Falls Technical College campus had also experienced enrollment declines in prior years. After the downsizing, the business office had a manager and three employees, the bookstore had a manager and the personnel division had a director and one employee.

"We believe," the report states, "the downsizing adversely impacted the college's ability to effectively manage its financial operations. Between April and June 1997, NCTC made efforts to appropriately staff the business office by reassigning one employee and using intermittent employees to achieve a more appropriate staffing level in its business operations.

"In addition to inadequate staffing levels, NCTC did not ensure staff were properly trained in the use of various accounting systems (CIS, MSIS, MnSCU accounting and MAPS)," the report continues.

"The college experienced turnover at various positions due to the downsizing of the combined entity. The downsizing resulted in laying off employees primarily from the community college. Many of the employees from the technical college, however, were not familiar with state regulations or with the new MnSCU or state accounting systems. The lack of continuity of staff was disruptive to the implementation of an effective financial management structure.

"Proper training of staff in these business systems and procedures is critical to ensure the reliability and proper analysis of financial information. In May 1997, NCTC arranged to have another MnSCU college provide training to its financial management staff."

Finding 3 was that potential conflicts of interest and other inappropriate activities occurred involving some college employees. The report points out that the vice president potentially used that position to secure advantages for her immediate family. She and two other college employees either directly or indirectly supervised family members under the work study program.

(Material from this finding was published in an article in the Saturday, August 30 issue of the Northern Watch.)

The report cites state law which defines a conflict of interest as "the use or attempted use of the employee's official position to secure benefits, privileges, exemptions or advantages for the employee or the employee's immediate family ... which are different from those available to the general public."

Finding 4 was that NCTC did not adequately restrict certain computer security clearances. The audit found that:

- The college's security administration granted excessive CIS access privileges to a student worker and did not cancel the access when the student's work study assignment ended. MnSCU had previously denied a request for a second logon ID by the security administrator.
- Two former high level employees' system access remained unchanged for several months after terminating employment with NCTC, as did the clearance of a student worker. One of the former employees was the business office manager, and the other employee was the information systems director.

"Although we found no instances of abuse," the report states, "both positions present a high risk to systems security."

Chapter 3
Tuition And Fee Revenue

Conclusions for this chapter are that NCTC control procedures over the collection of tuition and fee revenue were inadequate. "The college did not have an adequate separation of duties over tuition revenues in the business office, the Customized Training and Continuing Education Programs, or the management program," the report said.

Concerns with the decentralized system [which] allowed Management Division instructors to register students and collect tuition resulted in NCTC conducting an investigation into alleged improprieties within that division. Also, the college did not actively pursue the collection of accounts receivable or properly monitor administrative adjustments."

Finding 5 was that NCTC did not adequately separate duties over the receipts collection process for tuition and other fees, or ensure in total that the appropriate amount of tuition was collected.

"In the Management Division, historically, each individual instructor registered students, collected tuition and fees, invoiced students, and collected accounts receivable," the report states. "In March 1997, however, the business office sent fee statements directly to management students for the first time. As a result, numerous students contacted the college expressing a wide variety of financial and academic concerns about the program.

"Students complained that they had not enrolled in the program, that they had never previously received a bill from the college, and that they did not owe the college any money. Many of the concerns also pertained to academic issues related to the program including how the program was structured, who was receiving the instruction and corresponding grades, and the quality of the instruction. As a result of these complaints, the college has undertaken an investigation into alleged improprieties in the Management Division.

"An inadequate separation of duties exists where one person has control over an entire process or transaction cycle. Such control weaknesses significantly increase the risk that errors or irregularities will go undetected. These duties are incompatible and control should not remain concentrated with one individual."

Finding 6 was that NCTC did not actively monitor accounts receivable or administrative adjustments. According to the report, the college did not actively pursue collection of accounts receivable balances and could not accurately determine the number and amounts of outstanding accounts receivable balances. The problems pertained primarily to the Management Division and the Customized Training and Continuing Education programs, the report said. The auditors estimated accounts receivable of approximately $150,000 as of January 1996.

Finding 7 was that NCTC did not verify the accuracy of tickets sold for athletic and theater events.

"NCTC did not ensure that the appropriate amount of receipts for athletic and theater event ticket sales were collected and deposited," the report states. "NCTC collected receipts for athletic events as well as for theater department events. The sales amounted to approximately $172,000 in fiscal year 1996. Students collected receipts at each athletic event for the athletic director, who forwarded the collections to the business office for deposit. The college could reconcile receipts by type of ticket (adult, student, children) to the ranges of ticket numbers used in order to ensure that the correct amount of revenue was collected.

"We reported this issue in two prior audits of Northland Community College. We are also concerned that the level of revenues generated from athletic and theater events will increase with the construction of the multi-events center."

Chapter 4
Administrative Expenditures

Conclusion for this chapter is that NCTC provided reasonable assurance that payroll and personnel transactions were authorized, accurately recorded in the accounting records, and in compliance with applicable statutory provisions and related bargaining unit agreements for the items tested. The auditors said, however, that NCTC needs to strengthen controls over its purchasing function to ensure that purchases are authorized and that payments are for the correct amounts. The college also needs to establish an inventory system for equipment or fixed assets.

Expenditures for supplies, services and equipment amounted to approximately $2 million in fiscal year 1996. Instructors or department heads initiated purchase requests. According to NCTC policies, if the request was over $100, the college president or vice president should sign the request.

Finding 8 was that Northland needs to strengthen controls to ensure that purchases are authorized and paid in the correct amounts only for items received. Of concern were that individuals authorizing purchases also received goods directly, and that the college did not maintain documentation to support bids and written contracts for goods and services.

Finding 9 was that NCTC did not have an inventory system for equipment and fixed assets. The college has not marked its fixed assets as state property, although MnSCU system procedure requires the college to record fixed assets over $2,000 in value.

The auditors also said the college should address sensitive items with a value of less than $2,000 that are highly susceptible to theft or loss. Without an adequate system of accounting for fixed assets, instances of theft or misuse of state property could go undetected.

Chapter 5
Bookstore Revenues and Expenditures

Conclusions are that the bookstore did not follow NCTC and MnSCU purchasing policies and procedures and NCTC did not prepare financial statements for the bookstore, develop policies for the use of bookstore profits, or adequately separate duties over the operation of the college bookstore.

A chart shows the bookstore had revenue of $352,505 in fiscal 1996 and expenditures of $322,224 for an excess of revenue over expenditures of $30,281. "Since the college did not calculate cost of goods sold and did not allocate certain expenses to the bookstore, net income cannot be determined," the audit report said.

Finding 10 was that the bookstore did not comply with MnSCU and NCTC purchasing policies. The bookstore did not submit purchase requests to the business office for the purchase of goods and did not process purchase orders through the MnSCU accounting system. Various college departments also used the bookstore rather than the business office to process their purchase requests. The bookstore also did not maintain a permanent file for competitive bids and quotations as required by MnSCU procedure.

Finding 11 was that NCTC did not prepare periodic financial statements for the bookstore. Prior to the merger, the technical college and community college bookstores both had prepared financial statements. Neither the bookstore nor the business office entered bookstore transactions into the MnSCU accounting system until September of 1996.

Finding 12 was that NCTC used bookstore profits for questionable purposes.

"In fiscal year 1996, the college used bookstore profits to write-off approximately $1,600 in tuition refunds to students," the audit report states. "The college told us it was not aware of some of these refunds. The vice president cited NCTC errors as the explanation provided for the refunds. Based on the documentation available, however, we were not able to determine the reason for the errors.

"NCTC also used bookstore profits to pay emergency loans to students. While this may be an allowable use, bookstore profits should be designated for activities that benefit the general student population and that the college administration agrees with. Without policies addressing the use of bookstore profits, the potential risk of misuse increases. As of June 30, 1996, the NCTC bookstore had a fund balance of about $168,000."

Finding 13 was that NCTC did not adequately separate duties over financial operations in the bookstore. The auditors recommended that more than one person be responsible for physical custody of assets and the accounting for the assets, and in collecting receipts and accounting for receipt transactions.

Chapter 6
Federal and State Financial Aid and Work Study

In this chapter the auditor concludes that NCTC did not manage federal, state and local student financial aid disbursements in compliance with applicable program requirements. The college had adequate controls to provide assurance that the packaging and awarding of student financial aid complied with eligibility requirements, but that it did not manage federal, state and local student financial aid disbursements in compliance with applicable program requirements.

Finding 14 was that computer system processing errors affecting financial aid remain uncorrected. One such programming error resulted in student enrollment status changing from "actual" to "estimated" when students dropped all classes prior to the start of a quarter. This allowed ineligible students to receive financial aid.

Failure to verify student enrollment status prior to disbursing financial aid checks resulted in potential overpayments to six students totaling $3,186 and actual overpayments of $283 to two students.

Finding 15 was that NCTC did not verify financial aid awarded to financial aid disbursed to students. Without a reconciliation of these amounts, inappropriate payments or payments over the amount awarded could occur and remain undetected.

Finding 16 was that NCTC did not adequately separate duties over work study and emergency loans. The auditors warned against one person having control over an entire accounting process including issuing checks, collecting payments, making deposits and reconciling the account.

Finding 17 was that NCTC made financial aid overpayments to several students. The total was $5,396 and included payments to students who did not enroll for a summer session, had received JTPA money not included in their total resources, had failed to make satisfactory academic progress and presented questionable information regarding parents' marital status.

Finding 18 was that NCTC did not properly control cash for federal financial aid activities. Auditors said the college had a "weak system" of internal controls for cash management of financial aid activities. This resulted in the bank returning checks for insufficient funds. The college also did not have sufficient collateral to protect its bank account balance and did not deposit Perkins Loan drawdowns into an interest-bearing account.

Chapter 7
Northland Community And Technical College Foundation and the Joint Powers Board

Conclusion of the auditors was that the college had appropriate relationships with the Northland Community and Technical College Foundation and the Joint Powers Board.

$227,000 grant to start new Foster Grandparent program

Tri-Valley Opportunity Council in Crookston has been awarded a $227,000 grant from the Corporation for National Service to start a new Foster Grandparent project in the northwestern Minnesota counties of Becker, Clay, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau.

"Foster Grandparents serve as mentors, tutors and caregivers for children and teens with special or exceptional needs," stated Seventh District Congressman Collin Peterson in announcing the grant.

"This includes children who have been abused and neglected, as well as premature infants and children with physical disabilities. They also will work with children in homeless shelters and with teenage parents and youth involved in the juvenile court system."

Nationwide the Foster Grandparent program offers eligible seniors aged 60 and older opportunities to serve more than 80,000 children and youth. Nearly 24,000 Foster Grandparents currently volunteer in schools, hospitals, drug treatment facilities, correctional institutions and Head Start and day care centers.

On August 27 police received a report of an accident involving a school bus at First and Duluth. According to the accident report, Sharolyn Kay Loken, Wannaska, was driving a 1992 International School bus from Grygla. Another school bus was doubled parked beside her and she attempted to go around the bus but in the process the bus struck the rear of a parked vehicle belonging to Amy Sue Roche, Thief River Falls. There were a number of students on the bus but no one was injured or even noticed that the car had been hit. These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Vitamins and You

Your body is like a busy laboratory, constantly performing thousands of different chemical reactions. Each of these reactions is controlled by enzymes and coenzymes, with certain coenzymes containing vitamins. Without these vitamins, thousands of chemical reactions essential for life would not occur.

The human body does not create vitamins, so we must obtain them from what we eat. Unfortunately, with the advent of fast food, extensive food processing and dieting, many of our diets today are lacking in vitamins. An estimated 25 percent of U.S. households do not have nutritionally-balanced diets.

The Food & Drug Administration created the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) to help determine the amounts of vitamins and minerals needed to meet daily requirements for nutrients. If you feel you're not receiving the proper amount of vitamins through your diet, check with your doctor or pharmacist about vitamin supplements.

Audit report details need for changes at NCTC

[illegible] tuition and fees, purchasing, bookstore operations, and financial aid. The lack of controls over tuition receipts resulted in the college's making an investigation into alleged financial and academic improprieties in its Management Division. In general, the college needs to strengthen their procedures in all of these areas.

The college had good controls over payroll expenditures. For financial aid, controls provided assurance it complied with program eligibility requirements. The college did not, however, comply with federal cash management and reporting requirements, and we noted control weaknesses over financial aid disbursements. The college had an appropriate relationship with the Northland Community and Technical College Foundation and the Joint Powers Board.

In its written response, Northland Community and Technical College agreed with the audit report findings and specified a correct action plan to address the issues contained in the report."

Following is a summarized version by chapter of the audit findings. The full audit report was released as a public document last Friday and is available for review in its entirety.

Chapter 1
Background Information

Following a review of the college's history since July 1, 1995, the report states how the college receives its funding including being responsible for the collection of tuition and fees from students.

A chart shows a June 30, 1996 beginning fund balance of $149,207 and income of $6,769,475 in state appropriation, $2,332,112 in tuition and fees and $384,430 in other revenue for a total from all sources of $9,635,554.

Expenditures included $6,566,736 in payroll, $221,467 in supplies and materials, $400,180 in equipment and $1,648,073 in other expenses for a total of $8,836,476. Balance at the end of the 1996 fiscal year was $[illegible].

Other material financial activities of NCTC during fiscal year 1996 included about $2 million in federal financial aid payments and bookstore sales of approximately $353,000.

Chapter 2
Financial Management

"NCTC had a poor system of internal control over its financial management practices during the audit period," the chapter conclusions state. "The college did not provide basic controls such as reconciling bank accounts timely, ensuring the proper recording of financial activity in the accounting records, and limiting access to information systems. The business office was understaffed and business office employees did not receive adequate training.

"We also are concerned that the college had an environment that permitted the potential existence of some employee conflicts of interest and other potentially inappropriate conduct by certain employees. In particular, we found that the vice president's child had received favorable treatment."

The auditors acknowledged that NCTC experienced a significant amount of change in the past two years, including the system merger of the state universities, community colleges and technical colleges, the introduction of several new accounting and personnel information systems and especially the consolidation of Northland Community College and the Thief River Falls campus of Northwest Technical College and personnel turnover associated with the consolidation.

Finding 1 was that NCTC did not provide fundamental controls over financial management. This resulted in delinquent transfers to the state bank account and inability to prepare bank account reconciliations on a timely basis.

Finding 2 was that NCTC did not adequately staff financial management functions or ensure that employees received adequate training to fulfill their job duties.

Auditors note that the president told them he reduced personnel in certain departments, including Finance and Operations, during fiscal year 1996 and again at the start of fiscal year 1997 because he did not have adequate financial information on the consolidated colleges, including beginning fund balances, and wanted to ensure that NCTC did not experience a budget deficit.

The downsizing occurred during a time when the college's financial position was uncertain, in part because the financial information for the Thief River Falls campus was included with the other five campuses that had comprised the Northwest Technical College. The Thief River Falls Technical College campus had also experienced enrollment declines in prior years. After the downsizing, the business office had a manager and three employees, the bookstore had a manager, and the personnel division had a director and one employee.

"We believe," the report states, "the downsizing adversely impacted the college's ability to effectively manage its financial operations. Between April and June 1997, NCTC made efforts to appropriately staff the business office by reassigning one employee and using intermittent employees to achieve a more appropriate staffing level in its business operations.

"In addition to inadequate staffing levels, NCTC did not ensure staff were properly trained in the use of various accounting systems (CIS, MSIS, MnSCU accounting and MAPS)," the report continues.

"The college experienced turnover at various positions due to the downsizing of the combined entity. The downsizing resulted in laying off employees primarily from the community college. Many of the employees from the technical college, however, were not familiar with state regulations or with the new MnSCU or state accounting systems. The lack of continuity of staff was disruptive to the implementation of an effective financial management structure.

"Proper training of staff in these business systems and procedures is critical to ensure the reliability and proper analysis of financial information. In May 1997, NCTC arranged to have another MnSCU college provide training to its financial management staff."

Finding 3 was that potential conflicts of interest and other inappropriate activities occurred involving some college employees. The report points out that the vice president potentially used that position to secure advantages for her immediate family. She and two other college employees either directly or indirectly supervised family members under the work study program.

(Material from this finding was published in an article in the Sunday, August 30 issue of the Northern Watch.)

The report cites state law which defines a conflict of interests as "[the] use or attempted use of the employee's official position to secure benefits, privileges, exemptions or advantages for the employee or the employee's immediate family ... which are different from those available to the general public."

Finding 4 was that NCTC did not adequately restrict certain computer security clearances. The audit found that:

- The college's security administrator granted excessive CIS access privileges to a student worker and did not cancel the access when the student's work study assignment ended. MnSCU had previously denied a request for a second logon ID by the security administrator.
- Two former high level employees' system access remained unchanged for several months after terminating employment with NCTC, as did the clearance of a student worker. One of the former employees was the business office manager, and the other employee was the information systems director.

"Although we found no instances of abuse," the report states, "both positions present a high risk to systems security."

Chapter 3
Tuition And Fee Revenue

Conclusions for this chapter are that NCTC control procedures over the collection of tuition and fee revenue were inadequate. "The college did not have an adequate separation of duties over tuition revenues in the business office, the Customized Training and Continuing Education Programs, or the management program," the report said.

"Concerns with the decentralized system [which] allowed Management Division instructors to register students and collect tuition resulted in NCTC conducting an investigation into alleged improprieties within that division. Also, the college did not actively pursue the collection of accounts receivable or properly monitor administrative adjustments."

Finding 5 was that NCTC did not adequately separate duties over the receipts collection process for tuition and other fees, or ensure in total that the appropriate amount of tuition was collected.

"In the Management Division, historically, each individual instructor registered students, collected tuition and fees, invoiced students, and collected accounts receivable," the report states. "In March 1997, however, the business office sent fee statements directly to management students for the first time. As a result, numerous students contacted the college expressing a wide variety of financial and academic concerns about the program.

"Students complained that they had not enrolled in the program, that they had never previously received a bill from the college, and that they did not owe the college any money. Many of the concerns also pertained to academic issues related to the program including how the program was structured, who was receiving the instruction and corresponding grades, and the quality of the instruction. As a result of these complaints, the college has undertaken an investigation into alleged improprieties in the Management Division.

"An inadequate separation of duties exists where one person has control over an entire process or transaction cycle. Such control weaknesses significantly increase the risk that errors or irregularities will go undetected. These duties are incompatible and control should not remain concentrated with one individual."

Finding 6 was that NCTC did not actively monitor accounts receivable or administrative adjustments. According to the report, the college did not actively pursue collection of accounts receivable balances and could not accurately determine the number and amounts of outstanding accounts receivable balances. The problems pertained primarily to the Management Division and the Customized Training and Continuing Education programs, the report said. The auditors estimated accounts receivable of approximately $150,000 as of January 1996.

Finding 7 was that NCTC did not verify the accuracy of tickets sold for athletic and theater events.

"NCTC did not ensure that the appropriate amount of receipts for athletic and theater event ticket sales were collected and deposited," the report states. "NCTC collected receipts for athletic events as well as for theater department events. The sales amounted to approximately $172,000 in fiscal year 1996. Students collected receipts at each athletic event for the athletic director, who forwarded the collections to the business office for deposit. The college could reconcile receipts by type of ticket (adult, student, children) to the range of ticket numbers used in order to ensure that the correct amount of revenue was collected.

"We reported this issue in two prior audits of Northland Community College. We are also concerned that the level of revenues generated from athletic and theater events will increase with the construction of the multi events center."

Chapter 4
Administrative Expenditures

Conclusion for this chapter is that NCTC provided reasonable assurance that payroll and personnel transactions were authorized, accurately recorded in the accounting records, and in compliance with applicable statutory provisions and related bargaining unit agreements for the items tested. The auditors said, however, that NCTC needs to strengthen controls over its purchasing function to ensure that purchases are authorized and that payments are for the correct amounts. The college also needs to establish an inventory system for equipment or fixed assets.

Expenditures for supplies, services and equipment amounted to approximately $2 million in fiscal year 1996. Instructors or department heads initiated purchase requests. According to NCTC policies, if the request was over $100, the college president or vice president should sign the request.

Finding 8 was that Northland needs to strengthen controls to ensure that purchases are authorized and paid in the correct amounts only for items received. Of concern were that individuals authorizing purchases also received goods directly, and that the college did not maintain documentation to support bids and written contracts for goods and services.

Finding 9 was that NCTC did not have an inventory system for equipment and fixed assets. The college has not marked its fixed assets as state property, although MnSCU system procedure requires the college to record fixed assets over $2,000 in value.

The auditors also said the college should address sensitive items with a value of less than $2,000 that are highly susceptible to theft or loss. Without an adequate system of accounting for fixed assets, instances of theft or misuse of state property could go undetected.

Chapter 5
Bookstore Revenues and Expenditures

Conclusions are that the bookstore did not follow NCTC and MnSCU purchasing policies and procedures and NCTC did not prepare financial statements for the bookstore, develop policies for the use of bookstore profits, or adequately separate duties over the operation of the college bookstore.

A chart shows the bookstore had revenue of $352,505 in fiscal 1996 and expenditures of $322,224 for an excess of revenue over expenditures of $30,281. "Since the college did not calculate cost of goods sold and did not allocate certain expenses to the bookstore, net income cannot be determined," the audit report said.

Finding 10 was that the bookstore did not comply with MnSCU and NCTC purchasing policies. The bookstore did not submit purchase requests to the business office for the purchase of goods and did not process purchase orders through the MnSCU accounting system. Various college departments also used the bookstore rather than the business office to process their purchase requests. The bookstore also did not maintain a permanent file for competitive bids and quotations as required by MnSCU procedure.

Finding 11 was that NCTC did not prepare periodic financial statements for the bookstore. Prior to the merger, the technical college and community college bookstores both had prepared financial statements. Neither the bookstore nor the business office entered bookstore transactions into the MnSCU accounting system until September of 1996.

Finding 12 was that NCTC used bookstore profits for questionable purposes.

In fiscal year 1996, the college used bookstore profits to write-off approximately $3,600 in tuition refunds to students," the audit report states. "The college registrar was not aware of some of these refunds. The vice president cited NCTC errors as the explanation provided for the refunds. Based on the documentation available, however, we were not able to determine the reason for the errors.

"NCTC also used bookstore profits to pay emergency loans to students. While this may be an allowable use, bookstore profits should be designated for activities that benefit the general student population and that the college administration agrees with. Without policies addressing the use of bookstore profits, the potential risk of misuse increases. As of June 30, 1996, the NCTC bookstore had a fund balance of about $168,000."

Finding 13 was that NCTC did not adequately separate duties over financial operations in the bookstore. The auditors recommended that more than one person be responsible for physical custody of assets and the accounting for the assets, and in collecting receipts and accounting for receipt transactions.

Chapter 6
Federal and State Financial Aid and Work Study

In this chapter the auditor concludes that NCTC did not manage federal, state and local student financial aid disbursements in compliance with applicable program requirements. The college had adequate controls to provide assurance that the packaging and awarding of student financial aid complied with eligibility requirements, but that it did not manage federal, state and local student financial aid disbursements in compliance with applicable program requirements.

Finding 14 was that computer system processing errors affecting financial aid remain uncorrected. One such programming error resulted in student enrollment status changing from "actual" to "estimated" when students dropped all classes prior to the start of a quarter. This allowed ineligible students to receive financial aid.

Failure to verify student enrollment status prior to disbursing financial aid checks resulted in potential overpayments to six students totaling $3,186 and actual overpayments of $283 to two students. [illegible]

Finding 15 was that NCTC did not verify financial aid awarded to financial aid disbursed to students. Without a reconciliation of these amounts, inappropriate payments or payments over the amount awarded could occur and remain undetected.

Finding 16 was that NCTC did not adequately separate duties over work study and emergency loans. The auditors warned against one person having control over an entire accounting process including issuing checks, collecting payments, making deposits and reconciling the account.

Finding 17 was that NCTC made financial aid overpayments to several students. The total was $5,396 and included payments to students who did not enroll for a summer session, had received JTPA money not included in their total resources, had failed to make satisfactory academic progress and presented questionable information regarding parents' marital status.

Finding 18 was that NCTC did not properly control cash for federal financial aid activities. Auditors said the college had a "weak system" of internal controls for cash management of financial aid activities. This resulted in the bank returning checks for insufficient funds. The college also did not have sufficient collateral to protect its bank account balance and did not deposit Perkins Loan drawdowns into an interest-bearing account.

Chapter 7
Northland Community And Technical College Foundation and the Joint Powers Board

Conclusion of the auditors was that the college had appropriate relationships with the Northland Community and Technical College Foundation and the Joint Powers Board.

$227,000 grant to start new Foster Grandparent program

Tri-Valley Opportunity Council in Crookston has been awarded a $227,000 grant from the Corporation for National Service to start a new Foster Grandparent project in the northwestern Minnesota counties of Becker, Clay, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau.

"Foster Grandparents serve as mentors, tutors and caregivers for children and teens with special or exceptional needs," stated Seventh District Congressman Collin Peterson in announcing the grant.

"This includes children who have been abused and neglected as well as premature infants and children with physical disabilities. They also will work with children in homeless shelters and with teenage parents and youth involved in the juvenile court system."

Nationwide, the Foster Grandparent program offers eligible seniors aged 60 and older opportunities to serve more than 80,000 children and youth. Nearly 24,000 Foster Grandparents currently volunteer in schools, hospitals, drug treatment facilities, correctional institutions and Head Start and day care centers.

Vitamins and You

Your body is like a busy laboratory, constantly performing thousands of different chemical reactions. Each of these reactions is controlled by enzymes and coenzymes, with certain coenzymes containing vitamins. Without these vitamins, thousands of chemical reactions essential for life would not occur.

The human body does not create vitamins, so we must obtain them from what we eat. Unfortunately with the advent of fast food, extensive food processing and dieting, many of our diets today are lacking in vitamins. An estimated 25 percent of U.S. households do not have nutritionally-balanced diets.

The Food & Drug Administration created the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) to help determine the amount of vitamins and minerals needed to meet daily requirements for nutrients. If you feel you're not receiving the proper amount of vitamins through your diet, check with your doctor or pharmacist about vitamin supplements.

Which Dog Do You Want Biting Your Leg?

While we were away from the office on vacation a couple of weeks ago a good thing happened. The strike against United Parcel Service ended when an agreement was reached between the Teamsters Union and company management. Who benefitted from the strike? Hardly anyone.

There was some talk before and during the strike about the union's concern for the percentage of part-time workers hired by the company. It made good grist for the mill, but it was more smokescreen than real fire.

Elmer Andersen, former governor of Minnesota and publisher of the ABC Newspapers of Anoka, Blaine and Coon Rapids, put his finger on the pulse of the strike when he wrote: "The core issue from the company standpoint is control of the pension system, which is now part of a multi-company plan managed by the union. UPS pays in proportionately more than others, thus subsidizes pensions for other than its own workers. It could substantially increase benefits to its own workers if it had control of its funds.

"Weakest point in the union position is the unwillingness of the union leadership to let the members vote on the company's proposal. The workers might well vote to accept it. That would have ramifications far beyond the immediate situation."

There are few labor analysts who believe that Teamsters president Ron Carey, who called the strike against UPS, didn't do so in an attempt to provide evidence of his productive leadership. He won the presidency in a close election over Jimmy Hoffa Jr. which has not yet been certified.

"... (Carey) clearly expected a quick settlement with employee-owned UPS because the union has not the resources to finance payment to strikers over the term of a long strike," Anderson wrote in his editorial, entitled UPS Workers Are Pawns in Bigger Union Struggles.

"Almost immediately the AFL-CIO felt it necessary to come to Carey's rescue with cash," the editorial continues. "Which leads to a still bigger issue of involvement. For some years organized labor declined in its percentage of the U.S. workforce. Efforts have been made to restructure, clean up and revitalize union organization. Unions want a victory to encourage membership recruitment and union activity."

And the unions finally have an economic toe hold to use as a springboard for recruitment. According to Newsweek magazine, the U.S. economy has grown by 18 percent since 1989, corporate income has more than doubled. Wages and benefits have grown by only 2.8 percent and that small growth has been unequally distributed.

"So," concludes Anderson, "those fleetfooted, friendly, essential UPS workers who are denied a chance to vote on their company's offer are pawns in titanic struggles reaching far beyond them, and affecting the future of the country."

So who was the winner in the strike against UPS? It wasn't the customers who had their businesses interrupted and were forced to find alternate transportation for their goods. It wasn't the company, which lost many millions of dollars of actual business during the strike and will have continued loss of business as former customers continue with other carriers. It wasn't the full-time employees, a number of whom have not been called back to work due to reduced business volume caused by the strike — and possibly a little company vindictiveness.

Was it Carey himself, who rode the backs of his members to a loftier position? Was it the union movement, which showed it can disrupt the nation's commerce at will? Or was it only competitors of UPS which increased their volume during the strike and probably found many new customers for the long term?

Given the overall result of the strike action, employees of UPS must be wondering right now which dog they would rather have biting their leg, the company or the union.

Terse Verse

Back quite a few years ago, before becoming editor of The Times and assuming editorial writing responsibilities, this writer wrote a column called Rhyme and Reason. I won't say how long ago that was, but one of the columns we found recently was from a paper where Thief River Falls businesses listed their telephone numbers with the prefix MUrdock 1.

The columns contained opinion, jokes and personally-written poetry. The issue noted above had a poem which has proved to be timeless. Here it is:

MATTER OF OPINION

"There's no news in your paper,"
We hear a critic cry.
"Your pictures look just awful and "The stories are too dry.

"Why do you use those locals
That no one ever reads?
Why don't you print more comics?"
The kibitzer proceeds.

"Your editor is stupid
And all the staff the same,
They must be 'cause the whole bunch
Can't even spell my name.

"Your columns reek with gossip,
Not half of it is true—
At least not how I hear it and
I hear as well as you.

"In other words your efforts
Are only meant for gain,
You fleece your advertisers and
Your comments are insane."

So it's a lousy paper
And every issue smells,
But if someone should miss it THEN
You ought to hear the yells!

The new Long's bridge was dedicated Tuesday, August 26, 1997. The old Long's bridge, located south of the new bridge, was constructed in 1915. When it was dismantled in 1995 it was functionally obsolete in accordance with state standards. At the time of its replacement, there were only three bridges in the State of Minnesota with such a low sufficiency rating, and the other two were under construction. At the time of its replacement, it was rated as having a three-ton capacity, which is about the weight of a standard car. The one-lane bridge measured 16 feet from curb to curb. The new bridge has a width of 44 feet.

Straight combining—the process of cutting and threshing grain in the same operation—has been growing in popularity in the area but often requires drying prior to storage. This year the dry harvest conditions have permitted much of the wheat to go into the bin directly from the field. General quality of all small grain crops in the area is considered fair to poor.

LETTERS

To The Editor

The Marshall County Historical Society Board of Directors was pleased to learn at their last meeting, that a number of local and county businesses made generous donations to the Society, due to the efforts of one young member of the community, Pam Snowell. How gratifying it is to find younger people with concerns in "old things" and what seems to have become traditionally an "older persons" interest—the preservation of the past.

In order to save on postage, Pam hand delivered a request for donations to Warren businesses and organizations before she mailed the same letters to other towns in the county.

We not only give Pam credit for her hard work, but also thank those who responded to that letter. Your support and interest are gratefully received.

But (and there is usually a "but") what has been received is not enough. The days open this summer were cut back to try to save on expenses, only to find that expenses have risen due to unforeseen problems.

The floods and high waters during the past years are gradually taking their toll on the one-of-a-kind buildings we have in the Settlers Square. What we have now is what we will always have. We can't go out in the country to find any more century old buildings like the Cook School, the Alma Church and the Landreville cabin.

I can tell you what has happened over in North Dakota at the Icelandic State Park. My friends and relatives there, in their attempt to build a heritage type village, finally had to erect a commercially constructed log cabin to house their vintage household goods. It is a solution to a problem, but does leave something to be desired.

We hear from visitors, over and over again, that we have one of the nicest museums around and we are grateful for kind words and moral support. We do need more than a pat on the back, though. We need the financial assistance that comes with a group of interested and helpful supporters.

It is hoped that everyone in Marshall County will consider offering that support, whether with an individual donation, a response to Pam's letter or with a willingness to become an ongoing financial partner and supporter in a possible membership/dues program. There are many ways to lend support. Volunteer work is also an excellent way to give support to a worthwhile cause.

Think about it. The time is now to take care of Settler's Square. Someday down the road may be too late.

Sincerely
Ethel Thorlacius

Johnston herd leads June DHIA report

Dairy herd of Todd and Jae Johnston led the Red Lake Pennington Dairy Herd Improvement Association in production for the month of June, according to Rande and Margaret Rasmussen, supervisors.

The 63-cow herd, 90 percent of which was in milk, averaged daily production of 70 pounds of milk, 2.5 pounds of butterfat and 2.2 pounds of protein.

Tom and Diane Kolstoe had the second place herd with 96 percent of the 45 cow herd in milk and averaging 68 pounds of milk, 2.4 pounds of butterfat and 2.0 pounds of protein.

Richard Dummer had the third-place herd with 84 percent of the 90-cow herd in milk and averaging 67 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of butterfat and 2.0 pounds of protein.

Other herds in the top 15 for the association in June included the following with number of cows, percentage in milk and pounds of milk, butterfat and protein listed respectively.

Wayne Vatthauer (herd milked three times a day), 135, 86%, 66, 2.4 and 2.1; Lyle Swanson, 38, 90%, 65, 2.4 and 2.0; Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station (three cows), 51, 86%, 63, 2.2 and 2.0; (small cows), 58, 90%, 62, 2.2 and 2.0; and Milo Carlson, 70, 81%, 62, 2.0 and 1.9.

Also Kevin and Beth Roppe, 37, 86%, 61, 1.9 and 1.8; Walter Bus Farm, 167, 88%, 60, 2.3 and 1.9; Warren Malosky Dairy, 113, 91%, 60, 2.2 and 1.9; Goodene Ast Farms (1), 44, 98%, 58, 2.1 and 1.9; Goodene Ast Farms (2), 21, 90%, 58, 2.0 and 1.9; Herb Torstveit, 30, 93%, 57, 1.8 and 1.7 (tie); Arlan and Ruth Weiss, 50, 96%, 57, 1.8 and 1.7 (tie) and Bob Schindler, 66, 85%, 57, 1.8 and 1.7 (tie).

The supervisors noted that herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd during the month because production is averaged over all cows in the herd to provide the producer with a record of the herd's earning power. Cows not in production will reduce the herd average.

Defensive end Cody Huschle brought down Sartell runningback Jason Pflipsen after a two-yard gain in the first quarter of Thief River Falls' season-opening high school football game Friday at Prowler Field. Eric Roulend of the Prowlers (61) came up to help out on the play. The Sabres won 21-20. Thief River Falls travels to Detroit Lakes Friday.

Startell 21-20 winner over TRF

Jeff Mumm knew Sartell would bring a good high school football team to Thief River Falls Friday. But what he didn't know was how strong – physically strong – the Sabres would be. Expected to be flashy, the visitors instead used brute force to beat the Prowlers 21-20.

When the two teams met for the very first time a year ago, it was the Sabres' extraordinary skills, not power, that impressed the most as Sartell rolled to a 31-6 win.

"They don't overpower you, they beat you with their finesse," said Mumm before the two teams met up a second time in the 1997 season opener for both schools. He was using different words to describe Sartell after the game.

"I'll have to eat my words on that one," said Mumm. "There was no finesse there. They just played some good old-fashioned smash-mouth football. They physically manhandled us offensively and defensively. We couldn't handle them. They overpowered us everywhere."

By that description, you would have thought the Sabres would have won by more than a one point margin. They would have, save for Thief River Falls' long-range scoring prowess.

Halfback Nick Chiodo scored on runs of 31 and 66 yards, and fullback Kyle Anderson broke off a 72-yard touchdown run that put the Prowlers ahead 20-7 midway through the third quarter.

"Sure, we scored 20 points," noted Mumm, "but it was on individual efforts by the runningbacks, period."

While the Prowlers scored on big plays, Sartell ground it out on drives that went 71 yards in 16 plays, 56 yards in 11 plays and 65 yards in 16 plays.

Chiodo opened the scoring with his 31-yard touchdown one play after a 21-yard Sartell punt into a stiff wind. The 5-9, 180-pound junior was stopped cold behind the line of scrimmage on the carry to the left side, but bounced off would-be tacklers and out-ran the defense to the end zone with 4:09 left in the first quarter.

Mostly short-yardage runs were part of the Sabres' first touchdown drive that began on the last play of the first quarter and ended with Nick Opatz going off right tackle from two yards out 6 1/2 minutes into the second quarter. A conversion kick by Nick Orndorff put Sartell ahead, since the Prowlers' attempt was off-target.

A Trevor Lee interception was promptly followed by Chiodo's second touchdown run as he popped through the left side and sprinted 66 yards down the sideline with 1:43 to play in the first half. Another failed conversion, this time a run, left it 12-7.

Anderson charged through the middle, broke away from a shirt-tackle near mid-field and then outran the defense the rest of the way on his 72-yard touchdown run with 5:54 left in the third quarter.

Quarterback Chris Mumm lobbed a conversion pass into the left corner of the end zone that was hauled in by Jeremy Swanson to produce the 20-7 cushion.

But the Prowlers' bid for their first opening game win since 1990 was shut down on back-to-back Sartell scoring drives.

Opatz, a 5-9, 155-pound junior wound up with all three Sabres touchdowns. He scored on a one-yard straight-ahead dive with 2:17 left in the third quarter and went in standing up on a 3-yard run off right tackle with 5:25 to play in the game. Orndorff provided the winning margin with a 3-for-3 night in the kicking department.

The Sabres clinched it with their third successful fourth down conversion of the night – this one on a fake punt pass play that prevented the Prowlers from getting a last shot at a win. Sartell had a chance to do additional scoreboard damage, but showed a nice touch of sportsmanship by having quarterback Dan Wainright go down on a knee on the final two snaps after gaining a first-and-goal at the Thief River Falls 5-yard line.

Opatz finished with 162 yards on a busy 34-carry night. Chiodo wound up with 119 yards and Anderson 114 – both on 11 carries. Wainright put the ball in the air 25 times, hitting 9 of them for 103 yards. The Sabres collected 24 first downs to just four by the Prowlers.

It won't get any easier for the Prowlers Friday when they head to Detroit Lakes, winner of seven straight sectional titles, for a 7 p.m. Section 8AAAA game.

Northland Community and Technical College football...

Pioneers look to rebound

A year ago, the Northland Community and Technical College football team lost a 50-0 game to Ridgewater to start the season. The Pioneers, according to head coach Gene Klinke, never really recovered in finishing 2-6.

The same two teams meet in the 1997 opener Saturday in a 1:30 p.m. game at Willmar, and Klinke is obviously looking for a different outcome.

"We got drilled by them last year, and that set the tempo for the entire season," said Klinke. "I'm a lot more optimistic this year. We should be competitive. I feel we're ahead of where we were last year because of our athletic ability."

It's a team led by a veteran offensive line featuring 340-pound Clarence Davis (Chicago, IL), 245-pound Matt Lawrence (Thief River Falls), 290-pound Rugi Goodchild (Elm—ON), 300-pound Dan Eye (Clearbrook-Gonvick), and 275-pound Robert Engelhardt (Leonard). Davis played for the Pioneers two years ago and sat out last season. Goodchild is a freshman, the others are sophomores.

"Our offensive line is going to be sophomore-led," noted Klinke. "We're going to be very experienced, and very big up front. We'll be two-deep at every position with kids who can play. Right now we're working on getting them to play as a unit."

Behind them will be sophomore quarterback Dan Wilson (Brainerd).

"Dan will do a good job for us," said Klinke. "We're working on a shorter, controlled passing game that should be effective."

Melvin Whitney Jr., a sophomore wide receiver from Chicago, will be a nice addition, noted Klinke, when he becomes eligible as a medical redshirt in Game 3.

"It's a very talented group on offense," said Klinke.

Defense, especially in the line, is a step behind at this point, acknowledged Klinke. "We don't have as many sophomores on defense," he explained. "We'll be playing a lot of freshmen. It's a good group, but they're young."

Defensive backs Nic Thompson (Warroad) and Ricky Weatherford (Ann Arbor, MI), along with linebacker Russell Sweep (Mahnomen), are the only sophomores returning on defense. The newcomers are led by defensive back Arthur Hamilton (Fort Lauderdale, FL), a redshirt freshman transfer from Florida State. "He (Hamilton) might be as good an athlete as we've ever had," pointed out Klinke.

"We've got depth everywhere but the defensive line," noted Klinke. "If the kids in the line can step up and get the job done, we'll be okay."

Other freshmen reporting were defensive linemen Lawrence Barnes (Chicago, IL), Chaka Ali (Minneapolis), Stanley Lamarre (Miami, FL), Curt Eckstein (Red Lake Falls), Josh Blomquist (Lake Bronson), Craig Mavin (Mapleton, GA), Cory Waling (Grygla), Andretti Williams (Coca, FL), Ben Bassen (Coca, FL), and Demetrius Scott (Crystal), quarterback/flanker Matt Rivera (McIntosh), quarterback/runningback Eric Reinbold (Oklee), defensive backs Ross Mel'ipe (Crystal), Adekunle Adegbemi (Chicago, IL), Greg Mavencamp (Maple Lake), Steve Etienne (Miami, FL), Michael Meninger (Miami, FL), and Jason Brelland (Thief River Falls), offensive lineman Brandon Ophaug (Larimore, ND), linebackers Jeremy Arll (Red Lake Falls) and Jeff Carlson (Hawley), wide receiver Maurice Anderson (Chicago, IL), and wide receiver/kicker Eddie Mundesir (Coca FL).

Northland will host Fergus Falls Sept. 13 in the Pioneers' 1997 home opener.

Defensive end Cody Huschle brought down Sartell runningback Jason Pflipsen after a two-yard gain in the first quarter of Thief River Falls' season-opening high school football game Friday at Prowler Field. Eric Roulend of the Prowlers (61) came up to help out on the play. The Sabres won 21-20. Thief River Falls travels to Detroit Lakes Friday.

Startell 21-20 winner over TRF

Jeff Mumm knew Sartell would bring a good high school football team to Thief River Falls Friday. But what he didn't know was how strong – physically strong – the Sabres would be. Expected to be flashy, the visitors instead used brute force to beat the Prowlers 21-20.

When the two teams met for the very first time a year ago, it was the Sabres' extraordinary skills, not power, that impressed the most as Sartell rolled to a 31-6 win.

They don't overpower you; they beat you with their finesse, said Mumm before the two teams met up a second time in the 1997 season opener for both schools. He was using different words to describe Sartell after the game.

"I'll have to eat my words on that one," said Mumm. "There was no finesse there. They just played some good, old-fashioned smash-mouth football. They physically manhandled us offensively and defensively. We couldn't handle them. They overpowered us everywhere."

By that description, you would have thought the Sabres would have won by more than a one-point margin. They would have, save for Thief River Falls' long-range scoring prowess.

Halfback Nick Chiodo scored on runs of 31 and 66 yards, and fullback Kyle Anderson broke off a 72-yard touchdown run that put the Prowlers ahead 20-7 midway through the third quarter.

"Sure, we scored 20 points," noted Mumm, "but it was on individual efforts by the runningbacks, period."

While the Prowlers scored on big plays, Sartell ground it out on drives that went 71 yards in 16 plays, 56 yards in 11 plays and 65 yards in 16 plays.

Chiodo opened the scoring with his 31-yard touchdown one play after a 21-yard Sartell punt into a stiff wind. The 5-9, 180-pound junior was stopped cold behind the line of scrimmage on the carry to the left side, but bounced off would-be tacklers and out-ran the defense to the end zone with 4:09 left in the first quarter.

Mostly short-yardage runs were part of the Sabres' first touchdown drive that began on the last play of the first quarter and ended with Nick Opatz going off right tackle from two yards out 6 1/2 minutes into the second quarter. A conversion kick by Nick Omdorff put Sartell ahead, since the Prowlers' attempt was off-target.

A Trevor Lee interception was promptly followed by Chiodo's second touchdown run as he popped through the left side and sprinted 66 yards down the sideline with 1:43 to play in the first half. Another failed conversion, this time a run, left it 12-7.

Anderson charged through the middle, broke away from a shirt-tackle near mid-field and then out-ran the defense the rest of the way on his 72-yard touchdown run with 5:54 left in the third quarter.

Quarterback Chris Mumm lobbed a conversion pass into the left corner of the end zone that was hauled in by Jeremy Swanson to produce the 20-7 cushion.

But the Prowlers' bid for their first opening game win since 1990 was shot down on back-to-back Sartell scoring drives.

Opatz, a 5-9, 155-pound junior wound up with all three Sabres touchdowns. He scored on a one-yard straight-ahead dive with 2:17 left in the third quarter and went in standing up on a 3-yard run off right tackle with 5:25 to play in the game. Omdorff provided the winning margin with a 3-for-3 night in the kicking department.

The Sabres clinched it with their third successful fourth down conversion of the night – this one on a fake punt pass play that prevented the Prowlers from getting a last shot at a win. Sartell had a chance to do additional scoreboard damage, but showed a nice touch of sportsmanship by having quarterback Dan Wainright go down on a knee on the final two snaps after gaining a first-and-goal at the Thief River Falls 5-yard line.

Opatz finished with 162 yards on a busy 34-carry night. Chiodo wound up with 119 yards and Anderson 114 – both on 11 carries. Wainright put the ball in the air 25 times, hitting 9 of them for 103 yards. The Sabres collected 24 first downs to just four by the Prowlers.

It won't get any easier for the Prowlers Friday when they head to Detroit Lakes, winner of seven straight sectional titles, for a 7 p.m. Section 8AAAA game.

Thief River Falls runningback Trevor Lee tried to get away from a Sartell defender on this first quarter carry during Friday's 1997 high school football opener. Lee was held to a three-yard gain on the play. The Sabres won the game 21-20.

Northland Community and Technical College football...

Pioneers look to rebound

A year ago, the Northland Community and Technical College football team lost a 50-0 game to Ridgewater to start the season. The Pioneers, according to head coach Gene Klinke, never really recovered in finishing 2-6.

The same two teams meet in the 1997 opener Saturday in a 1:30 p.m. game at Willmar, and Klinke is obviously looking for a different outcome.

"We got drilled by them last year, and that set the tempo for the entire season," said Klinke. "I'm a lot more optimistic this year. We should be competitive. I feel we're ahead of where we were last year because of our athletic ability."

It's a team led by a veteran offensive line featuring 340-pound Clarence Davis (Chicago, IL), 245-pound Matt Lawrence (Thief River Falls), 290-pound Rogi Goodchild (Elora, ON), 290-pound Dan Evje (Clearbrook-Gonvick), and 275-pound Robert Engelhardt (Leonard). Davis played for the Pioneers two years ago and sat out last season. Goodchild is a freshman; the others are sophomores.

"Our offensive line is going to be sophomores-led," noted Klinke. "We're going to be very experienced, and very big up front. We'll be two-deep at every position with kids who can play. Right now we're working on getting them to play as a unit."

Behind them will be sophomores quarterback Dan Wilson (Brooten).

"Dan will do a good job for us," said Klinke. "We're working on a shorter, controlled passing game that should be effective."

Melvin Whitney Jr., a sophomore wide receiver from Chicago, will be a nice addition, noted Klinke, when he becomes eligible as a medical redshirt in Game 3.

"It's a very talented group on offense," said Klinke.

Defense, especially in the line, is a step behind at this point, acknowledged Klinke. "We don't have as many sophomores on defense," he explained. "We'll be playing a lot of freshmen. It's a good group, but they're young."

Defensive backs Nic Thompson (Warroad) and Ricky Weatherford (Ann Arbor, MI)), along with linebacker Russell Sweep (Mahnomen), are the only sophomores returning on defense. The newcomers are led by defensive back Arthur Hamilton (Fort Lauderdale, FL), a redshirt freshman transfer from Florida State. "He (Hamilton) might be as good an athlete as we've ever had," pointed out Klinke.

"We've got depth everywhere but the defensive line," noted Klinke. "If the kids in the line can step up and get the job done, we'll be okay."

Other freshmen reporting were defensive linemen Lawrence Barnes (Chicago, IL), Chaka Ali (Minneapolis), Stanley Lamarre (Miami, FL), Curt Eckstein (Red Lake Falls) Josh Blomquist (Lake Bronson), Craig Mason (Mapleton, GA), Cory Waling (Grygla), Andretti Williams (Coca, FL), Ben Bassett (Coca, FL), and Demetrius Scott (Crystal), quarterback/flanker Matt Rivera (McIntosh), quarterback/runningback Eric Reinbold (Oklee); defensive backs Ross McPipe (Crystal), Adekunle Adegbemi (Chicago, IL), Greg Maveneamp (Maple Lake), Steve Ettenne (Miami, FL), Michael Meninger (Miami, FL), and Jason Breiland (Thief River Falls); offensive lineman Brandon Ophaug (Larimore, ND), linebackers Jeremy Arlt (Red Lake Falls) and Jeff Carlson (Hawley), wide receiver Maurice Anderson (Chicago, IL), and wide receiver/kicker Eddie Mondesir (Coca FL).

Northland will host Fergus Falls Sept. 13 in the Pioneers' 1997 home opener.

Gully

We had a chance to be a part of our new neighbors birthday celebration on Sunday evening. Dallas Rasmusson added another year and his wife Marlene prepared a meal. I didn't know that they have a son Danny that must be a professional "griller". He prepared the best barbeque steaks on the grill that I've ever tasted. Other family members came up to help dad or grandpa celebrate his birthday. Their son Danny and wife Judy came from Kandiyohi, also granddaughter Angie and Lindsey Rasmusson, Doug Rasmusson from Belgrade, grandson Aaron Danielson and Kory Rasmusson. I didn't see any candles so we didn't find out what age we were celebrating.

I stopped at the Gully Community Center last Sunday and found there was a birthday party going on. This time it was for Ragna Stiele who used to live north of Gully but now lives in Fosston. There was large "85" on the birthday cake otherwise we would never have guessed the secret. I didn't stay to see if they had any contests or races but I'll bet Ragna would have scored with the top contestants, she's still young for her age. When I stopped back later I had a good cup of coffee, birthday cake and ice cream. Among those present to enjoy the day were Ragna, two sons and two daughters and families: Ron and Sonie Stiele, Denise and Scott Heuft, Jessica, Brandon, Jared, Chad and Ryan from Marshall, VA; Darlene and Dan Alsup and Sarah of Minneapolis; Rich and Sandy Stiele of Gully; Kristopher and Michelle of Minneapolis; Tiana of Bemidji and Nicholle of Gully; Dianne and Arden Buchholz of Halstad, Aaron and Tina Buchholz of Fargo, ND. Others there were Sylvia and Omer Ouellet of Gonvick, Hilda Kvaale, Roger and Jennifer Kvaale, Susan and Ed of Gully, Randy and Derrick Fursolli of Trail, Stacy, Nathan and Nolan Nordlund of Clearbrook. Many more happy birthdays Ragna.

Visitors at the Ed and Lyn Turonno home at Thief River Falls on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hanson from Faribault, Mr. and Mrs. Cory Hanson of St. Cloud and Ellie Hardy. On Sunday they all visited with Ellie at her home. Mr. and Mrs. Marty Levine from Eagan were also at Ellies.

Wendi and Cathy Songer attended the wedding of their grandson, Cory May and Debbie Sweno in Gonvick on Saturday. Duane and Mary Songer of Olivia spent Saturday and Sunday with his folks Wendi and Cathy and also attended the May-Sweno wedding.

Florence Borg has been busy packing to leave on Monday for Ranier, Oregon. She says she thinks it will be good getting away from the cold winter here and is looking forward to her "new adventure in life." Dave and Sandy Groll are the new owners of her home here. Ron, Adrienne and Carrie Hanson visited with Florence Thursday evening. Florence was a supper guest at the Tim and Barb Olson home north of Trail on Saturday evening. Mark Johnston, Florence's grandson (and Carol Borg Johnston's son) Mark flew up from Oregon and will be Florence's U-Haul driver going to Oregon. Mary and Betty Borg visited with Florence on Sunday forenoon and took her and Mark out for dinner at noon. On Sunday evening Jody Meyers took the two out for supper. "We will miss you Florence!"

Beverly Rikje Milk and her husband Charles Milk from Sierra Vista, Oregon are spending about a week at the Holvin and Vivian Rikje home.

City of TRF faces budget deficit of $1.7 million assuming tax increase

by David Hill
Associate Editor

"Doomier and gloomier than ever before," is how City Administrator Roger Delap described the budget problems for the City of Thief River Falls Tuesday. Delap and Deputy Clerk Lisa Johnson presented the council with a preliminary review of the 1998 proposed governmental budgets which showed the city facing a $1.7 million budget deficit.

In her presentation, Johnson said the general fund budget deficit as of September 2, 1997, is $1,731,711. "We've got quite a ways to go to get a balanced budget," said Johnson.

Delap said the budget deficit for the general fund is "about as high as it has ever been."

The council has not adopted its tax levy. Its deadline for doing so is September 15. Delap and Johnson, however, based their projections on the council adopting a 6.5 percent increase in the levy. This increase would raise an estimated $1,146,583 and still leave the city with a budget deficit of $1.7 million.

Council representatives indicated that a one percent increase in the levy raises only $10,800. The unspoken conclusion, therefore, is that raising the levy will not answer the city's budget deficit woes. General property taxes only make up about 23 percent of general fund revenue. Most general fund revenue comes from intergovernmental tax [illegible] and 51.7 percent.

Delap and Johnson presented a number of levy options, including increases ranging from five percent to 21.3 percent. But none of the options would cover the projected deficit under each option as presented.

Where is the money spent? The general fund consists of several departmental funds. According to actual 1996 general fund expenditures, 16.1 percent of the $3,983,281 general fund expenditures was spent on Miscellaneous General Fund expenditures. General Government spent 15.5 percent of the total; Public Safety consumed 34.5 percent of the expenditures, Parks and Recreation was 17.5 percent of the total, and Streets and Highways consisted of 16.1 percent of the total.

Under the projections presented Tuesday, the totals would change very little. Parks and Recreation would see the greatest increase, jumping from 17.5 percent of the total expenditures in the general fund to [illegible] percent of the fund expenditures. The miscellaneous fund expenditures also would increase from 16.1 percent in 1996 to a projected 18.8 percent. All other fund expenditures decreased. The total projected general fund expenditures for 1998 has been estimated at $5,729,457.

Budget Busters

The council will be looking at each fund budget to reduce the deficit with the intent of reaching a balanced budget. Among the larger budget busters is $500,000 for a softball complex. The current softball complex would have to be disrupted to make way for the proposed Multi-Events Cultural Center. As of September 3, the future MECC issue remains a question due to higher than anticipated bids, a change of heart by those who proposed to operate the Wellness Center, and questions being posed to state officials. The softball complex was deleted from the project as bid and turned over to the city. The $500,000 price tag is a guess as well because no formal estimate has been provided. The $500,000 is part of the Parks and Recreation budget.

The Parks and Recreation department budget also includes a budget for arenas. That budget includes $150,000 for a roof at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, and $170,000 for repairs to walls at the arena.

The general city expenses budget includes a bill for $237,700 to pay for deficits experienced or projected for three housing facilities owned by Northwest Multi-County HRA.

The softball complex, ice arena center repairs, and housing deficit, are just three of the many areas the city council will be looking at during the next several weeks. One

Ten file for openings on school board

As of Friday morning only two individuals had filed for the two positions on the School District 564 board. Monday morning the list had expanded to 10.

Tuesday, September 9, was the final day to file for office in School District 564 and the City of Thief River Falls.

As of Tuesday morning, six candidates had filed for the three year term on the board for School District 564. The candidates are Dr. Charles Winjum, Vern Kappes, Lyle Olson, Ann Juhl, George Davis and Wendell Tergland.

As of last Friday morning no one had filed for the five year term on the school board, but as of Tuesday morning, four candidates had filed for the position. Candidates for the position include Barb Jauquet-Kalinoski, Jon Lindgren, Randy Twistol and Mike Spears.

As of Tuesday morning, only incumbents had filed for positions on the city council. Four three year positions on the council will be up for election this year including Mayor, Alderman at Large, Ward 2 and Ward 4. The incumbents, Robert Reeve, Ken Schmalz, Dave Carlson and Don Barron, have filed applications of candidacy.

Individuals interested in running for office had until the close of business on Tuesday, September 9, to file for any of the elected positions.

Leaves are burning issue

In the past few years, the issue of whether to permit the burning of leaves has led to heated discussions during city council meetings. The issue is expected to be brought before the city council at its September 23 meeting.

The public safety committee was directed by the council to return to the council with a resolution. The committee remains divided on the issue of whether to ban it, allow it by permit only or allow it to continue.

Basically, the city permit, which with legislative approval went into effect in 1982, allows the burning of leaves only between October 1 and November 15. Further, it states that a responsible person shall be in constant attendance until the fire is completely extinguished, is allowed between the hours of 8 a.m. and 8 p.m., and shall not be less than five feet from any property line. The ordinance states that the burning of leaves is prohibited on city streets, alleys, sidewalks, boulevards, river banks or any public property by private citizens. No burning of leaves shall take place during an air pollution alert warning or emergency declared by the Minnesota Environmental Protection Agency. It allows that the council may temporarily discontinue burning between October 1 and November 15 due to unsafe conditions (i.e. excessive dryness). At the discretion of the council, the last day of burning may be extended through December 1. The burning permit applies only to the burning of leaves. It is unlawful to burn rubbish, trash or other material.

Information meeting held on county septic ordinance

Presentation of the basics of a proposed Pennington county ordinance dealing with sewage and wastewater treatment took place Thursday at an informational meeting at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Howard Person, Pennington county extension educator, and Abbegail Vetter, Pennington county water plan coordinator, presented information and answered questions from those in attendance. The county board of commissioners is expected to consider adoption of the ordinance at its regular meeting on September 23.

Purpose of the proposed ordinance is to allow residents of the county to continue to use trench type septic systems except in designated flood plain or shoreline areas, which are regulated under other law, Person and Vetter said.

Person explained that the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency had secured changes through the state legislature which took effect in January of 1996 and included the following:

- Required disclosure by the seller to the prospective buyer of a property about the septic system. The buyer then has the option of having an inspection done.
- Required three feet of separation between mottled soil and the bottom of the drain field in a trench type septic system. Mottled soil indicates the depth of the water table over a period of time, Person said; the mottling never goes away although drainage patterns and other factors may change.
- Required counties with an ordinance to upgrade by January of 1998 and counties without an ordinance in place to upgrade by January of 1999. Pennington county has not had county-wide zoning

Amity students begin LHS language teaching

Amity program students from Germany and Argentina have been working in Lincoln high school as assistants in the German and Spanish language programs taught respectively by Paivi Young and Sheryl Novacek.

Assisting in the German program is Roland Cron, 25, who is studying in Wuppertal, Nordrhein-Westphalia, Germany. His parents live in Rheinland Pfalz (Trier) and are planning to visit Roland in Thief River Falls around Easter time next spring.

After finishing gymnasium (high school) classes in Germany he went into civil service as an alternative to entering military service. About half of the young men in Germany opt for that type of service. Roland worked as a runner and for a year and a half worked with handicapped people.

Following the civil service commitment he attended the Bergische Universitat Gesamthochschule at Wuppertal, studying art and politics in preparation for being a teacher. When he returns from the United States he will have to complete an exam.

Roland says he has a married sister who has a little baby that he already misses. "I feel really sorry about the fact to miss his first year of life," he said.

"On the other hand, I feel very happy to be in Thief River Falls and I'm impressed by the outgoing and friendly people of Minnesota."

In addition to team teaching with Mrs. Young Roland is involved in assisting Sylvia Sjoberg with coaching the girls varsity tennis team. He is spending the first semester as a member of the Steve and Paivi Young family.

"They make my separation from home so easy, and I would really like to thank them for this," he said.

Assisting Sheryl Novacek in the Spanish program at Lincoln is Mauro Hernandez, 22, a junior at the English Teacher-Training College in Buenos Aires, Argentina. He has been involved in the teaching field for the past two years and says he finds it to be a rewarding career.

Mauro's family includes his father, Hugo, mother, Rosa, and sister, Sabrina, 19, who is currently in her first year at the University of Buenos Aires and planning to become a dentist in the future.

"I like studying languages," he said. "I'm fluent in English, French, Italian and Portuguese. I also like driving and traveling, but my favorite pastimes are reading and writing."

A resident of Thief River Falls for the past three weeks, he is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Shafland, who he maintains treat him as if he were their own son. And he looks forward with great anticipation to an event which local natives view with apprehension.

"I've never seen snow before," he said, "so I can't wait to see it fall. People keep saying to me that I've come to the right place."

Thief River Falls post office workers were recognized for their extra effort during the 15-day strike by the Teamsters Union against United Parcel Service at an appreciation gathering Friday, August 29. The event was coordinated with similar recognition throughout the U. S. Postal Service system at the suggestion of Postmaster General Marvin Runyon. Runyon said the Postal Service delivered more than nine billion pieces of mail throughout the walkout period with Express Mail, Priority Mail and parcel post generating an extra 3.2 million parcels a day. "In Thief River Falls our employees stepped up to serve when our community needed them," noted Postmaster Dick McCloskey. Among the employees recognized at the appreciation gathering were, from left: Front row, Marc Osowski, Emery Wicklander, Tammy Magnor, Lisa Christianson, Morris Halvorson and Roger Nelson. Middle row, Steve Harder, Roy Paulson, Jodie Holthuson, Stephanie Kilen, Judy Hogberg and Renee Hennoy. Back row, Gary Engstrom, Arnold Peterson, Wayne Harder, Rodney Helgeseth, Howard Dalager, Jason Homme, Donna Harder, Vicki Gast and Kjell Molvie.

area not likely to see cuts will be salaries, which have already been negotiated. According to the preliminary budget, salary increases and adjustments amounted to $204,715. One council member suggested that next year the council implement a salary freeze.

Debt

The city's bonded indebtedness has been increasing over the past several years. Debt service funds cover approximately 12 funds which service all the city's bonded debt except for water general obligation revenue bonds. The proposed 1998 debt service tax levy maintains one year of principal and interest on reserve in each of the debt service funds. This year's total to maintain one year's principal and interest on reserve is $370,000. Last year it was $275,000. In 1996 it was $205,000. In 1995 it was $180,500.

There is also debt service on ADA projects — principally the depot project at this time. The city began setting aside $70,000 each year beginning in 1996 to pay for ADA required projects. This year the total would increase to $91,000.

The fact that the $91,000 debt service was listed by the administrator's office to cover depot costs raised the hackles of Alderman Don Barron. Barron said he wished that it would not be reported in the media as just for the depot because the city would have had to spend that money no matter what.

Discussion of bonded indebtedness led to a short discussion of unfunded projects as a contributing factor in the city's increasing bonded indebtedness. Repairs and improvements to the water treatment plant, for example (approximately $15 million) was a result of federal mandates.

Transfers

There was little discussion about transfer of funds from other departments to the general fund. The information presented about general fund revenue did not include any transfers. However, transfers from the electric and liquor funds amounted to about $572,000 in 1997. In the preliminary 1998 summary of the general fund, it was stated that $222,000 is currently budgeted as a transfer to the general fund from the liquor fund. In the past the electric department has transferred about $450,000 to the general fund.

Budget Schedule

According to the budget schedule from the city administrator's office, the council will be asked to finalize the city's tax levy for 1998 by September 8. It will be asked to certify the city's tax levy on September 9. After September 15, the certified levy cannot be increased, only decreased, prior to the final certification in late December. Tuesday, the council established the date for its truth in taxation hearing as 5 p.m. on Monday, December 8, at the public library.

public safety committee, suggested at a recent committee meeting to allow burning of leaves by permit.

It was pointed out that residents are not without another option. The city has owned and operated a leaf vacuum for a number of years. There may be additional costs and time involved in operating the system if leaf burning is banned, but it remains an option.

Dave Carlson, another member of the committee and city council, said he really didn't see any difference between noise complaints and a neighbor's smoke blowing into the home. Police respond when a resident complains that the windows rattle because of a loud stereo played by a neighbor, he said. It's really an enforcement issue, he said.

Other than a couple of complaints in the last few years, Police Chief Ken Froschheiser said they haven't had any complaints filed with the police department. What's more, Froschheiser has visited with many residents at block parties, and other than a recent block party, the majority of residents prefer to be allowed to continue burning leaves. Froschheiser said at the last block party on Kneale Avenue, about half of the 65 to 70 people in attendance were opposed to burning leaves.

Rick Jensen, co-acting fire chief, said about three years ago, the fire department conducted a survey through the city's utility bill to see if people wanted to continue to burn leaves. The response was overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the practice. Jensen added that the fire department is not in favor of continuing the practice.

Froschheiser sees some problems with the permit system. There are a lot of issues to be settled and he's worried that officers will not know how to respond without good direction. In addition he is worried that it could become a big public relations problem for his department.

Jean Henrichs, also a member of the public safety committee and city council, suggested a permit system that would charge an administrative fee of $10 to $20. The permit would be in effect throughout the time period allowed and no other burning of leaves would be permitted.

Members of the committee are urging residents to contact their ward representative to let them know how they feel about the issue. They expect a decision to be made at the next council meeting on September 23.

Study snow removal policy

Thief River Falls Public Works department is in the process of developing a new policy regarding snow removal. To that effect, a survey is being sent to local merchants requesting their assistance in developing the policy and explaining the reasons for the new policy, which would sharply curtail the city's snow removal efforts.

The survey explains that, "Due to the increasing demand for City Street Department snow removal services from commercial lots and the subsequent high cost of those services, the city is considering revisions to its present snow removal policy. Considerations include city billing for snow removed from commercial lots, encouraging private contractors to remove commercial snow piles or a combination thereof. The city street department currently removes an average of 2,400 truck loads of snow from commercial and non-profit properties at an estimated annual cost of $37,000. Annual removal costs vary from $390 for a typical small commercial lot, $675 for a larger 140 foot by 150 foot lot and $2,100 for the largest lots."

Merchants are asked to make a preference on some of the options available to them. In one of the options the city would establish a Central Business Snow Removal District and continue to remove piled snow from private lots. Under this option, property owners within the district would be invoiced by the city for the yearly average snow removed at an estimated cost of $15 per load. Property owners outside the district would be encouraged to hire private contractors to remove their snow or could be put on a waiting list for street department snow removal and cost invoicing, if time allows. The city would also continue to remove snow from streets and curbs in the Central Business District at public cost for public safety benefit.

The second option offered to merchants involves discontinuing all street department snow removal of commercially piled snow and require private haulers to contract with property owners for snow removal from all private lots. The city would still continue to remove snow from streets and curbs in the Central Business District at public cost for public safety benefit.

City officials believe the existing practice of city snow removal for some commercial properties at public expense is not equitable to those property owners currently contracting for snow removal. They indicate that such practices have been challenged in the courts.

At a public works committee meeting, Ron Lundberg, director of public works, said it is hoped that such a policy would encourage private enterprise and allow the city to give up something they really don't want to do.

A lot of questions need to be resolved regarding this issue. Officials will have to look at where to allow private enterprise to put the snow, the type of equipment they will use and safety devices attached to the equipment.

Merchants are being asked to return the surveys to the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Grebes among 280 bird species at Agassiz Refuge

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

Grebe – Am I the only person who had never heard of this bird? I doubt it. Even those who know what a grebe is probably haven't paid much attention to it.

Grebes are duck-like swimming and diving birds, smaller than loons, with flat lobes on the toes. The short legs are far back on the body, and the tail is very short. The grebe taxis for several yards before becoming airborne, and then flight is weak and hurried with the head held low in flight. Grebes dive and pursue small aquatic animals and insects. Courtship displays are often elaborate, accompanied by wails and whistles. They nest in floating marsh vegetation and generally lay two to nine eggs.

Recently, I met and spent an afternoon with Bruce Eichhorst of Grand Forks. Bruce spent most of the summer studying and researching grebes at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge. A native of Wisconsin, Bruce has a PhD in biology with ornithology – the study of birds – his main area of interest and expertise.

Established in 1937, Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is a vital link for waterfowl and wildlife in the chain of national wildlife refuges in the Mississippi Flyway. It is one of over 500 national refuges totalling over 92 million acres throughout the United States.

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is composed of 61,500 acres including 40,256 acres of wetland – a paradise for waterfowl. Water levels in the 19 pools at Agassiz Refuge are managed with a system of dikes, water control structures and spillways.

Agassiz Refuge's bird list includes 280 species, about half of which are resident nesters. With bird watching becoming an increasingly popular national pastime, Agassiz has entertained birders from all over the world and is widely regarded as Minnesota's best birding area.

Agassiz Refuge provided Bruce Eichhorst with an excellent location, facilities, and equipment for his extensive grebe study. It was there I had the opportunity to learn about his work and these fascinating birds.

Most of our afternoon was spent on an airboat in Agassiz Pool, the largest of the refuge's 19 pools. Having only driven through the refuge on a few occasions, I had no idea of its vast size or beauty.

The airboat was a new and exciting experience. While it was a hot summer afternoon, I was comfortable as we skimmed across open water and through tall reeds. There were few bugs, and the air was fresh and clean.

Five species of the migratory Grebe family in varying numbers inhabit Agassiz Refuge in the spring, summer and fall.

Numerous pied-billed grebes can be sighted throughout the three seasons. Distinguishing it from others of the species, the pied-bill grebe's whitish ringed bill is thick and chicken-like. Another key mark is the black throat patch. The pied-bill grebe has the ability to compress the air in its feathers, and in addition to diving, sink out of sight like a submarine.

Also commonly seen in spring, summer and fall is the red-necked grebe. This bird has a long red neck, light cheeks and a black cap. Its bill is pointed, and in flight a double wing patch can be seen.

Pie-billed grebe is one of the 280 species of birds that can be spotted at Agassiz Wildlife Refuge. A swimming and diving bird, the pie-billed grebe can compress the air in its feathers and sink out of sight like a submarine.

The western grebe is common to the refuge during summer months. This large black and white bird has a long swan-like neck. Its pale yellow bill is longer and more needle-like than the bill of other grebes.

While occasionally seen, the horned grebe and eared grebe are less common to Agassiz Refuge.

Because the grebe is not a game bird, little money is available for the study of these birds. Over the years, only about 400 grebes have been banded.

Conducting his research, Eichhorst had numerous nesting sites marked with flagged poles, color-coded with regard to the species.

Bruce stopped the airboat first at a trap that he had made over a nest – a wire mesh cage, its trap-door operated by remote control. Seeing a bird on the nest from the boat, Bruce could trip the door by remote, trapping the bird so that he could band it. Banding the birds provides information about migratory habits.

Other marked areas revealed various nests. The grebe pairs build their nests of vegetation anchored by tall surrounding grasses. Before leaving the nest, the grebe protectively covers its eggs. The nests and eggs are susceptible to weather and predators, and the grebe pairs have been known to try four or five times in a season to produce a family.

The eggs do not all hatch at once, and the older chicks are at an advantage because they are pushier at feeding time than their younger siblings. A red spot marks the chick's head with the color intensifying at certain times. It is thought to be some sort of signal to warn parent grebes of chicks in distress. The chicks are able to swim and dive almost immediately. Most young grebes have striped heads which distinguish their species. Young grebes are carried on the back of one parent as the other dives for food. The nest is used until all of the eggs have hatched.

Locating a nest with eggs, Bruce showed me the how the eggs become lighter as the embryo develops. An egg containing a fully developed, ready-to-hatch chick will float, and one can actually hear the chick inside.

While some grebe species are territorial, others build their nests in colonies with as many as 200 pair of birds in a colony. As we visited a colony, I was amazed at how evenly spaced the many nests were from each other – like a well-planned community. In the first organizational days of the colony as the birds paired up, Bruce described a noisy chaotic situation as the birds called and fought.

Visiting another nest, Bruce showed me an imitation egg that he had made and added to the others. Using a micro switch the temperature of the egg was monitored and logged every five minutes. By logging the data into a computer, Bruce hoped the temperature variations would tell him more about the incubation habits of the grebe.

Determined that I would get a close up look at a grebe chick, Bruce searched for a nest containing chicks and finally found a nest with three young grebes. Already adept at swimming and diving, they were quickly out of the nest and into the water as Bruce approached. Finally, he caught one, and I held the chick and examined it closely appreciating its unique markings and characteristics.

As the afternoon ended, we made our way back to dry land. Motoring across the water, Bruce pointed out adult grebes swimming with young on their backs, others diving and still others skittering across the water before becoming airborne.

Over the course of the afternoon I had developed a fondness for the grebe – an interesting bird I previously didn't know existed, an admiration for Bruce Eichhorst and his dedication to his project, and a real appreciation for Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge and all that it has to offer.

With a bird identification guide and a pair of binoculars, I'd like to check out the other 275 species of birds at Agassiz Refuge. There are scaups, kestrels, dowitchers and phalaropes – I've never heard of them either, but if they're as interesting as the grebes, I don't want to miss them!

This first-hatched grebe chick will have an advantage over its younger siblings. Stronger, it will be first in line at feeding time when its parents bring food back to the nest. The floating grebe nest is made of marsh vegetation anchored by tall surrounding grasses. The nest is used until all of the eggs are hatched.

Bruce Eichhorst of Grand Forks spent the summer studying the grebe – a migratory duck-like swimming and diving bird – at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge. Eichhorst holds a PhD. in biology with ornithology his main area of interest and expertise. Bruce is holding a grebe chick. Young grebes are able to swim and dive within a few days of hatching.

ON MY MIND
Kim Chadwick-Quade

A, B, C...1, 2, 3

The first week of school after summer vacation is now history. For our family, it was the first week of first grade, the first week of all-day school. And the grade it received A+.

As our 6 year-old son boarded the school bus the first day, I admit there was a twinge of sadness, of apprehension for me. After all, for the last seven years we've been together doing our thing. Now he's in school meeting a new teacher, new friends and cultivating new experiences. He's off to the wonderful world of learning.

The Batman backpack was christened. The new locker and desk were located. The bathroom facilities pinpointed. The brand-new box of 24 color crayons was opened and used. The new pencils met the sharpener. The pencil-top erasers received an intense workout. The lunch number was memorized. The concept of eating lunch at school became familiar. A routine was established and an excitement for learning captured. That's a lot to accomplish the first week of school.

As my son ran home from the school bus the first day, I was almost as excited as he was to find out what happened. He opened his backpack, extracted his folder and showed me the papers he'd completed – proud of his work. They had counted the students, discussed how they got to school and drew a picture of what they hoped to learn in first grade. Learning to read is my son's goal this year.

Then we played 20 questions, virtually the parents' only way of discovering what happens during the day.

"How was school?" I asked.

"Good. We have two recesses," he exclaimed, accentuating the point by showing two fingers.

"Really," I said. "What else did you do?"

"We had music and lunch. Sausage pizza," he said, rubbing his stomach. "And corn."

As the week progressed, I asked more questions and received more answers. More work papers came home and the first real homework appeared. He was excited about completing the math and of the prospect of receiving a star. Then, spurred on by the challenge of learning, ran around the house "finding" words and copied them into his notebook, although it had nothing to do with the assignment at hand. "Look, mom. Look, dad. I wrote a WORD!"

We cheered inwardly at his unrestrained and unprompted enthusiasm for his task. We were encouraged by his eagerness to learn. We have many more weeks to look forward to – of more homework sheets, of deciding what to eat for lunch, of remembering when to return the library book, of deciding what to bring for "show and tell" and of a great influx of knowledge.

There will be great days and some not-so-great days, challenges and triumphs. And as parents we're going to be there all the way. We want to be involved in his education and in helping to keep his enthusiasm for learning alive and strong. Learning is fun and we want to be a part of it.

Happy "40th" To Our Brother Marty!

Five generations gather July 19 for Jorgenson reunion

Marshall County fairgrounds in Warren was the site of the Jorgenson reunion held July 19.

Ole, Halvor and Gunerik Jorgenson came to Argyle in 1881. Thor, a fourth brother, moved on to Montana. The three Jorgenson brothers and eight other members built the Alma Church in 1883. The church now stands at the Marshall County fairgrounds making it a fitting site for the reunion.

Willard Johnson of Warren was the master of ceremonies for the program. Music was provided by Vernon and Milton Jorgenson and Lonnie Bren. Vocal selections including Nicholeen were sung by Alton, Melvin and Clifford Jorgenson.

Following the program, lunch was catered and served by Beverly and Karen Johnson, descendants of Ole Jorgenson. Much visiting and picture taking took place.

Five generations – 178 people – attended the reunion from California, Texas, Mississippi, Nebraska, Washington, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota.

NWRDC issues Supplemental Insurance update

Medicare and supplemental insurance policies are a great concern to senior citizens in the area according to Northwest Regional Development Commission. They noted that recently, senior citizens have been receiving letters from the United American Insurance Co. of McKinney, TX. These letters are very confusing, they report, and suggest that you need a Medicare review. NWRDC urges seniors not to be alarmed. This company is promoting their supplemental insurance policies and sending what they call lead letters out to seniors who have supplemental insurance policies and might want to consider changing the policies.

The policy holder for Medicare in Minnesota is United Health Care Insurance Company and is based out of the Twin Cities. They should not be confused with the insurance company from Texas.

Any questions concerning the letters should be directed to the Senior LinkAGE line at 1-800-333-2433.

For more information contact the Northwest Area Agency on Aging, a program of the Northwest Regional Development Commission, 115 South Main, Suite 1, Warren, MN 56762, or call 218-745-6733 or 1-800-333-2433 Senior LinkAGE line.

PARENTING TIPS

Playing With Children

Play is the way children learn. Toys are the tools that they use. Adults who want to help a child to play need to be careful about providing just the right amount of adult involvement. Both too much or too little adult involvement can hinder a child's play. Here are four simple rules for adults to remember:

1. Watch children play without interrupting. Observe their interests and level of skills. How do they use the toys? Which playthings are the favorites?
2. Join in and play at the child's level. Let the child lead. If you try to introduce complicated ideas too quickly, it may confuse the child and disappoint you. If the child loses interest after you join the play, you are probably above or below the child's level.
3. After playing for a while at the child's pace, introduce a slightly more difficult stage of play. Be careful not to rush this step.
4. Then back away and watch again to see if and how the youngster explores this new activity.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Ask children to tell you about what they are doing. Ask questions that you do not know the answers to.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

. . . Are You Mechanically-Challenged, Too?

I know I'm not the most handy person with things that need fixing - just ask my sons and they will tell you. I'm always calling on one or the other to come and help me fix something. If they were smart, they would give me some of those "self-help around the house" books I see advertised on television.

As dumb as I am about fixing things, it was a pleasure to come across some stories someone wrote about people who are even dumber than I am about mechanical and technical things. (The italics are my comments.)

• I can think of about three people I know who would do this if they had a remote door unlocker - one of them is not me, either.

"I recently saw a distraught young lady weeping beside her car. 'Do you need some help?' I asked. She replied, 'I knew I should have replaced the battery in this remote door unlocker. Now I can't get into my car. Do you think they (pointing to a distant convenience store) would have a battery for this?' 'Hum, I dunno. Do you have an alarm, too?' I asked. 'No, just this remote thing,' she answered, handing it and the car keys to me. As I took the key and manually unlocked the door, I replied, 'Why don't you drive over to the store and check about the batteries - it's long walk.'"

• But remember, she's not stupid.

"My friend called his insurance company to tell them to change his address from Texas to Vermont. The woman who took the call asked where Vermont was. As he tried to explain, she interrupted and said, 'Look, I'm not stupid or anything, but what state is it in?'"

• An innovative intern found that necessity is the mother of invention.

"We had an intern who was none too swift. One day he was typing and turned to a secretary and said, 'I'm almost out of typing paper, what do I do?' 'Just use copier machine paper,' she told him. With that, the intern took his last remaining blank piece of paper, put it in the photocopier, and proceeded to make five blank copies."

• All you computer nuts will appreciate this one - and this is the system administrator, at that.

"One of our servers crashed. I was watching our new system administrator trying to restore it. He inserted a CD and needed to type a path name to a directory named 'i386.' He started to type it and paused, asking me, 'Where's the key for that line thing?' I asked what he was talking about and he said, 'You know, that one that looks like an upside-down exclamation mark.' I replied, 'You mean the letter 'i'' and he said, 'Yeah, that's it!'"

• Even I know better than this - I hope.

"This person had a broken lamp which he wanted to discard. Unfortunately, the power cord ran under his refrigerator, making it impossible to move the lamp while the cord was attached. He decided to cut the cord, since the lamp was unusable anyway. He didn't remember to unplug it first. I found him in the hallway rolling back and forth."

• I guess they don't call them "motor homes" for nothing, but it isn't too smart to get too "homey" while driving around in them.

"I was in a car dealership a while ago when a large motor home was towed into the garage. The front of the vehicle was in dire need of repair and the whole thing generally looked like an extra in 'Twister.' I asked the manager what had happened. He told me that the driver had set the cruise control and then went into the back to make a sandwich."

• Ever feel the receptionist kept you on "hold" for too long? Just be glad you didn't get this one. Also be glad if you didn't say yes.

"Recently I called a company and asked to speak to Bob. The person who answered said, 'Bob is on vacation. Would you like to hold?'"

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. How much work credit do I need to receive Social Security retirement?

A. The number of credits (quarters of coverage) needed depends on your date of birth with people born in 1929 and after needing 40. Since this is only about 10 years of work, many people have far more credits than needed. Once you have enough, additional work credits do not increase benefit amounts but the income you earn while working can do so. Benefit amounts are based on your earnings over most of your working career. Higher lifetime earnings result in higher benefits.

To receive estimates of future retirement benefits and a copy of your earnings record, call 1-800-772-1213 and request a SSA-7004 (Personal Earnings Benefit Statement). This form is also an excellent tool for young families to use in financial planning because it also provides survivor and disability information and family benefit estimates as well as retirement estimates.

Q. What does Social Security mean by a full retirement?

A. You can start Social Security retirement as early as age 62 but any benefits taken prior to age 65 are reduced for age.

This "full retirement age" will increase gradually until it reaches age 67 for people born in 1938 or later.

For benefits prior to age 65, reduction takes place by how many months you are away from 65. For example, at age 62 equals 36 months so reductions could be anywhere from one to 36 months based on when benefits begin.

Depending on your specific situation it very often makes good financial sense to start benefits before age 65.

Q. Where does a benefit check returned to social security get credited?

A. When a check is returned the agency first looks to be sure that is not payable to anyone on that record. Assuming it is not, the funds will be credited back to the proper Social Security trust fund by the Treasury Department.

Q. My brother just signed up for retirement and was told his check will come at the end of the month, not on the third like mine. Why not?

A. During May the Social Security Administration started a program to add benefit delivery dates with the intention of eventually having delivery dates spread across a month based on the clients birthdate. People who now get benefits on the third will continue to do so. People filing applications since May will, for the most part, have benefits paid on the second, third or fourth Wednesday of the month.

Final plea for area hosts being made

Foreign high school students are scheduled to arrive soon for academic program homestays and the sponsoring organization needs a few more local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (PIE) Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18, are English speaking, have their own spending money, carry accident and health insurance, and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families. PIE currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

PIE area representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the perfect match. As there are no "typical" host families, PIE can fit a student into just about any situation, whether it be a single parent, a childless couple, a retired couple or a large family.

Thief River Falls area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting with a community representative may call PIE, toll free, at 1-800-631-1818. The agency also has travel/study program opportunities available for American high school students as well as possibilities for community volunteers to assist and work with area host families, students and schools.

Need homes for two Russian students in TRF

Homes for the 1997-98 school year in Thief River Falls for two male students from the Newly Independent States (formerly the Soviet Union) are needed immediately.

The two students, who are 15 to 16 years of age, are among five who are now attending classes at Lincoln high school. All are presently in Thief River Falls and permanent homes for three have been found for the school year. The other two students have been living in temporary homes until arrangements for permanent homes during the school year could be made. So far, no one has come forward to make a permanent home for either of these students available.

During the 1991-92 school year there were five Russian students at Lincoln who distinguished themselves in academics and co-curricular activities. Arrangements for this group are also being made through AYUSA International.

According to Janice Davis of Thief River Falls, who is making local arrangements for AYUSA, teenagers from the Newly Independent States are awarded scholarships through the U.S. Freedom Support Act to study American culture and education. AYUSA was selected by the U.S. government to sponsor 170 NIS scholarship students arriving this fall.

Information on hosting one of the two students who have not yet been placed locally may be received by calling Janice Davis at 681-5462.

Tips For Safe Medication Storage

Did you know your medicine cabinet may NOT be the best place to store your medications?

In many bathrooms, heat and moisture from the shower or bath may cause your medications to lose their effectiveness. Instead, try storing them in a cool, dry place out of the reach of children, such as a high shelf in a linen closet.

Organize your medications for safe but convenient access.

One way to do this is to put internal medication on the top shelf, external medications on the center shelf.

Here are some tips to remember:
- Consider "child-resistant" safety caps when you have a prescription filled
- Keep all medications out of the reach of children
- Read all medication labels thoroughly and carefully
- Follow medication directions exactly and take your medication until it is gone or your doctor advises otherwise
- Keep medications in their original containers

Do not take medications that:
- Are beyond their expiration dates
- Are no longer being taken under a doctor's care
- Have changed in color, odor or appearance
- Are not in their original containers
- Have missing directions
- Have labels you can't clearly read

If you have any questions or concerns about your medications always check with your doctor or your Medicine Shoppe® Pharmacist.

We Accept Insurance From Digi-Key, Hydra-Mac, Arctic Cat & Most Other Third Party Plans.

and therefore did not have an ordinance on septic systems in place.

• Requires all work on installation of septic systems to be done by licensed individuals or companies and to be inspected by a separate individual or company. This regulation has resulted in many fewer operators available to construct systems than in the past.

Person said that the primary concern was with the three-foot rule which, in virtually all of Pennington county except the sand ridge in the west, would classify all present systems as failing systems, even though they are functioning well.

He said it was estimated that it would cost $10 million to $12 million to replace these existing systems in Pennington county with mound type systems which would have been acceptable under the MPCA rules. He said the rule was believed to put a financial burden on people which was not necessary.

Efforts were made at the last session of the legislature to secure some changes in the law, and several of those changes were approved by the legislature. One of these changes was to permit individual counties to adopt sewage and wastewater treatment ordinances that regulate individual sewage treatment systems (ISTS) while protecting the public health and safety.

The proposed ordinance for Pennington county would not include systems generating more than 10,000 gallons of sewage per day, systems licensed by other agencies such as the Minnesota Department of Health, systems which require state approval and systems in shoreland or flood plain areas.

Under the ordinance, permits would be required when an ISTS is done in a shoreland, when the State requires one for whatever reason, or a township requires one (such as required by zoning in North, Norden, Rocksbury, Numedal and Sanders townships, which have zoning ordinances).

Permits would not be required if the state 7080 rules were followed, if the ISTS was done outside of the flood plain, property owners do the work with licensed inspection or work simply involves repair of pumps or similar work.

For trench-type systems under the proposed ordinance some restrictions would apply. Placing systems in soil types identified as being peats, mucks and depressional soils would not be permitted. Neither would placement where vegetation indicates swampy conditions.

Following discussion at the meeting, a proposal for 20 acre site density under the ordinance was reduced to one acre. This was believed better able to accommodate homesites in residential developments. Person said that a proper system would operate effectively on a one-acre site, even if such sites were located in successive fashion.

It is proposed that the county would maintain records of individual systems in addition to the property owner to help guard against loss of inspection certification. Certificates of compliance would be good for three years on existing systems and five years on new systems.

It is also proposed that residences which have failing systems would be first notified and asked to correct the problem before the MPCA would be notified.

Failing systems were defined as ones where sewage comes up on the lawn, backs up into the basement or is piped to a ditch or river.

Under the county ordinance, everyone doing septic system work would be required to be licensed by the state except individuals putting in their own system on their own property (system must be inspected), someone working under another person's license, a farmer pumping his or her own septic tank, and an owner providing disclosure for a property sale.

Enforcement by bringing charges under the ordinance would be up to the county attorney.

Copies of the proposed ordinance are available in the Pennington county extension office in the lower level of the Pennington county courthouse.

Jury benefit events meet with success

Benefit events conducted by Elks Lodge 1308 in Thief River Falls for member Bob Jury met with outstanding success, according to Floyd Erickson, a past exalted ruler of the lodge who was instrumental in arranging the events.

"Attendance at everything was just overwhelming," Erickson said. "It made me really proud to be from Thief River Falls where people get together and support things like this."

A guest book was kept at each of the events for those attending to sign. These will be brought by several members of the local lodge to Jury in the Twin Cities this weekend, where he will be taking a weekend break from a several week stay in Rochester.

Recently retired from teaching in the Thief River Falls public schools, Jury is a past exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, has been named Elk of the Year several times and served the lodge and local youth in many ways.

Prowlers 27-20 winners over No. 1-ranked Lakers...

TRF overtime win ends pair of Detroit Lakes streaks

Public address announcer at Mollberg Field urged the large Detroit Lakes crowd to welcome the No. 1-ranked Class 4-A high school football team in the state when the Lakers made their entrance prior to Friday's match up with Thief River Falls. It's unlikely he will be able to use that introduction again, at least not any time soon, since the Prowlers undoubtedly created a major reshuffling in the polls by pulling off a 27-20 win in overtime.

The verdict ended a string of 13 straight Thief River Falls losses to Detroit Lakes over a 10-year span, and snapped the Lakers' 38-game home field winning streak. It was the Prowlers' first win in the series, which includes several post-season meetings, since 1986 when Thief River Falls' 38-15 victory ended an 13-game losing streak and presented then second-year head coach Jeff Mumm with his first victory after nine straight losses.

"I remember that one in '86," said Mumm. "That was very sweet. But this one is awfully sweet, too."

Coming on the heels of a disappointing showing in a 21-20 season-opening loss at home to Sartell the week before, the win was a surprise to most who follow the team. Mumm himself had warned of an impending blow-out at the hands of the Lakers if the Prowlers' play did not improve from Week 1 to Week 2.

It did. "What a great performance by our kids," said Mumm. "It was like a different group of kids who showed up tonight. I told them before starting overtime that, win or lose, they had played a great game. I told them that no matter what happened in overtime, I was already proud of them."

He was even more proud when the eight overtime plays were completed.

Detroit Lakes, having forced the extra session by tying the game with just 28 seconds left in regulation time, won the overtime coin toss and elected to go on defense first – putting immediate pressure on the Prowlers to produce offensively on their four-play series that originated from the Lakers' 10-yard line.

First three plays netted only one yard. But on fourth down, Thief River Falls quarterback Chris Mumm lobbed a pass to Jeremy Swanson, who was open in the left corner of the end zone, for a tie-breaking touchdown. Levi Kraft added the conversion kick for a 27-20 advantage.

Detroit Lakes' overtime offense was stopped for no gain on first down, then ran into major trouble when a poor second down pitch resulted in a fumble. Although the Lakers recovered the ball, they lost eight yards on the play. That forced them to go to the air, and two Ryan Kotta passes into the end zone fell incomplete.

For the second straight week, the Prowlers had a pair of runners with over 100 yards. A week earlier, halfback Wade Chiodo netted 119 yards and fullback Kyle Anderson had 114. But most of those yards came on long touchdown runs. The rest of the night Sartell controlled the line of scrimmage.

Against Detroit Lakes, Chiodo came back with 109 yards, and while Anderson was limited to 58 yards up the middle, linebacker/halfback Trevor Lee rushed for a team-high 122 yards, mostly on the inside counter. And the Prowlers moved the ball steadily all night long.

"We've got good backs," pointed out Jeff Mumm. "That has never been a concern."

The questions rested with the Prowlers' play up front. The coaching staff made some formation adjustments during the week of practice in an effort to correct the problems.

"All of our formations were different from the week before," explained Mumm. "We wanted to give our linemen a better opportunity to block one-on-one. We were real nervous coming in with all the changes we made. Playing Detroit Lakes was probably not the time to test things, but we passed. The kids played well."

Thief River Falls' starting offensive line, featuring Michael Morris at center, Chad Skeim and Kraft at the guards, Andrew Solem and Matt Myers at the tackles, and Cody Huschle and Todd Christensen in the double-tight end set, helped produce a 305-208 edge in offensive yards for the night.

Only scoring in the first half came on a 15-play, 80-yard Thief River Falls drive that began with 3:37 left in the opening quarter and ended on a 5-yard Chiodo touchdown run 3:13 into the second quarter. A 21-yard break through the middle by Anderson was the biggest gainer on the drive. Chiodo had runs of 15, 14 and 13 yards before stepping through a hole off right tackle for the touchdown. Kraft kicked the extra point.

Kept off the scoreboard in the first half, Detroit Lakes promptly made none by scoring on the second half kickoff – a fluke play in which the kick bounced off the original return man, only to be scooped up in full stride by Ryan Whitworth for an 83-yard touchdown. The conversion kick was off the mark, however, leaving it 7-6.

A fumble recovery by Lee at the Detroit Lakes 41 set up a second Thief River Falls touchdown. The Prowlers covered those yards in nine plays. A 10-yard run by Lee turned a third-and-eight from the 16 to a first-and-goal from the six, and Chiodo read his blocks on the left side to score on the next play for a 13-6 game with 4:25 to play in the third quarter.

Detroit Lakes came right back with a 9-play, 64-yard touchdown drive that began with runs of 12 and 18 yards by Corey Brogren and ended with a 2-yard dive off right tackle by the 185-pound junior with 1:13 left in the third quarter.

Thomas Johnson made the conversion kick to tie it 13-13, but Detroit Lakes coach Rick Manke elected to take points off the board when he accepted a penalty assessed the Prowlers on the extra point play. The Lakers were going to try for the go-ahead points on the two-point conversion from a yard-and-a-half out, but instead incurred a penalty of their own, and Johnson was brought back on the field for the kick – this time from the 15. He missed.

With Lee providing two key runs, Thief River Falls took the following possession 79 yards in 15 plays for a 20-12 lead.

Facing a third-and-22 from the Thief River Falls 20, the Prowlers got out of a hole when Lee broke an inside counter 26 yards. He later flashed nifty open-field moves on a 43-yard breakaway before being hauled down from behind at the Detroit Lakes 4-yard line. Three plays later Anderson scored on a dive from the 1, and Kraft made the kick for an eight-point spread with 7:29 to play.

Moments later, Christensen came up with a fumble recovery at the Detroit Lakes 45, but the Lakers held and stopped Anderson on a fourth-and-one dive at the Detroit Lakes 36 with 4:43 on the clock.

Behind Brogren, the Lakers put together a dramatic game-tying drive. The touchdown was a 4-yard quarterback keeper by Kotta, who reached the right corner of the end zone on the option play with just 28 seconds to play. Brogren went into the end zone standing up off right tackle for the conversion points and the tie.

"It was a great high school football game," said Mumm. "What a great atmosphere. The crowd was really in it. It was a lot of fun."

Thief River Falls plays host to Crookston Friday in a 7 p.m. game at Prowler Field.

■ Mustangs score first 30 points

Red Lake County Central put on a clinic Monday with an impressive performance in a 3-0 high school volleyball win over Thief River Falls at Plummer.

The Mustangs overwhelmed the Prowlers at the outset, scoring the first 30 points of the match with an eye-opening display of passing, setting, hitting, serving, and defense that produced the 15-0, 15-0, 15-11 sweep.

Both teams began the night 2-0, but the Mustangs took control from the outset behind the play of Angie Chervestad, Katie O'Neill, Jenni Mortinville, Jenny Brekkestran, Frances Hilgeman, and Erin Melby – the entire all-senior starting lineup. The Prowlers didn't score until Lindsay Drury put away a spike to open Game 3.

"That's the best we've played," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray, whose team began the year with first-week 3-0 wins over Kittson County North and Fosston. "Defense has been lacking, but tonight they played well. It was a good team effort."

Things were going so well that Bray found it difficult to break up the starting unit. "It was hard to sub because everybody was playing so well," she said.

Thief River Falls finally came alive in Game 3 when the Prowlers came back from a 6-1 deficit to tie it at 6-6 before a block by Morinville, a kill by O'Neill and an ace by Brekkestran put the Mustangs back on top 9-6. The Prowlers came back for another tie at 10-10, but Red Lake County Central took over at the end to complete the sweep.

Red Lake County Central's performance impressed Thief River Falls co-head coach Amy Roche. "Wow," she said. "That's the best way to describe it. They (Mustangs) were exceptional. I didn't feel it was anything that we were doing wrong, they just didn't make any mistakes those first two games."

Roche was happy with the way the Prowlers came back and played in Game 3. "They showed they can play at that level," she said. "It was nice to see them come back and gain some respect."

The hard-hitting Chervestad, who finished with 16 kills, is the Mustangs' leader. But there's plenty of support from Morinville and Brekkestran, who finished with 9 and 7 kills, respectively. And things were going so well that O'Neill, not normally among the team's top hitters, wound up with 10 kills. "She (O'Neill) played really well," noted Bray.

Hilgeman collected 26 assists, and O'Neill had six service aces.

Drury and Lisa Dicken had five kills each to lead the Prowlers. Taya Hunt picked up seven assists and had three blocks.

Red Lake County Central won the junior varsity match 15-10, 15-13, while Thief River Falls took the C squad contest 15-4, 9-15, 15-10.

Pioneers lose season-opener 21-7

Beaten by Ridgewater 21-7 in the 1997 season-opener Saturday at Willmar, the Northland Community and Technical College football team will try to rebound this week when the Pioneers take on Fergus Falls in a 1:30 p.m. Saturday matinee at Prowler Field.

Northland fumbled away its first two offensive snaps of the season and fell behind 7-0 at the outset against Ridgewater. The Pioneers later had a game-tying touchdown erased on a penalty, missed on a couple of field goals and dropped a a touchdown pass in the end zone that could have kept them in the game.

Still, Northland coach Gene Klinke came out of the game feeling good about the chances of a team that opened the 1996 season with a 50-0 loss to Ridgewater.

"Last year I was devastated with the loss," explained Klinke. "This year, I'm disheartened we didn't win, but I'm much happier with our performance. I thought we played some fantastic football for an opening game. We did everything we needed to do to win the game, but it just didn't materialize. I thought we played well offensively, defensively and on special teams. But we're young, and we made a few mistakes. We missed some opportunities."

A fumble on the Pioneers' first play of the season was recovered by Ridgewater and converted into a 3-yard Matt Fiedler touchdown run.

It remained a 7-0 game through the first half. A 1-yard touchdown by Jason Schaefer made it 13-0 in the third quarter and a 7-yard run by Craig Zieman booted the spread to 21-0 in the final period before Northland's Arthur Hamilton returned the ensuing kickoff 75 yards for a touchdown.

It was a loss, but it was a performance the Pioneers can build upon, according to Klinke. "We're going to win some football games this year," he said.

The Northland-Fergus Falls game will be the annual Pepsi Bowl, with spectators receiving free Pepsi products at the gate when they arrive.

NCTC volleyball team 3-0 first-match winner

Northland was a 3-0 winner over host Bottineau Friday in a season-opening college volleyball match.

The Pioneers won 15-8, 15-2, 15-5.

"For the first match of the season, we played well," reported Northland coach Sherri Olson. "We had a chance to play all 11 kids."

Naomi Wilebski led a balanced Northland attack with five kills. Tammy Nerby had four, while Paula Hovda and Lara Hendrickson both picked up three.

Melissa Bernstein collected a team-high eight assists, while Rayna Benson was credited with six and Meckenzie Malwitz, an outside hitter, but a second-option setter in the Pioneers' offense, had five.

Hendrickson, Hovda and Bernstein had three service aces each.

RLCC mistakes lead to loss

Red Lake County Central lost three turnovers and gave up six quarterback sacks Friday in a 46-28 North Tri-County Conference high school football loss to Clearbrook/Gonvick at Oklee.

It wasn't the kind of performance Mustangs coach Gary Brantl was looking for following a season-opening 54-28 win over Tri-County that marked their return to Nine-Man football after four years of Class C competition.

The turnovers, sacks and missed assignments, pointed out Brantl, led to the loss.

Mistakes started with a high snap that sailed over the head of the punter and set up the first Clearbrook/Gonvick touchdown – a 13-yard D.J. TeHennepe run.

The Mustangs came back to take a 16-8 lead as quarterback Mark Lorenson hit Tyler Nelson with a 14-yard scoring pass and then scored himself on a 1-yard run.

But Clearbrook/Gonvick was back on top 16-14 before the first quarter came to a close and had a 24-14 halftime edge.

A one-yard Zac Olson touchdown on the first Clearbrook/Gonvick possession of the second half opened up a 30-14 gap, but Lorenson scored from a yard out, and Red Lake County Central had a chance to pull closer when the Mustangs came up with an interception on the ensuing Clearbrook/Gonvick possession.

However, the Mustangs lost the comeback momentum on a fumble that led to a 3-yard scoring pass from Seth Dorman to Jon Gerlofs and another three-touchdown spread Red Lake County Central never recovered.

Brandon Tougas led the Mustangs' ground game with 69 yards on 15 carries, while Lorenson finished with 59 yards on 10 attempts and Matt Hruby netted 16 yards on 5 tries. Lorenson was 7-for-14 passing for 78 yards and two touchdowns. Troy Magnell caught two passes for 44 yards and Nelson had four receptions for 31 yards.

Red Lake County Central faces another tough test Friday in a 7 p.m. kickoff at Norman County East.

Blue Devils fall to Wolfpack

All it took was a few mistakes on both offense and defense Saturday to knock Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke out of the unbeaten ranks in high school football. The Blue Devils, after a pair of season-opening wins, fell to host Kittson Central 28-14.

"We played pretty well on a whole," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Baron. "But we could have played better. We had two fumbles and we missed a couple of tackles that led to their touchdowns."

The Wolfpack grabbed a 14-0 first quarter lead and were never headed. It was 14-8 at halftime.

Alex Anderson carried 24 times for 109 yards and scored two touchdowns for the Blue Devils, who were limited to 126 yards on the ground and 2-for-5 passing that netted only 7 yards.

Defensively, Carson Sandstrom, Jared Fidelke and Ben Hanson were the Blue Devils' leaders, according to Baron.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke will be at Kittson County North Friday for a 7:00 p.m. game.

Swimmers have busy schedule

Thief River Falls girls high school swimming team members have faced a double-challenge in the early portion of the 1997 season – a busy schedule and a demanding practice routine.

Last week the Prowlers lost dual meet decisions at home to Crookston 100-83 Tuesday and to Park Rapids Area 109-71 Thursday before heading to Bemidji for a Saturday invitational, where they placed fifth in a six-team field.

The schedule doesn't lessen the Prowlers' practice work-outs, either. "We've been working them hard in practice," reported assistant coach Brian Olson, who works primarily with the swimmers while head coach Shon Thompson handles the divers.

Early success in meeting sectional qualifying times means additional yards for the Prowlers. "After qualifying, we work the kids hard," explained Olson. "It takes a toll, especially on the distance swimmers. But the times will drop when we begin to taper for the sections."

The Prowlers' Chelsea Haviland set a pool record in diving at Park Rapids, where she also turned in a personal-best time in the 100 breaststroke.

"Chelsea's stroke is much more controlled and smooth," explained Olson. "Her starts and turns are very solid."

Andi Sorvig (100 freestyle), Wendy Lindquist (500 freestyle), and Kristen Naplin (100 backstroke) also had personal-best swims at Park Rapids. "Andi keeps getting stronger," noted Olson. "Wendy had another seven-second drop – we have no idea how much faster she'll get. Kristen thought she had a 1:20 and got angry until she saw she really had a 1:14.71."

The Park Rapids meet also produced strong efforts by Andrea Olin in 200 and 500 freestyle, Sorvig in the 50, and Julie Chrzanowski in the 100 butterfly.

Against Crookston, Chrzanowski met sectional qualifying time in the 200 freestyle, while Sorvig (200 and 100 freestyle), Lindquist (500 freestyle), and the 400 freestyle relay team had top efforts.

The host Lumberjacks won the Bemidji Invitational team title with 593 points, followed by Warroad with 467.5, Park Rapids area 387.5, Moorhead 354, Thief River Falls 249, and Crookston 238.

Thief River Falls will be at Detroit Lakes Thursday for a 6 p.m. dual and will be at the Park Rapids Invitational Saturday beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Thieves hit .304 as a team

Offense generally wasn't a problem for the Thief River Falls amateur baseball team during the 1997 season, with the Thieves carrying a .304 team batting average through a 12-10 campaign.

Seven players hit .300 or better, led by Chris Nelson, who finished with a .397 average – 25 hits in 63 at-bats. Nelson, who played high school baseball in Thief River Falls and college baseball at Mayville State, now coaches at Red Lake Falls. He also led the Thieves with five home runs.

"Our offense was pretty decent," said Howard Dalager, who served as manager for the team.

Aaron Chaput, who played high school baseball for Nelson, was the Thieves' top pitcher with a 3-3 record and two saves. Steve Burslie doubled as a catcher and pitcher, going 3-2 on the mound with one save. Mike Steen was with the team briefly and had a 2-0 pitching record.

The Thieves' biggest problem, like it is with most amateur teams, was the challenge of fielding a complete team on game day. Scheduling conflicts due to family and work commitments kept regulars out of the line-up at times.

"We were sporadic," acknowledged Dalager. "It's hard to be consistent when you can't get all the guys there."

Despite the problems, Dalager is confident the program will be back in 1998. "We're looking to continue," he said. "We've got some guys who want to play baseball."

Becky Mooney is winner in Roseau Invitational race

Second outing of the 1997 season for the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country teams sent the Prowlers to the Roseau Invitational Thursday where Becky Mooney won her second race of the season.

Mooney, who also won the season-opening Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational at Old Mill State Park, was an easy winner in the six-team girls race.

"She (Mooney) was outstanding," said Thief River Falls coach Ten Ueland. "She was way ahead of everybody."

International Falls girls and Warroad boys won team titles.

"Our kids ran well," reported Ueland. "Everybody did much better than they did in the first meet. It's such a good group of kids. They all work so hard. I have an awful lot of respect for them."

Thief River Falls' lone outing this week will be the Crookston Invitational Thursday.

Hunters required to send DNR tooth, rib samples from bears

Minnesota hunters who are fortunate to harvest a bear this fall are reminded that they must submit samples of teeth and rib bones to assist the Department of Natural Resources in a special bear population study being conducted this year.

Successful bear hunters will be provided an envelope for mailing two teeth and a section of rib bone to the DNR at the time they register their bear. Instructions for obtaining the samples are included in information booklets provided at the time licenses are purchased. Hunters who provide the samples will get a special patch from the DNR after the hunting season.

Teeth and ribs will be used to verify whether the bear ingested a special bait, laced with tetracycline, that was placed out earlier this summer. Tetracycline, which is a common antibiotic that does not pose a health threat for the bears or humans who ingest the meat from bears, will show up in the teeth and rib bones of bears who ate one of the baits. By examining the samples of teeth and ribs, it is possible to determine the proportion of harvested bears who ingested the special marker. By comparing this to the number of bears that DNR staff know were marked earlier this summer, it will be possible to generate a statewide population estimate. In addition, the teeth allow the DNR to accurately age harvested bears, which is important information for managing bear populations.

The 1997 bear hunting season opened Sept. 1. A total of 11,370 licenses were offered in 11 permit areas. In addition, an unlimited number of no-quota licenses are available in areas outside the 11 permit areas. Hunters who take a bear in either the quota or no-quota area are required to submit teeth and rib samples.

Health guidelines for eating sport fish now available

The state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is now including health information about eating fish in the lake survey reports it provides to Minnesota anglers.

The fish consumption recommendations in the lake survey reports are taken from the state's annual fish consumption advisory, which is produced jointly by DNR and the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH). The lake reports include a detailed profile of individual lakes throughout the state, including information on the physical characteristics of the lake, the size and species of fish found in the lake, and other information of use to anglers.

Members of the public can request a lake survey report simply by specifying the name and location of a particular lake. The fish consumption guidelines will be included — for the first time — in reports provided to people who visit the DNR building at this year's Minnesota State Fair.

State health officials believe the lake survey reports will be an effective way to help get fish advisory information to the public.

"We believe that this new collaborative effort with DNR represents an important opportunity to help people make informed decisions about catching and eating sport fish," said Anne Barry, Minnesota Commissioner of Health. "We hope that, by providing this information to more people, we can help make fishing in Minnesota a more positive experience."

The purpose of the advisory is not to discourage fishing, but quite the opposite, according to Commissioner Barry.

"Fish are a healthful, high quality source of protein — high in protein and low in fat," she noted. "We believe our advisory can help people enjoy catching and eating Minnesota fish, while minimizing any potential health risks associated with exposure to chemical contaminants like mercury or PCBs."

MDH has been issuing fish consumption advisories since 1975. The annual advisories contain specific recommendations for limiting consumption of fish from certain locations, based on the presence of contaminants like mercury or PCBs. The recommendations range from "no restriction" to "do not eat," are based on the size and species of the fish and where it was taken. The recommendations are less restrictive for people who only consume fish on a short-term or seasonal basis — and more restrictive for pregnant women, women who may become pregnant, nursing mothers and young children.

This year's edition of the advisory includes information on 687 Minnesota lakes, as well as 77 different fishing spots on Minnesota rivers. MDH produces the advisory in collaboration with DNR, which has primary responsibility for collecting and analyzing fish samples on which the advisory recommendations are based. The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) provides additional analytical support for the program.

People who can't make it to the fair can request a lake survey report directly from DNR. Twin City residents can call DNR at 296-6157, and people from other parts of the state can call toll-free at 1-800-766-6000. The lake survey reports are also available on the Internet, although the fish advisory information will not be added to the online version of the reports right away. The lake survey reports are available at:

http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/compass/fishing/msfishcompass.htm.

To request a copy of the 1997 fish advisory, call MDH at (612) 215-0950 or 1-800-657-3908, PCA at (612) 296-6300, or DNR at (612) 296-2835. Copies of the advisory are also available at MDH in downtown St. Paul, as well as offices of the U.S. Forest Service, some local offices of DNR, and DNR regional offices in Bemidji, Grand Rapids, Brainerd, New Ulm, Rochester and St. Paul.

Pike Slot Limits

Minnesota lakes could begin producing bigger northern pike, but only if all anglers on the lakes comply with experimental regulations designed to increase pike size.

That's the initial finding of a study by Minnesota Department of Natural Resources fisheries scientists who have been looking at the effectiveness of different slot limit regulations for increasing the average size of northern pike.

From 1991 to 1996, as part of the DNR's ongoing work to provide anglers with larger fish, fisheries scientists Rod Pierce and Cindy Tomcko followed changes in pike populations in five north-central Minnesota lakes after enacting experimental slot length limits. On the study lakes, anglers had to return pike either 20 to 30 inches long (three lakes) or 22 to 30 inches long (two lakes).

What Pierce and Tomcko found was that the most consistent increases in northern pike size came from Beltrami County's 446-acre Medicine Lake, where anglers most fully complied with the regulation.

According to Pierce, most of the fishing pressure on Medicine Lake came from a single resort, where the owners worked hard to see that the experimental regulation was followed.

And their efforts seem to have paid off. Before the slot limit, Medicine typically produced only one pike over 30 inches each summer. After the regulation, catches of pike that size were almost a weekly occurrence. In addition, anglers were beginning to catch northerns in the 32- to 38-inch range, and were releasing those trophies to be caught again.

Medicine Lake shows how the slot length limit theory is supposed to work. In most lakes, northern pike populations have lots of little fish, some medium size fish, and the occasional lunker. To increase the number of lunkers, anglers need to release more medium-sized fish to live a few more years, grow a few inches longer, and put on a few more pounds. The best way to do that, research scientists reason, is to devise slot limits that protect those midsize fish.

But those limits can work only if anglers comply. In several of the study lakes, nearly 20 percent of the pike killed by anglers should have been released under the regulation. In other words, anglers either didn't know about or ignored the protective slot limit.

"That could be enough noncompliance to prolong the time it takes for us to see and measure any increase in average fish size that would come from the other 80 percent of fish being released by anglers who complied," Pierce said.

Pierce said that noncompliance has muddied results of the slot limit study so far. "We haven't conclusively shown that slot length regulations will cause long-term increases in the sizes of northern pike available to anglers," he said. "And we don't yet know if the regulations will work in the many different types of lakes found in Minnesota."

Environmental factors such as weather play yet another complicating role by affecting the number of northern pike that hatch and survive each spring, called year classes. Pierce and Tomcko aim to account for different year class strengths by tracking the regulations for another 10 years in these study lakes.

Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) was recently notified that Joy Nordby, Grygla, was selected as first place winner in the wildlife category of the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) photo contest. Joy's picture was of a deer and was titled "Hiding Places". Winning photos were displayed at NACD's Annual Convention held in Kansas City, MO, earlier this year. Nordby is editor of the Grygla Eagle.

This is the second year that the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD has sponsored a local photo contest and submitted photos to the national contest. Watch for 1997 contest rules coming out later this fall.

Bendickson and Strandlie named deans at NCTC

Dr. Orlin Gunderson, president of Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls, has named two current employees to fill vacancies existing for the interim Dean of Student Services and interim Dean of Academic Affairs.

Jim Strandlie has accepted the position of interim Dean of Academic Affairs and Dennis Bendickson has been named interim Dean of Student Services.

Strandlie has a strong background in education including four years as a community college instructor, five years as a high school instructor and 22 years as an educational administrator. Strandlie obtained a bachelor of arts degree from Concordia College and a master of arts degree from the University of Minnesota at Duluth.

Dennis Bendickson is beginning his 20th year of service at Northland, currently serving as the college's registrar. Bendickson holds a bachelor of science degree from Moorhead State University.

President Gunderson consulted with many faculty and staff in search of candidates for these two positions. According to Gunderson, "In the process of talking to many support staff and faculty, I learned that we have many excellent people who could fill these positions. I feel fortunate that we were able to name the interim deans from within our organization."

Northland began the fall quarter with student orientation on Tuesday, September 2.

STS program faces challenge

By David Hill
Associate Editor

Repercussions of new legislation establishing an adult work camp at Camp Ripley could have far reaching implications for the Northwest Sentence to Service program in northwestern Minnesota and several counties.

Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Moe is among those officials concerned that the new legislation could result in reducing the effectiveness of the Sentence to Service program that has been so successful, and create substantial costs for Pennington County and many other counties.

The 1997 Omnibus Crime Prevention Bill included establishment of a four-year pilot project work program at Camp Ripley for adult male non-violent felony and gross misdemeanor offenders. Under the new program, offenders would work for at least eight hours a day either at the facility or in the surrounding area. Basic education programs would be provided in the evening. A total of $2.2 million has been appropriated to the corrections department to plan the program and begin operations in the second year of the biennium.

The bill specifies that if it is the offender's first non-violent property offense, the court shall sentence the person to the work program for 60 days, and if it is the person's second non-violent property offence for 90 days. Counties sentencing offenders to the program must pay 25 percent of the per diem expenses for the offender.

At a recent meeting with state corrections officials in Bemidji, Sheriff Moe asked "Why drive 200 miles when we have a program in our community? Under restorative justice, you want to keep people in the community and accountable to the community. About Sentencing to Service, we can't say enough. Is this a metropolitan move?" Moe noted later that it was "the only program in 28 years of law enforcement" that he's seen work.

According to Moe, state corrections officials said they testified against the proposal. He said they indicated that lawmakers were feeling political pressure to make use of Camp Ripley as the National Guard downsizes.

The program allows prisoners to be sentenced to a disposition not involving the work program based on substantial and compelling reasons. Moe is holding out hope that the program will be adjusted next year to allow more flexibility.

The new program at Camp Ripley could also result in substantial costs to area counties. Counties sentencing offenders to the program must pay 25 percent of the per diem expenses for the offender. The department of corrections is responsible for other costs associated with placement of offenders in the program. It should be noted that offenders sentenced to the program are under the continuing jurisdiction of the court and are not commitments to the commissioner of corrections. Prisoners are not considered incarcerated for purposes of computing good time or credit for time served.

Community ed receives grant

Minnesota Department of Children, Families & Learning has notified the School District 564 community education department in Thief River Falls that grant funds for the district's After-School Enrichment Program have been approved for one more year.

The $29,610 in grant funds come from state sources and are for July 1, 1997 through Dec. 31, 1998, according to Patricia Suh, director of the community education department.

In 1996-97, Suh said, more than 20 groups or agencies benefited by submitting mini-grant applications to start new programs or enhance existing programs. Over 2,000 youths at-risk from ages nine through 13 years have participated and received new recreational, educational or leisure options.

Last year programs funded locally included: Winter and summer bowling league supervised by law enforcement staff, Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge field trip, hackey sack tournament, open gym program for St. Hilaire youth, parks and recreation department fishing clinic, Kids on Disks and an after-school drop-in program at Franklin middle school called "Choices."

"Many young people have benefited from these new options and this renewed grant will help groups to continue to provide more leisure and enrichment programs," Suh said.

Mini-grant applications are available through the community education department and are reviewed monthly. To pick up an application to submit a proposal or receive more information on how individuals or organizations can benefit local youth, call community education at 681-8711.

St. Hilaire man sentenced for kidnapping and assault

Patrick Myhrer, 24, St. Hilaire, was sentenced to a year in jail following his conviction on felony kidnapping and second degree assault. Charges against Myhrer stem from an incident in April when it is alleged that he and other individuals took another individual against his will to the Red Lake Indian Reservation where they assaulted him and robbed him and left him.

Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy sentenced Myhrer to 21 months in prison but stayed everything except one year in the Pennington County jail for seven years. He was placed on supervised probation for 10 years on the assault charge and seven years on the kidnapping charge. He was also ordered to pay a fine and costs totaling $150. He was granted Huber (work release) privileges and $18, and ordered to make restitution of $60 jointly and severally with the other individuals involved in the crime.

People with disabilities see lower taxes

Under a new law, more people with disabilities will qualify for lower property taxes with a "Special Homestead Classification." In the past, Minnesotans with disabilities qualified for the classification if their income was less than 150 percent of the federal poverty level. Now, household income can be up to 275 percent of the federal poverty level. This means that a single person can have an income up to $21,285. A two person household can have an income up to $28,[illegible].

In some cases, you can qualify if your income is even higher. If 90 percent or more of your income comes from an approved source and is paid because of your disability, then your income may be as high as $50,000. Approved sources include Supplemental Social Security, State Disability Payments, Workers Compensation, Railroad Retirement, any Minnesota local government retirement fund, and private pension plans.

This new law means significant savings for people with disabilities. On an average home, a person would save about $200 per year.

For more information, call Ron Knierer at 1-800-617-[illegible], or write to Special Homestead Unit, Property Tax Division, Minnesota Department of Revenue, Mail Station 3340, St. Paul, MN 5514[illegible].

STS program faces challenge

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Repercussions of new legislation establishing an adult work camp at Camp Ripley could have far reaching implications for the Northwest Sentence to Service program in northwestern Minnesota and several counties.

Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Moe is among those officials concerned that the new legislation could result in reducing the effectiveness of the Sentence to Service program that has been so successful, and create substantial costs for Pennington County and many other counties.

The 1997 Omnibus Crime Prevention Bill included establishment of a four-year pilot project work program at Camp Ripley for adult male non-violent felony and gross misdemeanor offenders. Under the new program, offenders would work for at least eight hours a day either at the facility or in the surrounding area. Basic education program would be provided in the evening. A total of $2.2 million has been appropriated to the corrections department to plan the program and begin operations in the second year of the biennium.

The bill specifies that if it is the offender's first non-violent property offense, the court shall sentence the person to the work program for 60 days, and if it is the person's second non-violent property offense, for 90 days. Counties sentencing offenders to the program must pay 25 percent of the per diem expenses for the offender.

At a recent meeting with state corrections officials in Bemidji, Sheriff Moe asked "Why drive 200 miles when we have a program in our community? Under restorative justice, you want to keep people in the community and accountable to the community. About Sentencing to Service, we can't say enough . . . Is this a metropolitan move?" Moe noted later that it was "the only program in 28 years of law enforcement" that he's seen work.

According to Moe, state corrections officials said they testified against the proposal. He said they indicated that lawmakers were feeling political pressure to make use of Camp Ripley as the National Guard downsizes.

The program allows prisoners to be sentenced to a disposition not involving the work program based on substantial and compelling reasons. Moe is holding out hope that the program will be adjusted next year to allow more flexibility.

The new program at Camp Ripley could also result in substantial costs to area counties. Counties sentencing offenders to the program must pay 25 percent of the per diem expenses for the offender. The department of corrections is responsible for other costs associated with placement of offenders in the program. It should be noted that offenders sentenced to the program are under the continuing jurisdiction of the court and are not commitments to the commissioner of corrections. Prisoners are not considered incarcerated for purposes of computing good time or credit for time served.

Community ed receives grant

Minnesota Department of Children, Families & Learning has notified the School District 564 community education department in Thief River Falls that grant funds for the district's After-School Enrichment Program have been approved for one more year.

The $29,610 in grant funds come from state sources and are for July 1, 1997 through Dec. 31, 1998, according to Patricia Soli, director of the community education department.

In 1996-97, Soli said, more than 20 groups or agencies benefited by submitting mini-grant applications to start new programs or enhance existing programs. Over 2,000 youths-at-risk from ages nine through 13 years have participated and received new recreational, educational or leisure options.

Last year programs funded locally included: Winter and summer bowling league supervised by law enforcement staff, Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge field trip, hackey sack tournament, open gym program for St. Hilaire youth, parks and recreation department fishing clinic, Kids on Disney and an after school drop-in program at Franklin middle school called "Choices."

"Many young people have benefited from these new options and this renewed grant will help groups to continue to provide more leisure and enrichment programs," Soli said.

Mini-grant applications are available through the community education department and are reviewed monthly. To pick up an application to submit a proposal or receive more information on how individuals or organizations can benefit local youth, call community education at 681-8711.

St. Hilaire man sentenced for kidnapping and assault

Patrick Myhrer, 24, St. Hilaire, was sentenced to a year in jail following his conviction on felony kidnapping and second degree assault. Charges against Myhrer stem from an incident in April when it is alleged that he and other individuals took another individual against his will to the Red Lake Indian Reservation where they assaulted him and robbed him and left him.

Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy sentenced Myhrer to 21 months in prison but stayed everything except one year in the Pennington County jail for seven years. He was placed on supervised probation for 10 years on the assault charge and seven years on the kidnapping charge. He was also ordered to pay a fine and costs totaling $150. He was granted Huber (work release) privileges and STS, and ordered to make restitution of $60 jointly and severally with the other individuals involved in the crime.

Team Arctic wins grass drags

Contrary to speculation that the new Arctic Cat ZR 600s aren't up-to-speed, the machines blew away the competition at last weekend's Iron Range Grass Drags in Virginia, MN. Team Arctic racers went one-two in the hotly contested D stock (600 twin) class — typically a preview of the Haydays Race. Troy Friedrich of Thief River Falls won the class with Janelle Bakken of Thompson, ND, taking second, on limited build 1998 ZR 600s.

People with disabilities see lower taxes

Under a new law, more people with disabilities will qualify for lower property taxes, with a "Special Homestead Classification." In the past, Minnesotans with disabilities qualified for the classification if their income was less than 150 percent of the federal poverty level. Now, household income can be up to 275 percent of the federal poverty level. This means that a single person can have an income up to $21,285. A two-person household can have an income up to $28,490.

In some cases, you can qualify if your income is even higher. If 90 percent or more of your income comes from an approved source and is paid because of your disability, then your income may be as high as $50,000. Approved sources include Supplemental Social Security, State Disability Payments, Workers Compensation, Railroad Retirement, any Minnesota local government retirement fund, and private pension plans.

This new law means significant savings for people with disabilities. On an average home, a person would save about $200 per year.

For more information, call Ron Krueger at 1-800-647-3831 or write to Special Homestead Unit, Property Tax Division, Minnesota Department of Revenue, Mail Station 3310, St. Paul, MN 55116.

As we are approaching the end of August 1997 we are still enjoying lovely weather most days in Northwest Minnesota. A small rain shower went through early this morning but since has been sunny and warm so most folks are out and about without jackets.

Time is the only thing that is in a hurry to get away from us at this age, every week just flies by. Years ago the summer vacation was never ending and it was great to come to the end of August because school was right around the corner for us. School was the best time for me at that age, lots of books to read and recess time was filled with games and friends.

Today August 25th keeps running through my mind. My mother took me with her to the 'Square Farm' to be the one who was "helen ock lel po folen" (little and light on the feet) to run errands up and down those long stairways. She and Dr. Turnbull had brought a cute little baby girl into the world earlier that morning. So "Happy Birthday Pearl" wherever you may be, on a cruise or looking over Israel.

The Strandquist seniors were on the move on Tuesday. They caught the bus to Grand Forks where they did some shopping at the Columbia Mall, had dinner at the Ponderosa restaurant. (Why didn't they go to the Royal Fork when they were already there?) and then went to the Fabric Outlet. Those who went were Helen Jacobson, Clara Nelson, Elphie Adils, Elsie Kimbrough, Ida Bruce, Evelyn Kline and Evelyn Kujava. And all report having a good time.

On Thursday they met again at the Center, nine members and two visitors Anna Sellen and Clara Nelson. Gloria Renstrom served a delicious lunch and also won the door prize. Their project for the day, tying a quilt, was completed before they went home. Such perseverance is hard to beat these days.

On Saturday the 23rd, the ladies of the Bethesda Lutheran Church sponsored a Parade of Brides as a fund raiser for the church. The MC for the afternoon was Margaret Deschene of Warren also known as Gloria's number two daughter. The oldest dress was from 1898 and belonged to Mrs. Sellen, and the latest was 1995 DeDe Nelson's dress. The Parade of Brides included– Abby Larson wearing Toni Kleinvachter's and Phyllis Larson's dresses, Allison Lohoolh wearing Marcy Nelson's, Ruth Anderson wore Shirley's dress. Anna Bethel wore Lois Lindstrom's dress. April [illegible] wore Mary Marcotte's dress. Eric Bergen wore Gladys Bergh's dress, Sarah Larson wore Yvonne [illegible] dress. Ellen Johnson wore Margaret Deschene's dress. [illegible] wore Vanetta Petts dress. Adrienne Lohoolh wore Margaret [illegible] dress. Noella Petts wore Pearl Berggren's dress. Grete [illegible] wore Iris Berggren's dress. Lindi [illegible] wore Gula Shomgren's dress. [illegible] Norquist wore Shirley Norquist's dress. Vicky Hayes wore Barbara [illegible] dress. Carla Grahn, Gloria's grand daughter wore Ellen's. Jane [illegible] and Roberta Renstrom's dresses. Those who were still able to wear their own wedding dresses were Kathy Bolton, Marcelyn Lindstrom, Ann Wojnowicz and DeDe Nelson. A number of bridesmaid and junior bridesmaid dresses were also worn. Flower girls were Erin and Alaura Donaldson, Krystine Petts, Chelse Boen, Shalane McArny and Tara Nelson. Solos were sung by Barbra Visness, Ann Wojnowicz and Shirley Norquist. Organists were Pat Larson and Ellen Johnson. A number of dresses, wedding pictures and photo albums were on display. It was a fun afternoon and ended with a lovely luncheon.

Lowell Lohoolh, Elmer Holmstrom, Evelyn Albough, June Kasprowicz, Angeline Bothum, Lillian Brightel, Claudia Berggren, and Jessie and Burl and Marie Steffen of Argyle visited Judy Kleinvachter.

Pearl Thompson and Elsie Lohoolh enjoyed the presentation of the tour of the Holy Land at the Baptist Church Sunday evening.

Robert, Cathy and Lisa took Andrew Thompson to Fargo where he is enrolled at the University.

Judy Kleinvachter, Elphie Adils and Toni Kasprowicz brought birthday wishes to Toni Kleinvachter Saturday afternoon.

Folks have been asking me about the chokecherries and I'm glad to say I got almost a full ice cream bucket off the tree in the yard and bought another five quart bucket. Roy stirred in the kettle while I collected all the ingredients, jars, etc. that go into making jelly. He kept saying that it was boiling hard and was in a hurry to get it done. The next morning I wiped the jars to put them away and instead of fifteen pints of jelly [illegible]

On the 1st day of September the [illegible] playing "Hide and Seek" in Northwest Minnesota and "it" could hardly count to 100 before going out to "seek" for it. Summer was cut a bit short this year as Winter stayed long after the "Western Mall" was worn out; about 8 months we had snow on the ground. The short summer we had was no match for Fall I dread to see it go, but I'm very thankful to be up here on the [illegible] when the worst rains and hail have missed us every time. Yesterday parts of North Dakota got 12 and 13 inches of rain. Now that's too wet.

The Strandquist Seniors met on Thursday and feasted on a dinner by all. There were ten members and twelve guests: Mary Grajuski, Isabel Nowacki, Ellie Knill, Josephine Yuhzenka, Toni Kasprowicz all from Argyle; Gladys Johnson and Adeline Stennes from Thief River Falls, Clara Nelson, Anna Sellen, Marian Pederson and Adrienne Lohoolh and little Sara. They played bingo and Clara Nelson won the blackout. Helen Jacobson won the door prize.

stopped and had lunch with Elphie Adils on their way to Thief River Falls to visit the Rogallis. While they were at Elphie's Finn Gilbert and Lorna May Johnson of Warren accompanied by their brother Raymond Hougard who is living with his daughter Sandra in Iowa came to visit old-time friends and neighbors.

Rally Day will be celebrated at the Bethesda Lutheran Church in Strandquist on Sunday the 7th. A physical offering will be taken of items the Sunday School can use like notebook [illegible]

Peter and Pearl Thompson hosted Danny Johnson on [illegible] his birthday evening.

Vince and Adrienne Lohoolh accompanied by the Jeff Dornstein family went camping up in Warroad over the weekend and returned home on Monday ready for school on Tuesday.

Dale and Marie Steffen and Buddy Berggren and friend Bob from Tower visited Judy Kleinvachter last week.

David Jamsen of New Ulm and Jenny Anderson of Rochester visited Paul and Shirley Anderson this week end.

Mike and Betty Johnson of Warroad, Jane and Robert Thompson are so busy with harvesting and bale hauling whatever in this day and age that they forgot to come home for dinner. They have had a lot of nice weather and have taken advantage of it too.

Donny and Marlys Lohoolh and Pearl Thompson spent some time at Elsie Lohoolh's on Saturday afternoon.

Wesley and Nancy Vagle of Minneapolis arrived at Johnny Vagle's on Sunday afternoon. They spent Labor Day helping Johnny overhauling his motorcart so he can drive around by himself again. It looks so cute going down the street that I stop to enjoy watching it. In their efficiency they even served a delicious dinner to Peter and Pearl Thompson and Roy and me in the evening. They expect to return to their home today.

Roy's bean crop is great and he's been picking a bucket of them most every other day for the past couple of weeks. Folks who stop to see us say that's the way to plant beans but hope they don't fall off their ladders. I saw Roy coming with the ladder but it was so he could reach the hummingbird feeder, which he has high enough that he is able to watch them feed while he is sitting at the table in the kitchen. They have returned in such numbers that it needs filling right along, and it is so nice to watch them. As long as they are around winter has to stay away.

Elphie Adils visited Elsie Lohoolh on Wednesday afternoon.

Property Rights Meet To Call For Action

At 11 a.m. today (Wednesday, September 10), Sen. Dan Stevens of Mora will conduct a meeting on property rights at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls. The public is invited to learn about the senator's legislation which was introduced in the closing days of the 1997 legislative session and on which hearings will be called for as soon as the 1998 session begins.

"The principle is this," Sen. Stevens says. "People may use their property in any way they wish, provided only that in the process they do not take what belongs free and clear to others. Regulations prohibiting such uses are wrongful to begin with. The Takings Clause, when drafted, was done so with the realization that there would be times when the public would have to achieve public ends by taking private property. But the power of eminent domain had to be accompanied by just compensation. To do otherwise would only make the individual bear the full burden of the public appetite."

"To rectify these practices," Sen. Stevens says, "I have drafted and introduced legislation referred to as the Private Property Protection Act, which ensures that a property owner will be compensated when a state or local regulation reduces the market value of private property in Minnesota. However, compensation will not be required if the program is an exercise to prevent harm to the health and safety of the public and will not affect any remedy that is constitutionally required.

"If the state or any of its political subdivisions imposes, changes or implements any land use planning, zoning or other regulatory program which reduces the previous fair market value, the county auditor shall adjust the taxpayer's valuation downward by an amount equal to the lost value."

Senator Stevens points out that it must be made clear that "property" includes all the uses that can be made of a holding—"the very uses that give property its value, the taking of which diminishes that value. When those uses are taken through regulatory restrictions, the owner loses rights that otherwise belong to him or her, and he or she is due compensation."

It should be unnecessary for legislation to be written, promoted and adopted to protect a right already provided by the U.S. Constitution and its Bill of Rights. What the proposed legislation recognizes, however, is that the intention of the Bill of Rights is being circumvented by government regulations and practices that effectively control uses of private property without fairly compensating the owner.

Sen. Stevens points out that the courts have routinely interpreted the takings clause to involve only a total or near total loss of property or property value. Most regulations do not reduce the value of the property to zero.

When a thief takes 75 percent of a person's property, no one has difficulty calling that a 'taking,' but when the government does the same thing, the court has been unwilling to call it a 'taking' unless the individual loses 100 percent of the value of the property," Sen. Stevens says.

He will have more comments and reasons for introducing his legislation at today's meeting.

Taryn Pream Poetry Published In Two Books

Taryn Pream of Thief River Falls submitted two of her poems while a seventh and eighth grader at Franklin middle school to publishers of books of youth poetry and had both accepted for publication. Taryn is the daughter of Jon and Robyn Pream. We congratulate her on her success and encourage her to continue her writing efforts.

The following poem, written while she was a seventh grader, was published on the first page of Anthology of Poetry of Young Americans and the 1996 edition of A Celebration of Young Poets.

REASON

They say I have no reason
To hold my head so high
They say I have no reason
To look up to the sky
They say I have no reason
To visit with the moon
They say I have no reason
To see the starry nights of June
They say I have no reason
To even think of pride
They say I have no reason
To feel anything inside
They say I have no reason
To do the things that I can do
They say I have no reason
To even look at you.
But I have quite a message
That is loud and clear—
If I don't have a reason
What am I doing here?

As an eighth grader last year, Taryn wrote the following poem and submitted it to A Celebration of Young Poets and it was published in the 1997 edition:

people's court

i'm sitting in my chair
i wait for my sentence my punishment not deserved it was not me i cry aloud
but no one can hear me i speak too soft for them to understand i swear it wasn't me i shout my self worth sinks into a puddle they laugh as sweat drips off my face the minute heads fall like rain my knuckles turn white the judges discuss something suitable for me but when i speak my mind about the culprit
they yap at me
i'm not a good person they say it seems awful ridiculous for a punishment so severe to result from an innocent kid breaking

"It is indeed a very poor boy or girl that has not a pair of stilts.

"Brink Bros. put in a burglar-proof safe in their establishment last week."

Wylie Gleanings

"A brand new mower belonging to Jacob Thill was stolen from his premises Wednesday evening. Mr. Dargan immediately set out to discover the missing property and soon succeeded in locating it on the premises of certain parties who have recently located in this neighborhood. The transgressor was soon apprehended and together with the mower escorted to Wylie where he listened to a lecture on personal property belonging to other people. After shedding a few tears and promising to pay all expenses and damages and behave himself in the future he was allowed to go and he immediately shook the dust off his feet and left Wylie behind him. Complaints have frequently been heard of late of sundry things disappearing mysteriously, and now that the suspected parties have been spotted, our good citizens have sworn to purge the locality if things are not left alone."

The ditch that was plugged during the flood at SWIS PENNCO has now been cleaned.

The schedule for removing the pallets is as follows: 1/4 by September 1, 1/2 by October 1, and all by November 1. The compost must be windrowed by November 1, 1997 and the monthly tests are done on a regular basis by PCA. All the compost must go through the [illegible] screen by December 31, 1997. The damaged pallets must be removed by November 1, 1997. SWIS PENNCO also has been assessed at $1,960.00 fine for past violations. Bob Kruse mentioned that there are daily records kept on the fire control.

Don Stewart discussed land spreading pallets on property the City of Thief River Falls would like to [illegible] for an industrial park. The City is afraid that after spreading pallets the land would be hard to sell as industrial park property. He was wondering if it was possible to have the pallets spread at a different location. The County Board or SWIS PENNCO did not have a problem with using an alternative site. The problem is with the deadlines that PCA has placed on getting rid of the damaged pallets. If an alternate site isn't found soon enough the pallets would have to be tilled into the original piece of land. Another factor was the Stipulation Agreement and whether PCA would agree to move the site already established.

The County Board requested the Stipulation Agreement be sent back to be reworked on Section 8 Paragraph 3 page 6 which is the part that discussed spreading the burned pallets on land owned by SWIS PENNCO.

Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to authorize the Auditor to pay $50,000.00 to SWIS PENNCO out of SCORE funding on an Auditor's warrant. Motion carried.

The County Board questioned Bob Kruse if it was possible to lease another screener to screen compost faster. Mr. Kruse said he would check into it.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to set Assistant County Attorney Gayle Borchert's salary at $24,500.00 effective January 1, 1997. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin and Commissioner Carlson left the County Board meeting at 4:00 p.m. to attend the Welfare Union Negotiation (Mediation).

Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to increase the Welfare Director and Oakland Park Administrator's salary $1,000.00 effective January 1, 1997. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve the August 12, 1997, Commissioner warrants. Motion unanimously carried.

Notice of Proposal to Create Septic System Ordinance In Pennington County

Due to changes to state law governing individual septic treatment systems, (ISTS) in 1996 and 1997, Pennington County is proposing to create a county wide ISTS ordinance. Before any county wide ordinance can be passed, the county must provide a public notice at least 10 days prior to adoption of the ordinance. Notice is hereby given in that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners will hear, for the purpose of county wide adoption, the proposed county septic system ordinance on Tuesday, September 23rd at 5:30 p.m., 1997 in the board room of the Pennington County Courthouse in Thief River Falls.

The ordinance, if passed, would provide county regulatory control of individual septic treatment systems for the administration, permitting, installation, repair standards, inspection requirements, additional standards for health and environmental protection as well as rules governing licensing and enforcement of the ordinance.

The purpose of the ordinance is twofold. According to recent state legislation, all counties will be required to pass a county wide ordinance regulating septic systems according to Chapter 7080 and recent changes in law. Chapter 7080 contains the rules set out by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency which defines how septic systems are to be designed, installed, repaired and otherwise regulated.

The second purpose of the ordinance relates to legislation sought by Pennington County and others the last legislative session. This legislation allows counties with special conditions and a county wide ordinance to create standards for septic systems which are less stringent than current state rules.

By creating our own county wide ordinance, we hope to establish these standards which will allow us to continue to use trench type drain fields in most circumstances.

A copy of the proposed ordinance is available upon request by calling the Pennington County Auditor at 681-4011 or the Pennington County Extension Service at 681-2116.

Mrs. Larry Emerson and daughter Stacy Grey from Oshkosh, WI visited Effie Handy Sunday forenoon. Lyn Turenne spent Saturday with her mother Effie Handy.

We attended a pretty wedding at Kingo in Fosston Saturday at five o'clock when Jennifer Polvin of Fosston and Joe Dolalio of Gully were married. The bride dressed in a long white satin dress decorated with beads and sequins with a long train and fluffy veil. She was carrying a bouquet of yellow roses and looked so pretty as she was escorted to the front of the church to meet the groom. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos, white shirts and black bow ties. The matron of honor, maid of honor and bridesmaids were all dressed in eggplant colored long formal dresses and carried long stem roses. Pastor Charles Anderson performed the service with Heidi Saeter pianist/organist and Charity Joshua, and Angela Pearson vocalists. The church was decorated with mixed flowers and candelabras. After the service a reception and supper was served at the Stadium. Mr. and Mrs. Dolalio will be living in Fargo where both are employed.

Chris Rutkowski from the Cities had been busy preparing for a surprising and important day for her husband Peter. It was soon time for his 40th birthday and she sent out invitations for friends, relatives— aunts, uncles and cousins to come and enjoy the day. Some of Peter's friends took Peter golfing that afternoon which gave Chris a chance to make last minute arrangements. The large boat "Her Excellancy" was docked on Lake Minnetonka. During the golf game people came from all directions and got on the boat. Among these were his folks Bob and Marlone Maple, Dick and Ordell Maple from Gonvick, Ken and Alice Forsberg from Gully and all the other guests from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Moorhead and the various places. They all needed to be on the boat by 6:45 and by seven o'clock some friends would bring the honored guest. Imagine Peter's surprise when he boarded "Her Excellancy" and found all these people already there! At about seven o'clock they were bid "Bon Voyage" from the Conference Center at Excelsior Park. It was a perfect evening to enjoy the beautiful lights, scenery and homes along the shores of Lake Minnetonka. But by ten o'clock the sky started to darken and lightening flashed across the sky. Even that seemed almost magical as it reflected in the water. They finished the evening off by having a taste of Peter's large birthday cake. The group had completed what they planned to do. They set Peter sailing into the "Sea of Old Age".

Thursday evening visitors at the Wendt and Cathy Sanger home for Wendt's birthday were Doreen, Gay and Sarah Brovold, Larry Sanger, Jean and Bob Sanger and Joanie and Larry Satanson. They all enjoyed birthday cake and coffee.

Visitors at the Elmer and Millie Brovold home on Friday were Adolph Holstad and Leona Vie from Oklee and Adolph's daughter Shirley and husband from Michigan. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lawrence from Bagley visited with Elmer and Millie. Mrs. Lawrence had been Millie's roommate at the hospital during Millie's surgery. They came in a shiny (like new) 1933 Ford.

They tell me there was a short "Wild West" show in town on Sunday afternoon when Gene Melander's horses decided they were tired of being in the pasture and the bunch started running down the street. Dallas Rasmussen, Darrel Dolalio and friend caught some and got them back.

Effie Handy has been busy and happy. She's had company and could treat them to lunch and coffee. On Wednesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Larry Emerson and Sonny Berg from Milwaukee and Emma Nyland were there. On Thursday afternoon her daughter Lyn Turenne stopped there and on Friday Marian Handy from Fosston visited there. On Saturday afternoon Lois Kimball and friend from Little Falls visited Effie.

We were privileged to attend our granddaughter's wedding at Trinity Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls and the garden reception at Sanna's home afterwards. Quite a few from this area drove over for the four o'clock wedding when Sanna Torgerson became the wife of Tony Gustafson. The bride was dressed in a white silk dress with lace, beads and sequin trim with a long train. Her attendants wore periwinkle blue outfits. The men in the wedding party wore black tuxedos and white shirts with black bow ties. The service was performed by Rev. John Wollenzien with the wedding [illegible]

Room for improvement in immunization rates

While Minnesota's preschool immunization rates continue to improve, there's still room to do better, according to a new survey released by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and Minnesota Health Commissioner Anne Barry.

"The new survey shows a substantial increase in overall preschool immunization rates," Commissioner Barry said. "But too many of our children are still not getting their shots on time during the critical preschool years—when they're most likely to become seriously ill and develop serious complications from vaccine-preventable diseases.

"We also need to remember that these immunization rates are statewide averages. Some parts of our state, and some segments of each community in our state, may be doing significantly better or worse than the new survey findings would suggest. The growing complexity of current immunization recommendations is especially problematic, making it increasingly difficult for parents to keep their children on schedule.

"Above, all, we need to avoid complacency," she said. "We need to remember that the job of immunizing our children is never done. More than 64,000 children are born every year in our state—and the immunization rate for newborns is zero. We need to start the process over again with each new group of children that moves through the system."

The new survey looked at children born between February of 1993 and May of 1995. It documented dramatic gains in preschool immunization rates, both in Minnesota and nationwide, for a group of eight different vaccine-preventable disease. The list included diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, measles, mumps, rubella, polio and Haemophilus influenzae (Hib).

The survey found that about 83 percent of Minnesota preschoolers had been properly immunized against those diseases, compared with 77 percent nationwide. A similar survey conducted by CDC in 1995 found that only 76 percent of Minnesota children had been fully immunized against those same diseases.

To be fully protected against those eight diseases, children need at least 11 separate doses of vaccine by the age of 18 months—four doses of combination vaccine for diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis (DTaP), three doses of polio vaccine, three doses of Hib vaccine and one dose of combination vaccine for measles, mumps and rubella. Children in the survey ranged in age from 19 to 35 months at the time the survey was taken.

In addition to the basic list of eight diseases, the new survey also looked at immunization rates for hepatitis B (HBV)—a relatively recent addition to the list of recommended immunizations. Some of the most significant gains were recorded for this disease. In Minnesota, immunization levels for this illness increased from 49 percent to 72 percent over the past year. Nationally, immunization levels for HBV increased from 68 percent to 82 percent during the same period.

Chicken pox—the most recent addition to the list of recommended immunizations—was not included in the survey.

Commissioner Barry credited recent increases in immunization rates to a broad coalition of individuals and organizations in each community of the state—including state and local public health agencies, the physician community, hospitals and other health care provider organizations. "We will need to build on that foundation if we are to achieve any further gains," she said.

Potential barriers to further progress include the complexity of the current immunization schedule and a failure to understand the potential impact of the major vaccine-preventable diseases. It's easy to downplay the significance of diseases like polio, measles or Hib now that they have largely been controlled with modern vaccines.

"People need to remember that these diseases can be very serious—fatal in some cases—and that they can easily make a comeback if we let our guard down," Commissioner Barry said. "We've seen that happen in parts of the world where they stopped immunizing children against pertussis because of political or economic issues or concerns about the safety of the vaccine.

In fact, many of the major vaccine-preventable diseases are still very much with us, according to MDH officials. During 1996, more than 730 cases of vaccine-preventable disease were reported in Minnesota, including 433 cases of pertussis. That's the largest number of reported pertussis cases in the last 10 years—and reported cases for 1997 are already running well ahead of this time last year.

"Thanks to the availability of modern vaccines, most people today have had little direct experience with these diseases," Commissioner Barry said. "That could change quickly if we neglect to keep our children properly immunized."

Parents who have questions about immunization—or who want information about free or low cost immunizations—can call the state immunization hotline at 1-800-657-3970. Calls to the hotline are answered Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Sen. Moe reports new laws take effect Aug. 1

Senator Roger Moe is reporting that many of the laws passed by the Minnesota Legislature in 1997 take effect on August 1. Most of the new laws that are linked to the state budget took effect on July 1, with the start of the new fiscal year. Some laws took effect even earlier due to urgent situations such as the Red River flooding.

In a few instances, laws passed earlier this year will not take effect until later this year or in 1998. Some of the more significant new statutes taking effect August 1 are summarized by Sen. Moe below:

Restricted Youth Access to Tobacco. A comprehensive package of restrictions on youth access to tobacco was one of the most contentious issues of 1997. The bill that passed and was signed with some reluctance by Governor Carlson includes compliance checks, enhanced penalties, restricted placement of cigarette vending machines and cigarette chemical disclosure.

The yearly store compliance check requirement is based on several existing local ordinances that have proven successful in lowering the number of illegal sales of tobacco to youths in several communities. Access is further restricted by eliminating the placement of vending machines in most public places. Penalties are spelled out for the licensed stores, clerks and those convicted of underage purchase of tobacco products.

Open display of single packs of cigarettes and smokeless tobacco canisters are also prohibited.

Perhaps the most controversial element of the legislation is the requirement that cigarette manufacturers disclose if their products contain ammonia, arsenic, cadmium, formaldehyde or lead. Only one other state has a similar requirement.

County, City Flood Help. Cities and counties not located in the federally designated 1997 flood areas are authorized to assist local governments with relief efforts in the flood disaster counties. No specific legal authority regarding such cooperative disaster assistance had existed before this year.

Snow, Ice Removal Authority. With approval of the residents sitting at the annual meeting, townships can collect for the cost of removing snow and ice on road rights-of-way by placing a lien on the property owners responsible for the removal costs.

Assisting Disabled Anglers. Anglers who are in need of help in wetting their lines can now get it, even if the helper does not have a fishing license. Those eligible are licensed anglers who need help due to age, blindness or disability. Persons with disabilities qualify for a free fishing license. They can receive help from someone who is unlicensed as long as only one line is placed in the water.

Enlist and Enroll. The National Guard is likely to attract more recruits interested in furthering their education. The maximum amount of a Guard member's educational grant increased August 1. The law change now allows grants of up to 50 percent for tuition and textbooks costs at any Minnesota public institution of higher education. The change will largely affect post graduate students, such as those Guard members attending medical school and other high-tuition institutions. As in the past, undergraduate tuition grants of up to 75 percent of the total cost remain available to National Guard members in Minnesota.

Alternative Power Barrier Removed. A hurdle confronting alternative power producers has been removed. The certificate of need requirement no longer applies to biomass and wind power facilities. Previously, the costly and time-consuming certificate of need process had generally taken 18 months to three years to complete.

Shari Has A Secret.

On the outside, Shari seemed like a bright, easygoing girl who took pride in her schoolwork. But on the inside, she desperately wanted to be part of the "in-crowd'. And, when her friends began playing around with drugs, it seemed like a good way to fit in.

When it comes to secrets, everyone wants to feel like they can be trusted. But when the secret involves drugs and one of your friends, your silence can prevent them from getting the help they need. So tell a parent, a teacher or someone you trust. Your caring intervention may be the secret of success for your friend.

INTERVENTION - THE SECRET WEAPON IN THE FIGHT AGAINST DRUGS.

Growth in state laws and regulations during the past 30 years were illustrated by Senator Dan Stevens (right) of Mora during a meeting on property rights Wednesday at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls. He used the enlarged photos to emphasize the accelerated involvement of government into the lives of private citizens. Also speaking at the meeting were Senator LeRoy Stumpf (left) of Thief River Falls and Representative Tim Finseth of Angus.

City to ask legislature to allow Sunday liquor

by David Hill
Associate Editor

The state legislature will be asked to allow the City of Thief River Falls to permit Sunday liquor sales.

The issue of Sunday liquor has been brought before the citizens by a vote before. In all cases — 1988, 1987, 1985, 1982, and 1977 — the issue has been defeated. Tuesday night the council approved a motion to request that Rep. Tim Finseth and Sen. LeRoy Stumpf propose special legislation to authorize Sunday on-sale liquor for Thief River Falls. It was a 5-1 vote by the council, with Alderman Dave Carlson voting no.

Proponents of the measure appeared before the council to explain their support. Dave Burris, representative of the Best Western, said Sunday liquor will hold visitors to the community over the weekend and increase revenue for all merchants.

Jane Mattson, owner of the Evergreen Eating Emporium, said she is personally not in favor of being open on Sundays, but believes it will be good for the future of Thief River Falls. She pointed out that since the last elections on Sunday liquor in Thief River Falls, laws have changed, putting greater responsibility and repercussions upon the individual. At the Evergreen, she said, they have not had a lot of problems. In addition, she said they would rather have the right to decide whether to be open than rely on the whim of someone else.

Joel Hallstrom, owner of the Black Cat Sports Bar and Grill, said some Canadian visitors have told him he has lost business because they couldn't serve alcohol on Sundays. Hallstrom said he pays taxes on his business, pays for fuel and utilities when his business isn't open so he would rather that it was open.

Jim Ueland, owner of the Rusty Nail, said they are a retail business and should have the same right to be open on Sunday as any other retail business, such as JC Penney.

Alderman Frank Hammerlink pointed out that people have voted on this in the past. It is not a vote on taxes, he said, and they aren't losing a right to vote.

It appeared from the limited discussion on the matter that if approved by the state legislature, the city would be given the right to permit Sunday liquor sales. It also appeared from the limited discussion that members of the council would be interested in a proposal to limit consumption of liquor on Sundays to a specific number of Sundays — specifically Sundays during major events in the community and activities such as the Super Bowl.

■ A 10 percent increase in the city's tax levy was approved by the Thief River Falls City Council Tuesday night. The city administrator had estimated that a 9.7 percent increase would provide a net tax levy of $1,181,310. Last year's net tax levy was $1,077,091.

The increase approved Tuesday night would provide roughly the same dollars available for general fund operations as was produced by the levy in 1997. The city administrator estimated fund operations by subtracting HACA and estimated delinquency and then subtracting funds for regional library maintenance and debt service for ADA

Senator seeks support for property rights legislation

by Marvin Lundin
The Times Editor

Sen. Dan Stevens of Mora brought his appeal for support of individual property rights to Thief River Falls Wednesday, September 10 and found an audience of area county and township officials and other citizens sympathetic to his cause.

"I'm not saying people should be allowed to do anything they want to on their property," he said. "There are already laws, such as nuisance laws, which prevent them from doing things that adversely impact their neighbors.

"But when they are deprived of a use or partial use of their property for the public good they should be compensated for it as the U.S. Constitution provides."

Senator Stevens, whose 17th District includes all of Mille Lacs county and portions of Benton, Kanabec, Morrison and Sherburne counties, introduced property rights legislation late in the 1997 session and plans to push it at the start of the 1998 session. In fact, in a visit to a dozen cities at his own expense, he has already been promoting his bill.

Companion legislation has also been introduced in the Minnesota House of Representatives with Rep. Tim Finseth of Angus and Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy among the co-authors. Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls opened the meeting Wednesday at the Best Western Inn and Rep. Finseth spoke briefly and introduced Senator Stevens.

Stevens said he agrees with the right of eminent domain where condemnation of property may be necessary to fill some compelling public need. He said that such law does three things: (1) It establishes that there is a public need; (2) it recognizes that there are private property rights, and (3) it provides for just compensation for property that is taken.

Sen. Stevens said a very serious problem has arisen in the tendency of the courts to not recognize a "taking" unless all or virtually all of the property has been taken. As a result, many people have been deprived of the use of all or part of their property without compensation.

"That's wrong!" the senator said Wednesday. "If a thief steals only a part of a person's property, no one has any problem with calling that a taking. But when the government by law or regulation does the same thing, the courts have been unwilling to call it a taking unless the individual loses 100 percent of the value of the property."

Stevens said his concern is with private property rights vs. excessive government regulation.

"As more and more laws, regulations and ordinances are passed at the federal, state and government levels," he said, "property owners are finding themselves under public siege. The premise and definitions of private property rights are constantly being reinterpreted and redrafted by planning commissions, zoning boards and local, state and federal government agencies.

"Many regulations confiscate not only the rights of land owners but the value of the property with no thought of compensation. These practices are strictly against the intentions of the framers of the Constitution who held the most pre

County OKs tax levy increase

Pennington County Board of Commissioners have approved a preliminary 1998 tax levy increase of 5.8 percent. The tax levy would raise $3,368,111 after HACA and Disparity Aid.

Pennington County Auditor Ken Olson reminded residents that the proposed tax increase is only preliminary. From this point on, it can only go down and not up. He also reminded residents that a 5.8 percent increase does not mean that every taxpayer will see a 5.8 percent increase. Due to a number of factors, such as property valuation, tax classification, and other factors, taxpayers will see differences in their tax statements. The 5.8 percent increase represents an increase from one year to the next in the tax levy.

The proposed levy shows an increase in revenue generated by the levy from $1.8 million in 1997 to 1.825 million in 1998. The road and bridge fund would receive an addition $50,000, jumping from $750,000 to $800,000. The largest increase among funds benefiting from the tax levy was seen in welfare. The welfare allocation jumped from $1.1 million to $1,230,000.

Funds pledged to the solid waste facility decreased from $113,750 to $100,000. Funds used for debt service on the solid waste facility, however, increased from $132,573 in 1997 to $133,135 in 1998. Debt service on the county courthouse elevator and Larry's bridge would decrease from $63,620 to $62,281.

Individuals interested in commenting on the county budget are welcome to attend the county's Truth-in-Taxation hearing scheduled for 5 p.m. December 9 in the County board room, located in the basement of the County courthouse.

Full-time student enrollment at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls is up nine percent this fall over 1996 enrollment, according to Dennis Bendickson, interim dean of student services. Full-time enrollment of 907 is up from 832 last fall, an increase of 75 students.

Total full-time equivalency of 1,320 is up 4.7 percent from 1,261 a year ago.

Northland has 467 returning students this year and 444 new students, compared to 405 new students last fall quarter.

A substantial increase of 43.4 percent was also noted in the number of students from area high schools enrolled under the Post-Secondary Enrollment Options Program (PSEOP), which climbed from 99 a year ago to 142 this fall. This program provides students the opportunity to take college courses while still enrolled in high school when approved by the high school, parents and the college.

Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of the college, said he is pleased with the enrollment report. "Earlier this summer it appeared we would see an enrollment decline of about five percent," Dr. Gunderson said. "We made our budget plans based on those lower figures. This report of an increase is great news for our college."

Fall quarter enrollment showed a decrease in the number of part-time students, which declined to 924

Groundbreaking for an additional 5,000 square feet to be constructed at the southwest corner of the new Dakota Clinic was held Thursday morning. Dr. Bob Dicken will be practicing in the new facility when it opens next summer.

New clinic has first addition

Thief River Falls ophthalmologist Dr. Bob Dicken has announced that he will be relocating his practice to the Dakota Clinic's new Regional Clinic and Ambulatory Surgery Center.

This announcement was made Monday at the annual meeting of the Northwest Medical Center Hospital Association. Dr. Dicken will lease an additional 5,000 square feet to be constructed at the southwest corner of the new Clinic. Dr. Dicken will continue to practice independently as part of Northwest Eye Center.

Thursday morning, a groundbreaking ceremony was held at the site of Dakota Clinic in Thief River Falls. About 50 people attended the event.

Dr. Jim Langland said the event was more exciting than groundbreaking held last May at the site. "Dicken's decision to join us," he said, "validates the hope and vision we had last May."

Mayor Robert Reese said the groundbreaking represents progress for the clinic and the entire area and he wished them the best of luck.

Chris Twomey, chief executive officer at Arctic Cat, said that as the community's largest employer, Arctic Cat is excited about seeing employees have the opportunity to get all their medical care at one location.

Dicken said it had taken them a while to reach this point. He said he supports the vision of health care that physicians of Dakota Clinic have for Thief River Falls.

Hal Freeman expressed his reluctance for leaving his current location and explained why, but said he feels the decision, though not easy, was right.

Dr. Dicken was born in Thief River Falls and has spent his entire projects. He arrived at a total of $687,190 for fund operations, which is based on a 9.7 percent increase in the local levy.

The tax levy can no longer be increased. It can only be decreased. Residents interested in commenting on the city's budget can do so at the city's Truth in Taxation Hearing at 5 p.m. on Monday, December 8, at the Heritage Community Center.

During the next several weeks, members of the city council and city staff will be working on ways to address the city's projected budget deficit. As of the week prior to Tuesday's meeting, the projected budget deficit was $1.7 million.

Dave Carlson, city alderman, said the the preliminary tax levy approved by the council Tuesday night will not solve the city's budget problems. He said he feels the problem will only be solved in addressing how the city conducts business. Although he proposed the 10 percent increase in the tax levy, he added that he might not support the increase when the council has to make a final decision.

A one percent increase in the tax levy raises only about $40,800. Some of the major expenses in the budget include $500,000 for a softball complex at the Multi-Events Cultural Center, $320,000 for repairs to the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, and $237,700 to pay a deficit experienced or projected by those housing facilities.

■ The council received good news regarding bids on an Aircraft Rescue/Firefighting vehicle (AARFF). The city received a grant for $264,000 after it had applied for a grant from the federal government for the purchase of the vehicle.

The city participated in a consortium arrangement with Bemidji, Hibbing and Grand Rapids-Itasca in an attempt to obtain favorable bids on fire trucks. Bids were opened September 8. The low bid on the city's fire truck was $274,736. The original estimate was $336,000.

The city will share in the cost of the bid preparation and administration costs along with the state. The state has agreed to pick up two-thirds of those costs. The federal government also agreed to participate on a 90/10 basis with other equipment [illegible] city is asked to add to the fire truck. The total cost of which includes extra units and [illegible] over $285,000. The city's share of that cost is $28,500.

The new fire truck is expected to be available May 1, 1998.

■ Damage to the roof of the old arena was discovered this week. Madelyn Vigen, director of the Parks and Recreation department and Curt Howe, explained that following the recent heavy rain, water was discovered in the lobby area. Upon investigation, a 30 by 20 foot area of the roof was discovered to be [illegible]. Howe said he believes the damage was caused by last winter's heavy snows. He added that they didn't dare investigate too closely because the damage made the area unsafe.

The city's insurance has a deductible of $25,000. Repair to the roof has been estimated at over $110,000.

Howe and Vigen were instructed to make an attempt to contact other contractors before awarding the project to a contractor. The council gave them permission to proceed.

■ Thief River Falls' Home Page is a bit dull, according to Nicole Carver of the Chamber of Commerce. Carver asked permission to make it a little more enticing. She explained what was on the page and asked for direction and suggestions from the council. The council is expected to return with suggestions in October.

In other business, the council: approved by a 5-1 vote the public works director's revised job description; approved hiring of Scott Danielson as a category II public works/sanitation employee, a salary progression raise for Rich Gorde, apprentice lineworker, a salary progression raise for Patricia Lindquist, billing clerk, the hiring of Matthew Reberg as a category II public works/airport maintenance employee; an FAA required "master certification" necessary for the city to receive future federal grants; declared the costs to be assessed and ordered preparation of the assessment roll for phase II of the 1996 street and utility improvement project; called for a public hearing on the proposed assessment roll for phase II of the 1996 street and utility improvement project; declared the costs to be assessed and ordered preparation of an assessment roll covering the 1997 street and sidewalk improvement project; called for a public hearing on the proposed assessment roll for the 1997 street and sidewalk improvement project at 7:30 p.m. on October 21 at the Heritage Community Center.

professional life practicing in his hometown. Initially he was in Family Practice with the Falls Clinic. After receiving additional training in ophthalmology, he returned to Thief River Falls to help establish Northwest Eye Center, a unique professional association of ophthalmology, optometry and opticians. In all he has spent nearly 20 years practicing medicine in his hometown. He also provides ophthalmology care in a variety of other communities in northwestern Minnesota.

In making his announcement, Dr. Dicken indicated that the new Dakota Clinic Regional Clinic and Ambulatory Surgery Center was the most exciting event in health care he has witnessed in Thief River Falls. He stated that the new Clinic would help the community recruit and retain more physicians and health care providers. The efficiencies and lower costs of care in the new Clinic will help insure the position of Thief River Falls as a regional hub for health care.

The new Dakota Clinic is currently under construction on Highway 59 south. With the addition of Dr. Dicken, all Thief River Falls physicians will be practicing in the new facility when it opens next summer. The facility will now be 50,000 square feet and in addition to the new eye care area will contain a fully equipped laboratory, radiology department, ambulatory surgery center, pharmacy, physical therapy department and urgent care area.

Committee seeks funds to sponsor education event

Education committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce is seeking donations from throughout the community to sponsor an education breakfast for local educators November 14 as a kickoff for National Education Week.

"Would you be willing to donate $50, $100 or $200 toward this project?" a letter from the committee states. "Your donation will be acknowledged at the breakfast itself by one of the committee members and in the program given to all who attend. If you are unable to donate this, but are able to give a lesser amount, we would appreciate that also."

Donations may be mailed to the Education Breakfast, TRF Chamber of Commerce, 2017 Highway 59 SE, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Senator seeks support for property rights legislation

[illegible] American citizenship [illegible] ownership of private property.

The group attending Wednesday's meeting was told that it must be made clear that property includes all the uses that can be made of a holding. When those uses are taken through regulatory restrictions, the owners lose rights that otherwise belong to them and they are due compensation.

Sen. Stevens cited a couple of zoning proposals in Washington county, one of which would increase the set-back for construction along scenic routes from 40 feet to 100 feet and another that would prohibit the cutting of trees over six inches in diameter.

If a developer had acquired land and platted it for development with 125 foot deep lots while observing the 40 foot setback, he said, then the setback was increased to 100 feet by regulation and the lots became only 65 feet deep and unbuildable, he would suffer a taking of the use of those lots and be entitled to compensation.

Or if 50 years ago a landowner's grandfather had planted an area of marginal land to Norway pine for his descendants to harvest, and the grandchild was not allowed to cut a tree over six inches in diameter due to local ordinance, that would deprive the owner of the use and value of those trees and should require compensation, Stevens said.

The public does not have a right to the view of that stand of pine trees, Sen. Stevens said, but if it is determined that they should remain in the public interest, then the public must compensate the owner for not harvesting them.

One part of the proposed legislation is that if property is devalued because of a regulatory taking, then the property tax must be reduced in accordance with that loss of value.

Stevens said the state's Wetlands Conservation Act was the biggest regulatory taking in the state. He said there is an increasing tendency of government to attempt to control private property without paying for it under the claim of "public good."

He noted that a favorite saying of one legislator regarding proposed modification of the Wetlands Conservation Act which that legislator championed was that he didn't mind selling a little machinery but he wouldn't give away the farm.

"I suggested," Sen. Stevens said, "that he should bring the deed to the farm because he didn't have clear title."

Importance of writing letters to senators, representatives and the governor's office was stressed by Stevens as he stated that grassroots involvement was necessary to regain property rights.

For example, he said, that the best $1.28 you could ever spend would be the four 32-cent stamps to send letters to the four people listed on the back of this sheet of paper. (The paper was a list of principles of private property rights distributed at the meeting, and the four names included Gov. Arne Carlson, the Senator and Representatives in the letter writer's district, and Senator Stevens.)

"I would love to go in to testify at a committee meeting with a stack of a thousand letters of support for this legislation," he said. "And if the governor receives a thousand letters, you better believe he will be aware that there is a problem that needs to be addressed."

Approximately 30 people attended the meeting, including local government officials from a number of northwestern Minnesota counties.

Senator Stevens was carrying his message to about a dozen communities throughout the state. He came to Thief River Falls from International Falls and had a meeting at Brainerd later in the day Wednesday.

Enrollment up at NCTC this fall

from 1,126 last year, a drop of 17.9 percent. This drop gave the college a decline in head count from 1,958 to 1,831—a loss of 127 students.

Also included in the report was a large decline in students in the Small Business, Specialty Crops and Farm Management programs offered by NCTC. Small Business declined from 37 to 31, Specialty Crops slipped from 41 to 21 and Farm Management dropped from 672 to 464. In total, enrollment in management programs was down from 750 a year ago to 516 this fall.

Largest enrollment increase was in the Liberal Arts area with 407 students compared to 335 last fall. The Licensed Practical Nursing major increased from 108 to 133.

The Criminal Justice program enrolled 207 students this fall compared with 210 a year ago. Of these students 75 are at Northland in Thief River Falls, 86 at Central Lakes in Brainerd and 46 in Fergus Falls. Last year the respective enrollment at the three schools was 63, 90 and 57.

Northland reinstated its welding program this fall after suspending it in the fall of 1996. Twenty-six students are enrolled in that major.

The accompanying chart lists the enrollment for individual programs in the fall of 1997 as compared with the fall of 1996.

Reception set for magazine group Sept. 20

Thief River Falls Convention and Visitors Bureau will host a reception for North American Hunter magazine photographers, writers and models Saturday, September 20, at 7 p.m. at the Best Western Inn.

City representatives and area hunting enthusiasts are invited to attend the reception September 20. Light hors d'oeuvres will be served and there will be presentations from Brian Havertine of the magazine staff and Gary Tischer of Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge where some of the photo work will be done.

Opportunities will also be provided to view previous North American Hunter hunting gear catalogs and magazines as well as videos of previous television programs and hunting videos produced by the magazine.

Primary photographer for the project will be Mitch Kezar, son of Dennis and Betty Kezar of Thief River Falls and graduate of Lincoln High School who is now a freelance photographer headquartered in the Twin Cities area.

Recycling cards creates busy hands, happy hearts for seniors

Times Reporter

Everyone has them and few know what to do with them. Old greeting cards – too pretty to throw away – lay in boxes on closet shelves and clutter drawers. By the time we get around to looking at them, there are more cards to add to the ever growing collection.

Lois Larson and Marietta Jorgensen know what to do with those old cards - recycle them!

Two years ago the women noticed that the surrounding communities had greeting card recycling programs and thought it was something they would enjoy doing and that the Heritage Community Center could benefit from it.

Once the program was O.K.'d by the Heritage Center board, the women went to work.

Using regular and decorative edge scissors, rulers, new cardstock, glue and markers, Lois and Marietta cut, glue and refashion used greeting cards into "new" cards.

What they do to achieve the desired results depends on the condition of the card they are working with. Sometimes they cut out the front design and inside message and glue it to a piece of cardstock. Other times, they need only glue a small piece of cardstock over the names that have been signed to the original card. Currently they use three different adhesives and the type of glue used is determined by the paper the card is printed on.

The women have become so good at what they do that you usually don't realize the card is recycled at first glance. Both commented about how they have improved in their skills since their first endeavors.

Marietta and Lois each work from their own homes and the time they spend working on the cards varies. Demand at certain times of the year is greater than others.

The tools they use belong to them and they purchase cardstock in 8 and one half by 11 inch sheets. While pre cut and folded cardstock is available, it comes only in two sizes and doesn't accommodate the many sizes of greeting cards and envelopes the women use.

The cards Lois and Marietta use are donated and left at the Heritage Community Center where they pick them up.

The envelopes are donated by Pamida, K Mart, Thrifty White Drug and Ben Franklin. Margaret Rasmussen works for the vendor who supplies cards to the stores and has been very good about keeping Lois and Marietta supplied with envelopes. When the stores return unsold greeting cards for credit, only the card itself is sent back to the company leaving a new envelope that otherwise would have been discarded.

When the project first started the cards were displayed for sale on a table at the Heritage Community Center. When the Medicine Shoppe remodeled, the women approached management and were given two large card racks which now display the cards in an orderly fashion along a wall in the reception area of the center.

All proceeds from the sale of the cards go to the center, and Lois and Marietta keep track of their volunteer hours. Most cards sell for 35 cents apiece with a few of the larger, fancier ones selling for 50 cents.

Used cards of all types are always welcome. Marietta and Lois recycle all occasion cards, specialty cards and seasonal cards. They often do not have enough specialty cards to meet the demands – confirmation, graduation, wedding and the like.

Because the majority of people donating cards are seniors, they have a good supply of birthday, get well and sympathy cards. Most of their shoppers are seniors also, and they find that cards for mothers, fathers and grandparents remain on the display racks longer.

Lois and Marietta commented that they would appreciate younger shoppers donating their used cards and purchasing their recycled cards thus creating a better balance.

"Recycled by TRF Seniors" is carefully stamped in the center on the bottom of the back of each card.

The women said that some shoppers initially expressed concern about what the recipients of recycled cards would think. Purchasers, however, found that those receiving the recycled cards appreciated the time and care put into the revamping of the cards giving them an almost handmade appeal. Card recycling also makes "good cents."

If working on the cards doesn't keep her busy enough, Lois Larson is the only Thief River Falls senior who at this time continues to make the "trauma bears" which are given to area children by hospital, highway patrol, sheriff's department personnel and firemen in the event of fire, accident or other traumatic experience.

In the past four years, Lois has produced over 125 of the bears which are taken to the Retired Seniors Volunteer Program (RSVP) office in Crookston and then returned to the community to be distributed locally.

Lois always welcomes fabric pieces, especially small prints and plaids, as well as bits of trim. Many of the small pieces of fabric and trim most would consider too small for any practical use can be used to decorate Lois' special bears.

Anyone who comes across old greeting cards or fabric and notions while cleaning this fall can put their castoffs in a bag and drop them off at the Heritage Community Center where they will be greatly appreciated.

Lois Larson and Marietta Jorgensen have been life long friends from the time they attended school together in Plummer. As they later got busy with their families, they drifted apart only to be brought back together again in 1967 in the hospital when the friends gave birth to their youngest children, both girls, within five hours of each other.

They truly enjoy their card recycling project. Besides being worthwhile, it breaks up their days, and both Lois and Marietta wholeheartedly agree that busy hands create happy hearts.

In front of the card rack in the reception area of the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls, Lois Larson (right) and Marietta Jorgensen hold two of the cards they recycle and donate to be sold at the center. Using a variety of tools and materials the women refashion old greeting cards into "new" ones.

Lois Larson is pictured with the "Trauma Bears" she creates. Presently, Lois is the only Thief River Falls senior participating in the program. The finished bears are taken to the RSVP office in Crookston. They are returned to the community and distributed to children who have experienced some type of traumatic experience by hospital staff, law enforcement officers and firemen. In the past four years, Lois has made over 125 bears.

School children invited to name penguin mascot

School children throughout Minnesota are being invited to help name a penguin mascot for the state's emergency fuel assistance fund for low and moderate income citizens.

Entries must be postmarked by September 26 and sent to Reach Out For Warmth, 390 Robert Street, St. Paul, MN 55101. Those voting will be eligible for a $400 and a $100 savings bond.

Reach Out For Warmth is the title given to the fuel assistance fund established by the state legislature and administered by the state Energy Assistance Agency. Money is distributed at the local community level by agency personnel who gain firsthand knowledge of the needs.

The program combines public funds and private donations. All donations to the fund are used in the local community or region where the donation is made.

Once it has been named, the penguin will make appearances throughout the state to increase awareness of the emergency fund and encourage individual contributions to the fund. A goal of more than $1 million has been set for this winter to meet the emergency heating and electric needs of Minnesota families. Average grants are less than $300.

"This is really neighbors helping neighbors," says Alice Murphy of the Minnesota Department of Children, Families and Learning. "The local control, flexibility and quick response of Reach Out For Warmth make it an essential tool for keeping the heat on for thousands of Minnesotans from senior citizens to families with young children."

Leslie Ammerman and Carter Rogalla wed Aug. 9

White pew bows and candleabras adorned with ivy and white bows decorated Redeemer Lutheran Church as Leslie Ammerman and Carter Rogalla exchanged vows on Saturday, August 9.

Parents of the couple are Rocky and Barb Ammerman, Deb Rogalla and Jim and Becky Rogalla, all of Thief River Falls.

Pastor Erling Huglen of Roseau officiated at the 5 p.m. ceremony.

Vocal music was provided by Doug Ammerman, uncle of the bride, David and Jennifer Pelowski, cousins of the bride and Vanessa Anderson, friend of the couple. Selections included "Longer," "Endless Love," "Parent's Prayer," "I Will Be There," "Lord's Prayer" and a special song written for the couple by Vanessa Anderson.

The bride's friend Rhoda Huglen was the organist. The processional included "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Threads of Love," "Canon in D" and "Bridal March." The recessional was "Trumpet Voluntary."

The bride wore a white crepe A-line gown with lace bodice adorned by sequins and pearls. Her hair was arranged around the simple crown which held her waist-length veil. She carried a bouquet of star-gazer lilies, white roses accented by greenery and baby's breath.

Dionne Ammerman of Thief River Falls attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were friends of the couple, Kristen Boughton, Kara Lemoine, Angie Tete, Kristi Lindberg and Amy Enge, all of Thief River Falls.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore floor-length A-line gowns of hunter green crepe featuring small sleeves and satin buttons down the backs of the gowns. They carried bouquets of tiger-gaze lilies with hot pink and white roses and miniature carnations.

The junior bridesmaid was the groom's half-sister Shawna Rogalla. Her gown was like those of the bride's attendants, and she carried a smaller version of the bridesmaids' bouquets.

The bride's personal attendants were her friends, Lynn Oerter and Jenny Bakke.

The groom was attired in a black tuxedo with tails with a white vest and bow tie. His boutonniere was a white rose.

Ryan Rogalla, brother of the groom, of Thief River Falls was the bestman.

Groomsmen were Todd Wenstoff and Kevin Lund, friends of the groom, of Roseau, Nathan Knutson, friend of the groom, of Thief River Falls, and the couple's friends, Jason Svir and Rick Ostby of Thief River Falls.

The groom's attendants wore black tuxedos with hunter green paisley vests and bow ties. Their boutonnieres were white roses with pink tips.

Junior groomsman Ben Ammerman, cousin of the bride, of Moorhead was attired like the bestman and groomsmen. His boutonniere was a pink rose.

The corsages of the couples mothers were four hot pink roses and the fathers' boutonnieres were two hot pink roses.

Honored guests included Rod and Doris Nordquist and LaVonne Ammerman, grandparents of the bride and Kermit and Lois Kemnitz, grandparents of the groom.

Hosts and hostesses at the reception were Brian and Sharon Pelowski, uncle and aunt of the bride and the groom's uncles and aunts, Norm and Jodi Halsa and Earl and Jane Rogalla.

The guest book was attended by Dawn Pelowski, cousin of the bride, and Jason Mayer, friend of the couple.

The wedding cake, baked and decorated by the bride's great-aunt Una Roseen of Minneapolis, was cut by the bride's aunt Rhonda Biermaier and the groom's aunt Kari Kemnitz.

Coffee was served by Bev Thompson, aunt of the bride, and Yvonne Rogalla, aunt of the groom. The bride's cousins Ruth and Kate Ammerman served the punch.

Flower hostesses were Sue Bendickson and Kathy Olson, friends of the bride and Terri Kemnitz, aunt of the groom.

The bride's cousins Sean and Derek Biermaier and Jonathon Ammerman and George and Rhonda Biermaier and Dave Thompson, uncles and aunts of the bride, attended the gift table.

Waitresses were Erika Altepeter, Danielle Goulet, Tiffany Brouse, Pauline Cullen and Katie Kraemer, all friends of the bride, and Kayla Miller, cousin of the bride.

Following a Caribbean cruise, Carter and Leslie Rogalla are at home in Grand Forks, ND.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

Here she comes...

I came to a realization this past weekend. I would make a pathetic Miss America. Not that this comes as any kind of shock or disappointment to me, but if I were still in my 20s, or even now, I wouldn't be in contention for any kind of crown.

I'm not experiencing a low self esteem day or selling myself short, but being a "Miss Something" is not in my genes or past or future.

The first indication is pure measurements: 5 feet 2 inches tall and a consistent 36-36-36. This wouldn't bode well for me in the swimsuit portion of the pageant. I'm still studying the magazine articles showing the "right" suit for different body shapes. My dimensions don't fit any of the examples. Maybe they're trying to tell me something like: Wear a gunnysack.

I definitely wouldn't be on stage in front of thousands of people strutting confidently around in a two-piece swimming suit (some of my skin has never seen the sun) or even a one-piece. And in high heels? Are you nuts? They don't manufacture sleek sandals in double wide and my toenails don't know what polish is. Not to mention that I'm a clod in anything other than Nike Air walking shoes.

After concluding that the swimming suit competition might not be my strong point, I would then be faced with choosing a talent act. I wasn't selected for choir in high school so there's not a singing selection I could perform. That would only be in the instance if officials wanted to clean the auditorium in a big hurry.

I played the drums as a band instrument, but I believe a snare drum solo would be inappropriate for a Miss America pageant. A piano rendition would be out of the question since I was still taking beginner lessons as a high school senior. I'm not rhythmically-inclined for a tap, ballet or gymnastics dance selection. I'm not theatrical enough for a dramatic reading or even a puppet show. Let's just say that my talents are not easily exhibited on stage.

Moving along to the evening wear competition, I'm becoming more certain that a pageant was never my calling. I've worn a long dress (a.k.a. evening wear) maybe five times in my life and one of them was not my wedding or a prom. I certainly couldn't wear an evening gown with high heels and appear graceful at the same time. In addition, I'd have to wear makeup, jewelry, a permanent smile and a perfect hairdo. That would definitely be out of character for me.

But because I read that pageant officials were stressing that contestants should "be themselves" maybe they'll make some concessions for me. I know I could earn some points on stumping for a "platform." There are many projects, programs and ideas that I believe strongly in. And the personal interview wouldn't pose a problem, I love to talk.

Here's what I propose (without point deductions, of course): I get to wear a one-piece swimming suit of my choice with a pair of shorts and I'll even do an extra special job of shaving my legs. A pair of tennis shoes or flip flop sandals would go well here.

For talent, I could show the audience how I could write a column in under an hour. How I can beat the computer at a Scrabble game. Or try washing a sink full of dishes in less than 5 minutes.

Then in the "evening gown" portion I could wear this pretty blue flowered day/evening dress (it's really very flattering) with a pair of flats. I might even splurge and buy a new pair.

Of course, I'd have to practice my presentation and style. Smile a little more. Buff and bleach my teeth. Walk with my head high and back straight. Stride elegantly. All of which sounds like entirely too much work. I'll leave the pageants for someone else.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

. . . Grandmother-in-Waiting

Awaiting the birth of a grandchild is not an easy thing to do. In fact, I would say it is much harder waiting for my third grandchild to be born than it was to wait for my own children to be born. At least when I was having the baby I knew what was going on and how I was feeling.

My first grandchild was born nearly 12 years ago and I had no time to worry or anticipate. I got the call from my son that my daughter-in-law was going to the hospital and, of course, he and I figured it would be several hours before anything happened. I was taking evening college classes at the time, so I thought I would have plenty of time to get through my four hour English class before the baby was born or even considered being born.

Well, the best laid plans often go astray. As I was sitting in front of the class having my paper critiqued by my teacher, an aide came to the door and guess what? I had a phone call. I ran down the hill to the phone. Yes, I had a grandson! I must have been a bit shell shocked after hearing the news, because all I can remember of the rest of the evening is that the entire class stood up and clapped when I said I was a grandmother. Memorable, yes, but I missed having that time to worry a little and anticipate the birth.

At the birth of my second grandchild nearly six years ago, I had more than enough time to worry and anticipate. My granddaughter was born in Sioux Falls, SD. At that time, my son was driving back and forth from there to his job in Grafton, ND, planning to move the family to North Dakota after the birth of the baby. Early Monday morning, I got a call from my son - after having just come from Sioux Falls, he was heading back - my daughter-in-law was in labor.

I waited all day, worrying and anticipating news of the birth - nothing. I tried my best not to bother them by calling the hospital in Sioux Falls, but I finally relented and called at my lunch hour. Then I called again after work and every hour after that. I got a busy signal every time. Could the hospital lines be busy all the time? By 7 p.m. I was frantic. I called the telephone company to see what was wrong, and learned the lines were out from here to Sioux Falls. What? The only time I have ever heard of telephone lines being out for that length of time and it has to be when I am having a grandchild! The lady said they should be fixed soon. Thanks!

I kept calling the hospital. After I went to bed I woke every hour and tried to call the hospital. At 3 a.m. the telephone rang on the other end and I had finally reached the hospital. I told the nurse who I was and said I didn't want to be a bother but the phone lines had been out and could I please find out if my daughter-in-law had her baby. "Yes, she did," she said. "She's up with the baby right now - would you like to talk to her?" Needless to say, my answer was a squeaky, relieved affirmative!

The first thing my daughter-in-law said was, "I had a baby!" The first thing I said was, "I know - what kind?" I had a granddaughter - I knew it would be a little girl! The only problem with finding out about the baby at 3 a.m. is that I couldn't call anyone to share the news. I woke everyone I knew very early the next morning, though.

Now, back to my third grandchild - first of all, I am making a pest of myself by calling my daughter all of the time. I'm sure my phone bill will be atrocious this month and I'm sure my son-in-law is sick and tired of hearing my little voice on the end of the line. Also, my daughter is sick and tired of hearing me ask, "How are you feeling today?".

Actually, I'm a little tired of hearing how she is today, too, because every time I talk to her she seems to be having another pre-birth symptom that makes me think she will surely be going into labor any minute. Then I worry and worry and find it necessary to call her back again to see if the symptoms have subsided or accelerated.

Speaking of telephone calls, I am getting very attached to those objects now. I hardly dare be away from one because I'm afraid I will miss THE CALL - the one when they tell me they are leaving for or at the hospital. Then, too, I'm trying very hard not to worry about the condition of the telephone lines these days.

Old Mill State Park Friends met Aug. 24

Park Manager

Friends of Old Mill State Park hosted the Northwest Minnesota Parks Association for lunch and a short meeting at Old Mill State Park on Sunday, August 24, in the picnic shelter. The Pan O'Gold Baking Company of Thief River Falls donated whole wheat buns to the Friends of Old Mill for the lunch in honor of the historic grinding mill at the park.

Mavis Mattson brought cake, Harriet Hodne brought barbecues and fruit salad. Darline Broten brought fresh vegetables and pickles. Ethel Thunlaeus brought salad and Gladwin Lynne brought baked beans. The meeting was attended by 56 people from the Park Association and Friends Group of Lake Bronson, Lake Bemidji, Maplewood, Zippel Bay, Hayes Lake, Itasca State Parks, and Buffalo River. Lunch was also attended by the Northwest Familiarization Tour sponsored by Minnesota Tourism of National Travel Writers.

At the meeting, guest speakers Bill Morrissey, Minnesota Department of Natural Resource director of Minnesota State Parks, and John Winter, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Region 1 Parks Manager, thanked the members attending and stressed the important role of citizen participation at the local and state level in the future of Minnesota's State Parks. Morrissey shared the information from several studies that show visitors to Minnesota State Parks spend money in the local area and that benefits the economy of that area.

The State's Parks are enjoyed by many people from all over the nation, and the world. Age, wear and tear are starting to show in many of the parks facilities, buildings, trails and natural and cultural resources. Supporting a local park is important to ensure the future of parks. Active participation in Friend's Groups, Park Associations and in the Minnesota Parks and Trails Council is one way to ensure that future.

Members from the various associations shared information on activities and success of each group. After the meeting, members were invited to experience Grinding Day at the historic Larson Mill in Old Mill State Park and enjoy cake donated by SuperValu Bakery of Thief River Falls and the Friends of Old Mill in honor of the fact that the mill has been on this site for 100 years. The cake was decorated with a likeness of the historic mill building complete with the steam whistle.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Jump Over the Leaves

On the floor tape real or paper leaves to create a path. Space the leaves close enough together for toddlers to jump over them one at a time. As the toddlers jump over the leaves, you may need to hold their hands to lend assistance.

As you sing or recite the following rhyme, have the children hold up their hands with fingers spread wide apart to represent fall leaves.

Dancing, Swirling

(Tune: Gray Squirrel, Gray Squirrel)
Dancing, swirling
See the pretty leaves
(Hold hands high and dance)
Dancing, swirling
In the cool fall breeze
(Continue dancing)
Blowing up and blowing down
(Move hands up and down)
See them blowing all around
Dancing, swirling
See the pretty leaves.
(Hold hands high and dance)

Quality Time With Children

We often hear about "quality time" in reference to parents and young children. Just exactly what is quality time and why is it necessary? Basically it is a warm and intimate way of relating to your child. It involves listening carefully to what your child is saying and following his or her interests. You can do this by observing your child's behavior and determining the child's mood. Then allow the child to set the tone, direct the action and create his or her own dramas. By taking time to focus on your child in this way for a few minutes several times throughout the day you will give him/her the message that you respect his or her needs and thoughts and at the same time foster your child's healthy emotional development and build self-esteem. This, then, is "quality time."

Quality time can happen throughout the day while you are carrying out your regular daily routines such as mealtime, bedtime, bath time, and at specially created times. For example:

Bath time: If it is not hurried, bath time provides an ideal time for quality time. Relax and enjoy the play opportunities that your child initiates. Bath toys provide many interesting opportunities for conversation.

Bedtime: Bedtime is often accompanied by a good-night ritual, but is also a time to feel close and loving. This can be a time for sharing important thoughts and feelings.

Mealtime: Not all mealtimes can be relaxed, but try to choose one meal during the day when you will have enough time for interaction with your children.

Story time: Reading a book to a child is a natural time for close contact and shared meanings. As you read, be aware of responses and questions that you can extend.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Quality time is enhanced when you take the time to listen carefully to your child, not just to the words, but to the feelings and ideas that are behind the words. Then help your child expand on those thoughts and feelings.

To Our Customers and Other Friends:

After many years of business in Thief River Falls, I have made the final decision to relocate to the Parham area and concentrate my business efforts on the Lakes Hearth and Home Center. This move will also permit me to be closer to family.

Having been a member of the Thief River Falls community for 24 years, this decision was made after much soul-searching and deliberation. It is never easy to sever the many ties of friendship and association that bind one to a community, and that is perhaps more true than ever in the case of Thief River Falls.

I started Cathy Belmont Interiors in 1985 and have been proud to be a member of the Thief River Falls business community. Thanks to the support of residents of Thief River Falls and the surrounding area, the business increased each year. This response is one reason that makes my decision particularly difficult. Your kind words and compliments as satisfied customers will be long remembered and appreciated.

I also appreciate the friendship and dedicated efforts of my employees whose creativity and strong work ethic enabled us to serve and meet the needs of our customers. My sincerest thanks to you.

Beginning Tuesday, September 16 -Thursday, September 18, we will be offering discount prices on many of our products. Change of ownership will be announced at a later date.

Sincerely,

Cathy Belmont

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: Is military service covered for Social Security purposes?

A: Yes. Wages from military service are covered just as most employment for Social Security. If you have served in the military on active duty or on inactive duty for training since 1957, you have paid into Social Security. Inactive duty service in the Armed Forces and National Guard weekend drills has been covered by Social Security since 1988.

Q: How important is it to notify Social Security if I change my name? I do not receive monthly benefits but am employed.

A: Make sure that your Social Security record shows your correct name. This is especially important if you are employed because your employer reports your earnings under the name you supply. Whenever you change the name you use in employment, whether because of marriage, divorce or other reasons, be sure to report the change to Social Security. Otherwise, your earnings may not be properly recorded and you may not receive all the Social Security credit due you for your work.

Even if you don't work, you should report any name change so that your record will show the correct name when you apply for benefits.

There is no charge to correct name and it can be done by mail or in person.

To report a name change, fill out an Application for A Social Security Number Card (Form SS-5). You will have to show proof of identity under both your old name and your new name (no photocopies); your documents will be returned. If you were born outside the United States you also may need to show evidence of U.S. citizenship or lawful alien status. You can get the form from any Social Security office or by calling Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, anytime.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Jenna Tsukichi

Recently I read Kate Chopin's short story "The Story of an Hour" and I was struck by a comment she makes regarding the main character.

"There would be no powerful will bending her in that blind persistence with which men and women believe they have a right to impose a private will upon a fellow-creature."

I started to think about how many kinds of "changes" actually go on in relationships. Just as Chopin says, there are those who try to control and "change" the person they are in a relationship with, but there are several other kinds of changes we go through as well.

For example, I've seen boys and girls try to change themselves because of someone they're going out with. Sometimes they change their whole attitude about the way they look at things just because their boyfriend believes things to be a certain way. I have met girls who used to be so nice. They always believed in doing things for themselves. After going out with a boy, they would sometimes change so much I didn't even recognize them after the summer.

Why change who you are because of some probably short term relationship? The reason a person asks someone out in the first place is because they like who they are. I've witnessed the downfall of many high school relationships because some people try to change too much. Often they never get back to the way they were in the first place, and they find out too late that they don't like who they have become.

Sometimes when my friends and I will be talking to someone, say, "Sue," and "Sue's" boyfriend comes waltzing up to us, she turns away from our conversation and starts talking to her boyfriend immediately, or else she may just leave with him. Most of the time, when he's around she acts like we don't exist. It feels really awkward when we're standing there, watching two people making mushy faces or cooing to each other. The ironic thing is that some of these people who change themselves like "Sue" used to say that they couldn't stand it when other people changed themselves for someone else.

I've also heard some people change their voices to something they think their present "fling" will think is cute. It's not cute. Maybe if one is talking to a baby, but we are supposed to be young adults, not sounding like we're talking toddlers. We are supposed to be getting ready to break out on our own, not making goo-goo eyes like we did in grade school.

I'm not saying that all relationships are bad in high school. I'm just saying that constantly changing oneself to fit a relationship is not the way to go. It makes life harder than it really needs to be, and sometimes life is hard enough as it is.

God (with our parents), made us who we are. We have them to thank for the way we have become. We are called individuals for a reason. Part of learning to grow is learning to grow as an individual. We go to college as individuals, we make decisions for ourselves as individuals, and we live as individuals. Letting someone else change us or changing someone else is like giving up our life.

Under the program, Kelly and her group will travel to a castle in Dalkeith, Scotland, to study for a semester. Students with a B average or higher could apply for the program by writing an essay and getting letters of reference.

In addition to classes, which include study of British history taught by a professor from the University of Edinburgh, the group will have a two-week break in October during which Kelly plans to travel by train to Germany, Austria, Italy and France. She will return home just before Christmas.

During the past summer she was also awarded a four-year academic scholarship from West Publishing which will cover half of her college expenses for room board and tuition for four years.

Small Independent Telephone Company Week Sept. 14-20

For the sixth time since its establishment in 1992, National Small Independent Telephone Company Week is being observed this week, September 14-20. Sponsoring group is the Organization for the Promotion and Advancement of Small Telecommunications Companies (OPASTCO).

Some small telephone companies have as few as 100 access lines while others may have as many as 50,000, according to information provided by Wikstrom Telephone Company at Karlstad.

These small companies are independently operated and many were founded simply to provide telephone service to areas not serviced by the Bell companies. Many such companies today continue to be owned by families and handed down from generation to generation, or converted to cooperatives, owned by the customers.

More than 1,000 small telephone companies provide rural Americans with the most reliable and affordable telephone system in the world, utilizing the latest technology and equipment.

The companies offer internet and data services, cellular, personal communications services, mobile radio and paging, messaging, cable television, direct broadcast satellite and video-conferencing services, business equipment and special features, long distance resale and technology and advanced switching.

Plan Senior Forum at Valley Home Sept. 22

In co-sponsorship with the Thief River Falls United Way, Valley Home in Thief River Falls will present a Senior Forum of primary interest to people 55 years of age and older on Monday, September 22, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Theme of the forum is "Choices and Changes" and the program will deal with alternatives in health care for senior citizens. Time will be permitted for a question and answer session and a social time is scheduled from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Speakers at the information program from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. will be Darlene Weber of Moorhead, the ombudsman for this region of the state for the Minnesota Board on Aging, and Elaine Anderson, RN, administrator at Valley Home.

Public attendance at the forum is encouraged. Those attending will receive a copy of the Senior Health Journal which contains a form for maintaining a personal health record. While supplies last, a book marker which contains a magnifying glass will be distributed and drawings will also be held for door prizes.

"When we invite people 55 and older to attend, many may consider these to be the senior citizens we are talking about," Elaine Anderson said. "But oftentimes it is people in their late fifties and older who are dealing with the care and perhaps the placement of their parents.

"There have been many changes in the senior care field," she added. "We are finding more and more cases of people getting into custodial care of some type or another for a period of time and then returning to their homes or apartments or to a place where care is commensurate to their needs."

As a state ombudsman with the Northwest Minnesota office, Weber works with consumers, concerned citizens, nursing homes, hospitals, home care agencies and public agencies to enhance the quality of care and quality of life of older individuals receiving health care or supportive services.

"This includes people at home, in the hospital, nursing home or other community setting such as assisted living, homes plus, board and lodging and adult day care," she said.

In general, the ombudsman:

- Investigates concerns from consumers or others on their behalf relating to their rights, services and benefits.
- Mediates disputes between consumers and service providers and public agencies.
- Advocates for consumers when their rights have been violated or they are not receiving the proper care or assistance.
- Provides information and educational programs to consumers, families, volunteers, staff and concerned citizens about consumers rights, laws and regulations of health care or home care services, services to consumers and current issues.
- Advocates for reforms in the health care and the social services system to better meet consumer needs, and
- Promotes self advocacy by informing and assisting consumers and their families on methods to resolve concerns.

Weber is in Thief River Falls frequently and can be contacted by writing to Darlene Weber, P. O. Box 157, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. She may also be contacted by phone at her Moorhead office toll-free at 1-800-657-3591.

This is School Bus Safety Week in state

Safe pupil transportation is an important lesson for everyone to learn, according to State Patrol Major Dennis Lazenberry and Lt. Gov. Joanne Benson, who spoke at a kickoff for Minnesota School Bus Safety Week (September 14-20) at the State Capitol in St. Paul Monday, September 15.

"A school bus crash is devastating to motorists and parents," Lt. Gov. Benson said, "but more children are killed after exiting the school bus than in school bus crashes. Remember this when you are driving near a school or where children could be walking."

"Kids can do unpredictable things," added Major Lazenberry, who is director of school bus safety for the state of Minnesota. "Drivers need to be extremely cautious at times when children are enroute to and from school."

Minnesotans need to obey the school bus stop arm and school safety patrol laws just as they would stop signs or traffic lights, Benson and Lazenberry added. Citizens' compliance with the following laws will lead to improved school bus safety:

- When a school bus has flashing red lights and/or an extended stop arm, oncoming vehicles and motorists approaching the bus from the rear must stop.
- It is illegal to pass on the right when pre-warning lights flash. Violation of this is a misdemeanor with a minimum fine of $300. Violators may be arrested within four hours of the offense.
- It is illegal to drive through a column of school children when the crossing guard or school safety patrol is present. Violators may be arrested within four hours of this incident.

School Bus Safety Week has been proclaimed by Governor Arne Carlson as a reminder for motorists to be cautious when driving in school zones or near school buses.

Napoleon Day honors Delmar Hagen history

Marshall County Historical Society will host a Napoleon Day Sunday, September 28, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the museum at Settler's Square on the Marshall county fairgrounds in Warren.

The observance is in memory of the late Delmar Hagen of Gatzke and his 1958 trip by oxcart from Pembina, ND, along the Pembina Trail to the state fairgrounds in St. Paul. "Napoleon" was the name of Hagen's Shorthorn ox.

A brief program will be held at 3 p.m. On display with the cart used by Hagen on his historic journey will be a life size papier mache ox constructed by the Melvin Mattson family of rural Newfolden.

The public is invited to attend the event and refreshments will be served by the Marshall County Historical Society. Persons with questions may contact LaVonne P. Schmitz at 449-3001 in Newfolden or Ethel Thorlacius, director of the museum, at 745-4803 in Warren.

Northland will host annual College Fair

Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls will host its annual College Fair—a post high school planning program for students—from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Thursday, September 25.

Admission to the event is free and high school students should contact their high school counselors for further specific information.

The program is intended to give students and their parents an opportunity to explore a variety of options for continued education or military service after high school. Representatives from more than 60 educational institutions and other organizations will be available to answer questions and provide important information for post high school planning.

Structured like a trade show, the College Fair will have many displays where students and parents will be free to inspect materials and speak to representatives of the schools, colleges, universities and other organizations that interest them.

Northland has hosted the College Fair for a number of years and it continues to grow, according to Dan Howe, director of enrollment for NCTC and organizer of the event.

"Last year Northland greeted over 1,000 high school students from throughout northwest Minnesota," he said, "and those students were able to visit with representatives from more than 50 different post-secondary institutions. This year's commitments indicate an increase to about 60 colleges."

Sponsored by the Minnesota Association for College Admission Counseling (MACAC), the same group that hosts the successful National College Fair held in the Twin Cities each fall, this program offers an excellent chance for high school students to begin planning for life after graduation, Howe added.

A music store representative will be on hand to discuss the various instrument options that are available. Orchestra director Derek Druse will be giving a brief presentation, followed by a question and answer session.

Running behind blockers Levi Kraft (62), Chad Skeim (75) and Trevor Lee (35), Thief River Falls halfback Wade Chiodo looked for yards during Friday's high school football game against Crookston at Prowler Field. The Prowlers put together a fourth quarter rally that erased a 14-6 deficit and produced a 20-14 win over the Pirates.

Prowlers rally for two final-quarter touchdowns to beat Crookston...

TRF passing game nets 20-14 win

Don't look for Thief River Falls head high school football coach Jeff Mumm to abandon the Prowlers' traditional conservative ground game in favor of a wide-open passing attack based on Friday's late-game success in throwing ball against Crookston. However, don't be surprised if he does put the ball in the air more often, especially if quarterback Chris Mumm and his receivers can duplicate the efforts that produced the come-from-behind 20-14 victory at Prowler Field.

Trailing 14-6, the Prowlers stunned the Pirates with two touchdown passes in a four-minute span as time was winding down in the fourth quarter.

A three-yard Crookston punt into the wind allowed the Prowlers to set up the offense at their 35 yard line instead of back near the goal line with 7:2[illegible] remaining. A 16-yard fullback screen pass to Kyle Anderson went for 16 yards and two plays later a yard pass interference penalty gave Thief River Falls another 15 yards.

Chris Mumm then found Trevor Lee open over the middle with a quick pass that was turned into a 31-yard touchdown when Lee weaved his way through the secondary with 5:08 remaining. A Chris Mumm-to-Jeremy Swanson passing combination that produced the game-winning touchdown in a 27-20 overtime win at Detroit Lakes the week before, was inches off the mark on the two-point conversion attempt that would have tied it.

But four plays later the Pirates were punting again. This time a 24-yard kick put the Prowlers in business at the Crookston 49 with 2:51 on the clock.

Thief River Falls covered most of those yards in the air, including a 13 yard Chris Mumm throw to Paul Frank on the right side, then a 29-yard game-winning pass/run play to Wade Chiodo on the left side. After looking right, Chris Mumm tossed a screen pass on the other side, and Chiodo, much like Lee did earlier, used a combination of speed and moves to avoid tacklers in the secondary as the clock hit the one-minute mark.

Chris Mumm went back to Swanson on the conversion, this time connecting on a quick slant into the middle, for a 20-14 game.

"That was a nice win," said Jeff Mumm. "To win two close games in a row like that against good competition is a great boost for our program. It was exciting."

Chris Mumm was 0-for-3 passing in the first half, but 5-for-6 in the air for 92 yards in the second half.

"That was nice to see," acknowledged Jeff Mumm. "We're still going to run the football, but that (pass) is a nice option to have. We've been working on a few new things each week in practice, and it's getting better," he said about the Prowlers' expanded offensive arsenal.

Thief River Falls did finish with 220 yards on the ground, but unlike the long-range strikes against Sartell and Detroit Lakes, the yards were much tougher to come by against a strong, physical Crookston defense. After having two 100-yard runners in both the 21-20 loss to the Sabres and the win over the Lakers, the Prowlers' Game 3 ground game was led by Lee with 90 yards on 15 carries. Chiodo, after rushing for 100 yards in both earlier games, was keyed on heavily and limited to 66 yards on 17 carries.

"They (Pirates) have a good football team," pointed out Jeff Mumm. "They did a nice job up front against us. They're probably the biggest football team we've seen. We had a tough time moving them."

Thief River Falls scored the first points of the game after Chiodo put around the left end and did a tightrope walk down the sideline on a 37-yard run to the Crookston 14 near the midway mark of the second quarter. The 10-play, 67 yard drive ended with a 1-yard dive through the middle by Anderson.

Crookston came right back with a dominating line show that covered 56 yards in eight plays, leading to a 1-yard touchdown plunge by Andy Fee with 3:16 left in the first. The Prowlers missed on their conversion kick, but the Pirates' Jason Peralta made his attempt to put Crookston ahead 7-6 at intermission.

The visitors opened up a 14-6 lead after Todd Chandler scooped up a Thief River Falls fumble at the Crookston 27 and returned it to the Prowlers' 30. That defensive effort eventually led to a 3-yard touchdown by Fee with 6:08 to play.

A Thief River Falls team that had been struggling much like it did in the season-opening loss at home to Sartell instead of the top-notch showing at Detroit Lakes, finally came alive offensively, behind Chris Mumm, in the final quarter.

"Enthusiasm and emotion goes beyond anything you can coach," noted Jeff Mumm. "The kids finally got into it in the fourth quarter. I don't know if our coaching staff did an adequate job convincing the kids they (Pirates) were legit or what, but it took us a long time to get into the football game. I guess we should play all of our games on the road instead of at home."

Crookston, a 38-8 winner over Grafton in Week 1 and shut out by Virginia 18-0 in Week 2, was led by Todd Chandler, a 170-pound junior who had a game-high 110 yards on 18 carries.

Mustangs fall to Eagles 24-8

Red Lake County Central failed to convert scoring opportunities into points, and gave up two long-range touchdowns Friday in a 24-8 Nine-Man high school football loss at Norman County East.

It was the second loss in three starts for the Mustangs, who will be on the road again this week when they play a 3:30 p.m. Friday game against Ulen-Hitterdal.

After playing to scoreless first quarter tie, Norman County East and Red Lake County Central began the second quarter with field goal attempts. The Eagles' Ricky Kraft connected on a 14-yarder, but the Mustangs try from 17 yards out was blocked. Moments later John Gullingsrud and Mike Syverson hooked up on a 62-yard touchdown pass for the winners.

Second quarter momentum continued when a Norman County East interception set up a 1-yard Nathan Anderson touchdown run.

The swing from a possible 3-3 tie to a 17-0 halftime deficit was too much for the Mustangs to overcome. They also failed to come up with points on two second half drives inside the Eagles' 20 yard line. To complete matters, Gullingsrud and Syverson hooked up on another long touchdown play — a 45-yard pass/run for a 24-8 spread.

"We played a good first quarter," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "We played them even at the start. But after that blocked field goal we ran into trouble. That seemed to be a turning point right there.

The Mustangs were just a play or two away from staying with the Eagles," noted Brantl. "I think the game was closer than what the final score would indicate," he said. "I'd say for probably 80 percent of the game we played pretty well. But we're still making mistakes that we shouldn't be making this time of the year."

Red Lake County Central was limited to 91 rushing yards by the Norman County East defense. Brandon Tangen led the Mustangs with 31 yards on 12 carries. Matt Hruby netted 28 yards on four attempts.

Mark Lorenson was 9-for-15 passing for 153 yards, but the Red Lake County Central quarterback was intercepted three times. Tyler Nelson caught three passes for 58 yards.

Defensively, Hruby was in on 12 tackles, E.J. Johnson 10 and Kyle Jenson. Nelson, Hruby and Tangen were all in on nine tackles.

TRF heads to Virginia for Friday night game

A new foe awaits Thief River Falls Friday when the Prowlers head to Virginia for a 7 p.m. high school football game.

The Blue Devils are off to a 3-0 start this fall with wins over Eveleth-Gilbert 60-0, Crookston 18-0 and Hibbing 16-14.

Thief River Falls is 2-1 with a season-opening 21-20 loss to Sartell followed by wins over Detroit Lakes 27-20 in overtime and Crookston 20-14.

First Thief River Falls vs. Virginia match-up features two teams with strong, balanced running games.

The Prowlers spread the ball-running duties between Wade Chiodo, Kyle Anderson and Trevor Lee, with quarterback Chris Mumm adding the threat of a passing attack.

Against Crookston two weeks ago, Virginia's offense featured Tom Dehelia (14 carries, 118 yards), Aaron Bidle (15/87) and Jason Westby (12/85) while quarterback Ben Erickson went 6-for-15 in the air for 72 yards. The Blue Devils out-pointed the Pirates 380-162 in total yards.

Thief River Falls will be back at Prowler Field Friday, Sept. 26, to renew a long-time rivalry with Bemidji.

TRF volleyball team is 2-2 at UMC event

Thief River Falls went 2-2 at the University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational high school volleyball tournament, reaching the consolation finals of the 16-team Friday/Saturday event.

Eventual champion Cass Lake-Bena outlasted Thief River Falls 14-16, 15-11, 15-3 in the opening round. The Prowlers came back to beat East Grand Forks 9-15, 15-9, 15-3 and Bagley 15-5, 19-17 to reach the consolation finals, where Fertile-Beltrami prevailed 15-12, 16-14.

"We played well," said Thief River Falls co-head coach Amy Roche following the tournament showing that left the Prowlers 5-3 for the year. "I thought we played excellent defense."

Cass Lake-Bena defeated Lake of the Woods 15-8, 15-8 in the championship match.

RLCC finishes with a split in UMC matches

Red Lake County Central won a pair of matches Friday, but lost twice on a return trip Saturday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

Friday, the Mustangs swept Bagley 15-3, 15-9 and Kittson Central 15-7, 15-5.

Saturday Cass Lake-Bena ended a six-match season-opening Red Lake County Central winning streak 15-8, 15-5 in the semifinals and Fisher/Climax rallied to beat the Mustangs 9-15, 15-9, 15-6 in the third place match.

"Friday was a good day, Saturday wasn't so good," noted Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray.

Cass Lake-Bena went on to beat Lake of the Woods 15-8, 15-8 in the championship match.

"They (Cass Lake-Bena) are tough," noted Bray, whose hard-hitting team ran into a row of strong blockers in the semifinal encounter.

The Mustangs' Katie O'Neill had a string of nine consecutive service points in Game 1 against Fisher/Climax, but Red Lake County Central couldn't complete the task.

"We didn't play up to our potential all weekend," said Bray.

The Mustangs' Angie Chervestad was named to the all-tournament team.

Blue Devils beaten by Cougars, 20-14

Kittson County North, shut out in the first half, came up with a second half offense Friday afternoon to beat visiting Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 20-14 in Nine-Man high school football.

The loss was the second straight for the Blue Devils after a pair of season-opening wins. They will be at East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Saturday.

A 16-yard Jared Eidelbes pass to Josh Gallagher produced the only touchdown of the first half, but Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke didn't score again until Eidelbes went in from a yard out in the final two minutes.

Meanwhile, a long run and a poor punt snap set up a pair of Kittson County North touchdowns.

"With the wind, it was kind of a field position game," reported Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Hagen. "The kids played hard, but we could have played better."

Alex Anderson netted 174 yards on a busy 41-carry game for the Blue Devils, who finished 216 yards on the ground. Eidelbes was 3-for-8 passing for 55 yards.

Ben Hanson and Cavan Saurdiff were in on 15 and 13 tackles, respectively, to lead the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke defense.

Northland runningback Tauheed Johnson stepped around Fergus Falls defender Jerod Plente and tried to utilize the blocking by teammate Matt Lawrence (71) during Saturday's college football game played in Thief River Falls. Johnson gained 120 yards on 25 carries, but the Pioneers lost to the Spartans 34-9.

Pioneers suffer two losses

■ NCTC loses quarterback, game against Spartans

Northland Community and Technical College lost a quarterback and a football game Saturday in the Pioneers' 1997 home opener. Dan Wilson went down on the first series with an injury later diagnosed as a broken ankle, and without the returning sophomore starter from Brooten to run things, the offense floundered, leading to a 34-9 loss to Fergus Falls.

With Wilson gone, the Northland offense went nowhere fast. The Pioneers failed to cross the midfield stripe in the first half, went into intermission trailing 27-0.

"I apologized to the kids for what happened in the first half," said Northland coach Gene Klinke. "It kind of floored me when Dan went down, and it took me a few minutes to regroup. By then, we were down 21-0."

Matt Rivera, a freshman from McIntosh, inherited the Northland quarterback job after Wilson was injured.

"I've said all along that we've got a good football team," offered Klinke, "but that if we lose Dan Wilson, we're in a whole lot of hurt. I have to give Matt Rivera a pat on the back. He came in and gave it a great effort, but he's a flanker, not a quarterback."

The search for a permanent replacement for Wilson began as soon as the final horn sounded. "I still think we have a good football team, but it's going to be a long season if we don't find a quarterback," explained Klinke. "We've got someone like Terry Davis who is an outstanding wide receiver, but if we can't get the ball to him..."

While the Pioneers' offense stalled, the Spartans rolled behind the short passing game engineered by quarterback Jeff Grauer, a freshman from St. Paul Harding who was 16-for-30 in the air for 281 yards and three touchdowns. He took most of the second half off after his 27-yard scoring toss to Ernie Samuel provided Fergus Falls with a 34-0 cushion with 10:27 to play in the third quarter.

Northland knew what Fergus Falls was going to come with offensively, acknowledged Klinke, but still couldn't stop it. "We gave up the draw and the screens — the two things that have killed us every time we've played them," pointed out Klinke. "We know with our type of defense we'll give up a long pass or two. But we can't let them turn those short ones into big plays, and that's exactly what they did."

First Fergus Falls snap of the game went for 51 yards when Grauer and runningback Karl Kellen turned a short swing pass out of the backfield into a long gainer. Moments later the same combination produced a 25 yard touchdown on a middle screen.

A Northland fumble at the Pioneers' 18 set up an 11-yard Grauer touchdown pass to Nate Soens, who made an over-the-shoulder catch in the right corner of the end zone with 5:45 to play in the first quarter.

Fergus Falls recovered another Northland fumble at the Pioneers' 40 and scored from there as Kellen out-ran defenders into the end zone on a draw with 5:20 left in the first half.

A third Northland fumble was converted directly into a Fergus Falls touchdown as defensive back Chad Gunner picked up the loose ball at the Pioneers' 27 and carried it into the end zone for a 27-0 spread with just six seconds left in the half.

After Grauer punched out for the day, the Fergus Falls scoring came to a halt, and Northland made a face-saving second half showing that included a 34-yard touchdown run by Tauheed Johnson and field goals by 38 and 29 yards by Eddie Mondesir.

Long kick returns set up each Northland score. The kick-off after the final Fergus Falls touchdown was returned 25 yards by Arthur Hamilton to the Northland 46, and a second effort by Johnson, who popped out of a pile in the middle then bounced to the outside, made it 34-6 with 8:16 left in the third quarter.

A 33-yard punt return by Hamilton to the Fergus Falls 25 set up the first Mondesir field goal with 2:50 to play in the third quarter and a 35-yard punt return by Michael Meringer to the Spartans' 13 led to the second field goal 51 seconds into the final quarter.

Johnson, a sophomore from Chicago, finished with 120 yards on 25 carries.

"Tauheed is a great runner," said Klinke. "He's hard to bring down. He's compact, runs hard and has good moves."

Klinke was happy with the Pioneers finish. "I was proud of the way they played in the second half," he said. "It could have easily been 60-0 if they would have quit. But they came back and played hard. I think our team grew up in the second half."

Northland, 0-2, will meet Central Lakes Saturday in a 1:30 p.m. game at Brainerd. The Pioneers will be back at Prowler Field in Thief River Falls Sept. 27 to host Worthington for homecoming.

Nordics defeat Eagles 26-14

Bjorn Halvorson racked up impressive numbers Friday as Marshall County Central improved its record to 2-1 with a 26-14 high school football win over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart at Newfolden.

Halvorson, a 5-10, 170-pound sophomore, carried 33 times for 273 yards to lead the Nordics' effective ground game that also included a 22-carry, 114-yard night by 5-9, 200-pound senior Garett Magner. Halvorson (68, 46 yards) and Magner (12, 4 yards) both scored twice.

Marshall County Central started with a 12-0 lead, fell behind 14-12 at the half, then came back with a pair of second half touchdowns.

"It might not have been pretty, but we'll take any win we can get right now," said Marshall County Central coach Kent Warne, whose team matched last year's win total with the victory over the Eagles. "We did an okay job blocking, but we can do a little better."

Lucas Abrahamson, a 5-6, 150-pound senior linebacker, was in on 10 tackles to led the Marshall County Central defense.

The Nordics host Tri-County Friday in the 1997 Marshall County Central homecoming game.

NCTC volleyball team splits pair

Northland bounced back from a 3-0 Friday night loss at Vermilion to win a 3-1 Saturday afternoon match at Mesabi for a weekend Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division volleyball split.

Ranked No. 19 nationally in the preseason NJCAA polls, Vermilion swept Northland 15-5, 15-13, 15-13 in Ely.

The Pioneers out-scored Mesabi 15-13, 15-11, 9-15, 15-9 in Virginia.

"We were slow coming off the bus Friday," said Northland coach Shan Olson. "They (Vermilion) have a real good outside hitter, and we were slow getting over to cover."

Northland's play improved the next day, according to Olson. "Saturday was much better," she said. "We played better as a team. We did an excellent job executing our offense and playing defense. It was our best blocking effort of the year."

The Pioneers came up with 40 blocks against Mesabi, including four kill-blocks for points.

Northland is 3-2 overall, 2-1 in conference play, heading into a busy schedule that includes a triangular at Concordia College in Moorhead tonight (Wednesday), a Friday conference encounter with Hibbing in Thief River Falls and the Northland Pepsi Triangular Saturday.

In Moorhead, the Pioneers will join junior varsity teams from Concordia and Macalester in the 4:30 p.m. meet. The Hibbing match has a 6:30 p.m. starting time. The 12-noon Saturday triangular will include Northland, Rainy River and MSU-Bottineau.

Nuggets edge B/G-MR 26-20 with early TDs

Hawley scored the first two touchdowns of the game and held off Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 26-20 Friday in a Valley Plains Conference high school football match-up at Middle River.

Both teams were Class C sectional champions last fall when Hawley won Section 6C and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River won Section 8C. The Gators lost a 19-16 state quarterfinal decision to Cook County, while the Nuggets advanced to the Prep Bowl state finals before losing to Chatfield 12-7.

This year's expanded six-class Minnesota state football playoff format separates the two conference opponents, with Badger/Greenbush-Middle River in Class AA and Hawley in Class A.

Friday the Nuggets gained the upper hand early when Josh Tweten broke off a 73-yard touchdown run and quickly added a 3-yard scoring run to make it 14-0 just three minutes into the game. The Gators played them even the rest of the way, but weren't able to make up that early deficit while dropping to 1-1 for the year.

"It was the hardest-hitting football game I've ever seen," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Steve Willman. "Both teams were really knocking each other around. It was unbelievable. It was playoff atmosphere."

The Nuggets' start spelled the difference, according to Willman. "I guess we weren't quite ready to go at the start," he said, "but we won the rest of the game. They (Hawley) are as good as it gets up here, and we played right with them. For a young team, playing just our second game, I was really happy with our performance."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River battled back the rest of the night, pulling within 26-20 when David Truscinski and Bret Bentow connected on a 6-yard touchdown pass with 50 seconds remaining.

The Gators gained a final shot when they executed a successful on-side kick following the touchdown. They were at the Hawley 40 with 16 seconds left before an interception in the end zone ended their hopes.

Strong blocking caught the attention of Willman, who said, "Richard Wockenfuss is an outstanding blocker at fullback. He just levels people. Our guards, Nick Vacura and Brian Wilhelmi, were both outstanding. They were pulling out and knocking people down."

The Gators visit Fosston Friday.

College notes...

Thief River Falls freshman Kate Ihle is a member of the 1997 women's cross country team at Carleton College in Northfield.

The Carls compete at the Division III level, where they have qualified for the NCAA championships two out of the past four years. They have also finished in the top three at the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (MIAC) championship since 1982.

Thief River Falls wins 30-8 freshman game

Thief River Falls shut out Grand Forks Red River for three quarters Thursday en route to a 30-8 freshman high school football win at Prowler Field.

Paul Leister scored on runs of 45 and 5 yards for the winners, who led 14-0 at the end of one quarter and were up 22-0 at halftime.

Brian Loe opened the Thief River Falls scoring on a 55-yard run and Ben Myers scored the final touchdown on a 15-yard run.

Leister also had a two-point conversion run, while two other successful conversions featured passes – Justin Skjerven to Loe and John Marben to Nate Sorvig.

Thief River Falls freshmen are 3-0.

Chased out of the pocket by Fergus Falls' Thomas Drechsel, Northland quarterback Eric Reinbold avoided the sack, but threw an incomplete pass on this second quarter play in Saturday's Minnesota Community College Conference football game in Thief River Falls. The Spartans beat the Pioneers 34-9.

Waterfowl season, limits are finalized

Minnesota's duck and goose hunting regulations have been finalized for the 1997 season, according to Department of Natural Resources officials. The seasons will be the same as previously announced in August.

The duck season will open Oct. 4 – the traditional Saturday nearest Oct. 1 – but the season length has increased to 60 days and the daily bag limit has increased to six ducks, according to Tim Bremicker, chief of the DNR Section of Wildlife.

Goose seasons are similar to last year, except the season in the West Central Goose Zone will no longer be split, the daily bag limit on snow, blue and Ross' geese has been increased, and geese now may be transported with just a fully feathered wing, instead of a wing and head. In addition, the 4 p.m. closure will be in effect for just the first eight days of the season.

The duck season for young hunters will open this year with a Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day on Saturday, Sept. 20. Hunters 15 years of age and younger can hunt ducks, mergansers, coots and moorhens when accompanied by an adult 18 years of age or older. The bag limit will be the same as during the regular season. Shooting hours will be sunrise to 4 p.m. Geese may not be taken. There are no license or stamp requirements for either the youth or adult, but those 13-15 years of age must have a firearms safety certificate. The accompanying adult may not hunt waterfowl on this day.

Regular season for ducks, geese and coots will open at noon Saturday, Oct. 4, except for geese in the West Central and Lac qui Parle zones, which will open the following Saturday, Oct. 11.

Except for opening day, when shooting hours are from noon to 4 p.m., shooting hours for all waterfowl will be from one-half hour before sunrise to 4 p.m. daily through Oct. 11, and from one-half before sunrise to sunset beginning Oct. 12, through the close of the season.

Daily bag limit of six ducks may include no more than four mallards (only two of which may be female), three pintails, two wood ducks, two redheads, one black duck, and one canvasback. Possession limits are double the daily bag limits.

"Duck numbers and waterfowl breeding habitat conditions are excellent this year," Bremicker said. "The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is predicting an increase in the continental fall flight to 92 million ducks. This will be another good year for duck hunters. Minnesota's duck harvest of 825,000 last year compares favorably with harvest in the early 1970s, the last time we had duck numbers comparable to these. Of course, weather patterns and water availability in the Dakotas will have a great impact on duck migrations," noted Bremicker, "so hunters are going to have to work for birds."

Goose seasons remain the same in much of the state. Seasons are relatively restrictive in the western goose zones, including Lac qui Parle, West Central, West and Northwest, where seasons are set based upon status of the migrant Eastern Prairie Population of Canada geese. In the remainder of the state, season length will be 70 days to take advantage of increasing populations of giant Canada geese that nest in Minnesota.

In the West and Northwest Goose zones, the season will be 40 days from Oct. 4 to Nov. 12. Daily bag limit will be one Canada goose in those zones. In the remainder of the state, the goose season will be Oct. 4-Dec. 12, with a daily bag limit of two Canada geese. Goose possession limits are double the daily bag limit.

Park permit features Bemidji

The 1998 Minnesota State Park permit featuring the northern bog landscape at Lake Bemidji State Park will go on sale beginning Sept. 20.

According to Kim Brady, supervisor of marketing and public relations for the Department of Natural Resources Parks and Recreation Division, the new permit, which will be available at all state parks, is valid from the date of purchase through the end of 1998, giving the early bird buyer an extra few months of use.

The annual sticker, which costs $20, permits an unlimited number of visits to all state parks. For people with more than one car, second permits are available for $15 each. Special permits for Minnesota residents with disabilities are available for $12 each.

Lake Bemidji State Park will celebrate its 75th anniversary in 1998. The bog landscape showcased on the permit depicts the park's famous Spruce [illegible] Boardwalk [illegible] bog [illegible] includes [illegible] and pitcher plants [illegible] the wide variety of bog inhabitants. Area charitable gambling groups to meet Sept. 25

Allied Charities of Minnesota (ACM), the statewide association of charitable gambling groups, will host an informational meeting for all charitable gambling organizations in the region Thursday, September 25, at 7 p.m. at the American Legion Post No. 20 club rooms at 102 South Ash, Crookston.

King Wilson, executive director of ACM, will be the featured speaker. Duane Lundeen, Region 1 ACM director from Roseau, will convene the meeting.

"All organizations and individuals involved in charitable gambling in the northwest Minnesota area should attend this important meeting to get the most up-to-date information on state and federal changes in charitable gambling and how it is going to affect their organizations in the future," stated Duane Thompson, president of ACM.

Topics for discussion include a 1997 legislative wrap up, update of Gambling Control Board rules and new laws, UBIT tax update, 1998 legislative platform, the Seventh Annual ACM convention and expo program, ACM on the Internet, gambling and the stadium, model employee handbook and a general question and answer session.

The meeting is open to anyone involved or interested in charitable gambling. For more information, call Duane Lundeen at 218-463-2260.

Nuggets edge B/G-MR 26-20 with early TDs

Hawley scored the first two touchdowns of the game and held off Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 26-20 Friday in a Valley Plains Conference high school football match-up at Middle River.

Both teams were Class C sectional champions last fall when Hawley won Section 6C and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River won Section 8C. The Gators lost a 19-16 state quarterfinal decision to Cook County, while the Nuggets advanced to the Prep Bowl state finals before losing to Chatfield 12-7.

This year's expanded six-class Minnesota state football playoff format separates the two conference opponents, with Badger/Greenbush-Middle River in Class AA and Hawley in Class A.

Friday, the Nuggets gained the upper hand early when Josh Tweten broke off a 73-yard touchdown run and quickly added a 3-yard scoring run to make it 14-0 just three minutes into the game. The Gators played them even the rest of the way, but weren't able to make up that early deficit while dropping to 1-1 for the year.

"It was the hardest-hitting football game I've ever seen," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Steve Willman. "Both teams were really knocking each other around. It was unbelievable. It was playoff atmosphere."

The Nuggets' start spelled the difference, according to Willman. "I guess we weren't quite ready to go at the start," he said, "but we won the rest of the game. They (Hawley) are as good as it gets up here, and we played right with them. For a young team, playing just our second game, I was really happy with our performance."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River battled back the rest of the night, pulling within 26-20 when David Truscinski and Bret Bentow connected on a 6-yard touchdown pass with 50 seconds remaining.

The Gators gained a final shot when they executed a successful on-side kick following the touchdown. They were at the Hawley 40 with 16 seconds left before an interception in the end zone ended their hopes.

Strong blocking caught the attention of Willman, who said, "Richard Wockenfuss is an outstanding blocker at fullback. He just levels people. Our guards, Nick Vacura and Brian Wilhelmi, were both outstanding. They were pulling out and knocking people down."

The Gators visit Fosston Friday.

College notes...

Thief River Falls freshman Kate Ihle is a member of the 1997 women's cross country team at Carleton College in Northfield.

The Carls compete at the Division III level, where they have qualified for the NCAA championships two out of the past four years. They have also finished in the top three at the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (MIAC) championship since 1982.

Thief River Falls wins 30-8 freshman game

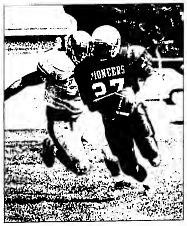
Thief River Falls shut out Grand Forks Red River for three quarters Thursday en route to a 30-8 freshman high school football win at Prowler Field.

Paul Leister scored on runs of 45 and 5 yards for the winners, who led 14-0 at the end of one quarter and were up 22-0 at halftime.

Brian Loe opened the Thief River Falls scoring on a 55-yard run and Ben Myers scored the final touchdown on a 15-yard run.

Leister also had a two-point conversion run, while two other successful conversions featured passes – Justin Skjerven to Loe and John Marben to Nate Sorvig.

Thief River Falls freshmen are 3-0.



Chased out of the pocket by Fargus Falls' Thomas Drachsel, Northland quarterback Eric Reinbold evolded the sack, but threw an incomplete pass on this second quarter play in Saturday's Minnesota Community College Conference football game in Thief River Falls. The Spartans beat the Pioneers 34-9.

Waterfowl season, limits are finalized

Minnesota's duck and goose hunting regulations have been finalized for the 1997 season, according to Department of Natural Resources officials. The seasons will be the same as previously announced in August.

The duck season will open Oct. 4 – the traditional Saturday nearest Oct. 1 – but the season length has increased to 60 days and the daily bag limit has increased to six ducks, according to Tim Bremicker, chief of the DNR Section of Wildlife.

Goose seasons are similar to last year, except the season in the West Central Goose Zone will no longer be split, the daily bag limit on snow, blue and Ross' geese has been increased, and geese now may be transported with just a fully feathered wing, instead of a wing and head. In addition, the 4 p.m. closure will be in effect for just the first eight days of the season.

The duck season for young hunters will open this year with a Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day on Saturday, Sept. 20. Hunters 15 years of age and younger can hunt ducks, mergansers, coots and moorhens when accompanied by an adult 18 years of age or older. The bag limit will be the same as during the regular season. Shooting hours will be sunrise to 4 p.m. Geese may not be taken. There are no license or stamp requirements for either the youth or adult, but those 13-15 years of age must have a firearms safety certificate. The accompanying adult may not hunt waterfowl on this day.

Regular season for ducks, geese and coots will open at noon Saturday, Oct. 4, except for geese in the West Central and Lac qui Parle zones, which will open the following Saturday, Oct. 11.

Except for opening day, when shooting hours are from noon to 4 p.m., shooting hours for all waterfowl will be from one-half hour before sunrise to 4 p.m. daily through Oct. 11, and from one-half before sunrise to sunset beginning Oct. 12, through the close of the season.

Daily bag limit of six ducks may include no more than four mallards (only two of which may be female), three pintails, two wood ducks, two redheads, one black duck, and one canvasback. Possession limits are double the daily bag limits.

"Duck numbers and waterfowl breeding habitat conditions are excellent this year," Bremicker said. "The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is predicting an increase in the continental fall flight to 92 million ducks. This will be another good year for duck hunters. Minnesota's duck harvest of 825,000 last year compares favorably with harvest in the early 1970s, the last time we had duck numbers comparable to these. Of course, weather patterns and water availability in the Dakotas will have a great impact on duck migrations," noted Bremicker, "so hunters are going to have to work for birds."

Goose seasons remain the same in much of the state. Seasons are relatively restrictive in the western goose zones, including Lac qui Parle, West Central, West and Northwest, where seasons are set based upon status of the migrant Eastern Prairie Population of Canada geese. In the remainder of the state, season length will be 70 days to take advantage of increasing populations of giant Canada geese that nest in Minnesota.

In the West and Northwest Goose zones, the season will be 40 days, from Oct. 4 to Nov. 12. Daily bag limit will be one Canada goose in those zones. In the remainder of the state, the goose season will be Oct. 4-Dec. 12, with a daily bag limit of two Canada geese. Goose possession limits are double the daily bag limit.

Park permit features Bemidji

The 1998 Minnesota State Park permit featuring the northern bog landscape at Lake Bemidji State Park will go on sale beginning Sept. 26.

According to Kate Brady, supervisor of marketing and public relations for the Department of Natural Resources Parks and Recreation Division, the new permit, which will be available at all state parks, is valid from the date of purchase through the end of 1998, giving the early bird buyer an extra few months of use.

The annual sticker, which costs $20, permits an unlimited number of visits to all state parks. For people with more than one car, second permits are available for $15 each. Special permits for Minnesota residents with disabilities are available for $12 each.

Lake Bemidji State Park will celebrate its 75th anniversary in 1998. The bog landscape showcased on the permit depicts the park's famous "Spirit Tree," a tamarack that overlooks Big Bog Lake. The scene also includes a great gray owl, pitcher plant and cranberry bush – some of the wide variety of bog inhabitants. The park contains the southernmost section of the six million acre peat bog landscape of north central Minnesota, one of the world's largest natural peat reserves.

Non-resident permit is now required to ride on state snowmobile trails

Minnesota is introducing a non-resident snowmobile trail user fee for the first time in 1997.

Out-of-state snowmobilers will need to purchase a $15 trail permit in order to legally use Minnesota snowmobile trails. Unlike regular resident snowmobile registration displays, the non-resident permit will be a carry-along card, not a sticker, which permittees will be required to show when so requested by a conservation officer or police officer. The permit is only required of snowmobilers who are using designated state and/or grant-in-aid snowmobile trails. Snowmobilers riding on frozen waters, private land or in other authorized use areas, but not on state trails, are not required to purchase the permit.

The permits will be available on or about Oct. 15.

Area charitable gambling groups to meet Sept. 25

Allied Charities of Minnesota (ACM), the statewide association of charitable gambling groups, will host an informational meeting for all charitable gambling organizations in the region Thursday, September 25, at 7 p.m. at the American Legion Post No. 20 club rooms at 102 South Ash, Crookston.

King Wilson, executive director of ACM, will be the featured speaker. Duane Lundemo, Region I ACM director from Roseau, will convene the meeting.

"All organizations and individuals involved in charitable gambling in the northwest Minnesota area should attend this important meeting to get the most up-to-date information on state and federal changes in charitable gambling and how it is going to affect their organizations in the future," stated Duane Thompson, president of ACM.

Topics for discussion include a 1997 legislative wrap-up, update of Gambling Control Board rules and new laws, UBIT tax update, 1998 legislative platform, the Seventh Annual ACM convention and expo program, ACM on the Internet, gambling and the stadium, model employee handbook and a general question and answer session.

From 1985 through 1996, charitable gambling in Minnesota has had a cumulative net profit of $1,319,542,000, lawful purpose contributions of $843,877,000 and paid $475,665,000 to the state in gambling taxes.

The meeting is open to anyone involved or interested in charitable gambling. For more information, call Duane Lundemo at 218-463-2260.

Fire department responds to fires

After a lengthy quiet period, the Thief River Falls fire department responded to four fire calls within a short period of time.

On September 12 at 6 a.m. the fire department received a report of a fire at the Les Nordhagen residence on State Aid 3. A shop building storing two garbage trucks and a semi for Les's Sanitation was on fire. The fire destroyed one of the garbage trucks, damaged the other two and destroyed the shop.

Fire department officials believe the fire started inside the one truck that was destroyed by fire. There were no injuries.

A county building being used by SwisPennCo on Highway 32 south sustained extensive damage in a fire Sunday morning.

The fire department received a report of the fire at 6:55 a.m. The building, which contained some compost and office space was on fire. It sustained extensive damage. The east wall was destroyed as was the office space.

Fire department officials believe the fire was a result of spontaneous combustion. The fire department was back in service at about 10 a.m.

Fire department officials were back at SwisPennCo on September 16. The fire department received the call at 2:42 a.m. The fire was in the same building, which has been used for storage. The official cause has not been determined, but it is not believed to be related to smoldering debris from the last fire because it happened in a different area of the building. The Assistant Minnesota Fire Marshal has been asked to investigate the fire.

On Friday, September 12, the fire department responded to a report of a fire in a dumpster at Chief Red Robe park. The dumpster sustained considerable damage. The incident remains under investigation.

On Saturday, September 13, at 12:25 a.m. the fire department responded to a report of a fire in front of the Subway store on Third Street in downtown Thief River Falls. A truck was on fire.

Police Officer Brent Monroe discovered the blaze and had attempted to put the flames out with an extinguisher. In the process, he cut his hand and suffered some smoke inhalation.

Despite efforts of the officer and the fire department, the truck was considered a total loss.

Charges pending after investigation into area theft

Red Lake and Clearwater County Sheriff's department conducted an investigation into a theft that occurred in Red Lake County on August 31, 1996. Information was received by the Clearwater County Sheriff's office that some items taken from Red Lake County were at a residence in Clearwater County.

On September 10, 1997, a search warrant was served on a Clearwater County residence by the Red Lake County Sheriff's department and Clearwater County Sheriff's department personnel. Several items that were missing from the Red Lake County residence were located.

Charges are pending against a Clearwater County resident for theft and possession of stolen property.

School district forum planned

First community forum for School District 564 during the 1997-98 school year has been scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, September 25, in the cafeteria at Challenger elementary school.

"The 1997-98 school year is off to a great start," states Supt. Jerry Robicheau. "We are all excited and looking forward to another great year. To keep that excitement going and continue the partnership between the community and its schools, we will again be scheduling community forums throughout the school year."

Supt. Robicheau says the forums will "provide opportunity for open dialogue for all involved in and concerned about education in our community."

The forum September 25 will be an opportunity for the public "to express thoughts on how the district can continue to provide an excellent educational program," the superintendent said.

Fresh farm produce, canned vegetables, jams and jellies, dolls and crafts and much more attracted residents and visitors to downtown Thief River Falls last Saturday. It was Everybody's Market, an annual event in Thief River Falls.

School board visits prairie plantings at Challenger

Thankfully, members of the school board and other visitors weren't quizzed about what they had learned last Monday night. Clearly, some of the "weeds" or natural prairie plants were familiar to members of the board, but most could probably not identify the many different species of plants being grown in plots at Challenger Elementary school.

The board members participated in a tour of the plots and given a first-hand glimpse of future plans. It was clear that considerable time and effort had been put into the project.

The project started a few years ago with the assistance of St. Olaf College. A School Nature Area Project (SNAP) grant provided the elementary school with assistance to develop a landscape plan and curriculum for the school. Since then the project has grown and involved donations of time and grant funds from various sources including an Environmental Group donation, funds from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and two memorial funds.

Ever since the project began the focus has been on education. Getting student participation was a major goal. Over the last three summers students have been involved in collecting over 60 species of seeds (grasses and wildflowers), planting and identifying plants and planting over 350 trees. The project is also not limited to plant life.

Early in the project teachers realized that certain plants attract certain insects and animals. Without leaving the Challenger campus, teachers can take the students outside and not only learn about the native Minnesota plants but about different insects and animals. Students have identified 20 different species of bees since the plantings, for example.

Teachers have also begun to add rocks to the landscaped plots. They plan to put in native Minnesota rocks and identify them later.

The next major project is to develop a trail system in the developed areas. The trail system would include interpretive signs, bluebird houses, and places to sit.

The school board held its regularly scheduled meeting following the tour at Challenger.

According to board briefs, Darla Twomey, school board representative, reported on behalf of the Multi-Events Cultural Center noting a meeting had been held in the cities with state department representatives. Twomey indicated that they are supportive of going ahead with the project to include the football field and track and without the wellness center. Bids will be solicited from contractors for work on the football field and track. It was noted at that meeting that bids across the state are coming in about 10 percent higher than usual because of all the flood-related work going on in the state.

The school board recognized the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters, who donated $94 to the Lincoln High School tennis program for medals and trophies.

The following personnel items were approved by the board: the resignation of Beattie Mickelson as crossing guard/attendance aide effective September 1; the resignation of Paula Halme as peer tutor, educational assistant at Franklin; the resignation of Theresa Mundend as cleaner in the district; the resignation of Donna Hennen as cleaner at Lincoln; the resignation of Brenda Johnsen as cleaner at Lincoln; the resignation of David Twamley as kitchen helper at Challenger; the resignation of Betty Olson as Latch-Key assistant; the resignation of Diane Kolsnes as educational assistant at Challenger; a leave of absence without pay and benefits for Patricia Suhr, community education director; the transfer of Arlene Jarol from playground educational assistant; an increase in JoAnn Kohler's hours from 20 to 26 hours per week as Learning Readiness Educational assistant; the transfer of Nancy Fellman from playground/special ed educational assistant at Challenger to 6-7 hour per day pupil program support assistant for physically handicapped at Lincoln; the employment of Gene Linnsetter as .5 FTE music teacher at Challenger; the employment of Chris Vacura as part-time ALC satellite teacher at Roseau; the employment of Audrey Kasprowicz as part-time ALC satellite teacher at Roseau; the employment of Sharon Leister as part-time learning readiness teacher; the employment of Darcie Dalager as school-age child care coordinator; the employment of Betty Olson as 6-7 hour TMH pupil program support assistant at Challenger; the employment of Kathleen Barry as Dietetic technician for the district; the employment of Sidney Braswell as kitchen helper at Lincoln; the employment of Cindy Sele as kitchen helper at Lincoln; the employment of Lucille Simpson as kitchen helper; the employment of Lisa Anbol as bus driver for the district; the employment of Mary Bruggeman as bus driver; the employment of Duran Olson as bus driver; the employment of Brenden Wilde as bus driver; the employment of Janet Hange as cleaner; the employment of Michael Hughes as cleaner; the employment of Judy Rahier as cleaner; the employment of Robyn Pream as Lincoln High School Volunteer Program Coordinator; a one-hour overload assignment for Mary Almquist as L.A.N. manager at Franklin; the extra-curricular assignment of Scott Bornholdt as High School stage manager for the year.

The board approved lane changes for the following: Sharon Baron, Ginger Bendickson, Alan Buhl, Elizabeth Carlson, Julie Desrocher, Bruce Felt, Cheryl Hirschberger, Angie Hughes, Sharon Johnson, Marcy Mickelson, Jodie Olson, Bridget Paulson, Darcy Reese, Carol Schmitz, Lisa Semanko, Janet Shaw, Debra Teiken.

The board also approved the following: an increase in the EBD pupil program support assistant position at Franklin from 5 to 6-7 hours per day; authorized the administration to post for a three-hour playground educational assistant at Challenger; authorized the administration to post for a single parent, displaced homemaker, single pregnant woman coordinator in the Area Learning Center; authorized the administration to post for a 6-7 hour EBD educational assistant at Challenger; authorized the administration to post for a pupil program support assistant at Challenger.

The next regular board meeting is scheduled for Monday, September 22, at 7 p.m. in the School District Service Center.

The Second Section

Thief River Falls' beautification award for 1997 was awarded to the Schafers. The entire family has been working on their yard and garden for years. Tom, a teacher at Challenger Elementary school, explained that the garden consists of mostly perennials. There are numerous varieties of hosta and ferns. The garden also includes delphinium, mums, mint, sedum, impatiens, alyssle, prairie grass, purple corn flower and more. Pictured standing behind a small portion of their garden are the Schafers, Marnie, Marijo, Tom and Collin.

Stumpf pleased with higher education bill

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls, who chaired the Senate Higher Education Budget Committee, says he is very happy with the final bill passed by the legislature this spring.

The omnibus bill appropriates more than $2 billion to the public higher education system and student financial aid programs and establishes two new programs to help families save for college expenses.

"Besides providing the University of Minnesota $1.076 billion, MnSCU $1.015 billion and the Mayo Medical Foundation $2.431 million to maintain superior programming, the bill provides some important financial aid appropriations," he said.

"The bill includes $214 million for the state grant program and nearly $19 million for college work study programs. Allotments for students' living and miscellaneous expense will increase by 2.5 percent each year for two years and the portion of private college tuition recognized when calculating financial aid is increased by 2.5 percent. To help parents attending college, the bill increases child care grants from $1,700 to $2,000 each year and provides financial aid for eligible students who attend classes on the internet."

Sen. Stumpf said the bill also establishes a National Service Scholars Program to award a $1,000 scholarship to one student in every Minnesota high school. The state is partnering with the National Service Scholars Program of the Corporation for National Services to fund the program. School superintendents will have information on how students can apply.

"Perhaps the best new feature of this year's higher education funding bill are two new savings plans designed to help families save for their children's post-high school education," Sen. Stumpf added.

"The EdVest program allows families with annual incomes of less than $80,000 to set aside money for education expenses in a tax-deferred savings account, similar to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). The State will match whatever a family puts into the account, up to $300 per year for those eligible.

"Changes in the way the state sells zero coupon general obligation bonds will benefit families' higher education savings," he added. "The new Gopher State Bond Program will permit families to purchase these tax-free bonds in denominations of $500 for savings for higher education. Previously, these bonds were sold in denominations too large for the average family to afford. The first $25,000 of Gopher State bonds purchased for the benefit of a student are exempt from consideration in determining that student's eligibility for state financial aid."

Stumpf said Minnesota already provides high quality, advanced education for its people. "With the two new savings plans created this year, parents will have more incentive than ever to save for their children's post-high school education.

"Minnesotans know how important a good education is in making a better life for themselves and for future generations," he said. "Actions taken by the legislature this year maintain our state's traditional commitment to high quality, affordable higher education."

Red River Basin board has election

Morris Lanning, Moorhead, has been elected chairman of the newly formed Red River Basin Board (RRBB). Election of officers took place at a meeting held in Grand Forks, ND, on September 4. Don Ogaard, Ada, had been the acting chairman since the first RRBB meeting held on May 24, 1997.

Other officers elected to the board were Vice Chairman Sam Schellenberg, Altona, MB; Joe Belford, Devils Lake, ND; and Mike Brody, Rosholt, SD. Bruce Furness, Fargo, ND, was elected secretary and Ogaard was elected treasurer.

The Red River Basin Board is comprised of 21 leaders, including Mayors along the Red River, rural municipalities/county commissioners, watershed district managers, the tribes, and provincial and state appointees. Along with the development of a Red River Basin Water Management plan, the RRBB will provide a forum where water projects and issues can be discussed and resolved through consensus and cooperation.

The International Coalition for Land and Water Stewardship in the Red River Basin has been coordinating the RRBB activities over the past year. Participation by all Basin residents is critical to the process of planning for future water needs in the Red River Basin.

The next RRBB meeting will be held October 2 in Devils Lake, ND. For more information call 218-233-0292 or 204-982-7294.

The Schafers have been awarded the community residential beautification award. Above is a section of their garden which they call the secret garden designed by Tom and his daughter Marnie. The entire Schafer family works in the garden. Much of the garden is filled with perennials, including 50 varieties of Hosta and five different kinds of ferns. It also includes delphinium, mums, mint, sedum, purple corn flower, alyssle, impatiens and much more. All or most of the plants are labeled.

Army Corps releases water at Red Lake to reduce level

The water level for the Red Lake remains high as the end of summer approaches. The current lake level is 1174.9 feet, which is 0.9 feet above the elevation of 1174.0 mandated for May 1 to June 15.

Factors contributing to the continuing high level are:

1) 1996-97 above average winter snowfall precipitation in the basin above the Red Lake Dam.

2) Heavy rainfalls in April and July retarded progress in lowering lake levels by

a) adding directly to lake volume,

b) requiring cutbacks in releases to reduce downstream flooding.

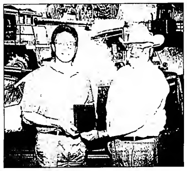
3) Cumulative effect of wetter-than-normal years from 1992-1996, and

4) Cooler-than-normal temperatures reduced evaporation.

Congressional authorization for the project requires that the lakes are at elevation 1174.0 feet between May 1 and June 15. The reservoir regulation plan also requires that outflows from the dam be cut back when the gauge at Highlanding goes above 8.75 feet during the growing season, and above 11.0 feet before and after the growing season. Winter flow, after the river is iced over, is restricted to a maximum of 1,000 cubic feet per second.

After the end of the growing season this year, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will make every effort to release the maximum amount possible (within the limits of the operating plan), to restore the Red Lakes to elevation 1174.0 feet, required for the period May 1 through June 15 each year.

When the water level is high in the Red Lakes, it can take one or more years to lower the lake to 1174.0. For example, a discharge of 1,000 cubic feet per second (cfs) in excess of inflow will bring the Red Lakes down one foot in approximately 150 days. With average inflows of 410 cfs, a spring drawdown elevation of 1173.5 feet (by April 1) would require an average discharge of about 1,400 cfs from September 1 to April 1.



Tom Schafer (left) was presented with the Residential Beautification Award. The award is presented annually by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce for excellence in residential gardening. Schafer said everyone in the family contributed to the success and beauty of their garden.

Several homes are being expanded in our area. Jim and Judy Kelley added a room. Art and Avis Froiland added a new bedroom. Kern and Alice are making an addition to their home and we see the beginnings of a new home for Merle and Lorna Jesme. It makes for a lot of interesting watchfulness and lot of sidewalk superintendents!

Clara Helley is presently a resident of Hillcrest, and we hope for the best for her too.

Hailey and Alice Schiefert and family of Fargo spent the weekend with his mother Frances Schiefert. Josh brought along a friend Bailey.

Hazel Ollie attended the dedication service for the new addition of St. John's Lutheran Church of Red Lake Falls on Sunday and the potluck dinner that followed. She remarked on the inspiring service and the excellent choir. "Congratulations, St. John's!"

Loren and Helen LaFayette left on Sunday for a North Dakota trip, stopping first at Lakota where they visited Shannon (Froiland) Nelson. They went on to Grassy Butte and Dickenson. On Monday they visited with Bob and Gert Marty before going to Medora where they took in the musical and visited with more friends, and returned home on Tuesday.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

The Times
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

David Hill, Associate Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Marvin Lundin and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

If People Say No, Should Government Say Yes?

A story on the front page of today's Times gives an account of last week's city council meeting when several owners of local business establishments appeared to make a special request of the council. They asked the council to intercede on their behalf with area legislators to have the State of Minnesota permit Sunday liquor sales in the City of Thief River Falls.

Apparently they were quite persuasive in making their points, as the city's governing body voted five to one to comply with the request. Some might consider this positive response of city government to the requests of its citizens to be a fine example of representative government. We don't.

Whether or not it is a good idea to permit the sale of liquor in Thief River Falls on Sunday—or on any other day—is not the question in this issue. The question is whether government—state, local or otherwise—should be able to make a decision contrary to the will of the people as expressed in a public election.

Five times in 11 years from 1977 through 1988, the residents of Thief River Falls were given the opportunity to approve Sunday liquor sales in a public election. Five times, by majority vote, they declined that offer. In 1997 the vote was 509 in favor and 1,689 opposed. In 1982 the vote was 1,308 in favor to 2,188 opposed. In 1985 the offer was turned down 653 to 1,356. In 1987 the vote was very close—1,210 in favor and 1,313 opposed—a margin of only 103 votes. Likely encouraged by the closeness, proponents tried again in 1988. The vote was 1,495 in favor and 1,988 opposed, a much larger margin of 493 votes.

It doesn't take a very astute analysis of those results to come to a fairly reasonable conclusion. The majority of voters in Thief River Falls would really rather not have liquor sold on Sunday in their city—not in 1977, not in 1982, not in 1985, not in 1987 and not in 1988.

If it is believed that in 1997 the opinion of the public has changed, then by all means include another opportunity for them to say so at the ballot box. The procedure is in place and the cost in connection with a general election would be small. We have no problem with such an effort.

But we do have a problem with rationalizing an effort to circumvent the publicly-expressed will of the people, especially by a governing body elected to represent their interests. And if we were an elected state official, we would be extremely reluctant to be party to an authorization procedure that would impose the will of the minority on the voting majority. It should not be any problem to justify refusing the request, expressing the belief that the state should not be involved in a local issue for which structure already is in place for resolution on a local basis.

One would expect this also to have been the position of a city council which is concerned about local control of local issues.

We can understand the desire of those in the delegation visiting the council to seek the opportunity for increased business. We can't fault them for seeking a remedy for their present situation, although the arguments seem a little shaky. What we can't understand is a local elected governing body being so willing to attempt to circumvent the majority will of the people as expressed in public vote—and expressed not only once, but five times. We expect that voters will resent that rejection of their preference.

Principles Of Private Property Rights

When Senator Dan Stevens spoke in Thief River Falls last week, he distributed a list of what he titled "Principles of Private Property Rights." Following is that list of understandings which the senator believes to be necessary:

• An understanding that there must be compensation for regulatory "takings." This will assure that landowners will be compensated for any reduction in property value caused by new regulations, including zoning changes or designations. If a regulation is enacted in the name of the "public good," then the public treasury should fund the loss of the affected landowners.

• An understanding that the township form of government needs to be preserved and enhanced, and that land use decisions are best made at the local level by elected officials.

• An understanding that a blanket housing density policy is inappropriate in view of the diverse landscape of the area. Much of Minnesota is not prime farmland, and as such, should be used for housing to provide housing choices people want.

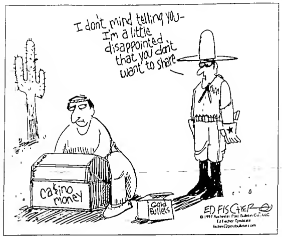
• An understanding that farmers, as first possessors, must have their property rights protected by regulation and the courts.

• An understanding that agricultural land should be taxed on the basis of its agricultural use, regardless of its development value. Tax policy such as this will alleviate financial pressure to sell farm land into development.

• An understanding that the custom, culture and economic viability of an area form the use of our natural resources and areas.

• An understanding that beauty is in the eye of the beholder, and that for many people housing in natural or scenic areas is not a detraction, but rather an enhancement of beauty. Public policy should be driven by safety and health requirements, not by arguments over aesthetics.

• Finally, that affected property owners should be notified by registered mail of any proposed regulatory or legislative change involving land use limitations that could decrease property values.



I don't mind telling you— I'm a little disappointed that you don't want to share.

To The Editor:

On exhibit day at the Pennington County Fair an entry in the open class Arts and Crafts Children's Division caught my eye. "My Summer Vacation in Rocks" was an attractively made display, clearly labeled and easy to read. The child had obviously traveled to Yellowstone national park, as there was a rock included from the Lower Falls of the Yellowstone River.

This child's idea was a good one, however, I would like to call attention to the fact that removing rocks from any national park is illegal.

According to the code of Federal Regulations 36, Section 2.5 (a), "taking plants, fish, wildlife, rocks or minerals except in accordance with other regulations of this chapter or pursuant to the terms and conditions of a specimen collection permit is prohibited."

Furthermore, as stated in Section 2.1 (a) (1) "Possessing, destroying, injuring, defacing, removing, digging or disturbing from its natural state....(IV) a mineral resource or cave formation or the parts thereof...." is also prohibited.

These regulations are clearly posted at each entrance, printed in every handout given to everyone who enters, and are clearly posted at the popular natural attractions within Yellowstone's boundaries.

Having grown up a stone's throw from the North Entrance of Yellowstone and being personally aware of that particular regulation, imagine my surprise when later in the day a blue ribbon had been awarded to this display!

In comparison, each year (nearly without fail) an entry in the horticulture division (flowers) will contain a protected lily, plucked from a local roadside. No ribbon is ever awarded and notes from the judges on the entry tag remind us all that these lilies are, in fact, protected.

This year Yellowstone National Park is celebrating its 125th anniversary. I would encourage every one of us (including, and perhaps most importantly the judges at our county fairs) to know and respect the laws protecting our precious park systems.

Sincerely,
Barbara Chervestad

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I was pleased to learn that the members of the Thief River Falls City Council will be discussing the leaf-burning resolution at their regular meeting in the council chambers on Sept. 23, 1997.

It is my hope that the council members will vote to outlaw the open burning of leaves within the city limits of Thief River Falls. Burning leaves in an open fire may have been an acceptable practice in 1897, but we live in 1997, and are well aware of the effects that smoke-laden air and toxic smoke can have on the human respiratory system. Ask anyone with asthma.

Much has been said about a survey taken in 1994. It seems that a letter was sent out with the utility bills asking patrons whether or not they were in favor of leaf burning within the city limits.

In the council proceedings of Jan. 10, 1995, the Thief River Falls fire chief reported that 303 responses were returned with 214 in favor of leaf burning and 89 not in favor.

The city clerk's office states that about 4,000 letters were sent out. Of these 4,000, only 303 were returned—yes, only 303 out of 4,000!—or less than 8% of those who received letters returned them. How can anyone say that the practice of leaf-burning in open fires has overwhelming approval? Yet, the fire department in the September 9 Thief River Falls Times article states that "the response was overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the practice." It was also pointed out that the fire department is not in favor of continuing the practice.

Now you know the rest of the story.

A big obstacle to the repeal of the open-burning law is this bogus survey. It was not scientific, nor was it a survey, yet it is cited repeatedly by supporters of open burning. Several of the council members still believe it to be true and repeat it frequently.

My question is, "How can less than 8% of 4,000 inquiries be considered an overwhelming response? Does that sound like majority rule? Not!"

Incidentally, at the block party I attended on Maple Avenue, the subject of leaf burning never came up, contrary to the police report.

The council has no trouble regulating speed, noise, zoning, signs, tobacco, alcohol, etc. Why should it be so difficult to outlaw smoke and other toxic fumes? What about all the people, young and old, with allergies, asthma and other respiratory problems? Why should we punish the victims? Can't we stop these people who light fires that make these poor souls even worse? I don't get it.

Issuing burning permits will not make the smoke less toxic or people less uncomfortable. There can be no compromise. When one smokes, everyone smokes.

I hope the council will do the right thing and outlaw open burning of half dry, half green leaves within the city limits of Thief River Falls. I'll bet you hope so, too.

Sincerely,
Charles Samuelson

Municipal Liquor Store Opens Here Monday

"After the lapse of more than thirty years, the legal sale of liquor again became effective in Thief River Falls Monday morning, with the opening of the municipal dispensary in the former Palm Garden cafe. Formal opening of the establishment will be deferred until after the installation of the new fixtures recently ordered, which are expected to arrive in October. In the meantime only the north half of the spacious building is being utilized.

"A shipment of liquor consigned to the local store was scattered Saturday night along the Soo Line right-of-way south of Paynesville when Winnipeg Train 110 crashed into the rear portion of a freight train as the latter was moving onto a siding.

"A municipal liquor store was opened in St. Hilaire last Friday with John Kruse as manager."

Planning Board Refers Civic Center Plan Back To Local Service Clubs

"The city planning board, at a meeting Tuesday evening, voted to refer back to the various service clubs the matter of establishing a service center in the block including the post office and library, with the suggestion that each group appoint one member to an educational committee. The committee will be charged with the responsibility of ascertaining public sentiment as to whether or not the issue should be submitted to the voters at the municipal election in November."

Plans Taking Shape For 2-Day Festival

"Highlights for the Halloween-harvest festival to be held in Thief River Falls Friday, October 31, and Saturday, November 1, were announced today by James Parkins, general chairman for the event, in which several civic organizations are cooperating. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is arranging for a turkey show in the auditorium Friday afternoon. Later in the day there will be two Halloween parties for children of various ages, together with a Halloween parade and a teen dance in the evening."

First Killing Frost Yet To Arrive In Area

"Fortunately for the considerable acreage of late seeded flax, this locality now has gotten safely past the middle of September without a killing frost, the mercury reaching a low point of 37 above zero Tuesday morning. High mark for the week was 78 recorded last Saturday afternoon at KTRF."

Gulbranson Funeral Home Invites Public To Concert On New Organ

"M. C. Gulbranson announces that he is installing today in his mortuary a new electronic chapel organ. It has many features that are new in the organ field, and totally is compared with a well-voiced pipe organ.

"The new organ has an unusual background in that the man who originated and developed it, Ellsworth W. Swedien of Minneapolis, is a well-known church choir director and organist.

"The organ will be shown to the public at an open house Friday night from 7 o'clock to 8:30 p.m. in the chapel. Mr. Swedien will give an informal concert and explain the instrument and Harold F. Harrison also will play."

From The —Editorial Page—

"Fuels of all kinds, oil, coal and electricity, are going to be short this winter according to Business Week. The survey did not say anything about the nation's woodpile however, so those who still depend on the local product for their heating may be the best off during the chilly months of January and February."

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER SEPTEMBER 23, 1897
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

And you can't handle him without rubber gloves
STILL A VILLAGE
Mr. Lee says Thief River Falls is not a city

Francis [illegible] as Attorney for the city of Thief River Falls has commenced a suit against Henry W. Lee for $150.00. Some time ago Mr. Lee received judgment against the village of Thief River Falls for this amount and the city refused to pay the claim. The case was to have been appealed to the Supreme Court but on account of the time having expired in which to do this, the city has commenced a suit against Mr. Lee to recover the amount he holds in judgment against the city.

The complaint against Mr. Lee is very voluminous and recites in part that on the 12th day of January, 1897, the defendant obtained judgment against the city for $145 and $9 cost, that said judgment is irregular, erroneous, fraudulent, void and is a cloud upon the title of all the plaintiff's property in this county, that the city of Thief River Falls, which is the lawful successor of the village, has never been informed of any judgment against it.

Mr. Lee's answer is very original and he claims that the city was never legally incorporated into a city. His answer in part reads:

That he expressly avers that the plaintiff is not a municipal corporation and has not been created nor organized and is not existing under and by virtue of the laws of this state.

The defendant avers that the plaintiff is not a city and denies that the village of Thief River Falls is any part of a city, but alleges that the village of Thief River Falls is a municipal corporation, duly created and still existing under the laws of the state of Minnesota, of which James Meehan, Jr. is president, but admits that said village is disorganized, in that the duly elected officials refuse to perform their respective duties, but the defendant denies that the plaintiff has succeeded said village lawfully.

The defendant further alleges that Frank H. Kralk has unlawfully intruded himself into the office of mayor, and that C. J. Knox, P. O. Bergh, John A. Burkee, C. A. Rohbecke and Ole L. Lamberg have unlawfully intruded themselves into the office of aldermen.

Mr. Lee asks that he also be given judgment against the above named gentlemen in the sum of $108 together with the cost of action."

Memorials

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Til[illegible] [illegible] who passed away Jan. 15th, 1965

God made a wonderful mother,
A mother who never grew old,
He made her smile of the sunshine
He molded her heart of pure gold
He made her as nearly an angel
As anyone ever could be,
But God took our wonderful mother and left life so lonely for us

Sadly missed by her family

Members absent: none.

Gary Lane and Barb Molskness met with the County Board to discuss the Soil and Water Conservation Districts 1998 budget. The SWCB requested the same appropriations as 1997. Ron Goodrich, a local dentist, approached the County Board regarding the State's Prepaid Medical Assistance Program (PMAP) versus County Based purchasing. Susan Olson, Inter County Nursing also attending at this time commented on those subjects. She mentioned the services needed for our community should be offered by the area providers. This would enable residents to obtain these services without traveling. The County Board informed Dr. Goodrich that they have already decided to go along with the State version of PMAP because the other option was too much of a financial risk for our size county. There will be a meeting set up in October for the area health care providers to hear their ideas and needs regarding PMAP.

Ron Lindberg, Thief River Falls Public Works Director, presented a resolution passed by the City of Thief River Falls supporting School District #564's request that the Pennington County Board consider extending the City's speed limit of 35 mph on C.S.A.H. #17 South. Donors give for Eagles blood drive

A total of 72 people volunteered to donate blood and 58 were able to give during the Eagles Aerie 2368 first time blood drive on September 3. Twelve of the donors gave blood for the first time. Sponsoring a blood drive before or after a major holiday is very important. Because United Blood Services' blood drive schedule is often reduced over a long holiday weekend and usage is traditionally higher, an additional supply of blood is needed to meet patient needs.

Sandy Hible and Jerry Altendorf coordinated the drive held at the Eagles Club. The Eagles Aerie 2368 assisted with recruiting donors, publicity, providing refreshments and registering donors. Lillian Rux assisted with refreshments the day of the drive.

Donations will help meet the blood needs of many patients in 46 area hospitals served by United Blood Services.

Arson determined in Dobner-Meehan building fire

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Assistant State Fire Marshal Dale Volstad has determined that the fire that destroyed the Dobner-Meehan Block building at Second and Main early Sunday morning was intentionally set. A criminal investigation is now underway to determine who set the fire.

Volstad said he did not find evidence that an accelerant was used. He did say the fire started in a mattress at the north end of a hallway on the east side of the second floor, and that it was "incendiary in nature."

Volstad credited police officers for doing an excellent job in getting people out of the apartments on the second floor. He will continue to cooperate with police in the criminal investigation. The fire is also being investigated by a private investigator for State Farm Insurance.

No reward for information has been established at this point. Police Chief Ken Froschheiser said that a criminal investigation into the fire has begun. In this instance, the charge would be felony first degree arson, which carries a maximum penalty of over $20,000 and two to 20 years in prison.

The Fire

At about 12:12 a.m. Sunday morning, the manager of the apartment reported the fire. At about 12:14 a.m. officers arrived on the scene and began evacuating the second floor occupants. By that time, fire was spreading quickly down the hallway.

Police Officer Tim Miller said the smoke was so thick that the officers had to crawl on their hands and knees to get everyone out of the building. Miller went one direction down the hallway and another went in the other direction. In all 14 people were evacuated from the building.

Miller required oxygen following the rescue efforts. Officers Teresa Mattison and Brent Monroe, and several residents also suffered from some smoke inhalation.

As firemen were attempting to put the fire out, enforcement officers began securing the scene and trying to account for all of the residents in the building. Several individuals were unaccounted for but were later located.

Fire Department officials sprayed thousands of gallons of water on the fire. Wearing special gear some of the firefighters were able to enter the building, but were still unable to halt the spread of the fire. Two large water cannons, one on the north side and one on the south side, sprayed water on the roof. Multiple smaller hoses were used to direct water through windows and vents. It spread down hallways and above false ceilings. Thick black smoke poured from vents, and as the evening wore on, flames continued to shoot from the roof.

The fire was finally brought under control at about 6 a.m. It wasn't out, but was finally under control.

The Damage

The 12 apartments on the second floor were destroyed. The seven businesses on the first floor had smoke and water damage.

The property is owned by DKS Properties. Dan Drevlow, DKS partner, said he doubts whether the building, which was built in the early 1900s will be saved. Although his own business, Drevlow State Farm Insurance was also damaged in the fire, Drevlow was more concerned about the residents of the second floor apartments. Drevlow said the apartments were rarely vacant because rent was Firemen battled a fire at the Dobner-Meehan block building in downtown Thief River Falls early Sunday morning. Much of the second floor of the building was destroyed by fire. The main floor was damaged by smoke and water. The fire department received a report of the fire at about 12:12 a.m. They were on the scene until 1 p.m. the next day. Officials now believe the fire was intentionally set. A criminal investigation has begun.

United Way begins fund drive

United Way of Thief River Falls kicked off its fall fund-raising campaign on Monday, September 22. United Way of Thief River Falls collects funds in its fund drive and distributes those funds to a wide variety of charitable organizations. Last year its fund raising campaign generated $121,138.

United Way officials believe the key to their success has been the volunteer. Because of countless hours of work by people in the community, United Way is able to keep its operating costs at a minimum and make contact with thousands of individuals in the community.

The United Way board establishes goals and priorities each year. It takes its stewardship responsibilities seriously. Applications are screened by a committee of the board prior to board review and allocation. Last year the agency assisted 37 agencies and the contributions assisted over 30,000 individuals.

Recently the organization has been evaluating its allocation recipients. The organizations were divided into six categories — people with disabilities, family crisis, elderly, health, youth, and United Way of America. A review of allocations in 1996 found that 28 percent of its allocations went to organizations support youth oriented organizations, 21 percent went to family crisis organizations, and health related organizations, 18 percent went to organizations supporting people with disabilities, 11 percent went to organizations supporting seniors, and one percent went to the United Way of America.

Organizations and the United Way allocations they received in 1997 include the following: Active Parenting of SD 564 Community Education, $500; ARC Minnesota, $250; Arthritis Foundation, $1,000; Northern Lights Council (Boy Scouts), $7,000; Cerebral Palsy of Minnesota, $300; Children's Home Society, $1,000; Confidence Learning Center, $2,750; Cottage Center, $4,500; Crossroad Displaced Homemakers Program, $4,000; DARE of Thief River Falls, $3,000; Discovery Place of Thief River Falls, $1,000; Falls Day Activity Center, $4,000; Friendship Club of Thief River Falls, $600; Pine to Prairie Girl Scout Council, $7,000; Heritage Community Center, $7,000; Thief River Falls Heritage Center Nutrition Council, $2,000; Heart Research — Mayo Clinic, $185.25; Heart Research — University of Minnesota, $185.25; Inter-County Nursing Service, $5,000; Little Brother Little Sister, $6,000; Lutheran Social Services, $1,000; Minnesota Extension Service, $450; North Country Foodbank, $3,000; Hospice of the Red River Valley, $10,000; Northern Lights Bookstore, $2,500; Occupational Development Center, $2,500; Options, $4,000; Pennington County Child Protection Council, $700; Pennington County 4-H, $3,000; Retired and Senior Volunteer Program, $1,000; Salvation Army, Thief River Falls, $2,000; Sister Kenny Institute, $2,000; Thief River Falls Early Childhood Family Education Program, $1,100; Thief River Falls Safety Camp, $1,000; Umbrella Tree Safety Center, $2,000; Valley Home Society, $1,200; Violence Intervention Project, Thief River Falls, $8,000; United Way of America, $802.51.

Dravlow has been a partner and owner of the building for about 20 years. According to the County Recorder's office, the property was originally owned by Mr. H.G. Dobner and James Meehan Jr. According to a history of Thief River Falls, the First State Bank moved into a "$30,000" building at the location in 1906. It is also on record that the post office occupied a portion of the building from 1906 to 1909. In 1909 a lease was granted with a privilege to continue the lease for five additional years. Originally named the Dobner-Meehan block, the building later became known as the Dobner and Welsh building when Harley R. Welsh became a partner with Dobner.

Just prior to the fire Sunday morning, the 12 apartments on the second floor were rented. Seven businesses will also be forced to relocate as a result of the fire. The businesses included Dravlow State Farm Insurance, Draperies by Michelle, Northland Realty, Creative Clippers, Schmitz and Moran, CPAs, Gretchen Larson Law Office, and Mobile Home Service. Farm Credit Service had recently moved out of an office in the building.

Police Chief Ken [illegible] said the Salvation Army unit in Thief River Falls offered assistance to the renters of the building who lost everything or nearly everything in the blaze. That night, they were encouraged to stay with friends or relatives, but six stayed on cots at Northwest Medical Center. The Salvation Army also made vouchers and meals available to the renters.

Monday, some of the renters were allowed to enter the building in an attempt to recover personal items. Officials are asking everyone to stay outside of the barriers established around the building. Some of the brick has fallen from the building and much of the brick on the building appears unstable.

Traditions and rituals studied in NCTC series

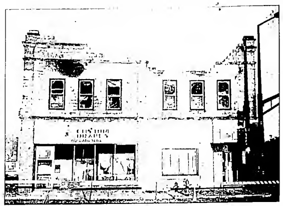
School District 564 and Northland Community and Technical College are cooperating in the series for which the first workshop is entitled "Traditions, Rituals and Routines."

Cost of the workshop is $10. For more information contact the custom training and continuing education department of NCTC at 681-0793 or 1-800-959-6282.



Sunday afternoon the devastation to the Dobner-Meehan block building in downtown Thief River Falls was evident. The early morning fire destroyed much of the second floor. Smoke and water caused considerable damage to the main floor. There were 12 apartments on the second floor and seven businesses occupying office space on the main floor. Dan Dravlow, a partner of DKS properties, which owns the building, expects the building will be torn down. Officials now believe the fire was intentionally set. A criminal investigation has begun.

Water screening clinic slated at Fourtown Store

A well water screening clinic will be offered Friday, October 3, from 1 until 4:30 p.m. All samples should be labeled with a name and address so that results can be made available to those providing the samples.

Those who find it inconvenient to attend the screening clinic on Friday may drop samples off at the store either Sunday evening, October 5 or Monday morning, October 6, for screening later on Monday.

The clinic is designed to target residents of the "Jackpines" area where there are several shallow wells and septic systems in sandy soils leading to a greater potential for contamination. There will be no charge for the screening and results will be confidential.

All interested parties, not only those from the "Jackpines" area, are welcome to bring water samples.

For more information about well water testing and how to prepare a sample for testing, contact the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District in Grygla at 218-294-6111.

Terri Cuppett helps others see beyond racism

by Kathi Carlson
The Times Reporter

Terri Cuppett sees many things very clearly.

Blinded shortly after birth, the 44-year-old teacher turned pastor is currently busy with volunteer activities and helped organize the Anti-Racism Awareness workshop which will take place at Trinity Lutheran Church on Friday, September 26.

The oldest child of Jim and Annabelle Cuppett, Terri was born prematurely, and the oxygen in the incubator where Terri spent her first days destroyed the nerve cells in her eyes. The same thing happened to Terri's younger sister Chris who was born less than a year later in a different hospital in a different city. Shortly after Chris' birth, it was discovered what had caused many premature babies born throughout the 1940s and early 50s to become blind shortly after they were born.

Terri attended first grade at a school in Fargo, stayed with a foster family during the week and came home on the weekends. By the following year, the Thief River Falls school district hired a Braille teacher to teach the first and second grade Cuppett sisters. Terri continued to attend public school graduating from Lincoln High School in 1971.

Referred to as the "Cuppett twins" for years, the young women went to different colleges to establish their own identities. Chris earned a degree in speech/theater. She is currently traveling around southern Minnesota teaching 12-week independent living classes to seniors who are losing their sight.

Terri and Chris have two younger siblings. Marchell has a degree in sports medicine and has set up a program at the University of Omaha where she is conducting research for a doctorate degree. The youngest, Paul is a captain in the US Army stationed in Colorado Springs, CO. He has been to Bosnia once and is scheduled to go again. Terri writes to him weekly.

Terri graduated from Bemidji State University in 1975 with a degree in English and minors in speech/theater and German. She tutored English as a second language to refugees in Bemidji and Thief River Falls and later taught remedial English at Fort Peck, a reservation in eastern Montana. The teaching position in Montana was federally funded, and once the money ran out so did the job. Terri spent much time looking for work.

From 100 applications for teaching jobs, Terri was granted only three interviews. When asked if she thought she had been discriminated against because of her disability, Terri felt more strongly that during the 1970s there were "too many people and not enough (teaching) jobs."

It was during a time when Terri was searching for a position that she was "quietly" called by God to serve in the ministry. At first, she only wanted to teach, and then she thought, "Good. I can stop looking for a job." In the Twin Cities, she attended Luther Seminary from 1982 to 1986 and non-denominational United Seminary from the fall of 1986 until 1988. Terri interned at Hamilton Lutheran Church of Hamilton, MT. During her internship she graduated from United Seminary in 1989. Terri was ordained in February of 1992 at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls.

Terri ministered at a parish in Shevlin and Solway for three and one-half years. While the people of the parish were very good about transporting her from one place to another, Terri felt isolated in the small community – more by her singleness than by her disability. Most of her parishioners were married with families, and socialization was difficult. She added that the small-town congregations may not have been "ready for a woman" with "radical" views.

Terri is currently seeking a position as a hospital chaplain which requires additional education and certification from the College of Chaplains. A hospital chaplain residency requires application made a year in advance. So far, she has applied at ten hospitals, and while discouraged, will apply to more. Terri thinks that there are probably "too many Lutherans" competing for the few residency opportunities. The College of Chaplains accepts only six students at a time and looks for a variety of denominations.

Meanwhile Terri is busy in Thief River Falls. I found it humorous and refreshing that minister or not, staying with her parents presents the same challenges it does when any grown child moves home.

Terri has been called to substitute at area churches in the absence of regular pastors. When Pastors Galen and Marcia Sylvester have been away, they have left Redeemer and Black River churches in Terri's hands, and she is "humbled by their trust."

Terri is also a Hospice volunteer but has no patients in Pennington County at this time.

Terri is accompanied about town by her dog, Winsome, a beautiful German shepherd. Winsome is her fourth guide dog and is happy to lay at Terri's feet until called into service.

Terri has recently begun making small clay statues. Using a clay that is sculpted and baked in a regular oven, she makes angels. Terri showed me an angel bear and a black angel that she made for her sister and brother-in-law.

Once Terri sculps and bakes her angels, they are painted by a former parishioner and friend from Hamilton, MT.

Terri has spoken to someone from the Minnesota Churches Anti-Racism Initiative and plans to make angels of all colors to be used in the Initiative's display. Together, Terri and I found ourselves humming the old Sunday school song "red and yellow, black and white, they are precious in His sight . . ." To the red, yellow, black and white, Terri will add a brown-skinned angel.

Terri had never planned a workshop before and was nervous about the Anti-Racism workshop scheduled for Friday at Trinity Lutheran Church. She spent much of last week "running around" getting things ready. Her guest editorial appears in this issue of The Times.

Terri attended a six-hour workshop similar to Friday's event in Bemidji in 1994, and a three-day seminar in Duluth entitled "Dismantling Racism."

With a black brother-in-law, Terri's concern about racism goes beyond her ministry. About 12 years ago, Terri's sister Marchell married Willy, a person of color. Like most parents of their generation, Jim and Annabelle Cuppett were "kind of uncomfortable" and concerned about other peoples feelings. At the time, Terri and Chris were attending a small church in Minneapolis and involved their congregation in a prayer concern for the couple. Younger brother Paul was comfortable with the relationship from the beginning.

The family was filled with nervous anticipation before meeting their future in-law, but Willy, a global studies teacher, and his father-in-law-to-be had teaching in common and immediately struck up a conversation. Annabelle asked who wanted ice cream, and when Willy was the first to respond "I do!" the ice was broken. Willy quickly learned the names of the Norwegian holiday goodies that are a tradition with the Cuppett family and "passed the test." In return, when loading the dishwasher after a holiday meal, Willy asked his mother-in-law if she wanted the silverware integrated or segregated.

Willy and Marchell have two sons, and according Terri, ten-year-old Derek and seven-year-old Kyle understand that they are "black like daddy and white like mommy."

Terri Cuppett uses an oven bake clay to sculp small angels. Once Terri has shaped and baked them, they are painted by a friend in Hamilton, MT. The angel bear and black angel she is pictured with are gifts she made for her sister and brother-in-law. Terri plans to make angels of all colors to be displayed by the Minnesota Anti-Racism Intiative.

Winsome is the German shepherd guide dog who accompanies Terri Cuppet as she goes about her daily business. Recently, Terri has been busy planning the Anti-Racism workshop scheduled to take place at Trinity Lutheran Church on Friday, September 26

Terri believes that in order for racism to be dismantled it must first be understood. The Anti-Racism Initiative has defined racism as "privilege" plus "power." Terri believes that racism goes beyond what individuals say and do but is ingrained in our institutions and culture. It is her hope that once racism is understood, the healing process can begin as the walls of racism are broken down and people – regardless of color – learn to trust one another.

She has friends of every color, and while blind, Terri Cuppett hopes to show others what she can so clearly see.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

Making this a better place

The first telephone call I made when I moved to Thief River Falls three years ago was to the Women of Today organization. Why? Because I knew that membership in that organization would help me meet other women in town who shared my interest in community service. I knew that I would be accepted and integrated into the organization. I knew that I would have things to do right away and feel a part of Thief River Falls.

As we celebrate United States Women of Today Week this week, I reflect on the past three years and conclude I made exactly the right phone call.

Women of Today is a group of women dedicated to service, growth and fellowship. The organization has served the area for almost 40 years, first as the Mrs. Jaycees, then Minnesota Jaycee Women and now as Women of Today.

Service to the community and nation comprises a large part of our purpose. As a member, I take pride in knowing that we are a group of women doing great things for the city and state.

The service aspect comes in two forms: raising and giving money to local and state concerns and providing public service for the youth and community. With about 2,400 members in more than 120 chapters in Minnesota, the Women of Today raises thousands of dollars and donates it to worthwhile causes yearly.

If you attended Everybody's Market in Thief River Falls recently and bought baked goods from the Women of Today, you helped support juvenile diabetes. If you entered your baby or voted in the Beautiful Baby Photo Contest, you helped raise funds for the local Courage Day Camp. If you attended our spring bingo last year, you aided us in donating money to the Early Childhood Family Education program. If you purchase one of our cookbooks, you help us award a scholarship to a young woman attending Northland Community and Technical College.

It seems as if we're always selling or promoting something, but we know that the money we raise and give away does make a difference – especially when it's combined with money raised from other chapters throughout Minnesota. The yearly figures are astounding, reaching nearly $200,000 state-wide. In addition, the chapters in Minnesota log more than 20,000 service hours each year. It shows what a lot of people working together can accomplish.

In addition to raising money, we sponsor the annual baby-sitting clinic, creative craft festival and Halloween carnival. New last year was our women's showcase and kiddie parade.

Though it sounds as if all we do is work, that's not entirely the case. The organization provides opportunities for members to grow by holding office, listening to speakers, participating in district and state functions, chairing projects, becoming more comfortable speaking in front of a group, and just by being involved with a group of supportive women.

And that's the third focus of our group – fellowship. We plan regular social events so the members can gather, get to know each other and have fun. And we invite others to join us. We've hosted murder mystery parties, scavenger hunts, progressive hors d'oeuvres, game night, family picnics and Christmas bowling parties.

In the last three years, I've concluded the advantages to membership in the Women of Today are endless. Our primary goal is to work for the benefit of the community. The last line of the Minnesota Women of Today creed sums it up: May we leave the world a better place because we lived and served within it.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Lincoln High School

Now that the excitement of the first day of school has worn out and everyone is settled in the right classes, what else is a high school kid going to talk about? Fall sports, of course! And when I say, "Fall sports," for me it's volleyball. No offense to any of the other fall sports teams out there. I just happen to be a volleyball lover.

Now if you haven't guessed it, I happen to be on the volleyball team. And what a team it is! Everyone gets along so well with each other, it's insane. Sure, there are the occasional disagreements, like how many laps we should run, or if we should end practice early so we can get to that ever-important football game, but we can get past those problems in about two Prowler Drills. And once you get past those Prowler Drills, you can see just how wacky a team with 40 players, five coaches, one manager, one athletic trainer, and countless bus drivers can really be.

For example, our first away game of the year was against the Stephen/Argyle "Storm" on September 4. It started out like any other "normal" bus trip. All of the younger players had positioned themselves outside of the school, waiting to claim the choice seats the moment the bus arrived. We older, more knowledgeable players were still inside the school, buying sodas and munchies for the ride to Stephen.

As we walked outside the school, I heard a voice squeal, "Here comes the bus!" Well, the second the bus appeared, pure chaos erupted. Girls were pushing and shoving each other insanely to get to the front of the line.

By the time the bus came to a full stop, a few of the girls were almost prying the door open. The bus driver looked shocked when 40-some girls poured on the bus, shouting things like, "Hey, Horseface, get out of my seat!" and "I don't see your name on it!" I personally can't figure out why he hadn't just kept driving when he first caught sight of us.

After everyone had been crammed into the last possible seat and all of the uniforms had been remembered, we headed west in search of the town of Stephen. By the time we were out of the city limits, the bus ride had officially begun. Everyone was talking excitedly about the recent school day and things like the next football game and who had a date to Homecoming.

After forty-five minutes of giggling, trading gummy worms, and guzzling soda, we arrived in Stephen. The minute the bus stopped, the handful of girls who had refused bathroom privileges before our departure raced to the building in search of the nearest facility. Everyone else sauntered off the bus and into the school in search of our victims – the "Storm."

The next two hours were spent cheering on the C and JV squads while we chowed down on Lindsay's Lucky Charms (the "Breakfast of Champions?" I think so.) Then we applied coat after coat of blue sparkle nail polish to our nails. Believe it or not, that was us prepping ourselves for our game.

When the time came, we were ready to play. The Varsity game was intense. Everyone played great. After our four matches, we "calmed the Storm," claimed victory, and reloaded the bus for our departure home.

Our bus ride back to Lincoln was basically normal. We were screaming and shouting, our adrenaline was pumping, and we were all STARVING! We wanted food, and we were willing to do just about anything to obtain it.

Since the nearest fast food chain was almost an hour away, we had nowhere to stop and eat. This posed a problem for the many individuals (including myself) who hadn't packed a lunch. We suggested a gas station stop, but I think the bus driver decided to switch his "Selective Hearing" button on at that moment.

After several hunger complaints, we proceeded to tear the interior of the bus apart in our quest for food. We didn't find much. A small bag of Fritos, a carton of yogurt, a 3 Musketeers bar, some Dinosaur Fruit Snacks, and two strawberries were all that turned up. There were 15 of us. It lasted about two seconds.

We then began to bother the front seats, begging underclassmen for small bites of their homemade sandwiches (sophomores are so smart!). Our coach, out of the goodness of his heart, trooped back and revealed a package of Starburst candy. We nearly tore the poor man's arm off trying to divide 10 pieces of candy among 15 girls.

After we realized that the hunger pains weren't going to magically disappear, we decided to suck it up and quit complaining. We settled into our post game routine of homework, gossip, and figuring out who had the best jokes (mine, of course!).

Forty-five minutes later, we arrived home, and some of the players nearly knocked the coaches over as they raced to their cars in search of a coveted bag of M&Ms. After a turkey sandwich, a glass of milk, and a quick thanks to the refrigerator god, most of us returned to normal.

Who knows what the next bus trip will bring? Victory or defeat, I'm hoping there'll be more food.

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month

[illegible]

This will be the first year that October in Minnesota is [illegible] in observance of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The events are sponsored jointly by a broad coalition of health-related organizations, including the American Cancer Society Minnesota Division (ACS) and the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH).

"Major organizations are joining forces with ACS and MDH for the Pink Ribbon Campaign," said Julie Destache, president of the local chapter of ACS. "Getting routine mammograms is currently the most effective way to detect breast cancer, and it becomes more important as you grow older. The Pink Ribbon Campaign encourages all women to take care of their health."

Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls offers low cost mammograms all year round for non-symptomatic patients and individuals over the age of 40. Individuals interested in getting a mammogram should check with their own physician before making an appointment.

MDH offers free mammograms for women who lack health coverage and otherwise might not be reached by the health care system through a network of over 220 health care providers. [illegible] ACS by calling 1-800-ACS-2345. [illegible] are available year round.

Other than skin cancer, breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women. However, if breast cancer is detected in its early stages, the five-year survival rate can be as high as [illegible] percent. Routine mammograms can be a women's best bet to detect and treat this disease early.

ACS recommends that women get yearly mammograms starting at age 40.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

...A Little Buggy, And I Don't Mean for Baby

Is anyone else being bothered by bugs this year? I've been having a lot of trouble with bugs lately, and even though it got colder at night the past few days and the bugs should have gotten cold enough to die, or at least get less active, they are still pestering me.

There are certainly a lot of bees around. I can't seem to go outside without having several bees buzzing around, and they aren't all the same kind of bee, either. I've been buzzed by large yellow ones and small black ones and those busy, yellow and black, medium-sized ones that look so vicious - as if they could really sting like crazy if they wanted to do so.

I know the cooler weather is supposed to make bees fly around slower, but the ones that are dive bombing me certainly don't seem very slow. Sunday I was outside sanding a chair and I had more bees than I could count around my head (and probably around the rest of me, too, but I was too busy sanding to notice). I tried to shoo them away with the sander, hoping they would get sucked into its little vacuum bag, but they were too smart to fall for that. I don't know why they hung around me - I didn't smell like a flower at all while I was working. At least I've haven't been stung yet, probably because I'm moving too fast for them to latch on to me.

There are also a lot of ants around, and they seem to be coming into the house. Last week I was staining a table in my basement and, of course, had to kneel on the floor to get to the legs. I'm sure one of those nasty ants crawled up onto my foot and bit me several times, knowing I was incapacitated there on the floor with my hands full, unable to swat or swish him off. (Actually, I was so uncomfortable there and my feet were all doubled up under me so that I didn't even notice that I had been bitten until later.) The reason I think it was an ant was because the next day I saw a long black ant traipsing across the floor. I didn't have my hands full then, but I had my rubber gloves on, and I really enjoyed squishing him between my fingers. My foot still itches from that bite though.

Flies are always around at the end of the summer. They get more sticky and icky the closer it gets to the end of the season. Right now they have no fear - they fly around in front of a person's face, land to leave their dirty germs on any available piece of skin, and seem to do nothing but taunt me. I've taken to having a fly swatter next to me on the couch at all times so I can get rid of the pests and my aim is improving so they'd better beware.

And what are those little black bugs? Are they fruit flies, gnats or midges or what? They are terrible. They must come through the screens because there seem to be hundreds of them in the house all the time.

Those black things have no sense at all. They are as bad as moths, only smaller, which is good because I don't have to see their faces (more about moths' faces next week). They flitter and flutter in front of a person's face, and don't seem to care where they are flying. I've even had one in my ear (thank heaven it flew out again - how embarrassing if it hadn't). They even try to get into my mouth, especially if I am eating a piece of fruit. They flap around in front of my face when I am reading or working on the computer, like now - there's one right this minute between me and the computer screen and he won't go away. I'm afraid I might inhale him, and then what would happen?

The only way to get rid of them is to kill them, and that isn't easy. I have some success in clapping my hands together, since the dumb things just hover there in the same general area and they are so small that I can nearly always hit them with one part of my hand or another. The only time I miss is when my hands are cupped and the little buggers fly out when I open them.

Since there are an abundance of bugs around these days, and I have a limited amount of space for this column, I will write about more bugs next week. Not that I really want it to come, but maybe between this week and next we'll have a good freeze and all the bugs will miraculously disappear.

Scarecrow Cones

These delicious treats are something to crow about! For each serving, top a standard ice cream cone with a big round scoop of vanilla ice cream or frozen yogurt. Press some crumbled shredded wheat or toasted coconut onto the scoop to make the scarecrow's hair. Add some raisins for eyes and a candy corn nose. Finish off with a bit of maraschino cherry for a mouth. That scarecrow looks good enough to eat!

Bobby Joe the Scarecrow
(Tune: Old McDonald)

Bobby Joe is stuffed with hay
Way down on the farm
Oh, will he scare the crows away?
Way down on the farm
Oh, the crows are here
And they want to stay
Bobby Joe, Bobby Joe,
Can you make them fly away?
Bobby scared the crows away!

Learning to Share

Do you hear "It's mine!" more often than you'd like? Sharing is a process of development and does not come easily to young children. Some children may grab whatever they want without asking. Others may share quite freely, but only with a special friend or with one sibling over another. According to an article in a recent issue of the "Parent and Child" magazine, you should make use of your child's developmental characteristics when trying to deal with the issue of sharing. The following suggestions may help.

Two-year-olds: Remember that sharing does not come naturally to two-year-olds. They are usually too involved with themselves to be aware of the feelings of others. In the growth process, twos are constantly testing the world and the people around them. Power is important and distraction and substitution are the keys to dealing with conflict.

Verbalize the process even though you know it will take time for the children to absorb the idea. For example, during a conflict over a toy you might say, "Jackie, you have the truck. You may use it now, but in a few minutes we'll let Don have a turn." When Jackie doesn't have to fight for the toy, she may very well walk away from it. Or Don may also lose interest before his turn comes. Attention spans at this age are very short!

Three-year-olds: Threes tend to be more cooperative and considerate. They are able to wait a bit, which is a step beyond the "I want it now!" stage. For a three-year-old having a friend is becoming important. Stress the idea that "Jane is your friend. It makes her happy when she shares her toy with you."

Children learn by example. Therefore when they see their peers or adults sharing, they will often copy that behavior. Rather than trying to "teach" sharing, set a good example.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

When you make or buy a treat, say, "Today I baked some cookies to share with you." When you see your child share, mention it. "It made Barry happy when you let him have the truck." Be subtle and casual. Don't make a big fanfare over it.

Efforts made to preserve state flower

In an effort to preserve the state flower, the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) and the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources' (DNR) Minnesota Conservation Corps (MCC), will be removing various species of lady slippers along T.H. 11 from Roosevelt to Williams and transplanting them to T.H. 11 right-of-way between Williams and Baudette. Some of the flowers will also be transplanted in Zippel Bay Park and other state parks yet to be determined.

The MCC is a major contributor to the improvement and upkeep of natural resources in the state and this cooperative effort is anticipated to result in the preservation of thousands of lady slippers that would otherwise be destroyed as a result of the reconditioning of T.H. 11 in northern Minnesota.

In addition to utilizing MCC crews, some local area school children from the Baudette School and Borderland Christian School in Williams will also be participating.

The event is planned to start on Monday, September 22, and will be completed by Thursday, September 25, depending on weather conditions.

Brodin's wins national award

Brodin Sheet Metal of Thief River Falls was awarded the Silver Medal of Excellence by Bryant Heating and Cooling Systems in recognition of business management, employee development and outstanding customer service. The heating and air conditioning contractor was one of only 15 Silver Medalists selected from nearly 1,000 Bryant Dealers nationwide who submitted award applications.

"Medal of Excellence recipients are chosen not only for their overall performance, but also for a particular aspect of their business that sets them apart from other dealers," says Frank Hartman, vice president and general manager of Bryant's Residential Products Group. "The special strengths of this year's dealers include high-profile community involvement, proven marketing techniques and 100 percent customer satisfaction programs."

According to John Tofte, owner of Brodin's, "Our employees are the ones who deserve the most recognition. Without everyone's hard work and dedication to serving our customers, we couldn't do it. I applaud my employees first and foremost."

Brodin Sheet Metal offers many different kinds of products and services, from home indoor comfort systems (both retrofit and new construction) to sheet metal fabrication and commercial retrofit installations. Tofte says that a lot has changed in the indoor comfort business since 1933 when his company was established. "For instance, today we're much more than a heating and cooling company. We consider ourselves the local indoor air quality experts," says Tofte. "Because the U.S. EPA has identified poor indoor air quality to be the number one rated health risk, we also offer products that keep your home's air healthy — like air cleaners, heat recovery ventilators, humidifiers and much more." He adds that educating customers on subjects such as indoor air quality has become a top priority for his company.

The Medal of Excellence program, now in its seventh year, continues a dealership self-assessment and an on-site review. The review is conducted by a selection committee that verifies the results of the dealer's assessment and quality statement, evaluates the dealer's physical workplace, and determines where the dealer uses a customer-focused business plan. Interviews of dealership employees are conducted to make sure they have a clear understanding of their company's programs and business.

Brodin Sheet Metal is located at 1902 Highway 32 South in Thief River Falls, 218-681-4333.

Physical rehabilitation clinic, a habilitation technology clinic and a neurology clinic will be conducted Tuesday, October 14, at Messiah Lutheran Church in Roseau, sponsored by the Roseau American Legion Auxiliary and Minnesota Children with Special Health Needs (MCSHN) of the Minnesota Department of Heath.

The children's physical rehabilitation clinic is for any child through 12 years of age. The clinic staff consists of a pediatrician, pediatric nurse practitioner, speech pathologist, hearing/vision consultant and medical social worker.

This clinic will provide evaluations for children with suspected problems in speech, language, hearing, vision, development, nutrition or feeding, hyperactivity or any other health problem.

The habilitation technology clinic is for any child under 21 years of age with delayed physical development, coordination problems, cerebral palsy or other physical handicaps.

Children who need wheelchairs or other adaptive equipment adjusted or fabricated may also be seen. The clinic sponsors recommend that, if possible, each new participant gets a referral from a doctor.

A physical medicine specialist, rehabilitation technologist and augmentative communication technologist will be available to examine children who attend the clinic. Parents may also consult with a medical social worker.

Children with medical or developmental problems may attend the neurology clinic which is for any child under 21 years of age and offers assessment of suspected neurological impairment.

The assessment may result in a referral for further evaluation or treatment. Clinic sponsors recommend that, if possible, each participant gets a referral and medical history from his or her primary physician. A pediatric neurologist from the Mayo Clinic will be available to examine children who attend the clinic and parents may consult with a medical social worker.

For more information or to make an appointment for any of the three clinics, call LaVonne Ammerman at 218-463-1115 in Roseau or write to her at 301 Sixth Street SW, Roseau, MN 56751.

Laura Follett watched the ball bounce away after a dive in an attempt to keep the play going came up short for the Thief River Falls junior during Monday's high school volleyball match against Fosston. Teammates Lindsay Drury and Desirae Alberg watched the action.

Prowlers sweep Greyhounds

Taya Hunt gave Thief River Falls a match-opening boost at the service line and the Prowlers turned that edge into a 3-0 high school volleyball win over visiting Fosston Monday.

Hunt served six quick points to open the contest, recording aces on two of her first three serves, propelling Thief River Falls to a 15-13, 15-11, 15-5 sweep.

"Six in a row by Taya at the start really made a difference," said Bruce Jean, who along with Amy Roche serves as the Prowlers' co-head coach this fall. "Getting off to a start like that gets everybody going."

It was a top-notch showing by the Prowlers, according to Jean. "It was an unbelievable win," he said. "The kids did a nice job. We hit the ball to kill. Everybody had a strong match."

However, it wasn't easy putting away the traditionally strong Greyhounds. After giving up the first half-dozen points in Game 1, the visitors battled back to tie it 12-12 on an ace by Meghan Palubicki and went ahead 13-12 on a block by Nicole Sundbom.

But a kill by the Prowlers' Lisa Dicken snapped a 13-13 tie and when the Greyhounds couldn't get the ball back over the net on the next volley, Thief River Falls had a 1-0 edge in the books.

A 4-1 Game 2 Thief River Falls lead turned into a 7-4 Fosston advantage before Hunt served back-to-back aces to begin a four-point run by the Prowlers. A kill by Desirae Alberg tied it and an ace by Dicken put the Prowlers back on top 8-7.

They never lost the lead. After staying at 12-8 for an extended stretch of service rotations, the Prowlers took command on kills by Lindsay Drury and Rachel Mathison, then closed it out when Laura Follett won out on a tie-up at the net.

An ace by Dicken and a kill by Drury finished another 6-0 Thief River Falls start in Game 3. Fosston did chop the difference to 6-3, but seven straight service points by Erica McGeary helped the Prowlers break it open and complete the sweep.

A strong all-around night for Hunt included eight aces, 15 assists and five kills. Dicken contributed three aces, along with a team-high 12 kills. Drury wound up with nine kills and Alberg had six. McGeary joined Hunt in the play-making department with seven assists.

TRF doubles Virginia 40-20

Unbeaten Virginia scored first, but Thief River Falls controlled play the rest of the night Friday as the Prowlers rolled to an impressive 40-20 victory in their first-ever high school football match-up with the Blue Devils.

"We played great," reported Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Mumm after the Prowlers picked up their third straight win following a season-opening one-point loss to Sartell. "We dominated both sides of the football."

Tom Debeltz broke off a 70-yard run to set up his game-opening five-yard touchdown run for an early 6-0 Virginia lead.

But it was a short-lived advantage. Wade Chiodo returned the ensuing kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown and the Prowlers were on their way.

The quick answer to the Virginia score was a key, said Mumm, along with a Thief River Falls goal line stand at the end of the first half as the Prowlers protected a 14-6 lead after Virginia had a first-and-goal situation from the four-yard line.

"Defensively we played well," noted Mumm. "We gave them 126 yards on the ground, and 70 of those came on that one run. They got 128 yards passing, but 60 of those yards came on one play, too. Other than those two plays, they got nothing."

It was a solid team effort on defense, pointed out Mumm. "It starts up front," he explained. "Those kids are doing their job. That frees up our linebackers. We've got good athletes at linebacker and they're making the plays, and we've got good speed in the secondary."

Thief River Falls had a 34-6 cushion before a 63-yard Virginia touchdown pass and an 82-yard kickoff return made the final score look closer than what it really was.

Raiders stop Pioneers 47-10

Central Lakes jumped out to a 21-0 first quarter lead and rolled to a 47-10 Minnesota Community College Conference football win over Northland Saturday in Brainerd.

It was the third loss in as many starts for the Pioneers. The Raiders are 3-0.

It's a frustrating start for Northland coach Gene Klinke who thought the Pioneers would field a playoff contending team this fall.

"We played our worst game yet," said Klinke. "We're young, and because we're playing so many freshmen, we expect to make mistakes. The problem is that we don't seem to be learning from those mistakes. Everybody says you learn from your mistakes. But I think we're educated enough right now."

In addition to the difference on the scoreboard, the Raiders finished with a 388-209 advantage in total yards.

The Pioneers fought a losing battle for field position all afternoon, pointed out Klinke.

"We're playing sophomores on offense who have to do a better job to help the freshmen on defense," explained Klinke. "Offensively, we have to stay on the field longer. We can't keep putting our defense out there with their backs against the wall."

With sophomore quarterback Dan Wilson sidelined the rest of the season after suffering a broken ankle in the opening drive against Fergus Falls the week before, Klinke and his staff switched Nic Thompson, a sophomore from Warroad, from his starting spot in the defensive secondary to quarterback. His first start included 5-for-16 passing for 105 yards, a touchdown and three interceptions.

"Nic did a wonderful job stepping in for us at quarterback," offered Klinke. "He did everything we asked him to do."

Thompson hooked up with Terry Davis for a 44-yard touchdown pass with 8:49 remaining in the first half – the first points the Raiders have given up this year.

Northland received a 105-yard rushing effort (21 carries) from sophomore Tauheed Johnson, but the Pioneers netted only 104 yards on the ground as a team.

"I still think we've got a very good football team," said Klinke. "We got a better team than what our record would indicate."

Northland will host Minnesota West – Worthington's new name – Saturday in a homecoming game at Prowler Field that has an earlier-than-usual 12 noon starting time.

Best Western Inn/Burkel Trucking/Ridge Runners...

Local team heads to nationals

A shuttle bus left Tuesday to take Best Western Inn/Burkel Trucking/Ridge Runners to the 1997 National Class C women's slow pitch softball tournament scheduled to be played Sept. 25-28 in Montgomery, Alabama.

The Thief River Falls Women's Slow Pitch League champion earned a national tournament berth with a third place finish at the Minnesota state tournament Aug. 23-24 in Crookston.

It's a team that began its existence 28 years ago in Middle River. The roster features players ranging in age from 18 to 45 from Warroad, Strathcona, Middle River, Thief River Falls, and St. Hilaire.

"We're pretty pumped up about it," said Marilyn Helgeland, acting as the team spokesperson.

There was never any doubt about the team taking on the financial and time commitments involved in a national tournament trip, according to Helgeland. "It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," she said. "When we qualified, we just said we were going, and that was it."

The trip is expected to cost about $6,000. Team members were involved in a number of fund-raising activities in an attempt to meet those expenses. "The community has been supporting it (the trip) pretty well," noted Helgeland.

To be headed to nationals was a surprise, admitted Helgeland, since the team was a third place finisher at the district level. But they duplicated that effort at the state tournament to keep the season going.

How many teams will show up for the national tournament is unclear, said Helgeland, but each state can send four qualifiers to the double elimination affair.

The Thief River Falls League champions hit .569 as a team this summer, out-scoring the opposition 113-109. Tim Johnson serves as the coach. Paula Fanfulik is the captain.

Line-up for the 13-player squad includes Fanfulik or Amber Carpenter at first base, Shannon Olson or Diane Klemetson, who has been with the team for 27 of its 28 years, at second base, Dawn Knoll at shortstop, Carrie Wallace or Rachel Berry at third base, Andrea Engen, pitcher, Julie Stennes, catcher, Michelle Erickson, left field, Patti Peterson, rover, Cheryl Johnson, center field, and Helgeland, right field.

"We're pretty solid on defense in the infield, and everybody contributes offensively," said Helgeland.

Peterson leads the team with a .700 batting average, followed by Engen at .660, Erickson .653, Olson .620, Knoll .618, Stennes .572, Fanfulik .552, Berry .526, Johnson .507, Wallace .471, Helgeland .443, Klemetson .391, and Carpenter .313.

Peterson has team-high figures with six home runs, ten doubles and seven triples.

The team has been practicing under the lights at the fairgrounds diamond in Thief River Falls since the state tournament in preparation for the national event.

While the team has been in operation for the past 28 years, Thief River Falls has been a national-qualifying sanctioned league for just the last seven years.

Because of its 1997 success, the team will have to compete at the tougher Class B level next summer, making it more difficult to make a return trip to the national.

Like Helgeland said, "a once-in-a-lifetime" opportunity.

Anderson runs for 254 yards in Blue Devils win

Alex Anderson had a busy Saturday night. The 160-pound Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke senior was handed the ball 49 times, and he responded with a 254-yard, four-touchdown performance that led the Blue Devils to a 34-24 Top of the State Conference Nine-Man high school football win at East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Anderson scored on touchdown runs of 6, 19, 2, and 5 yards as the Blue Devils ended a brief two-game losing streak and improved their record to 3-2.

Blocking by offensive linemen Ben Hanson and Carson Sandiff were instrumental in springing Anderson loose for his yards, pointed out Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Hagen.

"Offensively we did pretty well, but we had some trouble defensively," noted Hagen. "We didn't put them away when we had the chance."

Quarterback Jared Eidelbes was second on the Blue Devils' rushing charts with 43 yards on 9 carries. He was also 4-for-5 passing for 70 yards.

Defensively, Hanson, Steve Waling and Anderson were the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke leaders on the tackle charts.

The Blue Devils will face Marshall County Central Friday in Goodridge.

NCTC splits pair of volleyball matches

A split against Rainy River and Bottineau Saturday in the Northland Community and Technical Pepsi volleyball triangular left the host Pioneers right where they started the day – .500 for the year at 4-4.

Rainy River defeated Northland 15-13, 15-9, 6-15, 15-13 in a match that counts as a Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division contest, while the Pioneers swept Bottineau 15-5, 15-6, 15-7.

The Pioneers are 3-1 in the MCCC.

"We had our chances against Rainy River," explained Northland coach Shari Olson. "They're not unbeatable."

Northland controlled play for the most part against Bottineau. "When things are routine, we were in control," mentioned Olson. "We had a little trouble when they would break that routine – like sending the ball over on two hits instead of three. We have to work on our free-ball positions."

The Pioneers' efforts against Rainy River included 14 kills by Naomi Wilebski, 16 assists for Melissa Bernstein, and two aces for both Bernstein and Jami VanEngen. Angie Vagle came up with 12 digs, and Lara Hendrickson had 11. Tammy Neirby, after missing a Friday match against Hibbing because of an ankle injury, led the Pioneers with seven blocks. Wilebski had six and Meckenzie Malwitz had five.

Against Bottineau, Paula Hovda led the way with eight kills and Wilebski had five. Bernstein collected nine assists and Rayna Benson had five. Angie Vagle finished with a team-high four aces, and Benson added three. Hovda also contributed nine digs and Cassie Stalberger had seven.

Prowlers win volleyball title

Strong serving keyed Thief River Falls' title-winning performance Saturday at the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

The Prowlers served 32 aces during the day that ended with a 15-2, 15-3 championship match sweep of Tri-County.

"We played well," reported Thief River Falls co-head coach Bruce Jean. "Against Tri-County, we got on a roll and just didn't make any mistakes. We're putting the ball away when we get the chance."

Thief River Falls began the round-robin portion of the tournament with a 15-5, 15-0 win over Stephen-Argyle. A pair of second-game comebacks enabled the Prowlers to gain championship match qualifying splits against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo and Fertile-Beltrami. Against the Pirates, the Prowlers lost a 15-12 Game 1 decision, but took Game 2 by a 15-9 margin. It was a similar outcome against the Falcons as the Prowlers lost a close 15-13 Game 1 verdict but won Game 2 by a 15-7 margin.

"We came back against both of them and held them down defensively in the second games," pointed out Jean.

Taya Hunt had 11 aces to lead Thief River Falls' service line point producers. Erica McGeary and Laura Follett [illegible].

Lindsay Drury and Lisa Dicken led the Thief River Falls hitters with 20 and 18 kills, respectively, for the day.

Rachel Mathison came up with six blocks and Dicken had four over the course of the tournament.

Hunt was credited with [illegible] assists and McGeary had [illegible].

With the splits against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo and Fertile-Beltrami counting as ties, the Prowlers came out of the tournament with an 8-3-2 season record.

RLCC returns to win column

Red Lake County Central returned to the win column Friday with a 42-8 Nine-Man North Tri-County Conference high school football win on the road over Ulen-Hitterdal.

The Mustangs opened the 1997 season with a 54-28 victory over Tri-County, but then lost back-to-back games to Clearbrook/Gonvick 46-28 and Norman County East 24-8.

"We played better," said Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "We eliminated some mistakes, and had some consistency."

First touchdown of the game came off a blocked punt as the Mustangs' Mark Lorenson knocked the kick into the arms of teammate T.J. Larson, who returned it 20 yards for the score.

Red Lake County Central went into halftime with a 29-0 cushion and momentum after scoring on a clock-beating drive that ended with a 6-yard Lorenson touchdown pass to Tyler Nelson with just three seconds on the clock. Brandon Tougas runs of 10 and 7 yards were key plays that kept the drive going.

It was 36-0 through three quarters.

"We had an opportunity to give everybody some quality playing time," pointed out Brantl.

Kyle Jenson gained 72 yards on 12 carries to lead the Mustangs' ground game that produced 184 yards while Lorenson had 45 yards on eight carries and Tougas netted 42 yards on 10 attempts. Lorenson was 6-for-11 passing for 109 yards. Nick Waldal was the top receiver with three catches for 35 yards.

Defensively, Larson, Tougas, Jenson and Matt Hruby were all in on six tackles and Nelson had a hand in five stops.

TRF, Bemidji meet Friday

Long-time high school football rivals Thief River Falls and Bemidji will renew their dormant series Friday when the Lumberjacks visit Prowler Field for a 7 p.m. kickoff.

The two teams have played 73 times dating back to 1911, but this will be their first meeting since 1989 when Bemidji won 42-6.

The Class 5-A Lumberjacks are 0-4 this fall, but the quality of competition has a lot to do with that, pointed out Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Mumm. The setbacks have come at the hands of Brainerd 46-21, Grand Rapids 20-13, Moorhead 26-13 and Detroit Lakes 27-6 last week.

Thief River Falls is 3-1. The lone loss was a 21-20 season-opening decision at the hands of a Sartell team that is the unbeaten leader in the Central Lakes Conference. Since losing to the Sabres, the Prowlers have beaten Detroit Lakes 27-20 in overtime, Crookston 20-14 and Virginia 40-20 last week. The Blue Devils had been unbeaten with wins over Eveleth-Gilbert 60-0, Crookston 18-0 and Hibbing 16-14.

"We're looking forward to playing Bemidji," said Mumm. "They're big, and they're physical, but it's fun facing different teams. It's a little extra incentive for the kids."

Gators lose to Warroad 3-0

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River knocked off Warroad Saturday en route to a runner-up finish at the Roseau Invitational, but the outcome was reversed in a Monday regular season rematch won by Warroad 15-8, 15-4, 15-11.

The Gators struggled throughout the match, according to head coach Christine Adrian. "We had trouble serving," she explained. "We couldn't get the ball over the net. We had our good streaks and our bad streaks, but the bad out-weighed the good."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had trouble defending Warroad hitter Heather Evans, who had 16 kills.

Nordics lose to Wildcats 20-14

Marshall County Central shut out Tri County in the second half, but couldn't generate enough offense to make up for a first half deficit Friday and wound up losing a 20-14 Nine Man high school football game at Newfolden.

"We built some momentum in the second half," explained Marshall County Central coach Kent Warner, whose team trailed 20-6 at halftime. "We only gave them 20 yards of offense in the second half."

But the Nordics couldn't come up with the points. "They (Wildcats) have a good defense," noted Warner. "We were running some yards, but [illegible]

Volleyball

A Thursday volleyball match produced a split as the Franklin eighth graders beat Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 15-2, 15-7 in the A match and the Ponies won the B match 15-0, 15-12.

B/G-MR volleyball team is runner-up at Roseau

Badger/Greenbush Middle River was a second place finisher Saturday in the Roseau Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

Kittson/Northome beat Badger/Greenbush Middle River 15-6, 15-10 to start the round robin pool play portion of the tournament, but the Gators came back to defeat the Roseau junior varsity 15-9, 15-6 and Warroad 15-9, 15-9 to reach the finals against Morris, Manitoba.

The Canadian club team won the title match 15-3, 15-12.

"We were a little slow in the morning," pointed out Gators head coach Christine Adrian. "We missed tons and tons of serves. But the second match we were a lot stronger and we played our best against Warroad. We were very aggressive, very consistent."

Fatigue began to set in by day's end, acknowledged Adrian, as the Gators' performance level dropped a notch against a strong Morris squad.

Badger/Greenbush Middle River played without Kara Kuznia, sidelined by an ankle injury. However, Mona Reese stepped in and played well, noted Adrian, who said the Gators' day-long efforts were highlighted by the hitting of Tiffany Hagen, the defensive efforts of Kelsey Fabless and the setting of Stefanie Sparby.

Results put the Gators at 3-6.

The trails are used for bicycling, roller skating, jogging, and hiking.

Widening and repaving the 28-mile segment of the Heartland Trail cost $954,000. The Department of Natural Resources worked with a local task force of business and community leaders and legislative representatives over the last several years to put together a funding package that included $200,000 from the state capital bonding process, $175,000 from the state Environmental Trust Fund as recommended by the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources, and $615,000 from the Federal Highway Administration through the Inter-modal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA).

The DNR Trails and Waterways Division also secured $200,000 in ISTEA funding for the $377,000 cost of the Lake Bemidji/Paul Bunyan Trail paving project. The rest came from DNR bonding funds from the Trails & Waterways and Parks and Recreation divisions.

Hunters-landowner relations are often hurt by trespassers

Nothing causes more damage to hunter-landowner relationships than trespassing.

"Entering private property without first asking permission is not only illegal but it also makes it that much more difficult for all hunters to obtain permission to hunt on private land," said Brian Kuphal, Department of Natural Resources Area enforcement supervisor at Mankato.

According to Kuphal, deer hunters generate the most landowner complaints about trespassing, followed closely by pheasant hunters. "That's not to say that deer hunters are less ethical than other hunters," Kuphal said. "However, with deer hunting you have a comparatively short season and huge numbers of hunters in a limited amount of deer habitat. And there also seems to be more self-imposed pressure to shoot a deer, another element that can lead some people to make foolish choices."

Kuphal said two primary factors generally come into play in trespassing cases. "Usually, the hunter did not take the time or make the effort to line up places to hunt beforehand. Or, the hunter happens upon a situation -- an opportunity, as he sees it -- and gives in to the temptation."

Trespassers, Kuphal noted, rarely set out with the intention of trespassing. "Maybe he's driving down the road, frustrated with the hunting success he's had that day, and suddenly comes across a pheasant or a deer inside a posted area. All of a sudden this normally law-abiding person forgets about the law and gives in to the temptation. The landowner calls the sheriff's department and the next thing you know the guy is getting arrested for trespassing."

Recent changes in the trespass laws have made it easier to apprehend and prosecute violators, Kuphal said. The trespass law is clearly spelled out beginning on page 7 of the 1997 Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations booklet, available at all license vendors. "I strongly urge all hunters to make sure they read through the trespass law," Kuphal said. "It could save them a lot of headaches and money."

As for landowners, Kuphal suggests posting land they want off limits to hunters. While it is illegal to enter any agricultural land regardless of whether or not it is posted, Kuphal said it "wouldn't hurt to post non-ag land as well, just as an added precaution. Both CRP and RIM land is considered agricultural land, but some hunters continue to have the mistaken belief that it is permissible to hunt this land without permission. It is not."

Kuphal also suggests that landowners not become directly involved with any trespasser after initially requesting them to leave the property. "After asking them to leave, get a description of the trespasser and write down the license number and make and model of their vehicle. Then leave the area and call the sheriff's department."

DNR conservation officers typically have some 700 to 800 square miles to patrol, Kuphal noted. "Because of those large territories, we're not always able to get there right away. But either we or the sheriff's department will respond as quickly as we can if the violation is reported."

The future of hunting rests in the hearts and minds of private landowners, Kuphal added. "It is so self-defeating to antagonize those very people who hold the key to good hunting habitat by trespassing," Kuphal said. "If there is one sure way to make more land off-limits to hunters, trespassing is it."

The solution? Always ask first.

Winning design is selected for 1998 state duck stamp

A pair of harlequin ducks resting on rocks in an area related to northern Minnesota lakes will be featured on the 1998 Minnesota Migratory Waterfowl Stamp. The painting by Thomas Moen of Plymouth was chosen as the winning design from among 68 entries in the stamp contest sponsored by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. It was Moen's first win in the highly competitive contest.

Twenty-one entries advanced into the second stage of judging, from which five finalists were selected. The other finalists were Scott Storm, Sartell, second place with a painting of green-winged teal; Frederick Short, Ramsey, third with blackducks; Bob Hautman, Plymouth, fourth with green-winged teal; and Bruce Miller, Mound, fifth with green-winged teal.

Eight Mississippi Flyway species were eligible as subjects for the 1998 Minnesota stamp, according to Tom Landwehr, the DNR stamp contest coordinator. "We are trying to get all flyway species onto a Minnesota stamp at least once," said Landwehr, "so next year we'll include the seven remaining species in the contest."

Five-member panel of judges included Char Brooker, president of the Izaak Walton League [illegible] Chapter; Cheryl Miller, wetland specialist with the Minnesota Audubon Council; Ray Norrgard, DNR wildlife lake specialist; John Mesic, publisher of the Outdoor News newspaper; and Chris Niskanen, outdoors writer for the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The $5 duck stamp is required of all Minnesota waterfowl hunters ages 18 through 64. Stamp sales generate between $400,000 and $600,000 per year for habitat enhancement projects in state wildlife management areas and designated waterfowl lakes.

DNR offers no prizes for the winner of the contest, but the winning artist retains the right to reproduce the work, which is usually done as limited edition prints. The 1998 stamp, which will be the 22nd Minnesota stamp, will be available for sale in March 1998. The stamp contest is open only to Minnesota residents.

"The Minnesota contest is the best and toughest state contest in the country because of the strength of the art community," concluded Landwehr. "We appreciated the effort made by all the entrants and hope they continue their excellent work."

Snowshoe making class offered at Rydell Refuge

People interested in learning about snowshoes or participating in a class to make a pair of their own are invited to a program to be presented by Diane Bach of Thief River Falls at 2 p.m. Sunday, October 4, at Rydell National Wildlife Refuge southwest of Erskine.

Bach will discuss the advantages of several different styles of snowshoes and explain the basics of how to make a pair using kits which utilize traditional white ash frames and nylon lacing. This information program is free of charge.

For those interested in building a pair of their own snowshoes, Bach will offer a two-day class for approximately six hours per day to be scheduled for October or November, depending on the preference of participants, at Rydell refuge.

Cost of the class will be $65 and include the kit for making one pair of snowshoes. The kit does not include bindings, but Bach has options for making those as well. Three styles of snowshoes will be available to choose from, and Diane also has several furniture options using variations of the same wood and lacing techniques.

Persons who are interested in the class but unable to attend the program October 4 may contact Diane at 218-681-8170.

Snowshoes were historically used to assist winter movement from visiting neighbors to tending traplines. Today, snowshoeing has become one of the fastest growing winter recreation pursuits and a wide variety of snowshoes accommodates everything from Arctic expeditions to snow jogging.

Part of Hwy. 1 to be closed on Tues., Sept. 23

Highway 1 between Atlantic and Davis Avenues in Thief River Falls will be closed from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, September 23, for repair of a [illegible] rail track.

Repair of the track will cause traffic to be detoured from Highway 1 to Highway 59 and back via Davis and Atlantic Avenues.

On Thursday, September 25, from 8:30 a.m. to about 12:30 p.m., the state department of transportation will be conducting a surface repair of the railroad crossing on Highway 59 in Thief River Falls. Repair will be on the north half of the crossing between Davis and Atlantic Avenues and traffic will be rerouted to shift lanes to accommodate the work.

The week will also mark the beginning of a statewide campaign called "Highways or Dieways" by Minnesota Operation Lifesaver and the Minnesota Departments of Transportation and Public Safety to increase public awareness of responsibilities at railroad crossings. The departments are urging all motorists to use extreme caution when approaching a rail crossing and to obey all traffic signing instructions.

Thefts. On September 15 law enforcement received a report of a theft from a vehicle. A VCR was taken out of a vehicle parked at a residence in Rocksbury township. The theft loss was estimated at $175.

Accidents. On September 17 at 12:56 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Nyflot Car Wash. Odin Clarence Hanson, Thief River Falls, was driving his car into the car wash. When he reached over to roll up a window to prevent water from entering the car, he accidentally stepped on the accelerator and his car ran into the car wash machine. Police estimated damage to his car at $1,500 and damage to the car wash at about $2,000.

On September 17 at 6:47 p.m. police received a report of an accident at 820 North Main. According to the accident report, Ryan David Royalty, Thief River Falls, was driving a car north on Main. He looked down at his radio and the car veered to the side and struck a boat owned by Chris Jenson, Thief River Falls. The boat went into the yard and over a tree and planter. Police estimated damages at $100 to the boat, and the Royalty vehicle was considered a total loss. A passenger in the Royalty vehicle, Owen Mission, Thief River Falls, hit his head on the windshield. The accident is still under investigation.

On September 19 at 9:58 a.m. police received a report of an accident at Third and Brooks. Erika Lee Wilberg, Plummer, was stopped in her vehicle facing west on Third street when a car driven by Julius Rosalie Kleinsachter, Strandquist, struck the rear of her vehicle. Both drivers sustained minor injuries. Police estimated damages at $2,000 to the Kleinsachter vehicle and $3,500 to the Wilberg vehicle. Kleinsachter was cited for inattentive driving.

On September 19 at 10:47 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Nightengale Road and Robin Hood Drive. Odin Lonnie Nyflot, Thief River Falls, was injured and taken to Northwest Medical Center. His injuries occurred when he was thrown from his 1922 Roadster. According to the accident report, the accelerator of his Roadster stuck, the vehicle collided with a fire hydrant and Nyflot was thrown from the vehicle. His body struck a tree. He was taken to the hospital with injuries to his ribs, knee and head.

Assault. On September 17 at 8 p.m. police received a report of an assault at Franklin Middle School. A 14-year-old male allegedly shoved and then grabbed a 13-year-old male by the neck. The 14-year-old male faces assault charges in juvenile proceedings.

Disorderly conduct. On September 21 at 1:26 a.m. officers were dispatched to a residence in a trailer court. A man was pounding on doors and windows of a residence. Upon investigating, Ricky Lynn Olson, 38, Thief River Falls, was charged with disorderly conduct and possession of a small amount of marijuana.

Thief River Falls school children had an opportunity to have a hand (and feet) in creating a huge painting at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls during the Very Special Arts program conducted in Thief River Falls September 17, 18 and 19. The students created sponge forms which were attached to the roller shown in the center of the photo above and the roller's fountain was filled with paint. As the roller was pushed or pulled across the paper-covered floor, it created a repetitive pattern. Hundreds of students, their feet clad in disposable paper boots, participated in the painting project.

Three cars of the Northern Plains railroad derailed Saturday, September 20, near Warren.

The three cars spilled their load of grain and blocked County road 15 for a period of time. Marshall County Sheriff's department received a report of the accident at about 6:30 p.m. There were no injuries and the spill is in the process of being cleaned up.

Drugs and cash recovered by law enforcement officials

Several thousands of dollars in cash, drugs and a van were confiscated in a drug bust Friday. Charges are pending against four individuals in Marshall county and three in Pennington county.

It all began on Friday with a search for a missing juvenile. On Friday, September 19, the Thief River Falls Police department received a fax copy report of a juvenile female runaway from Missoula, MT. The report issued from the Missoula Police department stated that the juvenile was with friends in the Thief River Falls area.

After receiving information that the juvenile was in a vehicle in Thief River Falls, officers, with the assistance of the Pennington County Sheriff's department and Minnesota State Patrol began searching for the vehicle. It was located and stopped on the 300 block of North LaBree at about 8:42 p.m. The juvenile runaway was located in the vehicle along with two other men, some marijuana and a large amount of cash.

It was learned that the group were staying at a local hotel. Upon going to the hotel and receiving permission to search the room, officers found another individual along with a large amount of cash, clothes, merchandise, marijuana, and hashish.

Officers also obtained additional information which led them to search for another vehicle. At 10:18 p.m. the vehicle was stopped in the 200 block of North Arnold. The driver and vehicle were searched and a large amount of cash, along with hashish were confiscated.

After interviewing all of the subjects, it was learned that a large amount of hashish was at a residence in Marshall County near Viking.

Marshall County Sheriff's deputies, along with the Thief River Falls Police department searched the residence and confiscated at least four pounds of hashish.

Pennington County authorities announced Monday, September 22, that during their investigation prior to the cooperative effort with Marshall County, they had confiscated an unknown amount of hashish and marijuana, along with about $9,000 in cash and a van. They have charged Frank Todd Terrell, Columbia, TN, with a controlled substance crime in the fifth degree, Jeremy Brian Hendrickson, 19, Thief River Falls, with controlled substance crime in the fifth degree, and Ray Richard Dailey, 19, Seattle, WA, with giving a false name to police, a gross misdemeanor.

Marshall County authorities announced that in addition to the over four pounds of hashish, they also confiscated stereo equipment and clothing. They are charging the following four individuals with felony possession of a controlled substance in the fifth degree: Vernon Lee Walseth, 23, Thief River Falls; Jeremy Brian Hendrickson, 19, Thief River Falls; Ray Richard Dailey, 19, Seattle, WA, and Frank Todd Terrell, 21, Columbia, TN. On Monday, the four appeared in a Ninth District court in Warren and bond was set at $20,000 each. Their next scheduled hearing was set for September 23 at 1:30 p.m.

Cooperating in the investigation were the Thief River Falls Police department, Pennington County Sheriff's department, Marshall County Sheriff's department, and the Minnesota State Patrol.

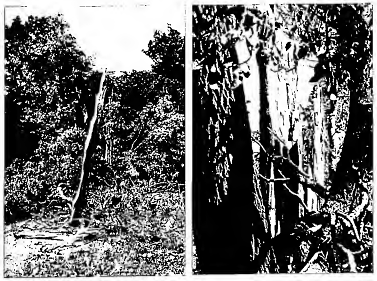
The Second Section



Lightning struck a large ash tree early Tuesday morning on the James Rondorf farm just west of the Thief River Falls regional airport. Splintered fragments from the tree, including the large portion of the trunk shown in the photo at left, were scattered in about a 25-yard radius. The Rondorf's said the sound was like a large explosion and they knew lightning had struck something nearby. The tree was about 150 yards from the house.

Universities help form Red River Learning Corridor

Three universities and a college in northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota have joined to form the Red River Learning Corridor. Included are the University of Minnesota, Crookston, Mayville (ND) State University, Valley City (ND) State University and Northwest Technical College headquartered in Bemidji.

All of the institutions in the group provide their faculty and all students with notebook computers. These mobile computers allow students to be involved in their study at times and places that fit their needs rather than the needs of the institution, according to Donald Sargeant, chancellor at UMC.

Expressed goals for the new program are to encourage communication among faculty, staff and students, share ideas among the campuses and encourage joint efforts by early adopters of technology, achieve greater efficiencies in use of resources than would be possible for a single campus, identify and serve new markets together, expand program options available for students, and encourage policy changes to ease resource sharing across political boundaries.

"Our faculty members already serve as national leaders for integrating technology and learning with notebook computers," says Ray Brown, vice president for academic affairs at Mayville and Valley City universities. "The Red River Learning Corridor serves as a significant next step."

Craig Caspers of Wahpeton, ND, a member of the North Dakota State Board of Higher Education, said the agreement "is another exciting example of long-standing and mutually beneficial relationships between our states. Together these institutions are creating what may well be the first learning corridor for the 21st century. I am confident that the Red River Learning Corridor will prove to be yet another exceptional example of the benefits that collaboration brings to people and to a region."

State grant to BSU aids Polaris, TEAM

Minnesota Job Skills Partnership (MJSP) board has awarded a grant of $170,000 to Bemidji State University (BSU) to assist Polaris Industries and TEAM Industries Group with training to implement an electronic data interchange (EDI) system.

Announcement of the grant was made at the BSU Center for Research and Innovation.

The grant will enable BSU to introduce electronic data interchange between Polaris and each of three significant Minnesota suppliers as well as create a training component to initiate just-in-time inventory practices between Polaris and the firms.

The suppliers—Detroit Lakes Manufacturing, Product Research and Development and Audubon Engineering and Manufacturing—are all part of TEAM Industries, which form a single company that represents a multi-level supplier in delivering several products to Polaris Industries.

The project involves development of training to use EDI to accelerate communication between the original equipment manufacturer and its suppliers. Training on implementation methods focusing on quality-first principles, materials resource management and partnership development will also be delivered.

The project will initially affect over 330 employees at the four test sites, with the long-range EDI implications that could spread to employees in the 66 Minnesota-based suppliers of materials to Polaris.

"I am pleased that the Job Skills Partnership is awarding this grant to provide training for this important Minnesota industry," stated Jay Novak, Minnesota Commissioner of Trade and Economic Development. "This project will allow the companies to maximize productivity, shorten distribution time and dedicate more resources to product development, labor force training and process improvement."

Bemidji State University will be providing training to all four of the initial Minnesota industries, including Polaris Industries at Roseau; Product Research and Development at Bagley, a supplier of assembled transmissions to Polaris; Audubon Engineering and Manufacturing of Audubon, a supplier of gears for the transmission; and DL Manufacturing, Detroit Lakes, a supplier of die-castings for the transmission.

"Bemidji State University recognizes that a rapidly changing and highly competitive marketplace is demanding new methods of production for Minnesota industries," said Dr. Jim Bensen, president of BSU. "These world-class manufacturing processes require firms to be both cost conscious and cost competitive without sacrificing quality. We're fortunate to receive support from the state and the MJSP that will enable us to work with these industries in meeting their corporate goals."

Project facilitation will be assisted by TeamWorks, a high performance non-profit training studio located in Detroit Lakes that is committed to the development of employment opportunities for the unemployed and underemployed through strategic partnerships with business and educational institutions.

With administrative support from the Business and Community Development Division of the Department of Trade and Economic Development, the Minnesota Job Skills Partnership provides matching grants to educational institutions to develop and provide training for Minnesota businesses to meet the changing needs of Minnesota's labor market.

NTC gets grant for training of G-P employees

Northwest Technical College with headquarters in Bemidji has been awarded a grant of $115,000 to participate in a training project with Georgia-Pacific (G-P), one of the nation's largest forest products companies. G-P has 80 employees at its Bemidji plant.

The grant will be used for training G-P employees at the company's Bemidji plant where a new product is being developed — a moldable mat which will be used in interior automobile parts.

In order to meet production quality standards set by the auto industry, G-P is participating in production analysis training with NTC's corporate and institutional relations department, previously known as custom training services.

Production analysis training will give employees the skills to define the production process for the moldable mat and convert documentation into production instruction. Instructional skills training will be given to develop internal trainers for G-P as preparation for instruction in moldable mat production and continuous process improvement.

How fast the summer has slipped away!

Ron and Kathy Juneau, Dave, Kelly and Alysa Krueger attended the 40th Wedding Anniversary of Herb and Betty Deroster on August 30th at the Terrebonne Hall.

Norm and Shirley, parents of Sandy Greenwald, formerly of Plummer but more recently of Thief River Falls, moved to Bottineau, ND over Labor Day weekend. Their address is now 108 Bennett St. #4, Bottineau, ND 58318.

Al and Lorraine Fisher, Helen and Joe Fisher made a trip to Miles City, MT last week to attend the funeral for 18 year-old Brian Hauscka, the son of Joe and Al's sister Anne and Clarence Hauscka. In the midst of great sadness, the family all gathered in support and shared the loss. The Fishers stayed over with Anne and Clarence.

Robin Juneau, her husband and two children, recently visited at the home of Ron and Kathy Juneau.

Frances Schiefert and Ezola Schiefert of Red Lake Falls left on Sunday and were met in Detroit Lakes by Harley Schiefert of Fargo who drove them to the Cities. He returned home that night and Frances and Zolla were overnight guests of son, Sidney Schiefert of Bloomington. Sidney took them to the bus on Monday morning and they went to Chicago where they were met by nephew, Ron Gaulski, who took them to his home in Morton Grove. On Tuesday they were taken to the apartment of their 91 year old sister-in-law, Margaret Russell, and visited there. She accompanied them back to her daughter, Mary Ann and Ron Gaulski's home where she stayed for the remainder of their visit. They returned by bus to Minneapolis and were met by Zella's son, Clint, of Hopkins. They stayed overnight at his home. He brought them back home on Friday.

Many people from Plummer and the surrounding area attended the funeral for Amy Rux on Friday at Calvary Lutheran Church in St. Hilaire. She was a well-liked senior at Plummer High School and will be sadly missed.

The Martha Circle met at the church on Thursday afternoon with Lucille Kvasager serving as hostess. Bible study was led by Jean Carpenter, and Bunny DuChamp was in charge of the business.

Birthday for Idella

Many friends and relatives helped Della Rewertz celebrate her 70th Birthday last week at various times. Those included Doris Malwitz, Loretta Hosse, Ruth Wilkens, Lucille Kvasager, Sirene Wilkens, Gladys Roston, Barry and Deb Rewertz and family, Terry and Heidi Rewertz, Margo Preslobak, and Norma and Clarence Swanson.

Allan Peterson of Blaine spent from Saturday to Monday with his brother Mill and Jan Peterson. Ryan Peterson, son of Mill, from Thief River Falls also spent the weekend.

Weekend visitors at the home of Art and Avis Froland were Marie Foster and Bill Swick of St. Paul, and Mike, Ginger and Katelyn Foster of Osakis. Mike also spent some time in Roseau hunting bear. All except Mike were Saturday night supper guests of Rick and Arlene Froland.

Immanuel Lutheran Women held their Annual Bazaar on Saturday with a nice crowd attending. The fellowship that such an event creates is good to see. And though there were other events close by we had a good day and appreciated all who came and/or brought things to share.

Strandquist

After two or three weeks of ideal harvesting weather, northwest Minnesota experienced a thunderstorm that brought down at least an inch and a half in just a few minutes on Sunday evening. The windows and the walls got a good washing on the north and west sides of the houses. We are thankful Roy's bean tendrils were strong enough to hang on to that trellis he put up for them last spring. So his job of picking beans on a ladder will go on until the frost comes.

This community was saddened by the death of Jerry Blaze, a young man who grew up among us. His mother, Fair Blaze who now lives in Stephen, was born, lived and was schooled in Strandquist and is known in this part of the state for her work as a government survey person of various things from fields, railroads, and things that determined what was most important to our society. Roy and I stopped in to see Ida on Thursday. It was so good to hear and see the things Jerry had done for his mother. It was a good archive of his abilities and character which was a source of comfort for her.

The Strandquist Seniors met on Thursday with five visitors. Wally Rud, Clarinda Cormier, Adrienne Lehoolh, Vinelin and Krystine Pottis, and Anna Sellen. They spent the afternoon working on quilt blocks, getting ready for the fall sale again. Hebie Jacobson served the lunch and she also won the door prize. They will meet again on the 11th of September. Everyone is welcome.

Peter and Pearl Thompson had dinner guests on Tuesday, Don and Carol Gosseiberger from Callaway, LaVerne Rasmussen of Frazee, and LaVonne Johnson.

On Monday Isaac and Betsy Thompson took their granddaughter, Lisa Thompson, to the Paradise Cafe in Strathcona for a pre-school supper.

Judy Kleinvachter and Gordon Berggren enjoyed birthday cake with Jessie Berggren Saturday afternoon.

Gayland and Ilene Nelson visited with Orville Foss and Evelyn Kline on Sunday.

Karen Zimmerman and Pearl Thompson visited Elsie Lehooth on Saturday. Karen helped Elsie pick her crab apples and now Elsie is hunting in her old cookbooks for the recipe for crab apple pickles.

Ray and Mary Manwaring from Battle Creek, MI have taken up residence in Strandquist. We give them a hearty welcome. This is a good area to come to retire. Life does go at a slower pace than in big cities. We hope to make their acquaintance soon.

Elmer Holmstrom and Evelyn Albaugh visited his sister, Judy Kleinvachter on Saturday. Judy June Kasprowicz and Marie Stulton of Argyle attended the funeral for Jerry Blaze.

Betsy Thompson accompanied Marie Johnson to the Fellowship Meeting in Warroad on Sunday.

Pearl Thompson went to Karlstad to visit and help her brother, Johnny Vaglo, housekeep on Thursday. Johnny sometimes forgets and puts in two pots of water in the coffee pot and one measure of coffee and wonders how the counter gets covered with very weak coffee. Of course, Johnny is older than Roy, so he still can fix the coffee here.

Betty Pietruzewski, Pat Lunson and Kathy, Lowell Lehooth, Claudia Berggren with Kirk and Jessica and Kelly Lehooth with Amanda and Jessica enjoyed visiting with Judy Kleinvachter this week.

Roy is ready to go to Grand Forks to take his friend Tony Kasprowicz to visit at the clinic there. He says he will be home in time to pick the beans. He doesn't like for me to use the ladder because it could tip in the soft dirt; it's not like on the solid floor. That's enough lectures and orders before he leaves so I'll maybe get time to do the crossword today.

Corporate America Still Not Short Of Stupid Pills

If there is a contest among large corporations for the dumbest product marketing, one would certainly have to consider the Nestle corporation among the leaders for the award. Nestle reportedly is marketing "Nestle Magic," a small chocolate-covered plastic ball with a Disney movie character inside.

Now, someone in sales probably reasoned that combining two items as popular with children as chocolate and Disney would be a sure-fire hit. Anyone in safety, however should have taken one look at the proposal, shuddered, and said "this is a really dumb idea."

And everyone in upper management of a corporation concerned about its image, not to mention its bank account, should have known that to manufacture and distribute this product would be to endanger children and send out an open invitation to lawsuits. Without a doubt, Nestle Magic is a tragedy waiting to happen.

Here's what the Minnesota Attorney General's office says:

"While the toys meet federal toy safety standards, they barely passed. The toys were tested with a 'choke tube,' which is the size of a child's throat, to ensure that the toys do not pose choking dangers to children. The idea is to make sure that the toy is large enough that, if it does get into a child's throat, an adult could easily reach in and grab it, preventing a catastrophe.

"Many of the Nestle Magic toys passed this test by the narrowest of margins, with only tiny portions of the toys poking out of the tube. Toys like Simba and Timon from The Lion King fit completely inside the choke tube except for a small ear and a toe—a portion so small that an adult would find it extremely difficult if not impossible to grasp either from a small child's throat."

Well, OK, let's say the product was put on the market without the knowledge of top level management—a highly unlikely possibility, but perhaps possible. Once it came to the attention of upper management, however, it should have been expected to disappear from the face of the earth. What company with a conscience or even a brain wants to choke children and pay out damage claims?

Nestle hasn't shown much of either. Confronted with the dangers of encasing an inedible object in a candy one, Nestle's official reaction was to tentatively agree to relabel the product to indicate it is not intended for use by children under age three and to seek state approval to sell the product and submit to state safety testing. While this posturing is taking place, the product remains on the market and is a hazard to unwitting little kids.

Lord knows we can't protect every youngster in the country from putting stuff in his or her mouth that shouldn't go in there. But it is only common sense not to entice kids into hazardous behavior, such as this item does.

People who do incredibly thoughtless things may joke about taking an overdose of stupid pills. Apparently there are more than enough of those pills to go around for corporate America, and unfortunately, it's no joke.

Workshop To Instill Awareness Of Racism

GUEST EDITORIAL
by Pastor Terri Cuppett
Thief River Falls

Perhaps many of you remember a visitor we had in our community about five years ago. She was a Lutheran pastor, the first Black woman to preach from any pulpit in this community. The community buzzed with excitement long after my ordination service.

As you may recall, she reminded me to remain positive in climbing the mountains of my faith journey. She compared that journey to the journey of the little engine who pulled a train full of toys to bring Christmas joy to the children. Though the engine was small, she made the journey because she believed in herself.

With that same confidence, I ask this community to join with me on a freedom quest. On that quest, it will be necessary to break down some walls, and more hands will make that task easier. Our work will begin slowly, but like the little engine in the children's story Ellie used, we can put our minds and hearts to the task and do it. Each person's part is essential. For the walls we will be breaking down are of a prison—the prison built by racism that affects everyone in the world.

In his book Dismantling Racism: The Continuing Challenge to White America, Rev. Joseph Barndt defines racism this way: "Racism equals privilege plus power." For centuries, what has that meant for People of Color? For centuries, what has that meant for White People?

Rev. Barndt reminds us that the prison walls separate us from one another. They block out communication, understanding and love for each other. We are all captives, unable to reach through the walls to touch one another.

But breaking down these walls isn't beyond our combined human efforts. They can be broken—at first chip by chip, and later stone by stone.

Of course some, like me, begin with a personal stake in such a mission. I have a Black brother-in-law, Willie, from whom I receive support and advice. I have several friends of Color, including Ellie, the woman you saw standing before you in a local church five years ago. So I have begun my part of the mission by making new friends of those who have already begun this mission—dismantling racism.

I invite you to join some of us on Friday, September 26, for a six-hour awareness workshop at Trinity Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls. I have attended such a workshop myself, and I'm still in contact with several friends I made there. Another participant put it this way: "Sharing and getting to know other people with the same commitment (was) very powerful and meaningful."

Sharing our experiences and understandings with each other was helpful. Dispelling the many myths brought us to a greater understanding of the tasks ahead. Across many generations, racism was built, but across many more generations it will be broken down. Together, we stand!

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I'm writing to you about a letter that was written to the Times about my fair exhibit, "My Summer Vacation in Rocks." The rocks used in my exhibit were taken from the parking lot inside the parks or from along side the highways going through the parks, while my mom was taking pictures.

There were no signs in any parks that we went to that said we couldn't take a few rocks. Also in the brochures we were given at the parks we couldn't find anything saying it was illegal to take the rocks.

I did not disturb any nature or rock formations in the parks. I like to collect rocks because I think they are really neat.

Sincerely,
Stacy Rasmussen

To The Editor:

A matter that needs much more attention from Congress is the growing inequity of income, wealth and opportunity in our nation. During the first three decades after World War II, prosperity was widely shared, but this is no longer true. Over the past 15 years, legislation has increasingly tilted in favor of the wealthy.

The clear winners in the Balanced Budget and Tax Cut Bill are the rich, while the poorest among us are now much more likely to be hit by the 'cuts' needed to balance the budget. As Congress reviews GATT and NAFTA, it needs to look at those provisions which have significantly strengthened the leverage of global corporations by diminishing the bargaining power of labor and of farmers. While wages and farm commodity prices have stagnated around the world, corporate profits have soared.

The inordinate influence of the wealthy on the legislative process has been purchased with cash. Through lobbyists, strategic political contributions and public relations campaigns, the opinions of big business invariably prevail over the opinions of the common people. One percent of the America people paid for the 1996 elections. For those with big money, it is one of the simplest and most effective ways to purchase influence. The illegal contributions are of concern, but it is the legal contributions which are the greatest threat to a government that is of the people, by the people, and for the people.

Congress will have the opportunity to address a major cause of the rapidly growing gap between the rich and the poor as it takes up campaign finance reforms. Every day giant corporations are writing big checks in the hope that, when the dust settles, it will be business as usual in Congress. Fortunately, Minnesota has a senator and some representatives who are fighting for real reform. We need to support them in this all-important cause.

Sincerely,
Milo Mathison, Chair

To The Editor:

I just wanted to say a few things about the fire in downtown Thief River Falls on Sunday morning.

First, I would publicly like to thank officer Tim Miller who bravely fought through life-threatening smoke to save people he didn't even know. I will now always think of officer Miller as someone who helped save my family's life, not someone who gave me a ticket in 1993 for driving a motorcycle without a license.

My version of the story goes something like this.

I was awakened by the sound of my TV making sounds like it was off the air. I fell asleep listening to CNN, and that never goes off the air, so I thought something was funny. I opened my eyes and noticed the bedroom full of smoke and flashing lights on my window. I now knew there was a fire.

I looked outside and saw police and fire trucks. I knew we had to get out right away. My better half, Kate, grabbed our three-month-old son, cave boy, I mean Will, and covered him in a blanket. I went in my six-year-old daughter's (Mackenzie) room and grabbed her out of a deep sleep. I could barely see her through the smoke and we headed toward the door.

When we opened the door, a wall of smoke came right at us. I breathed in a full breath of smoke and immediately went down to one knee. My first reaction was, "Oh, my God!"

As I stood up with absolutely no breath left, we saw a flashlight and heard someone yelling "Go! Go!" and I felt a big push on my back in the direction toward the stairs. I found out later it was officer Miller, with no mask on.

With all of us in a daze, we stumbled out. Within 15 minutes Kate and myself both threw up a considerable amount. My three-month-old boy had dark smoke rings around his nose; we all did. I'm sure we were all breathing smoke for at least 45 minutes. We all went to the emergency room where we were all treated with oxygen. Thanks to the staff at the hospital.

If our apartment was in the middle of the hallway instead of being right by the stairway, I don't think I would have made it, and someone would have had to drag my fat butt out of there. So thanks again to officer Miller and the other officers as well as the "savage" firemen who battled the blaze. I feel the residents of Thief River Falls can feel very protected as well as being very proud of our volunteer and full-time firefighters. You guys were awesome!

The last thing I would like to touch on is the fact that my family and myself lost everything in the fire. I mean everything. The only thing I have left is the underwear I was wearing. Wouldn't you know, it wasn't even my good pair. I'll have to call the tent and awning shop to get more.

I'm not asking for anything free, but what I was looking for was if anybody in the area had a fixer-upper house that needs work. If my family and myself could live there, I will fix it up. I am a carpenter with a lot of ambition and can do siding, soffets, shingles, sheetrock, etc.

If anyone is interested and could help us out, could you call 681-3971 after 5 p.m. and ask for Jeff or leave a message.

Thanks again to everyone who helped us and the others. It's times like this I know why I live in Thief River Falls—"where everybody really is somebody."

Sincerely,
Jeff Stolhaug

P.S. Tim Bergland signed with a team in Finland. Big contract, house and a car. Way to go "Bergie."

I was invited to attend the Open House at the Clearwater Day Activity Center in Bagley on Friday. This was the 25th Anniversary Celebration of its first opening its doors to serve persons who are mentally challenged in Clearwater County. It was interesting to see some of the people are still living there that came when we first started the center. Many of them have become more independent and self-sufficient. They seem to be proud of their place of learning and training. Others have gone out to live in their own apartments and function quite well in the community. Don Bloetel, the administrator, is a good role model and has earned the respect needed to have a good D.A.C. He also has good volunteers and helpers. As I drove to Bagley I noticed some of the trees are starting to take on the colors of Autumn. Most of the grain seems to be harvested and now we hope for good weather for the corn and sunflowers. Many fields are all worked up into a smooth black surface. The farmers are spending much time and money on fields that they have to wait a whole year to see if there is going to be any financial return after the year long wait or gamble.

A baby shower honoring Nathan Terry Helverson, infant son of Terry and Alisa Helverson, was held at Lund Church on Saturday evening. We had a chance to see all the pretty and practical gifts for Nathan as Alisa, with the help of the grandmas, opened them. Several games or contests had been planned with interesting prizes for the winners. Lauri Carlson gave devotions. Hostesses were Crystal Bergerson, Dianne Waine, Mary Brovold, Lauri Carlson, Tammy Carlson and Kim Wiertyenna from Breckenridge. They served a nice lunch at the end of the evening. The tables had blue tablecloths with toy farm machinery as decorations.

New Pipe Organ In Trinity Church To Be Played Sunday

"When the congregation of Trinity Lutheran church meets for its morning service next Sunday at 10:30 a.m., their new pipe organ will be in use for the first time. Built by M. P. Moller, Inc. of Hagerstown, Maryland, the organ was planned and installed by H. O. Iverson of Minneapolis. More than five weeks were required to complete the installation which included the voicing, regulating and tuning necessary.

"The organ is a three-manual instrument, with pedal keyboard in addition. Each pipe in the organ was designed and made to fulfill a special function and all tones blended so that no single voice predominates. The pipes and mechanism of the organ are placed in special chambers with no connection between the organ and the console except electrical wires and wind conductors; thus the organ is under the easy and immediate control of the organist, and the speech of the pipes is instantaneous throughout the entire dynamic range of the instrument."

First Killing Frost Is Recorded Last Weekend

"The first killing frost of the fall season arrived Monday morning, when the mercury dropped to 21, according to the KTRF weather recording station, while on Wednesday morning a low of 26 was recorded. Showers Tuesday night brought a total precipitation of .37 inch."

Motor Vehicle License Plates For 1948 To Be Available Oct. 1

"Motor vehicle license plates for 1948 will be available in this city next Wednesday, October 1, it was announced today by A. F. Berge, deputy registrar here, who added that motorists are given until November 15 to procure licenses without payment of penalty. He stated the passenger car fees are now to be figured on the basis of weight instead of on cost, as in past years. The minimum fee of $7.50 will apply to virtually all prewar automobiles, while the tax on current models will be little changed from that in effect during the past year."

Legislative task force discusses stadium proposals

Sen. Roger Moe is reporting that Governor Arne Carlson plans to call a special session of the Legislature by early fall bringing lawmakers back to the State Capitol to consider an outdoor stadium financing package. A sixteen member legislative task force has been named in order to weigh all the options available he has said.

"The task force is comprised of eight Democratic and Republican members and is evenly split between the House of Representatives and the Senate. Besides studying outdoor stadium options, the panel is expected to examine the St. Paul hockey arena financing package sought by Governor Carlson.

"Major League Baseball has given the Minnesota Twins baseball team permission to "explore options" that could result in the sale or relocation of the team. Official notice that the current owner intends to move the team after the 1998 baseball season could come as soon as this October.

"However, a major league baseball team has not relocated to a new market in more than a quarter century. Unlike other professional sports organizations prone to relocation, a variety of logistical and political considerations unique to Major League Baseball discourage teams from moving.

"Over the past several years, communities generally have engaged in lengthy negotiations with baseball teams when the need arises to replace or upgrade stadiums. The outcome in each instance is different, with varying levels of public and private participation. Generally, only larger markets like the San Francisco bay area are able to negotiate deals tilted towards private financing.

"Polls show that Minnesotans don't want the Twins to leave the state. At the same time, they don't want legislators to lose sight of higher priorities. Part of the charge given to the 16 legislators on the task force states that "any financing plan for a new baseball stadium must protect the interests of our taxpayers. No plan should be recommended which risks the state's good credit rating or shifts resources from more important priorities of state government.

"As mentioned earlier, the task force will examine the proposed financing plan for a new hockey arena in St. Paul. Governor Carlson has announced his support for $65 million in state backed general obligation bonds to pay for the arena. The National Hockey League recently awarded an expansion team to the Twin Cities. The team will start play in the fall of 2000.

"The City of St. Paul has a back-up financing plan that places a variety of the city's revenue sources on the line if the state refuses to authorize state bonding. The Legislature will make a decision next year. It plans to weigh the arena proposal against other bonding needs like bridge repair and capital improvements for higher education institutions and state agencies.

"In a recent letter to legislators, Governor Carlson reiterated his belief that his original proposal to raise the cigarette tax by 10 cents a pack to fund a stadium with a retractable roof is 'the best proposal so far.' He told legislators he wants 'some consensus on a plan to pay for a new ballpark reached before September so that we can keep this special session as brief as possible.'

"Ultimately, the bipartisan task force will play a major role in determining whether or not the stadium issue can be resolved this year.

"Legislators face the very large challenge of shaping a plan that protects taxpayers' interests, meets needs of the Twins, and strikes an appropriate balance between public-private partnership."

Sunday School Rally Day

Sunday was Rally Day for Immanuel Sunday School. A full staff of teachers were installed at morning services. Bibles were presented to the third graders. A special award was given for perfect attendance for twelve years of Sunday School to Karl Vigstol. Karl was confirmed last May but the award was slow in coming. Another confirmand Wade Westlake was among the teachers installed. It is with pride that we can see our young folks living out their confirmation vows. Immanuel invites the children of the area who may not have a church home to join our Sunday School and Confirmation Classes.

Youth Trip

The three youth who attended the Lutheran Youth Gathering in New Orleans this summer gave a report of their trip and experiences to members of Immanuel at Sunday morning services. It was well given and we all enjoyed an imaginary trip with them. What a wonderful time they must have had as they worshipped, worked at cleaning a beach, and played with 37,000 other young people in the various segments of historic old New Orleans. Attending from here were Ross Arl, Joana Rewertz and Laura Konickson.

Sunday evening visitors of Della Rewertz were Marian and Harold Vallhauer and Jeana Rewertz.

Herb and Esther Waller visited on Sunday evening at the Byer home and enjoyed a good game.

Andy and Janet Turnbert of New York Mills visited on Sunday with his sister Evelyn and Albert Tervo.

Steve and Denise Vigstol and daughter Sally were Sunday afternoon visitors at the Byer home. They had come north from St. Francis to attend the wedding of Jeff Pederson of Thief River Falls.

Edna Hyde visited with Bertha Hughes of Thief River Falls on Monday.

Community Club Meets

Plummer Community Club met on Monday evening at the Town Hall with President Rick Lorenson presiding. The main business was the calendar which is being prepared for the general public. Door prizes of $10 and $5 were won by Bunny DuChamp and Ray Nenonen. Art Fossum and Ray Nenonen served the lunch.

Students and staff of Our Saviour's Christian Academy gathered around the school's flagpole before school classes started Wednesday morning, September 17, to pray for our country. The prayers included petitions that God would restore the Biblical concepts and values that were evident at the founding of our country. In addition to individual prayers, student Mercy Myhror led the group in devotions and patriotic songs were sung to conclude the activity which was part of the national "See You At the Poles" event held across the United States. Student council members provided hot chocolate and snacks to all who participated in the program.

CAPITOL COMMENTARY

LeRoy Stumpf
State Senator, District 1

A sound, growing rural economy requires an adequate supply of affordable housing. This requirement has become more apparent in rural Minnesota over the past several years.

An increasing number of rural communities around the state have had significant affordable housing shortages. For many years very few rural communities had a problem with housing availability since the rural population was gradually migrating into the large urban centers. However, the migration trends in many rural counties reversed by the late 1980's for a variety of reasons.

Businesses are often drawn to rural communities because of the relatively low costs of operation and the availability of highly trainable labor. When businesses make strategic decisions about expanding where they are already located or placing new facilities elsewhere, a prime consideration is the availability of affordable housing for potential new employees. The lack of affordable housing has been a significant obstacle to economic growth in small- to medium-sized rural communities.

Recognizing the growing problem, the Legislature in 1995 established the Economic Vitality and Housing Initiative funded through three programs:

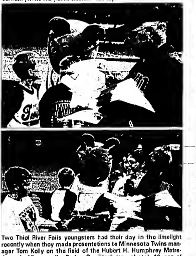
- Affordable Rental Investment Fund loans for construction and rehabilitation of multi-family housing, funded at $14.6 million over the current two year budget period;
- Community Rehabilitation Fund grants for home ownership projects, encouraging coordination between private and public entities involved in meeting housing needs, funded at $7.9 million over two years, and
- The non-profit Capacity Building Grant Program used for planning purposes to increase the ability of regions to maintain or create affordable housing, targeted primarily to rural areas, funded at $580,000 over two years.

Housing programs will receive more than $62.7 million in state funds over the two-year budget period that started on July 1 of this year. The vast majority of these funds will be distributed through the MHFA, which administers approximately 50 programs.

Major foundations also recognize the affordable housing problem and are helping respond to the shortage. The Northwest Area Foundation and Blandin Foundation are notable among non-profit organizations actively addressing rural affordable housing needs.

Increased housing funds are also targeted at preventing homelessness and providing transitional housing for people who fall on hard times. As welfare changes take place in Minnesota, it is expected that the number of families threatened with homelessness will increase.

As you might expect, this year's flooding hasn't helped the affordable housing shortage, with so many people displaced from their homes. A large share of MHFA appropriations over the next two years are to be distributed to flood stricken Minnesota communities as part of the disaster recovery effort. Legislation I authored this year designated flood-damaged areas as priority for replacement of affordable housing.



Two Thief River Falls youngsters had their day in the limelight recently when they made presentations to Minnesota Twins manager Tom Kelly on the field of the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome in Minneapolis. Parker Comstock (top photo), 10, son of Bud and Jessie Comstock, and Ben Adamson, 11, son of Don and Paula Adamson, represented two of the 13 regions of the Minnesota Library Association during the association's Day With the Twins. Ben represented the Northwest Region and presented Kelly with a flannel shirt donated by Arctic Cat, Inc. Parker was selected to represent a region which did not send a representative. Also pictured are Enid Costley of Hibbing, who organized the event, and "Arthur" the Aardvark, mascot for the library association. Kelly also presented each of the representatives with a certificate from the Minnesota Twins.

The weather in northwest Minnesota is like a poet's dream, but since I'm not a poet, I can't find a word that rhymes with "perfection." It reminds me of the days that the Strandquist Consolidated School would let those who wished to go out and earn some extra money in the fall by picking potatoes, be excused for two weeks. Of course you had to keep up with your home work but who could do homework in the evenings after going bent over all day with a bunch of gunnysacks, called aprons, tied on your back and hurrying to try and keep up to the rest of the pickers. Nobody that hasn't picked potatoes by hand can imagine the backache the first couple of days. By that time you became numb. It was like getting used to the cold in Siberia, you would be unaware that your body was turning to a solid chunk of ice until summer came around. Those days the potatoes laid in rows on the ground and each one was picked up by hand and put in baskets capable of holding about 40 pounds, which was then carried forward as you picked your row of "spuds" as we called them.

Not like today when they are elevated out of the ground and right up into the trucks and from there right into the storage place. Who wishes for the good old days? Not me, but I can say I would like to turn back a few years as now time goes so fast I seem to be taking two days at a time.

On Thursday the Strandquist seniors met at the center with nine members and four visitors: Lois Lindstrom, Annie Gundersen, Adrienne Lefrooth and Marcelyn Lindstrom. Evelyn Kline furnished a lovely lunch and Alyce Anderson won the door prize. They tied a beautiful quilt and also finished it. On Wednesday they are planning to attend the dinner at Newfolden.

We are sorry to hear that Lorraine Frie past away last evening. The obituary will no doubt be found in the North Star News.

Bill and Marg Simchuck of Corcoran were overnight guests at Isaac and Betsy Thompson's on Wednesday. In the evening Bill, Marg and Betsy enjoyed supper with Nelson LeDoux in Thief River Falls. Thursday morning Palmer shared breakfast and a visit with the Simchucks before they left for home.

Supper guests at Peter and Pearl Thompson's on Wednesday evening were Thina Thompson and Kimberly and Kevin and Thina's mother of Bremerton, WA and Jon Thompson of San Diego, CA, US Navy Base, Karen Thompson of Everett, WA and David Thompson.

Judy Lala and Kristin Kleinwachter, Alan, Joan and Dustin [illegible], Samantha Rux and Lowell Lefrooth enjoyed dinner at Jim [illegible] and Kelly Lefrooth's on Sunday.

Ellen Lefrooth accompanied Elmer [illegible] of Thief River Falls to JoAnne and Dean Halmstrom's on Saturday p.m. to wish JoAnne a happy birthday a day early.

"Encourage your children to read a newspaper every day. It's a habit that will serve them well for life."

No one appreciates the youth of this nation more than I do. I've had the honor of leading them onto the field of battle, and they've performed heroically. I personally believe there is no better way to prepare children for the future than by reading to them. Start while they're young. Begin with children's books and when they're eight or nine, bring the news of the day into their lives.

Read a newspaper to your children every day. Encourage them to read a newspaper for themselves. It's a habit that will serve them well for the rest of their lives.

1996 STREET AND UTILITIES IMPROVEMENTS
NOTICE OF PHASE TWO HEARING ON PROPOSED ASSESSMENT

To Whom It May Concern:

Notice is hereby given that the City Council of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, will meet at 7:00 p.m. on October 21, 1997, at the Heritage Community Center, 301 Fourth Street East, to consider, and possibly adopt, the proposed assessments for 1996 Street and Utilities Improvements Project, No. 26296.00. (Dewey Avenue Improvements.) The properties proposed to be assessed are outlined on Exhibit "A".

The proposed assessment roll is on file for public inspection at the City Administrator's Office. The total amount of the proposed assessment is $114,000. Written or oral objections will be considered at the meeting. No appeal may be taken as to the amount of an assessment unless a signed, written objection is filed with the City Administrator prior to the hearing or presented to the presiding officer at the hearing. The Council may upon such notice consider any objection to the amount of a proposed individual assessment at an adjourned meeting upon such further notice to the affected property owners as it deems advisable.

If an assessment is contested or there is an adjourned hearing, the following procedure will be followed:

1. The City will present its case first by calling witnesses who may testify by narrative or by examination, and by the introduction of exhibits. After each witness has testified, the contesting party will be allowed to ask questions. This procedure will be repeated with each witness until neither side has further questions.
2. After the City has presented all its evidence, the objector may call witnesses or present such testimony as the objector desires. The same procedure for questioning of the City's witnesses will be followed with the objector's witnesses.
3. The objector may be represented by counsel.
4. Minnesota rules of evidence will not be strictly applied; however, they may be considered and argued to the Council as to the weight of items of evidence or testimony presented to the Council.
5. The entire proceedings will be tape recorded.
6. At the close of presentation of evidence, the objector may make a final presentation to the Council based on the evidence and the law. No new evidence may be presented at this point.
7. The Council may adopt the proposed assessment at the hearing.

An owner may appeal an assessment to District Court pursuant to Minnesota Statutes Section 429.081 by serving notice of the appeal upon the Mayor or Administrator of the City within 30 days after the adoption of the assessment and filing such notice with the District Court within ten days after service upon the Mayor or Administrator.

Fire damaged businesses face relocation struggle

One week after a fire destroyed the Dobmer Meehan building in downtown Thief River Falls, the seven businesses located on the main floor are still struggling — struggling to come to terms with the disaster, clean up the mess, salvage what they can and find new office space.

The fire may have been contained to the second floor apartments, but smoke, water and structural damage forced the seven businesses on the first floor out as well. Dan Drevlow, part owner and State Farm Insurance representative, is still concerned about residents who lived on the second floor. Many were low income residents, he said, and they will have a difficult time finding a new home. But he is also concerned about a myriad of other details including his own business and the six other businesses that were located in the building.

Drevlow and his wife Sandie were out of town when they heard of the fire. He said they received a call at about 5:30 a.m. and were on the road back to Thief River Falls at about 6:30 a.m. Since then, dealing with the details of the investigation of the arson fire, adjusters, reporters, demolition and the move have consumed nearly every moment of their day. The walls are bowing out in some places, and brick hangs precariously on edges. Drevlow said the building is unsafe, will have to be torn down in a week or so.

Several days after the fire the Drevlows, friends and staff have been moving boxes and boxes of files and mementos from their office on the corner of Second and Main. Dan said he never knew he had so much in that office. Other business owners have had similar experiences.

The Drevlows have located office space for State Farm Insurance at the former Natural Gourmet Deli and Coffee Co. at 313 North Main. They can be reached at their old number 681-6579.

As of Friday, September 26, not all of the businesses located in the building had found new office space. Creative Clippers is temporarily closed, but can be reached at its old number 681-3966. For now, the number is being routed to their home.

Michelle Lampe of Draperies by Michelle is hoping to start moving forward now that she has accounted for much of her inventory and completed some salvaging of equipment. Lampe said the showroom and workroom was completely destroyed.

Through the support and encouragement of her employees, friends, family, customers and the community, she said she has made the decision to re-open in a new location at 303 Riverside Avenue South. She will open the office later this week. It will include an expanded showroom and include products to enhance her window treatments.

For now, Lampe said customers can reach her at her old number, 681-1404, which has been routed to her residence.

Loren McCullough, Northland Realty Farm Sales, lost everything and wasn't insured. Despite the loss, McCullough said he hopes to have an office ready in part of the new Farm Credit Service building on Highway 1 and 59 near Big A. Phone calls dialed on his 681-6036 number go directly to his residence. He assures his customers that everything is fine and his records are complete.

Attempt to repeal city leaf burning law fails

Residents of Thief River Falls will again be able to burn leaves. Tuesday night during a city council meeting, a motion to repeal the ordinance which grants residents the right to burn leaves between October 1 and November 15, was defeated by a vote of 4-3.

During the past several years the subject of leaf burning has been brought up before the city council several times. Recently a committee looked at the issue and presented three options — prohibit burning of leaves, leave the ordinance as is, create a leaf burning permit system.

Frank Hamerlinck, city council representative who first advanced the idea of allowing leaf burning by permit, explained that a permit process would give individuals who have large lots or would be greatly inconvenienced by a ban an option for getting rid of leaves. As he thought about the issue and discussed it with others, however, he said he came to the conclusion that the real issue was pollution. He said he had heard from both sides of the issue and was not sure he wanted to go to the permit system now. How much to charge, and enforcement issues also affected his decision.

Hamerlinck said residents have another option to burning. The city has invested a great deal of time, money and energy into providing citizens with a leaf vacuum service. Hamerlinck added that he had heard from individuals who were concerned about pollution but they also complained that the leaf vacuum was not enough. Many residents, the fifth ward for example, get leaf pick up only on Fridays. Many of the residents, however, can only rake leaves into piles and put them on berms next to the roads during weekends. That means those leaves sit in piles, blow across the neighborhood all week. Hamerlinck suggested that the city consider rotating leaf pick-up or more frequent trips around the city.

Charlie Sannelson read a letter from a resident who wanted the leaf burning ordinance repealed. He concluded by stating that it was a beautiful day, and asked how could the city improve on today by adding smoke to the air?

A number of council representatives said they had had numerous contacts from individuals throughout the city since pressure to repeal the ordinance had increased. Most of the contacts wanted to keep leaf burning as an option for residents.

A motion to call for an ordinance to be prepared which would repeal the ordinance, failed on a vote of 4 to 3.

Following the vote, council representative Jean Heinrichs asked residents to have consideration for their neighbors. She also suggested that if there are problems, to contact local law enforcement.

■ The council learned that after committees had met to discuss the budget deficit and suggest cuts, the budget deficit had been reduced from $1.7 million to $1.246 million. City Administrator Roger DeLap said additional cuts had been made but not included in the figures presented to the council because there wasn't enough time to calculate the effect of the cuts.

City Council committees will continue to work on the problem. The council will meet in an adjourned meeting on the budget deficit at 7 p.m. on October 7.

■ The city of Thief River Falls has joined other cities in hiring an attorney to look into matters involving a housing project for Northwest Minnesota. In August, the City of Thief River Falls received a bill for $237,696 from Northwest Minnesota Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority. The HRA claims the bill

Tickets for the musical will go on sale October 8 for $7 each at NCTC and may be ordered on and after that date by calling 681-0701.

Concerned with how School District 564 budget cuts have affected students and the quality of education, a citizens' committee from Thief River Falls has formed to promote passage of an upcoming school levy referendum.

With the theme "Strong Schools =Strong Community," the diverse group consists of parents, teachers, business people, students, senior citizens and agricultural representatives.

Carol Ihle, who chairs the group, says several community meetings are scheduled to discuss the issue. The schedule includes:

- Thursday, October 9, 7 p.m., Franklin middle school commons;
- Saturday, October 11, 9 a.m., Lincoln high school career center;
- Tuesday, October 14, 7 p.m., Smiley township hall;

Commissioners table ordinance

Pennington County Commissioners tabled a septic system ordinance Tuesday in order to give Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) 30 days to review the proposed ordinance.

The ordinance would give rural property owners the right to install trench style septic systems instead of more expensive mound systems which are now required by MPCA. Recent changes to state law give counties an opportunity to implement septic system ordinances that are not as strict as MPCA requirements. The changes, however, are permitted if [illegible] MPCA is given 30 days to review the ordinance and the county could justify the use of lesser standards.

Howard Person, Pennington County Solid Waste Officer, said he submitted a draft copy of the ordinance to MPCA on July 30. He said he had hoped that they would contact him with comments about the ordinance and they could negotiate from there. By September he became concerned because they hadn't contacted him. Person contacted MPCA on September 10 and discovered that they were less than enthusiastic about the proposal and said the application was not complete. Person said it was his fault the application was not complete. He worked quickly to correct the error and as of September 18, he said they have a complete application.

Person said that under the state statute MPCA does not have the right to deny or approve the ordinance, so they can't stop the county from adopting the ordinance. However, he said they could go after installers, which has the same effect.

Tuesday, the county board tabled adopting the proposed ordinance until October 14 in order to give MPCA 30 days to review the proposed ordinance. Person said the board may want longer and call a special meeting of commissioners to adopt the ordinance.

Person said [illegible]

is a result of a district last year and a proposed district next year in three housing units in Thief River Falls.

The cities of Badger, Baudette and Roseau were also involved in the housing project. There were deficits in other housing units as well.

City Attorney Paul Ihle explained that representatives of those cities met recently to discuss the project with HRA officials. They also discussed the situation and past history and in doing so concluded to act in unison and have hired Attorney Tom [illegible] who has experience in such matters.

■ A change order to the Depot addition and Interior Remodeling project was approved by the council Tuesday night. The change order, which included, among other things, roof framing and re-enforcement, enlargement of windows, and sheet rock, had been discussed at a meeting in June. The total change order amounted to $34,300. Prior to awarding the contract a contingency fund had been set aside. Additional costs, such as costs associated with change orders, can be deducted from that fund. At the beginning of the project there was $74,200 in the fund. After deducting this change order, there remains $29,250 in the fund. Staff will be looking into whether some of the change orders could be picked up by ISTEA funds.

■ Two intersections will see signal replacements. The council accepted the bid of Fargo Electric at $149,900 to replace traffic signals at Pennington and First and LaBree and First.

Ron Lindberg, public works director, said they had originally estimated the cost of the project at $162,000. The city had obtained $150,000 from federal ISTEA funds, and $50,000 in State Aid. As a result of the bid and funds set aside for the project there will be no cost to the city.

Lindberg also pointed out that the traffic signal at First and LaBree will be hand wired to the signal at First and Main, and the signal at First and Pennington and LaBree will be connected via radio signals. The connections make it possible for improved traffic flow.

The project is expected to be completed in July of next year.

■ Trains blocking intersections, and signal arms malfunctioning have become so bothersome that residents are now complaining to law enforcement officials.

Police Chief Ken Froschheiser said his office had received numerous calls. He said one train blocked an intersection for six minutes, moved, and then blocked it for another six minutes. They know, he said, that they are not allowed to block an intersection (at a stand still) for more than 10 minutes.

He said signal arms malfunctioning are also causing problems. Apparently there is only one signal arm repairman for the region and he doesn't live in the community. Because it is against the law to go around signal arms, police officers have to direct traffic at those signal arms until the problem is corrected.

"We've got a problem brewing," Froschheiser said. Froschheiser suggested that the matter be assigned to the public safety or public works committee and that they meet with CP rail officials.

■ The council reluctantly awarded bids on an airport fuel farm replacement project. The reluctance to award the bid comes from the fact that the project was a result of a federally mandated change. By December 1998 all fuel farms have to meet new requirements. The first time the council put the project out on bids the bids came in so high they were rejected. This time the one bid received came from Hollis Inc. The total project cost will be $515,000. Because of federal participation in the cost of the project, the net cost to the city will be about $225,000. The project is expected to be completed in July or August of next year.

Mayor Robert Reese complimented the police department, sheriff's department and fire department for their efforts during the recent fire at the Dahner-Meehan building. Mayor Reese said it's amazing there were no fatalities or injuries.

The council approved a variance request for Lawrence McDowell, owner of property located at 1112 Main Avenue North, to construct a garage. The variance would allow for a zero foot set back. Staff recommended that it not be approved because it would be difficult to defend in the future. They also based their objections on other grounds. The council approved the recommendation of the Board of Zoning and Appeals (BOZA) by a 5-1 vote.

The council granted a conditional use permit to School District 564 to use the Eagles Club parking lot as a transportation hub.

The council agreed to return to committee a proposal to build "Welcome to Thief River Falls" signs as the proposed location of the signs, type and size would be prohibited by the city's sign ordinance. More research will be done on the project.

In other business, the council: approved a progression raise for Bruce Erickson, declared a 1972 pickup as surplus property, approved a dance permit for Eric Jensen (Music Patrol) on September 27 and October 15, appointed election judges to serve during the November 4 election, called for the sale of $630,000 bonds covering the 1997 Improvement Project, scheduled a public hearing on the renewal of the Cable TV Franchise for Sjoberg's Inc. for a second 10 year period for 4:30 p.m. on November 25.

Gretchen Larson of Larson Law Office does not have a new office yet. She has a place to meet clients with appointments, but no office space yet. She said she was able to salvage her computer hard drive so her records are okay. However, she lost several pieces of antique furniture in the fire. Clients interested in reaching her can do so at 681-6393.

Schmitz and Moran CPAs, has moved next door to an office at 113 East Second Street, which is behind Poppler's. The new office could be open on Monday. Records were saved, however, smoke and water destroyed furniture and computers.

Mobile Home Services will be moving to office space in the Allwood Office building at 1008 West Second Street. It can be reached at the same phone numbers — 681-8715 or 1-800-630-2516. There was lots of water damage, and two computers and numerous other items were damaged.

The owners of these business thank their customers for their patience and loyalty during this difficult time of transition. Dan Dieslow and local officials are asking residents to stay clear of the building and outside the boundaries established by officials.

Ihle, who is a past coordinator for the district volunteer program, has a daughter who graduated last year and three more children currently enrolled in the district.

"As the coordinator for the volunteer programs," she said, "I saw how the past budget cuts have reduced educational programs and hindered the teachers' and staffs' continued ability to deliver quality education. As a mother, I also saw firsthand how students have been adversely affected."

In the last five years the district has cut nearly $1 million from its budget, resulting in dramatically increased class sizes because of fewer teachers and teachers' aides.

"On the positive side," Ihle continued, "passing this levy would enable us to fund programs mandated by the state, restore reasonable class sizes, upgrade technology and offer badly needed vocational and ag programs."

Pennington Co. delays action on septic ordinance cerned about the 30 day review, however he is concerned MPCA will argue that the county does not have enough justification for lesser standards.

Pennington County officials argue that trench style systems are adequate for most of Pennington county soils. In fact they have conducted random tests of trench wells, which show no contamination of rural drinking water.

Person said trench style systems cost about $3,000, while mound systems cost about $6,000.

Several northwest Minnesota counties are watching what happens in Pennington county. According to the state statute, all counties are mandated to have a septic system ordinance in place by January 1999.

As time passes, the construction season is coming to a close. Person said he was concerned about the half dozen people who are waiting to put in septic systems. He said he doesn't know what to tell them.

Farm Service Agency to hold 16th CRP sign-up

Wally Sparby, Minnesota State Executive Director of USDA's Farm Service Agency, has announced that the next Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up will be held during a four week period from October 14 through November 14.

"This will be another opportunity for landowners to sign up for a voluntary program to get financial and technical assistance for improving their land, water and wildlife resources," Sparby said. "If you haven't tried to get into the program, if your CRP contract offers were not accepted in Sign-Up 15 last spring, or if you have contracts expiring this fall, September 1997, or next fall, September 1998, this is the time to make new contract offers."

The CRP is designed to improve America's natural resource base. Landowners enter into contracts with the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to enroll erodible and other environmentally sensitive land in contracts for 10 to 15 years. In exchange, they received annual rental payments and a payment for up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing approved practices.

The CCC will continue to evaluate and rank all eligible CRP offers using an Environmental Benefits Index (EBI), which is based on the potential environmental benefits of reduced erosion, benefits enduring beyond the contract period, air quality benefits, and sensitive priority areas, plus a cost factor.

The EBI's wildlife habitat cover benefits factor is revised since the last sign-up to recognize the improved wildlife benefits attributable to certain covers. The air quality factor is also modified, and an additional subfactor is added to the cost factor to further encourage the CRP's cost competitiveness.

Maximum CRP payments will be determined based on county average dryland cash or cash rent equivalent rental rates adjusted for site-specific, soil-based productivity factors. CRP payments include an additional amount of $5 per acre per year as an incentive to perform certain maintenance obligations. Cost-share assistance will be provided to establish approved cover on land enrolled in the CRP.

Hunters asked to be on look out for Safranski

Hunters are being reminded to keep a look out for Roni Safranski. Veronica Safranski has been missing since October 26, 1996.

Officials are still actively investigating her disappearance. Safranski was last seen wearing a leather-like dress and leather moccasins. Hunters who see anything unusual are asked to contact the Marshall County Sheriff's department.

A reward of up to $15,000 is being offered for information that leads to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the disappearance of Safranski.

An official investigating the disappearance said this week that they have nothing new to report in the disappearance, but will not quit until they find her.

Man injured in hunting accident

Dennis Kuester, Jr., 17, Red Lake Falls, was injured in a hunting accident Saturday, September 27.

Red Lake County Sheriff's department received a report from Riverview Hospital in Crookston regarding a hunting accident in Red Lake County.

Kuester and a friend were hunting west of Red Lake Falls on private property when both parties attempted to shoot at a grouse that had been flushed. Kuester received a wound to his right forearm. He was taken to Riverview Hospital in Crookston and then to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks. He was treated and released.

The incident has been ruled an accident.

U-Haul truck damaged in accident

Considerable damage was caused to a U-Haul truck Wednesday when it rolled in a ditch south of Thief River Falls.

On September 24 at 9:13 a.m. the Minnesota State Patrol in Thief River Falls received a report of a one-vehicle roll over. According to the accident report, Jeffrey Donald Martinson, 25, Detroit Lakes, was driving a rented 1995 U-Haul truck north on Highway 32 when a tire went flat. The vehicle went into the ditch and rolled onto its side. Martinson was wearing a seat belt at the time and was not injured. Damage to the truck was considered extensive.

Promise Keepers to be broadcast in Thief River Falls

Live broadcasts of "Stand in the Gap: A Sacred Assembly of Men" staged by the Christian men's organization Promise Keepers will take place in Thief River Falls on Saturday, October 4 from approximately 10:45 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The assembly itself will take place on the mall in Washington, DC. A group of Christian men from various churches in Thief River Falls has joined to make live broadcasts of the event available in this community in two ways:

- A live broadcast of the conference at the Evangelical Free Church at 211 Arnold Avenue North, and
- A live televised broadcast on Channel 13 for all cable television subscribers on the Sjoberg's Cable TV system.

All men are invited to join in the fellowship at the church where a free will offering will be received and pizza will be served at the conclusion of the broadcast.

"This is an exciting opportunity for Christian men of all denominations to participate in an event that many, who cannot travel to the nation's capital, would otherwise be unable to observe," states Kevin Brown of First Baptist Church in Thief River Falls, who helped arrange for the broadcasts.

"Promise Keepers has had numerous men from Thief River Falls and surrounding communities attend its stadium events in the past few years. Many of those men are the nucleus for making this event available to everyone in our community."

A look at depression during Mental Health Awareness Week

The Times Reporter

Everyone feels down on occasion and usually, there's good reason for it. A relationship doesn't work out, you lose your job or don't get the job you want. It's normal to feel depressed after the death of someone close. In such cases, one eventually climbs out of the doldrums and gets on with living. This fleeting depression, more commonly called "the blues," is caused by things that go with the ebb and flo of normal life.

If you're depressed, you're not alone. Even if you're seriously depressed, you're not alone.

Major depression is far more than unrelenting sadness or the inability to enjoy life's pleasures. Classic symptoms include severe disturbances in sleep and appetite patterns. While some suffer from insomnia and drastic weight loss, others tend to overeat and sleep excessively.

Chronic depression is when the symptoms become increasingly severe until they begin to impair normal everyday routine.

One finds themselves in a emotional vise and doesn't know why. In addition to persistent sadness, one may also experience feelings of guilt, worthlessness or hopelessness. Restlessness, irritability, difficulties with concentration, memory and decision making may also accompany depression.

Occasionally, depression will manifest itself with otherwise unexplainable physical symptoms such as headaches, body aches and difficulties with swallowing or digestion.

Some experience many symptoms while others only a few, and the severity varies from person to person. Consistent with depression, however, is that the symptoms occur all or most of the time for at least two weeks.

Women are nearly twice as likely as men to experience depression, and the gender difference can be explained in a number of ways. Women tend to dwell on their feelings to the point that it actually amplifies and prolongs depressive episodes. Men, on the other hand, are more apt to shut out their feelings, often by turning to activity.

Marriage is also believed to be a risk factor for women but not for men. Women involved in an unhappy relationship are much more likely to be depressed than married men or single women. Also vulnerable to depression are mothers of small children. Biology can often play a role, too.

Experts agree that medication and/or counseling are the most effective ways to deal with chronic depression. These treatments are effective in reducing depressive symptoms for up to 80 to 90 percent of people usually in a period of 12 to 14 weeks.

Through counseling people can learn to reverse negative thinking, feelings of helplessness and low self-esteem. They also learn to accept and recognize the feelings they have.

For some, antidepressant medications are prescribed to get them through the worst times. Taking drugs is often not without drawbacks, and many antidepressants have unpleasant side effects. However, the long-term benefits of the drug usually outweigh the short-term side effects which often disappear as the body accustoms itself to the drug.

Length of treatment and type of medication depends on the individual and type of depression. Sometimes a combination of drugs are used to combat symptoms. While occasionally drugs may be taken for a long while, usually they are part of a short term treatment plan.

In cases of milder depression, some physicians will suggest a regimen of exercise and vitamin supplements before trying prescription drugs.

Seasonal affective disorder (SAD) is a form of depression more common to individuals who live in areas where the days are short and winter or the rainy season is long.

For many the "winter blues" mean feeling a little run-down and melancholy. For others SAD can affect their lives so seriously that they can't work or deal with their family, something that leaves them so lethargic that they can barely get out of bed.

The best treatment for SAD is daily light therapy with a specially designed light box.

Because the light box is effective only with SAD and not other depressions, diagnosis is important.

Whether its a mean bout with the blues or a more serious struggle with depression, there are a number of things that one can do to try to help themselves.

Maintain a healthy, well-balanced diet. Don't binge on junk food or skip meals. Many find the elimination of caffeine and refined sugar from their diets to be particularly helpful.

Studies have shown that people who are depressed feel better when they exercise on a regular basis. Aerobic exercises in particular —walking, jogging, swimming and biking – have a significant antidepressant effect.

A consistent sleep schedule is important.

During times of depression don't set difficult goals or expect too much from yourself. Break large overwhelming jobs into smaller ones that are more manageable. If possible, put off making major decisions.

Avoid being alone. Spend time with family or friends and make an effort to talk about something other than depression.

Participate in enjoyable activities. Indulge yourself once in awhile. Do something just because it feels good. Take up a new hobby.

If any of the symptoms of depression persist for more than two weeks, it is very important to see a physician. Untreated, what may start as a simple bout with common depression can lead to more major problems. The symptoms may also be a mask for a physical ailment.

When seeking help, know that depression is not a sign of weakness or a flaw of character. Sometimes it is healthy – a sign that we need to make some simple changes in the way we live our lives. Remember too—if you're depressed, you're not alone.

Minnesotans urged to get flu shots

American Lung Association of Minnesota recommends that people in high risk groups for flu complications as well as healthy working adults get their annual flu shots between October 1 through November 15. High risk groups include seniors, nursing home residents and adults and children with chronic lung or heart disease.

"Anyone who wants to avoid the flu should consider getting a flu shot," says Mike Bisanz, president of the American Lung Association of Minnesota. "Influenza can cause severe illness which lasts several days, so employers should encourage workers to protect themselves from the flu."

A Minnesota-based study published in the New England Journal of Medicine in 1995 found that healthy working adults benefit from getting an annual influenza vaccination. Specifically, the study found that healthy workers who get a flu shot had 25 percent less upper respiratory illness, 43 percent fewer sick days caused by such illness and 44 percent fewer doctor visits. A follow-up Minnesota study published last year in the "Archives of Internal Medicine", concluded that flu shots do not cause significant side effects.

Providers of childcare may get NMF loans

Northwest Minnesota Foundation has modified its micro-loan program to offer loans of $2,000 or less specifically to childcare providers, according to Ruth Edevold, executive director.

To apply for a loan, an applicant only needs to show potential revenue and estimated expenses to demonstrate ability to pay back the loan.

Applicants must be licensed childcare providers or agree to become licensed. In addition to a loan, the NMF will also provide business counseling and training as needed in basic record keeping, accounts receivable policies and budgeting at no cost to the applicant.

For the past several years, Edevold said, the foundation has operated a micro-loan program to help individuals start or expand small, self-employed business ventures. At the same time, it has become increasingly concerned about the need for more childcare in the 12 counties it serves.

Established in 1986 and today comprised of more than 30 funds, the Northwest Minnesota Foundation strives to make a difference in the lives and future of the people in northwest Minnesota. Through grant making, advocacy, support of the not-for-profit sector, business development, training and education and promotion of philanthropy, the foundation is constantly striving to strengthen the communities in the northwest region of Minnesota.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

The runaway imagination

It's a dark, windy, winter night in a small town in northwestern Minnesota. I'm sleeping alone in the house, a small child in the next bedroom, a flashlight and portable phone at my fingertips. My eyeglasses lay at my side. You never know what you might need in an emergency.

The rafters creak and groan. Something hits the window. My heart beats faster as I try to remember if I've locked all the windows. Someone might be trying to break in.

I jump out of bed - for the second time. (The first was to make sure the doors were secured.) Creeping cautiously throughout the house, I check and recheck all the windows. For safety sake, I also try the doors again - including the one leading to the basement. . I could trap any intruders down there.

OK, all clear. Back into bed. I listen carefully, afraid to fall asleep, afraid of what might be looming outside. Maybe a crazed lunatic on the loose from somewhere. I detect a funny noise coming from the living room. I lurch out of bed one more time, taking my pillow and blanket with me to sleep on the couch. This way I won't be surprised in my sleep.

This sounds like it could be the first few paragraphs of my first suspense novel. (Either that or I'm a little neurotic or a huge worrywart.) I possess all the perfect ingredients for writing such a story, the greatest of which is my very active, runaway imagination. I'm surprised I haven't already completed my first book.

My imagination rarely gives me a rest. I begin with one small thought and before I realize, it's mushroomed out of control.

For instance, let's say that a loved one (husband, mom, dad) is late coming home from something or somewhere and hasn't called. Here's my imagination at work. Five minutes late means delayed by a train, heavy traffic or so-so weather. Ten minutes late signals a small mishap such as a speeding ticket or flat tire. Fifteen minutes late and it's getting a little more serious, perhaps a fender bender. Twenty minutes late really sends my imagination into a tailspin. By now I envision a very serious accident and expect a phone call from the police at any minute. By the time thirty minutes has elapsed since expected time of arrival, I'm ready to check all hospitals and law enforcement agencies. Just as my imagination begins to fall off the deep end, the loved one arrives home and says, "I didn't expect you to wait up!"

My brain also tends to work overtime in bad weather, especially during summer storms. We usually spend our summer weekends at the lake, and at night sleep in a trailer home (no telephone or television) in a field behind my parents' cabin. A little wind and a little rain sends my imagination running.

Lying awake listening to the downpour and booms of thunder, my mind begins to conjure a worse and worse storm. First, I picture us running to the nearby parked car and driving to who-knows-where to take shelter. As the storm escalates in my mind I see us huddling under the kitchen table. And, finally, my mind now in total overdrive, I imagine the trailer literally blowing away. My heart thumps faster in sync with my brain, all the while my husband is sleeping peacefully not hearing one drop of rain or one boom.

My husband often accuses me of being paranoid - that's how he sees my over-active imagination. When I was pregnant with our son, I was positive that I or my baby would suffer some affliction being discussed on talk shows. Of course, that was just my brain on fast forward.

Maybe I should just think of my imagination as brain exercises. I'm mentally preparing to be another Sidney Sheldon or Mary Higgins Clark. You better get my autograph before I become famous. See. My brain's on overdrive again!

When Your Toddler Hits!

As the title, "When Your Toddler Hits" implies, all children hit other children and will be hit. The question then, is, how should a parent handle hitting? According to a recent article in Parents magazine, aggressive urges are really a sign of positive development. In other words, your toddler is trying to stand up for himself and to protect himself and is actively pursuing what he wants. However this does not mean that you should allow this behavior to continue. Your child's behavior must be shaped to the rules and expectations of society.

There is a big difference, however, between teaching a child to suppress his aggressive urges and teaching him to channel them. You want your child to know that his behavior is unacceptable to you. You also want him to know that while you are unhappy about his hitting, you do not disapprove of his standing up for himself. Therefore you will need to offer your child alternatives to hitting.

Parents magazine offers these alternatives:

- Set limits
- Expect appropriate behavior from your child
- Don't use hitting to discipline
- Be a good role model
- Don't shame your child
- When a child is hit, step in and offer protection
- Keep your message brief
- Redirect behavior

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Help your child to use words instead of blows. Even a toddler can say, "Don't!" and "Mine!" Also teach your child to ask for things rather than to grab for them.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Lincoln High School

With homecoming rapidly approaching, there are many details to work out. From organizing the dance, preparing skits for the pep rally, to trying to find a hot date – most students get caught up in this school spirit-filled event. This year the challenge for me comes from the direction of Mr. Felt. As always the Lincoln High School band will be providing the pep fest and football game with many toe-tappin' tunes.

I will not be a part of making the groovy music. I'm going to be in the entertainment section. Yes, I'm a pep band flag girl, along with nine other daring girls. This is my fourth and last year as a flag girl, and I have many memories from all four years.

My freshman year was my first adventure as a flag. We were handed bright rainbow flags and were sent into the hallway armed with only an instructional video and a myriad of sheets mapping out the routines. A TV and VCR awaited us in the hallway. We popped the tape in and clutched our flags awkwardly. A perky teenage girl in a black 80's leotard, a high ponytail, and white leg-warmers was standing in the middle of the screen holding a flag confidently. As she showed us proper foot positioning of a "flag girl," we all scoffed.

With exaggerated motions and giggles, we positioned ourselves. Then the perky one was joined by her four matching-leotarded friends. They nailed us with drop spins, front spins, double fast spins, butterflys, sunrises, slams, horizontals, left presents, right presents, and we were left with our mouths gaping like yawning caves and our rainbows drooping to the ground. After endless slow mo's and cautious attempts, we learned "the basics."

I remember going home after school and wanting to practice my new skills. I searched for an object that was flag-like. I found the answer in the garage, a broomstick! (My mother commented that was the only time I had picked up a broom willingly.) After much diligent practice, filled with many swats to my head, I learned the important fact that one end of a broomstick is much heavier than the other. At that particular moment my younger sister wandered in.

"Eeva... what are you doing with that broom?! You look stupid."

"Oh, yeah, well I have an excuse. I'm doing this because I'm a flag girl for the band. Wanna watch?"

My first recital was about to begin. I showed off all my best flag girl moves. Then we advanced to the judging round.

"Heidi, what looks cooler – a 'sunrise' or a 'butterfly'?" The sunrise will be number one and the butterfly will be number two." She took her job seriously and watched with the trained, critical eye of a professional.

"Definitely number two."

We eager beavers soon learned that we had our work cut out. Our next step was to figure out the mumble jumble that was the symbols for our routine. Instead of writing the routine in English, it was written in funny abbreviations and diagrams. We brain stormed. A circle must stand for a flag girl and the spot where she was supposed to be positioned. Common sense told us that DS stood for "drop spin," and RP stood for "right present."

We taped our routine sheets to the cement wall in front of us and started. It seemed simple enough, just a slam. We paired the slant with the next sequence. After adding a third measure, trouble reared its ugly head.

"AHHHHH! I can't remember the second measure!"

"Ow, you hit me! I'm gonna have a huge bruise."

"Sorry, like I tried to slam on your hand." Tensions were rising to a high tide.

"Let's try it again. This time slower and everybody spread out," came a rational, soothing senior voice.

"I think my wrist is broken."

When we finally conquered the first ten lines of the routine we were bursting our buttons.

"Hey... I wonder how long the song is?" That turned out to be the question of the day. We weren't thrilled to learn it was three pages long, and that was only the FIRST song. After a week of gazing at the cement wall, we had the first routine down, and the music permanently seared into our brains.

This year we walk down the hallways humming the melody from the songs. We laugh at the songs selected for this year, "Heartless" and "Rain Evil 9" - great mood builders for Homecoming!

We are working on our second song now ("Heartless") and hoping we will finish in time for the much-awaited performance at the pep fest. Expect to see brilliant flashes of gold, red and blue as we whip perfect butterflys, and methodically work our way through the routines. But if you're expecting to see our fantastic flag routine at the half-time show at the football game, you'll have missed out. Unlike years before, the flags will not be performing at the game. So if you want to see us, the place to be is the old gym at 1:30 on Friday. You'll leave entertained and tapping your feet to the rocking tunes of the Prowler pep band.

CHAD ALAN HOMME
Who Passed Away
Sept. 29, 1992

On that warm September evening, A painful lesson we were taught,
We learned how fragile life really is,
How in a moment it can be lost.
With faith and time, our hearts slowly heal,
But the loss of our loved one is still very real.
The dreams and plans that you had made,
Are memories we now have,
And we go on–one day at a time,
We love you, We miss you, Chad.

Sadly Missed By, Mom, Dad, Mishawn, Dave, Nicholas & Cheryl.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. My birthday is October 10th and I will be age 62 then. What is the earliest that I can start my Social Security retirement?

A. Assuming you meet all requirements, the earliest that you could receive a check would be for November and that check would arrive in December. You must be at least 62 throughout a full month to be eligible for a retirement check. Except for people born on the first or second of the month, initial entitlement would be for the month after your birthday.

If you plan on filing for benefits soon, you should call the national number, 1-800-772-1213, to schedule an appointment.

Q. What evidence will I need to file for retirement? Does Social Security keep my documents?

A. For retirement the usual documents needed are your birth certificate and last years W-2 form or self-employment tax return. You will also need to know what your retirement plans are in the sense of expected earnings (gross wages or net self-employment) for the year of retirement. Other evidence might be needed for your specific situation. Social Security needs to see a state/county certified copy of your birth certificate, not a photocopy. All documents are returned to you.

Q. I've made an appointment to file for retirement which will be done by telephone. Should I mail my birth certificate before the appointment?

A. No. Have it available on the appointment date. After the telephone interview is completed, the Social Security representative will mail the application to you for signature and you can send any needed documents with the signed application.

SPEAKING OF
Sherry LaCoursiere

...Bugs Going, Going, Soon Gone

This has been a buggy summer and it will be a big relief when all of the pesty things have disappeared for the year, but, at the rate things are going, they won't be gone until the snow flies. But - just think - this is something we can be thankful for when we are out shoveling snow or slipping around on icy roads this winter - we can say, "At least there are no bugs!"

Last week I talked about a few of the bugs that have been bothering me lately, like bees and regular flies and the little black flies. I have more buggy things to talk about this week.

First of all, I absolutely dislike moths. Yes, I know they won't hurt me and it isn't that I'm afraid of being bitten by them. It's just that they are so erratic. One can never predict just where they are going or what they are going to do. They flutter and flutter around, especially around my lamp when I am trying to read in bed. I think I am afraid they'll get caught in my hair or fly into an ear or up my nose. And have you ever really LOOKED at a moth. Their faces are absolutely frightening - like something from another planet!

Speaking of other planets - you can take all the spiders and put them on one. I hate spiders even worse than moths. I have tried very hard to get acquainted with spiders by sitting and watching them up close and I have come to one conclusion - spiders look mean! They have all of those creepy, crawly legs and usually have little beaks sticking out the front and what looks like a stinger in the back. Ugh. And they are such horrible colors - brown and white or black and white or just a putrid shade of tan.

I found a huge spider in my basement sink Sunday night when I was going to bathe the dog down there. I squished it, too, and washed it down the sink, shuddering all the while. Don't tell me how good spiders are because they eat flies and mosquitoes - I don't care. They are icky and wicked-looking and I don't want them around. And I just know they bite.

By the way, what are the mosquitoes still doing alive? I thought they were supposed to disappear at the first sign of fall, but they are still around, the nasty little, whinny things. Buzz, bite and fly, buzz, bite and fly, and leave big welts on their poor victims. It's time we had some relief from them - after all, this has been a really bad year for mosquitoes. How many months of the year do we have to put up with them, anyway?

There's nothing worse than a mosquito in the bedroom-when a person is trying to go to sleep - even the moths aren't as bad because at least they sit down somewhere when the light goes off. Mosquitoes just get more and more whinny when it is dark, and when they stop whining it's even worse, because there'll be a bite, for sure.

Last week I mentioned that ants are coming into my house for the fall, but I also found a cricket in my basement. I didn't really care that he was there, but I got rid of him anyway, just in case he had a family and they would all come in and make that cricket sound all night long.

I certainly hope all these insects in the house and out don't mean we are going to have a bad winter. Seems to me last winter was bad enough to last for several years and we certainly don't need another one like that. And, as I said before, the only good thing about winter coming is that the bugs will go, and that's just fine with me.

"You Can Make A Difference" workshop scheduled for Oct. 3

"You Can Make A Difference" is the title of a workshop to be presented by Karen Smith, Roseau county extension educator, on Friday, October 3 at 1:30 p.m. in the Northwest Grain meeting room in St. Hilaire.

"Each of us is responsible for doing our part to make sure this is a positive world for people to live in," Smith said. "Our individual words of encouragement or blame, our actions of acceptance or disinterest, make deep impressions on those around us.

That phone call to someone living alone, a word of appreciation for the often overlooked worker in church, an invitation to a limited single parent for a cup of coffee -- all can make a difference with so little effort," she added.

This workshop is sponsored by the University of Minnesota extension service and is open to everyone. For more information call the Pennington County Extension office at 681-2116 or 683-7030 after October 2.

SPEAKING OF EDUCATION

by Jerry Robicheau
Superintendent
School District 564

Dear Citizens of School District #564:

In the previous column I informed you that the School Board of Independent School District #564 has decided to present to the voters a levy referendum for additional revenue for our school district. In that column I reviewed reasons why the Board took this action and that it is necessary in order to provide some financial stability and program improvement in this district.

I stated that we cannot continue to be on the financial roller coaster that we've experienced over the last several years. For your information in 1991 the district experienced $130,000 in budget cuts, in 1995, $295,000 in cuts, in 1996, $396,000; and in 1997, $800,000 in cuts was made. In 1997, we targeted $200,000 but because of the extensive cuts made in previous years, we couldn't reach that goal without significantly impacting programs for kids. Consequently, as you can see, we cannot continue to depend on the State Legislature to provide us with financial stability.

In addition, you've heard the Legislature has provided us with additional funds. Those additional funds were about a 2% increase and won't even deal with inflation factors across the district. A large portion of the money the Legislature appropriated for K-12 public education goes toward supporting and paying for new students in the system. These are new students in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Rochester, St. Cloud and are not monies coming into Independent School District #564.

A question that needs to be addressed is what will happen with the additional dollars that would be generated from the levy referendum? There are a number of things we need to do. First, we definitely need to address the class size and adult-to-student ratio issue. Classes in all our buildings are too large. We cannot continue to have 40 students in math classes, 40 students in communication classes and other programs that are directly affecting students. We need to have at least 3-4 new teachers to address our class size issue.

Secondly, we need to expand our use of technology. Technology is the fourth basic skill we need to teach. We need to teach students how to read, how to do math computations, how to write and how to access and use technology. If we do not provide them with that skill, we are short changing them just as much as we would be if we were not giving them reading skills.

Third, we need to offer an integrated agricultural program in this community. We are a community that has an agricultural economy. Consequently, we need to develop a program that addresses agriculture and integrated agriculture and vocational programs. Agri-business is an excellent career choice for students. This would take one teacher.

We need to consider advanced placement classes for students attending Lincoln High School. This is an economic advantage as students who do pass the advance placement test and choose to go to post-secondary institutions can test out of a particular class and not have to pay the tuition for that class and yet get credit. This would require one teacher.

Next, we need to provide programs for gifted and talented students. In order for us to have a comprehensive program for all students we need to consider those students who are gifted and talented and provide them with academic and artistic challenges. This would take one teacher.

We need to look at foreign languages in earlier grades. Because our students are educated in a global society, many will travel throughout the world. They need to have the opportunity to be exposed to foreign languages before grade 9. This will take a classroom teacher.

We need to consider programs for at-risk students. As we look at the number of students in our classrooms, we need to provide opportunities for those students who are disruptive in the classrooms. This will take one teacher.

We need to develop programs for students who fail the basic skills tests. This will be the foundation for students who graduate from our schools. We need to provide remediation to them.

We need to look at a social worker for our school system. This individual would work with families and students so we can improve their learning.

Last but certainly not least, we need to look at the whole area of curriculum. Curriculum changes daily. We need to have an updated and expanded curriculum so we can provide students with a comprehensive educational program.

What can the taxpayers and residents of our school district expect in return for their investment? Accountability - Accountability : Accountability. We would be financially responsible and, most importantly, we would strive in every possibility we can to increase student achievement. We would offer students the opportunity to have every experience they are entitled to as they begin to make decisions for the future.

We have a strong community and that's founded on a strong educational system. That's what we want to continue and that's what the taxpayers and residents will receive in return for their investment from the dollars generated by this levy referendum.

We are in the process of making presentations throughout the community regarding this proposal. I would invite any citizen of Independent School District #564 to attend our Community Forums and Informational Meetings. Also, give me a call at 681-8711 if there are any questions I can respond to or issues that need to be addressed. I look forward to your input and to hearing from you with your questions or concerns.

The Flu is Serious Business

People don't take the flu seriously. Maybe that's why, each year, up to 40,000 people die from influenza and its complications. The flu virus is tricky—sometimes carrying with it a combination of genetic material from humans and animals (often birds), which our immune systems can't effectively fight. Once the immune system is weakened, secondary infections like pneumonia can develop. And, despite readily available vaccinations against influenza, less than 40 percent of people at high risk for the flu get a flu shot.

Would a Flu Shot Protect Me?

A flu shot can raise your protection 70 to 90 percent. Doctors recommend almost everyone be vaccinated yearly, especially those at high risk, including people over 65, anyone with heart or kidney disease, diabetes, or lung diseases, nursing home residents, and, people living or working with someone at high risk.

"Into each life a little rain must fall"...but when the weather is hot and dry and the script calls for wet and wild, photographers must resort to their creative wiles. While model Ed Camelli poses for a Buck Knife photo, photographer Mitch Kezar provides a little "rain" from a pop can dipped in a five-gallon bucket. The result—except for being in color and probably sharper in focus—was similar to the dripping decoy in the bottom photo.

James Anagnoson and Leslie Kinton have performed together since 1975 across Canada, Europe, Asia and the United States. Both are presently on the faculty of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, Ont., Canada. "As soon as they put their fingers to the keyboard, you forget they are two. The sound is a seamless, single entity," states a review in The Vancouver Times-Colonist.

The Duttons

In their sixth season, The Duttons will perform over 200 concerts throughout the country this year. Kate Ihle enrolls at Carleton

Kate Ihle, daughter of Paul and Carol Ihle of Thief River Falls, has enrolled at Carleton College as a member of the Class of 2001. Carleton is located 40 miles south of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Ihle is a 1997 graduate of Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls. She has been named a Carleton College National Merit Scholar.

Zentner orchestra to open concert series

Si Zentner, an 80 year old band leader who still has an enthusiastic outlook as a musical performer, will bring his 16 piece orchestra to Thief River Falls Monday, October 6, to open the 1997-98 series of the Thief River Falls Concert Association.

Si Zentner and His Orchestra will perform at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium as part of a 25 performance tour. His band performs on a weekly basis at Boulder Station in Las Vegas, NV.

Hailed as "the last of the great band leaders," Zentner extended the Big Band Era into the 1960s and has now resurrected an outstanding group of musicians from the pool of music talent available in Las Vegas. The leader's out-going, gregarious manner exudes warmth and a delightful sense of humor, and he leads in the old tradition of being the best instrumentalist in the band, the featured soloist and a leader both on and off the stand.

Through the 1940s he wore the title "sideman" proudly, working with Les Brown, Harry James and Jimmy Dorsey, then playing in the MGM studio orchestra for nine years. He began his musical education on the violin at the age of four, but switched to the trombone while in high school. After playing for just six months, he won the Philharmonic Guggenheim Foundation Scholarship.

With his orchestra, Zentner [illegible] "Up A Lazy River," which won the Grammy Award in 1961. "Every day it seems I feel better than yesterday," he said. "As long as you have something to look forward to, the incentive to make it is there."

Admission to the concert series is by season membership only. These memberships will be available at the concert at $20 for adults, $10 for students through college or $50 per family. Membership includes admission to all five concerts this season.

Chiodo nets 206 yards in 20-18 TRF win over Bemidji...

Prowlers hold off Jacks

Thief River Falls' offense put points on the board early, then after stalling, regrouped in time to mount a critical clock-killing possession at the end Friday as the Prowlers held off Bemidji 20-18 in a high school football match-up played before a large crowd at Prowler Field.

It was the fourth straight win for the 4-1 Prowlers, while the tough luck Lumberjacks went home with their fifth straight loss.

Bemidji, according to Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Mumm, just might be the best 0-5 team in the state. "We played a great football team," he said, noting that four of the Lumberjacks' losses have come at the hands of state-ranked teams – Grand Rapids (No. 6) and Brainerd (No. 10) in Class 5A, Detroit Lakes (No. 6) and Thief River Falls (No. 8) in Class 4A.

The Prowlers appeared ready to roll to an easy win by scoring on their first three possessions. But they bogged down after taking a 20-6 lead and had to hold on before claiming a win in the first meeting since 1989 between the once yearly rivals.

It took Thief River Falls just three plays to get on the scoreboard as Wade Chiodo got around the left corner and sprinted down the sidelines on a 75-yard touchdown run 5:39 into the game. It would lead to a 206-yard rushing performance on 20 carries for the 5-9, 180-pound junior.

Second Thief River Falls touchdown took a little longer as the Prowlers put together a 13-play, 61-yard drive that ended with a 4-yard touchdown dive by fullback Kyle Anderson. Second kick of the night by Levi Kraft made it 14-0 just 15 seconds into the second quarter.

The Lumberjacks got back in it on their ensuing possession as a 25-yard pop through the middle by Eddie Acosta and a 14-yard Mike Fogelson pass to Ryan Welle keyed a 9-play, 76-yard scoring drive. Fogelson reached the end zone on a keeper to the right side from seven yards out.

Thief River Falls regained a two-touchdown edge on another Chiodo breakaway, this one a 44-yarder as he sliced off left tackle, shook off an arm tackle and outran the Bemidji defense with 1:20 left in the first half.

"That was a nice start," acknowledged Mumm. "We lined up and went right at them with what we've been doing all year."

Bemidji, however, set the stage for a tight second half game by beating up the Prowlers and the clock to get on the board again before the half ended. An 11-yard Fogelson pass to Adam Christopher and a 16-yard Acosta run helped set up a 6-yard Acosta sprint around the left side with just 42 seconds left. Bemidji came up empty on the conversion for the second time, leaving it at 20-12.

Things tightened up when the Lumberjacks used a 21-yard punt return by Acosta to the Thief River Falls 34 to kick off a 10-play drive that ended with Acosta taking an option pitch around the left end with 4:36 remaining in the game.

Bemidji, after having shredded the Thief River Falls defense with its Acosta-led ground game throughout the second half, surprised most observers by going to the air on the two-point conversion try for the tie. It was incomplete.

Although the Prowlers retained a 20-18 lead, they still had almost five minutes to use up, and to that point had netted just one first down and 23 yards worth of offense in the second half.

"I told the kids we needed three first downs to keep the ball and win the game," explained Mumm.

And that's exactly what the Prowlers did. Chiodo gained three yards on a third-and-one, Chris Mumm came up with 10 yards on a second-and-nine quarterback keeper, and Chiodo picked up another nine yards on a third-and-inches play with a minute to play.

"That was a nice win," said Jeff Mumm. "We played well at the start. They (Bemidji) stepped it up in the second half, and my conservative play calling didn't help to loosen things up. But we came back and found a way to win. Every week we do something different, something better. Our defense made some big plays, and our offense came through at the end when we needed it."

Acosta, a 5-10, 173-pound junior, rushed for 129 yards on 24 carries.

Mustangs win volleyball title

■ RLCC beats TRF 2-0 in Northern Lights final

Red Lake County held off a Thief River Falls championship match challenge Saturday to close out a title-winning effort in the 20th annual Northern Lights Invitational high school volleyball tournament hosted by the Prowlers.

The Mustangs, who blew the Prowlers off the court in a 3-0 regular season victory at Plummer earlier this fall that included a 15-0, 15-0 start, had a tougher match this time. They still won in a sweep, but at 15-8, 16-14, it wasn't a cakewalk.

"We expected a challenge this time," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "They (Prowlers) played a lot better, but we came through. I thought we played well throughout the day. We were consistent. Our defense was more consistent than it has been."

Jenni Morinville served the Mustangs to a 6-0 first-game championship match lead. With Desirae Alberg at the service line, the Prowlers came back to gain a 6-6 tie on a pair of tips by Lindsay Drury, a spike by Laura Follett that went off a blocker, and a kill by Drury.

But back-to-back kills by Angie Chervestad put the Mustangs back on top, and they held the lead the rest of the way.

Red Lake County Central was headed for a second-game blow-out with an 11-3 lead following a block by Morinville, but an ace by Sarah Hagen began a Thief River Falls rally that caught the Mustangs at 13-13 on an ace by Alberg.

The Prowlers' surge continued when a kill by Drury produced a 14-13 lead.

Strong defense on both sides of the net made it hard for the two teams to retain service down the stretch.

A block by Jenny Brekkestran tied it 14-14 and her kill put the Mustangs up 15-14.

After four side-outs, Morinville ended it with a kill.

The Mustangs' second-game championship match effort featured 11 blocks that went for kills. "That was one of the areas we've been working on," noted Bray.

The Mustangs' day got off on the right foot when Morinville opened a 15-1, 15-11 victory over Marshall County Central with 13 straight service points. The Mustangs added round-robin pool play wins over East Grand Forks 15-5, 15-9 and Warroad 15-10, 15-10 to reach the finals.

Chervestad finished the day with 43 kills. Morinville and Brekkestran had 20 each. Morinville wound up with 11 aces and Katie O'Neill had five.

Thief River Falls reached the finals with pool play wins over Norman County West (15-8, 15-11), Badger/Greenbush-Middle River (15-10, 15-6) and Bemidji (15-12, 15-6).

"I thought we played well all day," said Thief River Falls co-head coach Amy Roche. "We weren't overpowering, but we were pretty consistent."

It was the second straight Saturday tournament final for the Prowlers, who won the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational the week before.

"The first game (vs. Red Lake County Central) we were a little off," said Roche. "The second game were were coming on strong. I would have liked to have gone three games with them."

Thief River Falls kill leaders for the day were Lisa Dicken with 22, Drury 20 and Alberg 19. Taya Hunt collected 45 assists and had 10 service aces. Erica McGeary contributed 19 assists. Dicken came up with nine aces and a team-high four blocks. Hunt and Drury both had three blocks.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River won out in a pool play tie-breaker to reach the third place match, where the Gators outlasted Warroad 11-15,

Prowlers 2-1 in TRF quadrangular meet

It was a 2-1 showing Thursday for the Thief River Falls girls who hosted a quadrangular high school tennis meet that also included Park Rapids Area, Roseau and East Grand Forks.

The Prowlers beat the Rams 4-3 and stopped the Green Wave 5-2, but fell to the Panthers 4-3.

It was the final home appearance of the 1997 season for the Sylvia Sjoberg-coached Prowlers.

Sjoberg used three different lineups Thursday in an effort to give a number of players an opportunity to play a varsity match at home.

Torgerson, Reese to be at Boosters Club

Les Torgerson of the Northland Community and Technical College music department and Lincoln High School choir director Darcy Reese will be the guest speakers Thursday at the weekly Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club 12-noon luncheon meeting at the Elks.

Grand Rapids, TRF match-up set for Friday

Unbeaten Grand Rapids and once-beaten Thief River Falls will tangle Friday in a headline high school football match-up at Prowler Field. The Lincoln High School homecoming game has a 6 p.m. kickoff.

Last week's Associated Press state rankings listed Grand Rapids No. 6 in Class 5A and Thief River Falls No. 8 in Class 4A.

The Thunderhawks own wins over St. Cloud Tech 7-6, Bemidji 20-13, Duluth Denfeld 33-22, Duluth East 55-6, and Hibbing 14-6 last week.

Thief River Falls, after a season-opening 21-20 loss to Sartell, has beaten Detroit Lakes 27-20 in overtime, Crookston 20-14, Virginia 40-22, and Bemidji 20-18 Friday night.

The Thunderhawks edged the Prowlers 20-13 a year ago in Grand Rapids.

This is the second straight Class 5A foe for the Prowlers, who could boost their post-season playoff position with a sweep of Bemidji and Grand Rapids.

Section 8AAAA will use a regular season point system to determine the playoff match-ups this year. A win over a team in a higher class is worth 10 points, a win over a team in the same class is worth 9 points, and a win over a team in a lower class is worth 8 points.

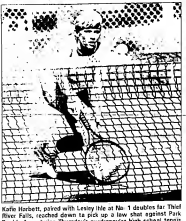
Thief River Falls plays the two Class 5A schools, three Class 4A foes (Detroit Lakes, Virginia, Fergus Falls) and three Class 3A opponents (Sartell, Crookston, East Grand Forks).

Detroit Lakes, meanwhile, has a schedule featuring two Class 5A schools (Minneapolis South, Bemidji), four Class 4A teams (Thief River Falls, Fergus Falls, Duluth Central, St. Paul Arlington), and two Class 3A opponents (Park Rapids Area, Blue Earth).

Alexandria has a chance to accumulate a bunch of points in the Section 8AAAA scoring system as a member of the Central Lakes Conference, where they play five Class 5A schools, along with two Class 4A teams and one Class 3A foe.

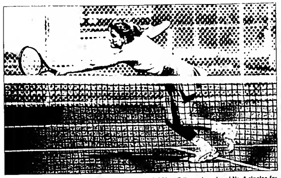
Only head-to-head match-up in Section 8AAAA last week found Detroit Lakes beating Fergus Falls 40-0. Over Section 8AAAA winners were Alexandria, 28-17 over previously unbeaten Sartell, and Thief River Falls.

The other Section 8AAAA results found Little Falls losing to St. Cloud Tech 37-22, Roseau falling to Brainerd 29-7, and Sauk Rapids bowing to Mora 28-21.



Katie Harbett, paired with Lesley Ihle at No. 1 doubles for Thief River Falls, reached down to pick up a low shot against Park Rapids Area during Thursday's quadrangular high school tennis meet in Thief River Falls. The Prowlers will take part in the North Sub-Section 8AA tournament team and individual matches Oct. 8-9 at the Grand Forks Tennis Centre.

Lindsey Drury of Thief River Falls (left) spiked the ball past Badgar/Greenbush-Middle River defender Kristan Wellin during Saturday's Northern Lights Invitational high school volleyball tournament. The Prowlers beat the Gators 15-10, 15-6 in the round-robin pool play portion of the tournament en route to a second place finish behind Red Lake County Central.



Steph Leach stretched in an effort to reach a shot during Thursday's Thief River Falls quadrangular high school tennis match that closed out the Prowlers' 1997 home schedule. Leach, a Thief River Falls senior, played No. 1 singles for the Prowlers, who beat East Grand Forks and Roseau, but lost to Park Rapids Area during the day.

RLCC comeback is derailed

Red Lake County Central was burned by three long-range Fisher/Climax scoring plays Friday – the last one in the final minute of play – as the Mustangs dropped a 27-20 Nine-Man high school football decision to the Knights at Plummer.

Fisher/Climax pulled off a hook-and-ladder play that went for 65 yards and a touchdown with just 46 seconds left to shatter a 20-20 tie.

The pass-lateral, carried into the end zone by Adam Stratton, wiped out a game comeback by the Mustangs, who finished off a 60-yard drive on a 4-yard Mark Lorenson touchdown pass to Troy Magnell with a minute to play. Lorenson went to Tyler Nelson for the conversion pass and the tie.

Two plays later Fisher/Climax was back on top – for good.

"The kids played really hard all the way through," said Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "They showed a lot of poise and character to march down the field and tie the game like they did. But we gave up the three (touchdowns) big plays. That really hurt."

Touchdown runs of 44 yards by Christian Henderson and 46 yards by Reed VanEps preceded the Knights' game-winning strike as Henderson hit the receiver, who shoveled the ball to Stratton as the Mustangs closed in. The speedy 6-1, 190-pounder out-ran the pursuers the rest of the way.

Brandon Tougas netted 94 yards on 23 carries, but the banged-up Red Lake County Central backfield was limited to 129 yards for the night. With the ground game slowed by injuries and the Fisher/Climax defense, the Mustangs went to the air as Lorenson completed 16 of 38 passes for 158 yards and two touchdowns. He was intercepted twice.

Nelson caught six passes for 50 yards. Nick Waldal hauled in 4 for 50 yards, while Magnell and Tougas both caught 2 for 22 yards.

Tougas was in on 12 tackles to lead the Red Lake County Central defense. Nelson had a hand in nine tackles, while T.J. Larson and David Fox were both in on seven tackles.

The 3-2 Mustangs will be on the road Friday against Win-E-Mac.

First round of elk hunt completed

First round of Minnesota's 1997 elk season ended Sunday, Sept. 21, with one of two permits filled. Lucas Schmidt of Rice took a 6X6 bull elk on the second day of the hunt, Sept. 14. The animal was taken on private land, about five miles north of Grygla in eastern Marshall County.

Paul Telander, Area Wildlife Manager with the Department of Natural Resources at Thief Lake, said it was a large-bodied bull with a moderate sized rack. Schmidt was hunting alone because his partner from Duluth was not able to join him.

When Schmidt got his bull, the herd was gathered near a field of sunflowers, in an area of open grassland and willow brush – the same general area that produced two large bulls during the first season of last year's hunt.

Second antlered permit was drawn by Wally and Ione Sparby, formerly of Thief River Falls. The Sparbys drew a permit in the special drawing of landowners and resident tenants in elk management area.

Telander reported that Sparby saw a lot of elk, but didn't get a clear shot at a mature bull. "He bugled a yearling bull out of the herd on two different occasions," said Telander, "and it came very close, maybe only 20 feet away. He could have filled his permit, but was waiting for a larger bull."

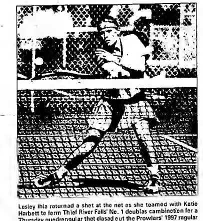
Second season is set for Sept. 27-Oct. 5, with permits for one yearling spike bull and one antlerless elk. A pair of hunters from Hibbing were selected for the spike bull license, and the antlerless permit will go to a party with one hunter from Little Falls and another from Fergus Falls.

Third season is scheduled Oct. 18-26 with two antlerless permits. Those will go to a pair of hunters from Roosevelt and Baudette, and another party of two from Ada and Borup. If any of the 1997 permits go unfilled, the holders of alternate permits will be contacted and allowed to hunt.

When the first season was established in 1987, an agreement between state legislators, landowners, and DNR officials determined that a hunt could be held whenever the herd numbered more than 20 adult animals. The DNR intends to reduce the population gradually to around 25 animals, in order to maintain the herd within its current range and reduce crop depredation problems for agricultural landowners.

"This year, the pre-calving population numbered between 30 and 35 animals," said Joel Huener, assistant DNR wildlife manager at Thief Lake. "With this year's production, the herd numbered nearly 40 animals prior to the hunt. Minnesota has a very high bull/cow ratio, with nearly as many bulls as cows in the adult portion of the population."

There may be another Minnesota elk hunt next fall as the DNR elk management plan gradually works toward its population goal. "It will all depend on how well the herd overwinters," said Huener. "Elk can usually make it through a tough winter easier than deer, however, it's too soon to predict how many permits may be issued next year."



Lesley Ihle returned a shot at the net as she teamed with Katie Harbett to form Thief River Falls' No. 1 doubles combination for a Thursday quadrangular that closed out the Prowlers' 1997 regular season high school tennis home schedule. Thief River Falls beat Roseau and East Grand Forks, but lost to Park Rapids.

Gators pull out 3-2 win over Ponies in Monday volleyball

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, after a strong start, needed a come-from-behind finish Monday before emerging with a 3-2 high school volleyball win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

The host Gators prevailed 15-3, 15-5, 9-15, 14-16, 17-15.

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo held service and a 15-14 lead in Game 5, but couldn't close it out. The Gators gained a side-out and Kristen Wellin served the final three points of the night.

The victory put the Gators at 7-9 for the year.

Kelsey Iiddest led the winners with 15 kills and 12 ace serves. Tiffany Hagen and Merri Reese added to the attack with 9 and 8 kills respectively.

MCC vs. LOW

Lake of the Woods swept Marshall County Central 15-12, 15-9, 15-5 in a Tuesday match at Newfolden that will be followed by a Thursday rematch in Baudette.

"I wasn't dissatisfied with our performance," said Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson, whose 4-11 team played the Bears to a 12-12 first-game tie before falling behind. "They (Bears) have a nice team. We played well together as a team."

Thief River Falls Best Western Inn/Burkel Trucking/Ridge Runners women's softball team wound up splitting four games at the 1997 National Class C tournament Sept. 25-28 in Montgomery, Alabama.

The regular season Thief River Falls League champions and third place finisher in the Minnesota state tournament began the 80-team national event with a first round bye before picking up Friday wins over Hurricanes of Victoria, Texas 9-7 and the Tomboys of Tipton, Georgia, 8-7.

Saturday match-ups resulted in a pair of losses to Maryland teams - 13-4 to the Legends and 11-7 on a bottom of the sixth grand slam to Forever Young.

RLCC gets by RLF in close 3-0 match

Red Lake County Central swept host Red Lake Falls Thursday in high school volleyball, but it was a tough 3-0 victory for the favored Mustangs.

Behind in every game, Red Lake County Central eventually won 15-10, 15-13, 15-12.

"We played pretty well, but they (Eagles) came at us pretty hard," noted Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "It was a good match."

Lawrence Reid tried to keep his balance as the Northland Community and Technical College runningback was being tripped up by Minnesota West defender Tom Aanenson during the first half of Saturday's football game in Thief River Falls. The Blue Jays won 51-0.

Blue Jays belt Pioneers 51-0

A short post-game assessment offered by Northland Community and Technical College head football coach Gene Klinke summed up the Pioneers' performance in a 51-0 Saturday afternoon pasting at the hands of Minnesota West. "It was the worst game we've ever played," he said.

There was nothing else to add that would have better conveyed his disappointment in the Pioneers' homecoming game effort. The Blue Jays dominated, limiting Northland to seven first downs and 143 yards worth of offense. It was the Pioneers' fourth loss in as many starts. Minnesota West is 4-0.

It was just 7-0 at the end of the first quarter, with Rick Johnson stepping through the left side on a 19-yard touchdown run, then adding the placement kick with 5:39 on the clock.

But the bottom began to fall out on Northland just two plays into the second quarter when a high snap on a punt put the Blue Jays' offense on the field at the Pioneers' 14-yard line. Johnson reached the end zone on a third down trip from the eight.

Beginning with that touchdown, Minnesota West never had to go more than half a field to score the rest of the day. Unable to move ball, Northland's three-downs-and-out possessions made life easy for the Blue Jays offense.

Quarterback T.J. Tiesler, who was 10-for-13 on the day for 100 yards, rolled right and found Cory Ebbers in the end zone with a 5-yard touchdown pass for a 21-0 game midway through the second quarter.

Tiesler scored on a quarterback sneak from 1 yard out with 4:04 to play. It was 28-0 at that point and Northland had yet to pick up a first down.

Things didn't change in the second half. Tiesler rifled a bullet to Nathan Burns in the end zone for a 17-yard touchdown pass on the Blue Jays' first possession.

Even when forced to punt, Minnesota West came out ahead when a third quarter kick bounced off the leg of a Northland player and was recovered at the Pioneers' 30. Two plays later Matt Hoffman went through the right side for a 6-yard touchdown to make it a 41-0 game.

A 26-yard Johnson field goal began the fourth quarter and a 29-yard punt return by Burns to the Northland 22 set up a 14-yard touchdown run by Casey Flatten, who ran over would-be tacklers on his way to the end zone to complete the scoring.

One highlight of the day for the Pioneers was a 75-yard kickoff return by Arthur Hamilton after the first Minnesota West touchdown. His return carried to the Blue Jays' 10, but four plays later Northland turned it over on downs just inches shy of the goal line.

The game closed out the Pioneers' season-opening swing through the Minnesota Community College Conference Southern Division. Northland will finish the schedule with four straight MCCC Northern Division games, beginning Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. kickoff against Hibbing in Thief River Falls.

Late score; goal line stand produces 22-20 win...

Nordics knock off Blue Devils

Marshall County Central went ahead with five minutes to play, then put together a goal line stand to preserve a 22-20 Top of the State Conference high school football win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke Friday at Goodridge.

The Nordics were up 16-6 at halftime, but needed a late-game 6-yard Bjorn Halvorson touchdown run to erase a 20-16 fourth quarter deficit.

Moments later the Blue Devils were knocking at the door. But on fourth-and-two, they were stopped at the Marshall County Central 3-yard line.

With Halvorson breaking off a 20 yard run to get out of the shadow of the end zone, the Nordics were able to run out the clock.

Results left Marshall County Central 3-2 and Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 3-3.

"It was a nice win," acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Kent Warne, who gave much of the credit to the Nordics' offensive line as they opened holes for Halvorson, who netted 163 yards on 30 carries, and fullback Garrett Magner, who added 39 yards on 12 attempts that were fit in between his regular assignment as a blocking back.

"The offensive line really played well," noted Warne. "They came up with the key blocks when we needed them, and the backs did a nice job reading those blocks."

The Nordics' interior line includes seniors Eric Moe and Troy Elseth, junior Jamie Nelson, and sophomores Mike Fillmore and Jason McGregor. Adding to the blocking efforts are senior ends Brandon Olberg and Jeremy Bring.

Defensively, sophomore Tyler Knutson stood out, said Warne, with eight tackles.

"I thought they (Nordics) played really well," offered Blue Devils coach Darwin Hagen. "They have a nice 1-2 punch in the backfield and their line played well."

Alex Anderson had 92 yards on 25 carries to lead the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke offense. Jared Eidelbes was 5-for-7 passing for 60 yards.

A mix-up in communication, said Hagen, thwarted the Blue Devils' final-series drive at overtaking the Nordics. "We made mistakes on some fundamental things," he pointed out. "It's frustrating. We shouldn't be making those kinds of mistakes at this time of the year."

Defensively, Carson Saundiff was credited with being in on 16 tackles, while Eidelbes and Steve Waling were both involved in 12 tackles.

Marshall County Central had a Tuesday (Sept. 30) game at East Grand Forks Sacred Heart. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke will meet Tri-County Friday at Goodridge.

Duck hunting regulation...

Wearable flotation device is required

Duck hunters are required to carry wearable flotation devices (life jackets) on board their duck boats, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. Since 1988, waterfowlers have been required carry some sort of U.S. Coast Guard approved flotation device on board their craft, but many choose the option of a boater's seat cushion.

"The seat cushion is no longer legal as a primary flotation device," said Tim Smalley, DNR boating safety specialist. "Due to changes in federal and state regulations, everyone on board watercraft and duck boats will need to have a U.S. Coast Guard approved Type I, II, III or V wearable flotation device in their boats."

The new law does not require that a life jacket be worn, only that the device is readily accessible. Readily accessible means easily retrievable within a reasonable amount of time in an emergency. Life jackets in sealed plastic bags are not considered readily accessible.

"Even though hunters aren't legally required to wear their life jackets, we strongly recommend it," Smalley said. "We have a number of accident reports in our files where it's obvious that the only reason the hunters survived a capsizing or swamping was that they were either wearing a life vest or they had one that they could quickly put on."

The DNR offers these tips to make your duck hunting outing a safe one:

■ Wear your life jacket on the way to and from the blind. U.S. Coast Guard studies show that finger-numbing, ice cold water makes it almost impossible to put on a life jacket after falling into the water or capsizing. Hunters who think that swimming to shore is no problem because they are good swimmers in the summer time, should try it sometime in 50 degree water while carrying several extra pounds of equipment. Most hunters who drown have swimming skills, but the cold water short circuits any aquatic skills they may have in warmer water. "There is an old saying in boating safety circles that a you have a 50/50 chance of swimming 50 feet in 50 degree water," Smalley noted.

■ Don't overload your boat. Most duck hunting accidents are caused by hunters cramming too much equipment in too small of a boat. The DNR recommends that hunters take several trips to transport equipment, dogs and hunters to the blind.

■ Learn to float in your hip boots or waders. "Many hunters who fall into a lake believe that they had better remove their boots because the weight of the water might pull them down like concrete galoshes," Smalley said.

According to the DNR, taking off the boots might be the worst thing to do. Often the bodies of drowned hunters are recovered with the boots pulled half way down. "The victims had wasted valuable energy and trapped air struggling in panic to remove their boots," Smalley said. Instead, if they had stayed calm and kept their knees bent, they may have been able to float back to the boat and to safety.

Since water has no weight in water, the only weight a person has to deal with in flooded boots is the weight of the boot--only about two pounds when submerged. Air trapped in the boots more than counters that, plus provides additional buoyancy. "With knees bent, the boots will not turn the practiced hunter upside down," Smalley said.

It's always best to practice this in a pool or in shallow water in the summer," Smalley advised. "We have conducted wader safety training sessions with some of our fisheries staff. Even after watching a demonstration, many of them didn't believe it would work until they tried it."

Thief River Falls wins 28-8 freshman outing

A 28-8 Thursday win over Crookston extended the season-opening winning streak for the Thief River Falls freshman high school football team to six games.

Ben Myers reached the end zone on runs of 1 and 5 yards, Nate Survig caught a 25-yard touchdown pass from Justin Skjerven, and Dean Mehrkens scored on a 45-yard run for the winners, who led 14-0 at halftime. Myers and John Sylvester added two-point conversions.

Blaze orange too rare in woods, says DNR

Some small game hunters wear blaze orange. Unfortunately, Department of Natural Resources conservation officers are finding way too many Minnesota small game hunters taking unnecessary chances this fall by ignoring blaze orange requirements, with compliance near zero in some areas.

"Those who fail to wear some blaze orange are not only unwise — they're probably breaking the law," [illegible] said.

During the small game seasons, hunters and trappers must wear at least one blaze orange article of clothing above the waist, except when hunting turkeys, migratory birds, raccoons or predators or when hunting with nontoxic shot. During the firearms deer season, hunters and trappers must wear blaze orange above the waist, excluding sleeves, and on the visible portion of their caps.

It's not only the law, it's smart. Fewer grouse and pheasant hunters are hurt in firearms accidents if they are wearing blaze orange, according to results of a 1993 survey by the DNR Advanced Hunter Education Program. The survey revealed that the 47 percent of small game hunters who wore at least some blaze orange while hunting grouse and pheasants were involved in only 8 percent of the accidents. Hunters who wore dark colored clothing were involved in 78 percent of the grouse and pheasant hunting accidents.

"Minnesota hunters have a good safety record," said Col. Len [illegible], director of the DNR Enforcement Division. "But our conservation officers don't want to see hunters taking unnecessary chances. We need better compliance with the blaze orange requirement, not just because it's the law — because it's smart."

How do you design a health plan to satisfy a bunch of beancounters?

Brian Ortale and his brother Andy run the Bean Counter Coffee Company. Not surprisingly, they wanted a health plan that gave their small business the most for their money. They picked Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota. They could choose from eight plan options, from traditional coverage to managed care, delivered by an extensive network of providers. Plus, this year they can take advantage of a number of programs available to small businesses for the first time; things like 24-hour nurse phone care, discounted child safety items, community health program discounts and more.

Thief River Falls Fire department responded to a fire at Heritage Community Center on Wednesday. According to a spokesperson for the fire department, smoke filled the building because a three phase motor was trying to operate when electricity to the building had been cut or reduced because of an accident. According to police, Wade Kim Alten, Thief River Falls, was driving a car west out of a parking stall in the 600 block of North Atlantic when he accidentally hit the gas instead of the brake. The car then hit a city transformer. Alten was not injured, but the accident caused a power outage at a number of downtown businesses, and the signal arms at the railroad crossing on Third Street to go up and down repeatedly. Utility department employees estimated damage to the transformer at $2,100. There was also damage to the Heritage Community Center, Firestone and Canax.

Survey data demonstrates misconceptions about fire

You just threw a party at your home and have gone to bed. Unbeknownst to you, one of your guests unknowingly dropped a cigarette butt on the living room sofa earlier in the evening, and it's now smoldering between the cushions. How long do you have to escape between the time the cigarette fully ignites the sofa and the fire becomes deadly? If you answered more than two minutes, you're not alone.

According to a survey released today by the nonprofit National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), 58 percent of 500 Americans surveyed believed they had more than two minutes to escape a home fire. Twenty-four percent of the respondents assumed they had 10 minutes or more before life threatening conditions would develop. In reality, a typical living room fire can become deadly in two minutes or less after the smoke alarm sounds. And such a fire almost certainly has the potential to kill household members in as little as two and a half minutes after it initially began.

Designed to measure people's attitudes toward fire and the need for escape planning, NFPA's survey reveals that Americans have dangerously unrealistic perceptions about fire and underestimate the speed at which it spreads. Furthermore, the survey revealed that most respondents have had personal experience with fire alarms at home and other locations, yet a majority acted, or failed to act, in ways that significantly increased their risk had a real fire occurred.

"NFPA statistics show that, on average, a U.S. household will contact the fire department twice in their lifetime. Despite this fact, NFPA's new survey results clearly indicate that Americans don't think of fire as a major risk in their lives," said Dr. John Hall, NFPA's assistant vice president of Fire Analysis and Research. "Until people become more knowledgeable about the real potential for fire, especially in their homes, we will continue to suffer thousands of fire deaths and tens of thousands of fire injuries in the U.S. each year."

While more than half of the survey respondents said they have a home escape plan, only 31 percent of that group have practiced it, which means that, overall, only 16 percent of respondents have developed and practiced an escape plan. Of those who hadn't practiced, 38 percent never thought about practicing a plan or claimed they don't have the time, 33 percent said practice wasn't necessary, either because they thought their home layout was so easy to escape, and another 10 percent believed practicing escape plans wasn't necessary for able-bodied adults.

In addition, although 39 percent of respondents had had home smoke detectors go off in the past year, only 4 percent reacted immediately as though there might be a fire. Of the majority (81 percent) who assumed it was a nuisance alarm, 22 percent reacted by disabling the detector, which is a "highly hazardous action to take," according to Dr. Hall.

"The findings from NFPA's new survey will not surprise public fire safety educators who know that most people are overconfident about fire safety," says Meri-K Appy, NFPA's vice president for public education. "While our intention is never to frighten anyone, we desperately want the public to understand that their window of opportunity to safely escape a fire is excruciatingly small, and that they [illegible] appropriately [illegible]."

NFPA chose "[illegible]" as the theme for 1997 Fire Prevention Week, October 5-11. This year, in partnership with the local fire departments throughout North America, the theme works to educate the public about the extreme importance of responding immediately to early warning signs of fire in all locations and how best to react to a fire emergency.

Officially sponsored by NFPA for more than 70 years, Fire Prevention Week was created to commemorate the Great Chicago Fire that occurred on October 9, 1871. The annual campaign is designed to increase public awareness to the dangers of fire and how to prevent them. Other key findings from NFPA's survey include the following:

- Men are about equally likely to have a home escape plan as women but are more likely to have practiced it. Men are also more likely than women (16 percent vs. 8 percent) to say they would take potentially dangerous actions if a fire alarm sounded at work.
- More than 35 percent of the people who have been in a public place when the alarm went off did not leave the building. In explaining why, 39 percent of the group that decided not to leave simply assumed it was not a real fire.
- In restaurants or theaters, 85 percent of respondents said they would leave immediately if a fire alarm sounded; in malls, 53 percent said they would exit immediately. Some people said that in a mall they would wait to leave until the crowds thinned out.

Gully News

Sanna Brovold

Some years ago those that visited the graveyard located in the corner of the Anlind Ness farm, about six miles north and one mile east of Gully could see a C.O.D. tractor standing there among the graves. It seemed like it almost belonged with the "old timers" but it was in a different class. It almost seemed lonesome for its former owner and operator, Anlind Ness. The Ness family descendants and their families decided the old tractor was now quite rare, and needed and deserved a better place to be stationed so people could have a chance to see the old tractor and hear it run if it were possible to restore it. In March of this year, it was decided to let the old tractor go back to its birthplace and be on display there. They came from Crookston to bring the C.O.D. back home. It was quite a challenge to the restorers. "It was a big job" said Walter Johnson (one of the restorers) assorted by Myrdolf Skalet of Beltrami and Bill Wahouski and Woody Carlson, both of Crookston. Does it tell us something about the material used in the "long ago" days in the making of tractors since there was still enough left to restore after the 75 years or so standing outside battling nature's elements. The fenders are usually among the first to rust out. In this little C.O.D. the heavy fenders are still in pretty good shape. The C.O.D. was developed and patented by Albert Espe of Crookston, the third one he and Helmer Osgood designed and built. We think the Ness family purchased the tractor in 1918 when Anlind and his wife Brita and the sons and daughters lived north of Gully. It was ready running, restored, and in a coat of dark green paint (the way it looked in the young days) for the annual Pioneer Days at the Polk County Museum at Crookston. What we really appreciate is that the Ness family descendants of Anlind and Brita were invited to come to Crookston to see their old friend C.O.D. all fixed up. Bill Ness hosted a breakfast for the Ness' and after that they had a chance to try the tractor out. The youngsters felt it was an unusual treat to have a chance to ride on the C.O.D. and the older generation felt it a privilege to drive it, but it gave them a nostalgic feeling as they thought of their father, grandfather or great grandfather driving the C.O.D. to make a living breaking up the prairie homestead land. There were many relatives in Crookston from this area, but they came from all over. When you go to the museum, you may see a former neighbor from close by the Ness farm. Goodvin Norseth helps at the museum. You may also be shocked to see another piece of machinery there from this area. Kenneth Forsberg recently donated a 4 foot International combine to the Crookston Museum. Kenneth bought the combine from Olef Nysven before Olaf died. Recently Olaf had bought the combine from the Randal Implement at Gonvick when Ray and Mabel Randal were there. We learn another interesting fact about the C.O.D. tractor. When Albert Espe worked on developing and patenting the tractor, he worked in the same building that Jorry Forsberg had when he had the Forsberg Tire and Fuel Company in Crookston. After Jorry's death, the old building was torn down.

Maja Turenne and Chad Gilbert spent Saturday evening with her grandmother, Effie Handy. Lyn Turenne was an overnight guest at Effie's Thursday.

Charles Hangaard and Elaine from Detroit Lakes was here on Saturday and spent some time visiting Forest Knudson. It's good to hear Charley is getting along well with his new aorta after the aneurism and then major surgery. It's good you still remember the "hometown folks" in Gully. Thank you Charles!

Owen Ness from Silver Bay, who has been here for a few days visiting his mother, Alice Ness and his brothers and other relatives, returned to his home on Monday.

Last week was a good week for visitors at the Wendt and Cathy Senger home. On Friday and Saturday Issy and Paul Bosch from Sabeca, visited at the Senger home. On Friday evening Larry Senger and Bob and John Senger of Gonvick were there. On Saturday and Sunday, Richard Whitbeck of Issaquah, WA and Emestine and Larry Miler of Sioux Falls, SD visited and on Saturday Jeanie Sorenson, Gay Doreen and Sarah visited the folks at the Senger home.
